said the great heat had passed, and some left for home. It was the general impres-sion that both horses had done their best, and slow time was looked for. Regret was freely expressed that the heat had not been a quarter second faster. Forty-five minutes fater the track was again cleared, and the two horses came out. It was now realized that the track was faster and both horses in the very pink of condition. Not only this, but Curry was proving that his boas was not an idle one. He was giving Geers his greatest race. The latter seemed to be somewhat surprised, and he sad Hamlin. the owner of the wonder, held a close con-sultation on the track. Hamlin asked his driver how the horze felt, and received the reply that he had never been in such fine condition before. "Well, it's a good thing," was the reply,

"for we've got a race on our hands; send

Again the two herses faced each other for the word and again the word was given. Like twin rockets they shit from under the wire and started the trip around the turn that was to bring them glory and fame. Robert J went right to the front, moving like a piece of mechanism. At the quarter he led the big fellow by two lengths. Joe Patchen closed up the gap going down the back stretch and was hanging to the little bay's wheel at the half, which was reached in 1:02%. Patchen moved out a little more and was well alongside of Robert J at the three-quarters. This was reached in 1:30%, and it was realized that without a break even the fast mark of the previous heat was to be placed into insignificance. On came the gladiators smoothly and moving to per-Curry was urging the big fellow, ers, with faith in little Robert, let him out and he moved away from the black at the distance stand with a mighty burst of speed and passed under the wire two open lengths in front of his determined competitor In 2:02%. Patchen was marked at 2:02%. The crowd could not contain its pent up enthusiasm logger than to see the nose of King Robert pushed under the wire. cheer burst forth and continued until Starter Walker announced the time and the time had been posted by quarters. Again cheer upon cheer was given for the great side-wheeler. Secretary Graves proposed three cheers for Mr. Hamilin, which were given with a will, and the famous old turfman re-sponded gracefully to the compliment. Geers was also similarly complimented, as were Curry, the driver, and Tayler, the owner, of Patchen. The two great steeds were not for gotten in the distribution of these favors or the part of the crowds. World's records had been shattered, the fastest heat ever gone in harness had been witnessed and the crowd

It was close to 5:30 when the third heat was called. Joe Patchen was ready for the last bout, which was to settle whether or not he was to score a mark after showing such wonderful speed. Both horses and drivers were cheered as they took positions for the word. Patchen was acting a little badly, and two attempts were made to get away before both animals were well on their gait. It was a great start, but Patchen was moving at a gait that sent Robert into the air. This was going to the quarter, and the break was a bad one. Geers brought him break was a bad one. Geers brought him to his feet very quickly, however, and it was not a second before he was chasing the big black. Patchen passed the quarter in 0.30%, three open lengths in front, but Robert, moving with great precision, slowly crept up on his antagonist, and by the time the three-quarters was reached had recovered two lengths of his lost ground. Patchen was going at a clip that looked as Patchen was going at a clip that looked as though he would carry the heat, but was seen to waver half way down the stratch, though he did not leave his feet. Robert moved up slowly but surely, and took advantage of the swerve made by the black. Geers let him move out as much as he would take, and at the distance stand he had overhauled and was on even terms with Joe. Curry helped his favorite all he possibly could, but Robert was not to be conquered, and he finished the third heat in 2:04%, a half length to the good. Patchen

YOUNGSTERS SHOW THEIR BREEDING

Two-Year-Olds Cut a Hot Clip and Set Themselves Well Up in the List-The Three-Year-Olds Show Up Strong.

The feature of the racing at the Breedera' meeting yesterday afternoon was the exhibition mile traveled by Fred K, Gould & Miller's pacer, with a mark of 2:11%. On Wednesday afternoon the managers of the races made arrangements to give the people a match race between Fred K and Rosewater, the fast Missouri stallion. A liberal purse was hung up for these two horses, and an offer of an additional $500 to the horse that would break the track record made by Rowdy Boy, 2:16%, was considered a strong incentive for the animals to put in their best licks to win the extra money. But both the people and the officials were considerably disappointed, for early in the day it was announced that Rosewater was attacked with a slight touch of the colle and might not be able to start in the race. Still. there were hopes that he would be in shape thing was done to get the horse in shape and not until the other races were finished did the officials give up hopes of being able to make good their word. Then it was shown not be started, and the announcement had to be made to the crowd, who expressed much disappointment at not being able to witness the main event of the day. How-ever, their disappointment gave way when Fred K traveled an exhibition mile for them in 2:16½, within a quarter of a second of the track record of 2:16¼.

