DEMOCRATS CANNOT GET TOGETHER

Local Sentiment Divided Between the Free Silver and Administration Wings of the Party—Each Side Claims Everything and Concedes Nothing.

The democrats of Douglas county are having a very lively anti-campaign battle this week, and a great many of them find it difficult to describe just "where they are at."

There seem to be three factions in this preliminary skirmish—the administration democrats, the free silver-Bryan democrats, and the third, most who have been brought to do the bidding of the railway bosses and prevent fusion or the possible endorsement of the populist gubernatorial candidate.

The administration democrats are allied with the railroad crowd headed by Tobo Casior and supported by the Burlington political bureau. The latter influences are being put forward to assist in the success of Majors.

The administration democracy is headed by Mr. Miller, enjoying a soft government job, Charles Conroy and John McMillan, who expect to fall into the postoffice jobs here and in South Omaha, and others who want to carry favor with the powers that be in Washington.

They are working for an anti-Bryan delegation to the convention. Then there are a good many democrats who say nothing, but saw wood, and look on with indifference.

A reporter of The Bee interviewed a number of the leaders yesterday.

HIS RESPECTS TO BRYAN.

S. R. Rosh, chairman of the democratic county central committee, in reply to the interrogatory, "Is it true that you, with other democrats, in constant consultation with Tobias Casior as to the best means of carrying Douglas county?" stated: "I scarcely know Mr. Casior."

"The fact is we are not waging a fight against Mr. Bryan. Every candidate for delegate to the state convention will be pledged to support him for United States senator. No one in this campaign has a word to say against Mr. Bryan personally, notwithstanding the fact that the World-Herald, for which he says he is responsible, is daily filled with screeching vilification and deliberately and knowingly misrepresenting the best and truest democrats in Douglas county—the men who have devoted their time and money to democratic success, and who have never faltered when the fight was on. These are the men, the organized democracy of this county, who are branded "liars," "hypocrites," "cowards" and the rest. Why? Because they are not simply because they are contending for the national democratic platform on the silver question as against the World-Herald's platform, "the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a rate of 16 to 1." That paper less than a year ago told the democrats of Douglas county that the proper platform was that, and that the ratio that it now advocates meant nothing less than damnation to the business interests of the county.

"Myself with other democrats, organized and worked for that construction of the Chicago national democratic platform a year ago, and no amount of abuse by Mr. Bryan's paper can deter us from what we believe to be right and democratic. We have never disputed him the right to think and express himself as he chose on party issues, and we insist that the same freedom should not be applied to us. The old-time democrats who have spent their lives in the service of their party have a duty to perform Thursday afternoon. The combined business interests of Douglas county have equally an important duty to perform. The organized democracy of Douglas county is in duty bound on that day to see to it that the national platform of their party's faith is not spit upon and stamped in the dust. If I mistake not, these interests will be standing shoulder to shoulder at this primary election, battling for their convictions and the highest and most authoritative expression of democratic principles.

Dan B. Honin, editor of the Democrat—I am a fusionist, and am for Holcomb all the time. I think that any poor man who works for a straight ticket is a scoundrel. It injures his chances of eating three square meals a day this winter. The bankers and the B. & M. railroad are against the poor man's interest in this campaign, and the democratic state convention nominates a man for governor other than Holcomb. I will turn my paper into a populist sheet and join that fight. I am in favor of a fusion ticket, and I am in favor of Bryan for governor. Congress and Holcomb for governor. We cannot endorse the populist county ticket, nor fuse with them.

NOTHING BUT STRAIGHT GOODS.

Dr. George L. Miller, collector of customs—I am in favor of a straight democratic ticket. No other ticket is admissible. I have no choice for governor, but hope that the democrats will nominate some man of character and ability. I will not approve an endorsement of Holcomb. Fusion always means a sacrifice of principle, and I cannot favor it. Men who are ambitious and are seeking office propose to disrupt the party by advocating a general fusion ticket, and our principles will find no support in the following in the near future. I am in favor of Bryan for the United States senate, on the Chicago platform, but not in the position he now assumes. I will not see a straight legislative ticket, and would prefer to see a fusion ticket, but in a compromised victory with the populists. Oil and water will not mix in politics.

W. F. Wappich, secretary of the Jacksonian club—I am in favor of a fusion ticket, legislative ticket, and to help the populists elect a senator and two members of the lower house, but the balance of the ticket should be straight. I think Cirm Deaver should withdraw from the congressional race in favor of Boyd, in consideration of our active endorsement of Holcomb. The democrats should work for Holcomb. The democrats of Douglas county are going to put up a ticket that will commend itself to the voters. We are in fighting trim this fall, and if the populists act fairly we can win.

Louis Boehme, deputy United States marshal—The administration democrats will turn down Bryan and the free silver democrats. I am not in favor of fusion on any part of the ticket, but if our state convention nominates or endorses Holcomb I will give him my support.

Councilman E. E. Howell—I am sure that Bryan delegates will carry Douglas county at the coming primaries. I am in favor of Holcomb, and I am in favor of a fusion on the head of the state ticket, as well as on the senate ticket. We will decisively settle this at the primaries on Friday.

