TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

Some very pertinent advice to parents concerning sending their sons to technical schools and works in order to fit them to become engineers has recently been pub-Hished by the oldest technical journal, the "Engineer." "There are many parents," says this paper, "filled with ambilious desires for the future of their sons and anxlous to have them assume a dignity not inferior to that of a lawyer, doctor or clergyman; they wish them to become profes-sional men in contradistinction to tradesmen. To them, it must be confessed, engineering does not open a hopeful prospect. The number of professional engineers is comparatively small, and those who can be classed among the fully successful are, as a rule, men of special genius. The most excellent training and the greatest assiduity concerning technical subjects, even the greatest success in the earliest part of his areer, does not guarantee to the engineer sufficient income in later life. For one thing, even professional engineering is always under the influence of trade, and rises and falls with its periods of elevation and depression. The doctor and the lawyer are not so fettered. Ninety per cent of the population needs a doctor's assistance at least twice in their lives, once to bring them into the world and once to send them out of It again, and probably 50 per cent seek the assistance of a lawyer at least two or three times in their sojourn here; but the profes-sional engineer, be he ever so able, may spend his life unneeded and employ his time designing force pumps or vary the monotony by inventing and taking out patents for improvements he is not wealthy enough to pur-sue. The title 'profession' is too narrow for engineering—'an employment not mechanical and requiring some degree of knowl-edge'—such a definition is totally inapplicable, and either we have no right to employ the word profession or the meaning needs modification. The work of the engineer must in its nature be always more or less mechanical. The title trade is as far wrong on the other side, for it is possible to be a successful engineer without either being a professional or a tradesman. There is no word in the language which exactly describes the occupation. Our technical schools would be useless were engineering a mere traffic in machines, a trade not needing as much knowledge as that of a tea dealer. This is not engineering at all, and those pursuing such an occupation have no right to call themselves engineers." While Russia is behindhand in most things pertaining to progress and enlightenment she is distinctly in advance of the remainder of the world as far as the regulation of the bicycle traffic is concerned. Before any one fare he is compelled to obtain a license at a piered upon the police registers of his district, in token of which he is presented with a square piece of leather with his number in large figures of bright metal. This he must have permanently affixed to the back of the cycle, so that it may be seen by the police But prior to receiving the license the knight of the wheel is forced to undergo an examinawell to avoid becoming a public danger. This examination consists in the description of a figure 8 set around two sticks, and he is obliged to do this to the satisfaction of the official examiners, one of whom is usually the president of the local bicycle club.

General Manager G. W. Holdrege and General Freight Agent George H. Crosby of the Burlington, returned from St. Paul yesterday, where they had an extended conference with Northern Pacific officials relative to traffic matters between the two companies when the Burlington reaches Hillings. Mr. Hobbreg: stated to The Bee man that the Billings connection would probably be made about September 25, and the line would be in complete operation by the middle of October.

"Our trip to St. Paul was for the purpose f getting together on matters of detail conected with the exchange of husiness at Eill ings. When we came to sift out features of the new relationship, the Northern Pacific scople and ourselves were not very far apart While there are still some features of the connection yet to be discussed, I feel safe in saying that the companies will exchange ousiness at Billings upon a basis satisfactory to all interests. Whether a close traffic agreement will be made, I cannot say, but magine the arrangements will be upon a casis similar to those existing with other connections. Beyond this there is little that would be interesting to the public. The dails can only concern the two systems."

Judge Bellinger Holds Oregon Receivers Had a Right to Reduce Wages. PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 7 .- In the Oregon lailway & Navigation wage schedule in the United States court, Judge Bellinger this norning rendered an important decision on a question in point, the exact reverse of a decision rendered by Judge Caldwell in the Union Pacific wage schedule case in the United States court at Omaha. In the Union Pacific case Judge Caldwell decided that the receivers had no power to change the schedule and rules, but should petition the court to make the change. In his de-cision Judge Bellinger said that the court cannot be expected to stand over the receiver and follow him through the minute details of his work. Under the rule proposed, which was the one laid down by Judge Caldwell, the receiver might want to make a hundred or a thousand changes a year, for each of which the court will have to give an order. This would involve a ques-tion that it seemed to him was impractical The question in this case was whether the receiver could make reductions in the wages of employes without the consent of court. The parties were all in court, and it made no difference on the petition of which side they got there, nor which side will introduce witnesses first. The decision was followed by another to the effect that the order of Judge Caldwell in the Union Pacific wage cases was not binding on the separate receiver of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. This disposed of all the technical points, and the court announced he would hear the case on its merits. The date for the hearing will be set tomorrow morning. In referring to the causes for the reduction of the wages of opratives, counsel for the receiver stated that the reports of earnings and operating expenses for the month of April showed a deficiency of over $100,000. He estimated for the present year the deficiency would exceed over $1,000,000 and if there was to be a continued deficiency in the operating expenses the road had better be abandoned.

