Well. Buckerino didn't do a thing to the Rourke family yesterday, simply gave them a whitewash bath, and the best that Omaha can now do is to break even on the series, and to accomplish this she must win this afternoon's game.

Omaha's defeat yesterday is easily accounted for-both Langsford and Fear were absent from the team, and Pa and Whitehill had to be used in their stead. The effect of the change was decidedly manifest from the very start, none of the players showing the slightest interest in the game. Clausen pitched indifferently, and the whole affair might as well have been wrapped in tissue paper and presented to Buckerino without any waste of time. Old Hutch did what he could to give the visitors a game for their trouble, this season at second.

Young Barnes to all appearances pitched a strong and heady game, but there is little doubt but what the rupture in Omaha's ranks had much to do with his effectiveness. Lincoln's field played a nice, snappy game and showed up well in comparison to Leaders Let Go of One.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Sept. 5.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The leaders dropped a game today to the home team, and it was not luck, either. Their poor work in the field, added to the fact that Mauck had an off day, was responsible for their defeat. There were no very brilliant plays, but both teams hit well. CONTESTS YESTERDAY WERE ALL GOOD Interesting Program Arranged for Today and Race Lovers Will Miss a Trent if They Fatt to Attend-Match Pacing Race the Leading Feature.

The third day's racing of the Nebraska Breeders' meeting proved to be one of the best programs yet, and from a horseman's standpoint it was all that could be desired and more than could be expected on a half mile track. The time was fast and there were enough exciting finishes to keep up the greatest of interest in each race. Another commendable thing was that Starter Culbertson kept the races moving along without unnecessary delay, and the card was completed before 6 o'clock.

The track was in good condition and there was just enough wind to make the spectators comfortable. The grand stand was fairly well filled and there were a number of stylish turnouts in the center of the field and quite a number of ladies present. A number of well known horsemen from over the state and western lows were seen in the quarter stretch, and everything conspired to make a most enjoyable afternoon's sport.

The first race was for foals of 1892, 3:00 class, two in three heats, for a purse of $500. $500. There were eight starters in this event, and it proved to be a hard field to get started, but after facing Starter Culbertson for the sixth time they got the word and left the score in a bunch. Bessie Wilkes and Billy Pierce were out for first money, and they had a lively brush for position during the last half, while Lina V trailed along an easy third. Down into the stretch they came in one, two, three order, and it was seen that Bessie had too hot a fact for the others. She finished the heat in 2:29%, with Billy Pierce, Lina V. Posey Follette, Grayson and LeRoy follow-ing, while Lulu Labasco and Meiklejohn were distanced.

The second heat proved to be a lively sprinting match between Bessle and Billy while Grayson came in an indifferent third. The first two set such a lively clip that it was seen when they passed the three-quarters that most of the others would be distanced At the half they began drawing away from the field, and Bessie Wilkes took the lead and never was headed. Billy Pierce was a close second, but he could not catch the lit bay mare. Summary:

WERE AFTER THE MONEY. There were six starters in the 2:50 pace for a purse of $500, and it required five heats to decide the contest between Lenatter and Linnie Striker, but after each had two heats to their credit Lunie got away from the score badly and broke in a disheartening manner, letting the other horse pass her. But she was game and had recovered her lost ground when they swung into the stretch. However, the pace was too hot for her, and she hadn't strength enough to fine the strength enough to stre finish with her usual gameness.