The track was in good condition when Starter Culbertson called out the 2-year-old three-minute trotters to compete for a purse of $500. Five starters faced the stand for this race. By mutual consent of the drivers of the horses the distance flag was waived, so that some of the more speedy animals could go for a record and not shut out the others. The horses and drivers were too anxious to get a good start, and they had to score mix times before getting the word. Drivers Lash and Jones were fined $10 each by the starter for pulling ahead of the polhorse. This was a two-in-three heat race and it proved to be a good thing for Pat L who walked away from the field and wen both heats without a struggle. It was a procession and without particular interest ZELLATIER TRAVELS WELL. The second race on the program was for a purse of year-olds, 2:50 class, trot, for a purse of There were eight starters, and only one horse was distanced, although the first three heats were taken with ease by Zel-latier, who was driven by Dick Tilden. In the first heat Zellatier went to the front at such a clip that she opened up several lengths of daylight between herself and the second best horse, and she kept it up to the finish, making four of the tailenders hustle to keep out of the way of the distance flag. Arius was second.

In the second heat Woodallah was dis tanced and George Bancroft took second place. Zellatier led the field by several lengths, as usual, in the third heat, and made a fine finish. Bob Wilkes, who had just got down to actual work, was second and the field was strung out. Summary: Zellatier, b. m., by Pellatier (Tilden) 1

The exhibition mile by Fred K wound up the day's program. When it was announced that Rosewater was sick and could not be started in the special match race Mr. Gould of Ful lerton, one of the owners of Fred K, tol the managers of the races that he was will ing to send Fred an exhibition mile against time. Driver Robinson brought the horse out for a warming up about 5 o'clock, and after scoring down the stretch a couple of times told the judges that he was ready for the word. Fred came down to the wire at fairly fast pace, but on getting the word h settled down into swift work, and reached the first quarter in 33¼, going as steady as a clock. At the haif the watches showed 1.07¼, and he was traveling along as it he was going for a pleasure trip. When he reached the three-quarter post in 1:4115 Robinson loosened up a bit, and Fred K swung into the stretch at a splendid clip. but the turn was so short that he came near "going up," and in steadying him Robinson lost a full second at the finish, but the mile was traveled in 2:16½, and the

DOMINO DEFEATS CLIFFORD.

Match Ruce Won by Foxhall Keene's Great 3-Year-Old in Good Form. NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The racing for the ear at Sheepshead Bay ended today in a blaze of glory. The attendance was large owing to the contest between Domino and Chiford, in which the latter was favorite and the fermer was the public choice, although they could not pour the amount of money into the ring which the big pinners put up. Both horses were cheered as they passed out to the start, but it was evident Domino was the favorite from the preater amount of applause. In the start down into the chute there was little doing, and the flag fell with the two in line. Formino made a terrific bound, and in the birst sixteenth had carried Clifford at such a pace that the legared was begging for mercy, as that part of the race was rin in better than alx secands, and it was there Taral took the measure of his rival. On to the first eighth they flew, locked together like a team, and their noses struck the pole in twelve and two-fifths seconds from the fall of the flag. Still locked together, they ran to the quarter and two-fifths seconds, a cracking pace. At the three-eighths, which was reached in thirty-six and three-fifths seconds. Domino had a shade the better of it and Clifford was breathing hard. Taral saw that he was safe and took Domino back a trille, and the next eighth was run in twelve and four-fifths seconds. Then twelve and one-fifth seconds and Clifford came up a bit. Taral let out a link and away the black 3-year-old flew, covering the next eighth in eleven and three-fifths, making all the heart out of Clifford. Then they rounded the turn into the stretch with Domino going easy and Clifford laboring, a length away. Sims went to the whip in the vain hope of catching his flying antagonist, but the western horse was done and could do no more. "Domino wins," the crowd shouted, and it was right, for Taral eased his mount and came in a winner under the track was there such a wild shout of Joy, and as Domino passed the wire a length in the lead, and in fact all during the last though they could not pour the amount of money into the ring which the big pringers furlong, the shouts were deafening. B. L. Rose said after the race that he was satisfied, for he had been beaten by a better horse, while Foxhall Keene sat up and looked pleased over the victory of his horse. Clifford looked as if he had been in a very hard race, while Domino was as full of spirit as ever and looked able to repeat the victory immediately. PHOERE WILKES BROKE AND LOST Set Back in the Decisive Heat at Fleetwood for Running in the Stretch. NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The double attrac-tion of the postponed race and the free-forall made this a day of more than usual in-terest at Fleetwood. Few races trotted at Fleetwood have excited so much interest as that between Alar and Phoebe Wilkes, which was postponed on account of darkwhich was postponed on account of darkness Wednesday and fought out to a finish today. Each trotter had won two heats yesterday, and it required but a single dash to complete the race. Alar was favorite at 2 to 1 on.