EASTBOUND RATES RESTORED. Central Traffic Association Roads Get Back to Tariff Rates September 22. CHICAGO, Sept. 7.-The general managers of the Central Traffic association roads, their meeting today, reached an agreement as to the restoration of rates on live stock, bulk meats and provisions. They made be restored to the tariff basis September 22, and be strictly maintained thereafter.

In relation to passenger affairs, a resolution was adopted creating separate tees of general passenger agents of the lines initial at Chicago, St. Louis and Peoria to prepare a detailed plan for a division of the business from and through these points to and through the western termini of the Trunk Line association roads At the meeting of the transcontinental lines today no progress was made in the settlement of existing differences. The whole time was spent in the discussion of differentials, the Oregon Navigation company refusing to consider any other phase of the situation until its claim for differentials be

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Chicago Great Western road, C. W. Benson, J. W. Lusk and S. C. Stickney, whose terms of office as directors of the company had expired, were re-elected for a term of three years. No other business was transacted.

No Agreement Looked For. There is a decided feeling growing that the boycott inaugurated against the Union Pacific by the transcontinental roads will be "called off" and that the Union Pacific, Burl-ington and Rock Island will form a combine against the northern roads should the Ore against the inferentials should the Ore-gon Railway & Navigation company insist upon the differentials it now claims on San Francisco business. The boycott, while it has not seriously injured the Union Pacific, has made things decidedly unpleasant in the territory tapped by the "Overland" route and its competitors. There are many people who, coming from the west, desire to use the Rio Grande as far as Denver, or would like to use the Burlington or Rock Island from Denver to Chicago, using the Union Pacific as far as Denver from Ogden. Under the ruling of Mr. Lomax his road has stood out for the long haul and has closed in consequence some of the common gateways to the disadvanatge of all companies. But the action of the northern lines insisting upon higher differentials than at presnt allowed has drawn the Union Pacific, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific closely together as a means of much more effective warfare against their northern enemies. It is rumored that Mr. Lomax will recommend to the receivers of his company a change in the policy of man-pulating business originating in its territory should the boycotting roads show a disposition to the boycotting disposition to roads show a disposition to lift the boycott and pull together mutually, taking from one another whatever business is given without insisting upon the long

But even with the boycott lifted, the at-mosphere around transcontinental roads is still very heavy, and the prospects of an agreement being reached are as far removed The Southern Pacific people Insist that the Oregon Railway & Navigation company re-new the contract made with the Union Pacific as to local business between Portland and San Francisco. This Mr. McNeill is not inclined to do on account of his line of boats plying bytween the Sound country and the Golden Gate. While the Oregon Navigation company enjoys the same arrangements over the Shasta route as the Northern Pacific, it does not want to handicap itself by renewing the Union Pacific contract made with the Southern Pacific, and this is one of the stumbling blocks in the way of a transcontinental agreement.

A NEGRO STATE.

The Black Settlers of Ohlahoma Estimated at 68,000.

The growth of Oklahoma has been one of the most remarkable in the history of American territories. A few years ago it was a barren wilderness, inhabited only by savage Indians and lawless white men; today it is knocking at the doors of congress for admission to the union as a state. When it ir admitted, says the Memphis Scimeter, it will have a larger Afro-American population that, any state of its size and population in the union outside the southern states. From figures furnished by Mr. Peter Flynn Oliver, a reputable lawyer of El Reno, who went to Oklahoma from South Carolina a few years ago, it is learned that the Afro-American population numbers 66,000, there being 8,586 in Blaine county, 14,000 in Kinglisher county, 8,400 in Lincoln county, 10,000 in Logan county, the remainder being scattered in all the other counties. The total property holdings of these people is $6,353,326, divided as follows: $5.488,180 represented by 584,818 acres of farm land; $37,400 represented by town property, and $837,736 represented by peronality. Commenting on these figures, Mr.