The first heat was a hot one from start to finish, and Rhinestone took the lead after they got the word. He set a merry clip they got the word. up to the quarter, with Lenatier trailing him. Linnie Striker kept them close company, but it was seen that she was being laid up for the other heats. When they got into the stretch Lenatier raced Rhinestone off his feet and came in winner in 2:24%. Lenatter had a hot brush with Burlock for the place in the sec and heat, and won it by a small margin in 2:2745. Lenatier took the lead in the third heat, but at the half it was a neck and neck race between her and Linnie Striker, passed the half mile station in 1:11. y swung into the stretch it was seen that ne horses were going for blood. Both rivers drew their whips and did not spare either animal. It was a game fight for supremacy and the horses traveled as if they were as much excited as the crowd of spectators, who stood up and cheered them on in their flight. At the distance station t looked like a dead heat, but Linnie slowly oushed her brown muzzie to the front and was landed a winner by a neck, in 2:21%. the fastest heat of the race. Both owners of these horses wanted this race, as much so as the man in Buck Kilgare's state wanted a gun, and they told their drivers to win if it was in the animals to do so. Lenatier set the pace in the fourth heat, and was trailed by Linnie Striker. Into the last turn they went in this position. then there was another fighting finish. Lenatier looked like a sure winner until within thirty feet of the wire, and then she slowed up, being unable to stand the exhausting demands made on her, and Lin-nie captured the heat in 2:2514. When the horses faced the starter for the fifth and last heat there were only three in the field, the others having been tanced. They scored nicely and were sent away on the second attempt. Linnie looked like a sure winner, as she had about five seconds the best time in the four heats. They started off in splendid shape, the eighth post Linnie broke badly and lost the race, as Lenatier gained teen lengths on her before settied down to work again. Linnic made a desperate effort to regain the lost ground, and while she showed a remark able burst of speed she was never able to again get to the front. She finished a vertired second, but the pace had been so hot that Rhinestone lost his portion of the purse after traveling the other four heats, by having the distance flag dropped in his face Time: 2:22. The officers of the Fair and Breeders' association feel greatly disappointed at the lack of interest shown by the people for a really good meeting. RIVAL MARES MEET AT FLEETWOOD. Alar and Phoebe Wilkes Do the Hump-backed Mile in Remarkable Time. NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Fleetwood trotting today was of high order. The race of the day was for the 2:11 class trotters which brought together the two fast mares Phoebe Wilkes and Alar. Just before the start the Chicago mare became favorite over the field at $100 against $75. She made a break at the outset in the first heat, and Michiner laid her up, Alar winning after a close finish with J M D in 2:12½. Debolos Still at His Queer Work.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The greatest amount of discussion today at Sheepshead bay was over the handicap at a mile and a Bay was over the handicap at a mile and a post, with Dobbins as the favorite and Hornpipe the outsider. The other three, Roche, Faraday and Saragossa, were about equal second choices. As soon as the flag fell Hornpipe went out into the lead, with Faraday in second place and the others rating along behind. This was the order until the stretch, when Dobbins came up on the outside and set sail for the leaders, while Roche did the same thing a little further in. Then about the same thing was gone through with as on Saturday last, when Dobbins began to bear on Roche and Roche in turn was crowded against Hornpipe, and by reason of this Roche won. After a long discussion the stewards concluded to allow the race to stand as run. In the Bay stake, only Henry of Navaire, Banquet, Yo Tambien and Sir Walter were left, and thut was the order of favoritism. When they were sent away neither seemed to want to make the pace, but finally Sir Walter and Yo Tambien did so. This was the way they ran up to the last half, when Henry of Navaire and Banquet got away from the others as if they were standing still and began the fight through the stretch. Sims on Banquet did a good deal of crowding, but Tarai outrode him and landed the 3-year-old in the first place by a head. Results:

Omaha Will Close Her Championship

Schedule at Charles Street Park Today.

On the Old Dominion.

LAST GAME OF THE SEASON.

Omaha, a little disfigured, but full of good intentions, will wind up the series of cham-pionship games scheduled for the home grounds this afternoon. Since the first ball was tossed up some four months ago, the teams starting in the race have gone up and down the list of the standing, tumbling one over the other in such startling combinations that never but one has been sure of its place at the close of the season. Between the six teams that have occupied the first six places the contest has been one of the closest ever known. Omaha's team has had its share, maybe more than its share of the glory, and certainly more than its share of the victositudes that accompany a championship season. It would the the reader to wade through a recital of the many little instances of hard luck that have combined to militate against the Omaha club, and would add little to his pleasure to enumerate categorically the good things that have fallen in its way. But in saying goodbye to the team, it would be both unfair and unjust to dismiss it without a word of godover the other in such startling combina have fallen in its way. But in saying good-bye to the team, it would be both unfair and unjust to dismiss it without a word of god-spied and the hope that it may not soon again be left as it was yesterday. It is a matter of regret that so irresponsible a thing as a couple of the Omaha ball players have proved themselves should have the influence for good or bad it does, but it is a fact. The absence of Langsford from yesterday's game was directly due to intoxication, inexcusable, yet costly, in that it disappointed every well wisher of the team, cost the men who backed it all the money they wagered on the result, and cost the management all the money that would have come to the grounds through attendance excited by the excellence of the contest, now kept away by disgust at the effect of disorganizing drunks. Omaha's management has tried hard to give a good game of ball here this season, and has been fairly successful. All reasonable efforts to secure and retain skilled players have been made, and the team has been in winning form several times, only to be thrown down by the ungove nat Is passion of some refractory player. To fine the offender a month's pay does not commensate for this.

gove nath passion of some refractory pla, er, To fine the offender a month's pay does not compensate for this.