The western mare made a losing break soon after being sent away and lost her pole position. Goldsmith hurried Alar along from the outset and at the half she was three open lengths in advance of Phoebe Wilkes. Down near the Point of Rocks McHenry began a hard drive, and by the time the contending trotters had reached the head of the home stretch Phoebe was on the wheel of Alar. Half way down the stretch she was in the lead and at the 100 yards post looked like a sure winner, but, making an unaccountable break when within ten yards of the wire, she lost the heat. Although she beat Alar out by a half length, the judges set Phoebe back on account of the break. The 2-year-old race furnished a fine contest between the two California colts, Miss Kate and Whalebone, the former finally winning after a series of exsiting finishes. Results:

BARNETT SCOOTING TO PROSPERITY.

Second at Cheyenne. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 6.—(Special Telegram to The Bec.)-The Cheyenne meet of the Colorado and Wyoming circuit was held here today. The weather was fair, but the track was rough. Notwithstanding this the Wyoming third and quarter-mile records were smashed. W. W. Hamilton of Denver and F. G. Barnett of Lincoln were the only fast men from abroad who started in the various events. The latter appeared to be too speedy for the Colorado man. He carried off three first places and one second, and had it not been for a bad fall at the finish in the first event of the half mile, class B, he would have made it interesting for Hamilton in this also. Hamilton and Barnett were the scratch men in the five mile handicap. It was a hotly contested event, but the latter won by half a length. The class B events were as follows:

One-half mile: Hamilton first, Yorke of Pueblo second. Time: 1:09 4-5.

One-third mile: Hamilton first, Barnett second. Time: 0:43 3-5.

The game was called at 4:45 p. m. The Iowa Agricultural college won the toss and chose the side. Fort Dodge led with twenty-live yards on the kick off. Mellinger, Kreger and German secured the ball, and, amid loud cheers, carried it to Fort Dodge's forty-five yard line. The ball was lost by a fumble. Fort Dodge afterwards lost it on four "downs." German, Kreger and Rice made good gains, and Mellinger carried the ball to the soal for the first touchdown. Fort Dodge led again with ten yards on the kick off., Woodburn of the Iowa Agricultural college stopping it. After several downs German carried the ball over the goal for another touchdown and then kicked goal.

goal for another touchdown and then kicked goal.

Fort Dedge led again with twenty yards on the kick off, but it was plain to be seen the boys from the Agricultural college were too much for them. At the end of the first half the score was 30 to 0 in favor of the Agricultural college team.

In the second half they had the game their own was. One touchdown followed another in rapid succession, and when time was called the score stood 46 to 0 in favor of the Agricultural college.

OMAHA HORSEMEN WELL PLEASED. Robert J's Wonderful Time Received With Enthusiasm Here.

The sensational time made by Robert J at Indianapolis yesterday was the theme of conversation among horsemen last night. All of them agreed that such time is phenomenal and will be hard for any other horse to equal. Marve Beardsley said that Geers told him some time ago that he had a world beater and would lower all records before the close of the season, but from what he said it is quite evident that Robert what he said it is quite evident that Robert J went faster yesterday than even his driver expected he could.