The land in Oklahoma is largely raw and the price I place upon it is extremely low. Settlers have hardly begun to build elab-Settlers have hardly begun to build elab-orately, and the majority of the pioneers brought with them no personality worth mentioning save their teams when they first came; some came even teamless. The first personality valuation is, therefore, very low. If you could have seen this barren country, however, on April 22, 1889, then gone away and dropped down upon us to-day you would be wonder-struck at the day you would be wonder-struck at the metamorphosis. The dug-out, the sod house and the shacks are being rapidly replaced by beautiful and comfortable homes for man

"The estimates I have given you are for Oklahoma excluding other portions of the old Indian Territory. There is a large Afro-American population in that portion of the territory, many of them worth their hundreds of thousands of dollars. The Creek and Seminole nations have more African than Indian blood in their veins, and Governor Brown of the Creeks shows his African more than his Indian blood. He is a man of education and wealth.
"The Kickapoo, the Klowa, the Comanche and the Apache lands are likely to come in soon for settlement. The next move will then be upon the five civilized tribes, who own their lands in common. Then the whole Indian territory will have been swallowed by the white man. Many lots of black men help in the swallowing." The Afro-Americans have settled in some parts almost to the exclusion of the whites. Langston City was founded by E. P. Mc-Cabe, who was once auditor of Kansas, a man of great resource and energy. The streets, avenues and boulevards of Langston

City are named in honor of prominent Afro-Americans. It supports a weekly newspa-per called the Herald. Mr. McCabe projected another town, but it has not pros-pered as well as Langston City. Most of the Afro-Americans in Oklahoma went there from the southern states. Ten-nessee furnished a very large number, and these are constantly drawing others after them, as is natural and usual in such cases, so it is possible that when the territory is admitted to the union it will have an Afro-An erican population of some 109,000. In several instances, when these men have been menaced by unfriendly Indians and whites, they have shown that the courage and determination which carried them into the territory and enabled them to secure homes in the wilderness were sufficient to protect them and their property. Do you have headache, dizziness, drowsiness, loss of appetite and other symptoms of biliousness? Hood's Sarsaparilla will

"Take your wife?"
"Yes." "About a year after you were married? "Before you went to Washington did she

"She continued to think so, I believe." "I thought it was going to turn out a curious coincidence," continued the man.

with a look of disappointment on his face, "How do you mean?"
"Why, up to the time I took my wife to Washington she thought I owned the earth and was the biggest thing on top of it. We were there a week seeing all the representatives and senators and cabinet officers, and shaking hands with the president. In three days she suddenly took notice that I was knee sprung and baldheaded. When we started for home she said that a man who owned a saw mill didn't amount to much. We hadn't been home a week when sho objected to paper window curtains, and before the month was out she had run away with the agent of a corn planter. So your wife still sticks?" "Yes."

"Well, keep an eye on her. She's probably waiting for a chance to run away with the man who enters the den of performing hyenas. Washington will spoil the best woman on earth. Seeing greatness once, they will always sigh for it afterward."

will always sigh for it afterward." RUSSIAN IDEA OF A JOKE

A Domestic Incident Which Did Not Pan A Russian paper relates that an inhabitant of Voro, in Finland, named Sellquist, who for a long time past had been living on bad terms with his wife, had lately a narrow escape from being poisoned by her, She called at a chemist's and asked for some rat poison. As these creatures are very rarely seen in that neighborhood the chemist had his susple ons aroused and gave the woman a perfectly harmless drug. On second thought he decided to mention the matter to her husband and requested him to say nothing about it to his wife. In the evening, as she was preparing the porridge, the man kept a watchful eye on her move-ments, and noticed that she scattered something out of a paper into the saucepau. When the porridge was ready he sat down to the table and began to eat. he got up in great excitement, paced up and down the room, and at last fell fainting on the floor. This was what the woman on the floor, expected. She which she placed around her husband's neck whereupon she ran upstairs into the garret in order to pull up the rope and hang her husband in that fishion. Meantime her husband got up and tied a few chairs to the rope. The wife did not return to the the rope. The wife did not return to the room, as she dreaded the sight, but went out into the village to raise an alarm, sayng that her husband had hanged himself in her absence. When she came back with a host of neighbors and crocodile tears in her eyes there was her husband sitting at the table laughing till his sides ached. The chairs were still dangling on the rope.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colle, Cholera and Diarrhoen Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is enclosed. I refer to any county of-ficial as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primroy, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by