Enough of this jeremiad. President McVittle said last night steps would be taken to bring Langsford to a proper realization of his position, and that new men would join the team at Des Moines. He has promises from Jack Newell, late of Sloux City, and Jack Flaherty, late of Louisville, and will have one or both on the team within the week. He will have to go outside the salary limit to get them, as he did in case of Abbey and Clausen, but he is still after the pennant, and will not quit until he has to. Omaha has honest, hard working the permant, and will not quit until he has to. Omaha has honest, hard working fielders in McVey, Hutchison, Seery, Ulrich and McCann, and can put up as good a battery as any of them. So, cranks, "cheer up," for the game isn't out yet, and "it only takes one to hit it."

Toriay will be ladies' day, and Abbey or Whitehill will be in the box, very likely Abbey. At any rate, it is the intention to make Buck's teeth rattle just once more, so he won't forget Omaha during the days when snowballs will form the chief article of the improvident ball players' diet. Mr. Johnson, T. Youngy, will be in the box for the farmers. In other respects the teams will be:

Causes that Fromp'ed a Desertion from the Republican Ranks.

NEVADA SENATOR STATES HIS REASONS

His Letter Resigning Allegiance to Republicanism Read to the Silver Convention at Carson, Nev.-Free Coinage to the Forefront.

CARSON, Nev., Sept. 5 .- The state convention of the silver party, after effecting a temporary organization and appointing committees, took a receas. It is the largest convention ever held in the state.

On reassembling a platform was adopted which denies the authority of the government to restrain or abridge the free coinage of gold and silver into standard money at the ratio of 16 to 1. The attitude of both the republican and democratic parties toward. silver is denounced, and to the demonstization of silver are attributed the financial depressions and hardships of the farmers and wage earners during the past few years, Abolition of national banks and the collection of the Pacific railroads debt is also demanded, also the government ownership of the telegraph lines and the subsidized railroads. The platform says: "We denounce the criminal suspension of the laws of congress by the president, such as the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, the Geary Chinese registration act, and his neglect and refusal to enforce the anti-trust and the interstate commerce act against wealthy offenders."

At this morning's session the letter from Senator Jones resigning his allegiance to the republican party, and announcing his intention to vote and act hereafter with the party that places monetary reform in the forefront of its platform, was read. The letter is dated Washington, August 29, and is addressed to Hon. Enoch Strother, chairman of the republican state central committee of Nevada. Mr. Jones says that having become fully convinced the republican party organization is unafterably opposed to the free coinage of silver, at the American ratio of 16 to 1 or at all, except with the consent of foreign governments, and at a ratio to be dictated by them, "I have to announce I can no longer act with this

He protests that he "abites not one lota of his conviction with reference to the bene-ficent influence on American industries of the ficent influence on American industries of the policy of protection." But he thinks protection will do us no good unless the supply of money is made to keep pace with the demand. Searcity of money is accompanied by an artificial fall in the price of commodities. "All who believe in the predominance of monetary reform should, in my control come together on that issue and opinion, come together on that issue, and for the time being hold in abeyance their convictions upon other questions—reserving to themselves the right to readjust their party relations when the monetary question is settled and other issues come front. History teaches that while re-forms of a minor character may be accomplished through parties formed for the achievement of other purposes no question of the first magnitude—no question involv-ing a great fundamental principle operating in the interest of the masses of mankind was ever sottled without the creation of a new party to achieve it."
The senator closes as follows: "In the immovable conviction that the progress, prosperity and happiness of not only the people of Nevada, but those of the entire country, are more immediately dependent on monetary reform than upon any other issue that can be presented for political action, I shall henceforth vote and act with the party that brings this overmastering issue to the front." Senator Jones declares he has not changed his politics. The views he advocated now were the same he had been upholding in congress since he first entered that body. He has represented this state in the United States senate for over twenty-one years as a republican. His intention to leave the party has been kept secret from all but most intimate associates, as it was his intention to have the first public announcement of his action made in the letter published in his political home. Senator Jones' bolt makes the Nevada congressional delegation solidly populistic, Senator Stewart having left the republican party some time ago and Representative Newlands having been elected as