Judge Culbertson of Chicago, who is here starting the Breeders' races, says that he doesn't think this mark will be lowered this season. Ed Gould, D. T. Mount, Colonel Kesterson and others who are owners and breeders of trotters and pacers regard the time with pride, and predict that in a short time the harness horses will have the call on turf-goers' interest. When the first reports were received horsemen were loth to believe them, but confirmation soon followed, and they expressed their admiration for the great horse in unmistakable terms.

Well, the Rourkes broke even with the Buckerinos after all-nine games aplece out of the eighteen played-and that is glory enough, for the most sanguine crank in the town gave up yesterday's game before it was played. It was thought impossible to beat the farmers with Langsford and Fear off the team, and everybody went out to see the final game of the season chopped out in chunks, but so uncertain is the great sport that when a fellow thinks he knows the most he actually knows the least. There was a magnificent crowd in attend most thrilling and brilliant of all that has been played here this year, a fitting close of the season. It was Alex Whitehill against Jasper Johnson, and when the smoke of the battle cleared away it was seen that the hero of ance, and the game was one of the sharpest, Tyrono was a hero scili, while Jasper was a fit subject for a nadded cell. But it wasn't Colonel Hillwhite alone who covered himself with glory, for every mother's son of the Pourkes was in the game bigger than a horse, save Pa, who was a trifle rusty from his long inactivity. Billy Moran was present with his little club and his big mit, Grasshopper Ulrich was glaringly conspicuous with a trunk full of new tricks, and Seery and McVey played as if the final goal depended on their efforts. Old Hulch was a meteor, McCann a star and Freddy Clausen a bully boy with a glass eye. Oh, I tell you, it was one of the games you read about, and a happier throng of

But, as long as it was such a recherche affair, let us take a look and see how it was all done.

That imp of the diamond, Ulrich, was the first man to face Jasper, and to the dismay of the crowd he actually struck out. It has got to be so that whenever the Grasshopper steps to the plate the fans naturally expect to see him reach first, if not by a hit, by some species of abstruse ledgerdemain known only to his kind.

The cold, hard look that mantled Jasper's phiz never changed an lota when the in-sect, amidst the suppressed groans of the crowd, returned to the bench. He had the same old stony stare for Pa. It is the firm belief of some people that Jasper dropped off an iceberg some time back in the drift period, and has lost none of his charms by being buried under tons of earth for several scores of years. COULDN'T SCARE PA.

Papa was undaunted, however, and the first ball Jasper unbuckled he caught it low flown below the belt and trundled it out to Mr. Barnes of New York, who was on third. and Pa quit right there. Then Willie Bill Miran hoisted his sapling and sent one skyward. When it came down the inflammatory-haired Devereaux was waiting for it, and the Buckerinos took their turn.

Things at once took on a somber hue Everybody thought the killing had arrived. Alex opened up by belting Mister McCarthy in the small of the back with the ball, and before he could recover from his remorse the Parisian stole second. Pedroes then banged one cut to Clausen and Me Kibben came forward. He made two wild stabs at Alex's perplexing slants, pushed a little easy one down to Pa. I was too slow for Pa to handle, and Mamade his base, while McCarthy reached third. But he was not contented there and endeavored to score. Old Hutch killed him at the plate, Peddy taking his place at third on the play. Speer ended the agony by flying out to Clausen, and thus the Rourkes escaped by the cuticle of their in-

In the second Jasper was a trifle hot and In the second Jasper was a trifle hot and he permitted McVey to walk, and the somber light gave way to a soft glow like that which preceds the sun's rise. But the next two men went out too quick—Seery on a high one to McKibben and McCann on a grounder to first. Hutch then smashed out the first hit and Clausen went to first on four wide ones, and the bags were full. Blight here Seery want out on the lines and Right here Seery went out on the lines and undertook to coach. Ill-starred moment. That settled it. The old patriarch has a voice that will do very well for the expression of terms of endearment or other subdued emotions, but it was never meant to open in the presence of a multitude. Whitehill was massacred. Uncle Hiram-that is Buckerino-signal ized his return by cracking Alex one in the jaw that was good for a base. He boldly stole another and a wild pitch sent him on to

A score was now inevitable, that is, it looked that way, but it wasn't.

The gentleman from New York graciously lifted one over to McVey, and Devereaux swatted one down to Old Hutch, and Buckerino, thinking his chance had come, essayed to skate home. But Hutch was too quick for him, and with a wailing cry that would have cracked a fire brick he was nailed at the plate.

A ciever play.

Devereaux also stole second, and when John L. Sullivan laced a safe one out into he thought he saw his chance, like Hiram he was also mistaken. Jack Mc-Cann was the man who was too quick this time, and Devy's life blood was also splashed

A great play.

Here rosy clouds began to smile overhead and a beautiful amber settled over the park.

RIGHT HERE WE CUT SOME ICE. Of course the Grasshopper got hit, but while everybody was rejoicing over his mis-fortune he undertook to larceny second, but was everlastingly flabbergasted by Speer's accurate throw. Hiram threw Pa out at first, but Willie Bill slashed out a two-bagger, Captain Mac its mate and Seery a single, and two carned runs came in. What a rear went up at that. But in their half the farmers got one of Jasper first capitulated to the Grasshopper but McCarthy made a hit. He got second on Alex's bad throw, to third on McKibben's single and home while the latter was being immolated at second. That was all the Buckerines got until the ninth inning, but in the fifth we scooped in three and in the sixth two more. In the fifth, after both Pa and Willie Bill had perished at first, McVey made one of the cutest little bunts, that ever ornamented a Christmas tree. On Seery's double he romped to third, and on McCann's being allowed to walk the bags were full. At this highly delightful juncture Old Hutch laid his tree against one of Jasper's puzzles for his third safe. Mac and Seery scored. The Grasshopper, however, was in the play. He got between the two runners, and came tearing down the line. Speer got the ball from McCarthy, and as Ulrich was the near-est man to him be jumped after him and right by Seery, who was coming in home in the rear of the procession. Speer chas d Ulrich almost to third before he succeeded in seeking him in the back with the ball.

When he discovered he had been after the wrong man he was the maddest ball player alive. Photographs taken on the spot would have sold like hot cakes at umpty dollars a dozen. His eyes flashed horseshoe nails, and he shook so in his rago that the ground all about him for the radius of a yard was knee-deep with hayseed and

It was a grotesque incident, and the crowd never did quit yelling. In the meantime Jack McCann had ploughed on to third. Then he and Hutch made a double steal. Then the crowd whosped her up again. They were so tickled to see the Rourkes steal something!

The two runs in the sixth ended the tourkes' scoring, and finally the last half of the ninth rolled around.

HIRAM'S LAST EXPIRING EFFORT. The farmers came in like so many jackals on the scent of a dead camel.

They meant business, and before they got through the whole crowd was scart within an inch or two of its life.

It was enough to give a man the night Sullivan and Jasper furnished easy outs Then Alex got a little gay and gave McCar-thy his base. He'll never do it again. Peddy smacked the ball in the kisser and it hopped Philadelphia Brooklyn Cieveland Pitisburg over the fence. Alex get red in the face and shaky in the knees. He gave McKib-ben a bag, then Speer slashed out a single. St. Louis.... Washington Louisville

Hiram a two-bagger, and the man from New York another. Five runs in. One more would tie the score, two win the game, Alex stood like a statue carved out of mud. He first looked appealingly heavenward, then caressed his arm, smiled and prepared to do his worst. Right here Hiram used an expression that no gentleman would use in the presence of reporters. He said-well, no matter what he said. I can prove it though, and it's a good thing Alex didn't hear. Reddy Devereaux took his position at the bat, a sardonic grin playing around the hole in his face. "Here's where we win her!" That was from my esteemed friend, Thomas Jefferson Hickey, on the bench. The whole Lincoln crowd was yelling like Alex was trembling like some fragile reed in the wind. But nobedy thought of him-they were all watching Buck. Then Devy cracked out a high one, and when it came down Jack McCann ate it, and our nightmare was ended. Lincoln. routed, and the last game of the season was our'n. The score OMAHA.