CREDIT OF THE STATE.

Henry W. Yates, President Nebraska National Bank, B. & M. Railroad Depository—I have a favorable opinion of Mr. Holcomb, and regard him as a fair minded man, but cannot support him because I believe that a populist victory would be disastrous to the financial interests of the state. We want a straight out democratic ticket this fall. I think the democratic party is more than the mass, and if it is not, I want to get out of it. As I understand the subject, the national platform should show the principles of the candidates. We have no more right to cancel that part of the platform relating to out-of-door principles than we have to alter the part relating to the tariff. For this reason I cannot see how any one can claim to be a fusionist and wish the platform to conform with the peculiar principles of another party, the same as is now being attempted.

Charles H. Rich, Merchant—I am a Bryan man and believe in fusion and free silver. I will vote for Holcomb whether a democrat is nominated or not, and I know a lot more democrats who are in the same position as I am. We can and will carry Douglas county, and we won't stand any gag rules from the administration democrats.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Money for Protective Work Against Cramblers Refused with Much Spirit.

POLICE BOARD AND SEAVEY GET SCORED

Declared to Have Taken No Action that Was Not Thoroughly Indiscreet and Inopportune—Live Report of the Committee—Other Business.

The most notable feature of the regular city council meeting last evening was the adoption of a red hot report from the committee on police on the request of Chief Seavey and the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners for an appropriation for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance. The report was adopted without discussion, Wheeler alone voting in the negative. The report was as follows:

In the absence of any explanation accompanying the communication referred to, we assume that it is intended as a request to the commission in its attempt to appropriate a further sum of money for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance. The committee believes that no such appropriation should be made for the following reasons:

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners has not set aside any fund for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance, and the city funds for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance are not available for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance.

There are no other available funds for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance, and the city funds for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance are not available for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance.

AN EXPENSIVE FAILURE. To appropriate money for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance is an expensive failure.

The very letter from Chief Seavey, which is attached to the subject of this report, states in so many words that there are more places where gambling is carried on at present in Omaha than there were during the last two years, and the same letter states, in effect, that the gambling rooms are so hidden away that it is impossible for the police force, as at present constituted, to break them up or exercise any watchfulness over them.

Something like thirty of the democrats of the seventh ward met out at Twenty-ninth street and Woodworth avenue last night, where they proceeded to swallow Grover Cleveland, the democratic administration, Bryan and Boyd, all at one gulp. It was a case of where the lion and the lamb cuddled together, and as a necessary consequence of the present condition of things, which prevents police visitation, is deprived of an amount of money that is not available for the purpose of detecting offenders against the gambling ordinance.

The police force, as at present constituted, is not sufficient to break them up or exercise any watchfulness over them. The police force, as at present constituted, is not sufficient to break them up or exercise any watchfulness over them.

SHE'S QUEEN BY COMPULSION

Queer Story of a Girl's Predicament in the Cansibal Country.

SAD FATE OF A SOUTH SEA ISLAND RULER

Young and Highly Educated Yet Forced Into a Condition of Captivity Under the Name Sovereignty—Half King—Half and Half Native.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—The bark Helen N. Ramey, just returned from a long voyage among the islands of the South Pacific, brings the story of a tropical princess, half English and half native, who rules over the Manua group against her wishes, though her subjects worship her much after the fashion that the Koreans worship their king or as the Peruvians humbled themselves before the virgins of the sun.

History repeats itself in the biography of Margaret Young, the English name of the prisoner princess, for the story of Francis Young, a sailor who landed at the island of Tau nearly 100 years ago, is recalled. This man married a Tau native woman who was queen of the group. His son by her wedded a half-breed maiden, Margaret Young is the daughter of that son. Through the death of all the heirs apparent to the throne, Miss Young found herself called upon to assume the power of mistress of the islands. This news was conveyed to her at Apia some months ago by a delegation of chiefs from hereditary to accompany them back to Tau, where she was immediately installed as queen.

Great interest is lent to the case of the girl, who is but 22 years of age, by the report that she is highly educated, and was at the time of her sudden call from Apia happily pursuing the course of her studies at a Catholic convent. Captain Luttrell of the Ramey, and his wife, who accompanied him on his last trip, were the first white people permitted to interview the queen, and obtained from her majesty the story that her life was one of misery in spite of the profound respect shown her by her native subjects. She is a ruler who is compelled to maintain an edious reserve, the sanctity of her dwelling being rigidly preserved by fierce warriors who stand ready to decapitate the bold intruder who dares to enter the queen's sacred presence without first being especially appointed by the spirit fires and summoned by a council of chiefs.

"The grand chief of the group is the only man that is allowed to approach the queen," explained Captain Luttrell. "He attends to her wants, assisted by two maidens who never leave her side except when they are called upon to do her bidding. Should any native desire to pay tribute to her in the shape of fish or fowl, he must fasten his gift upon the end of a bamboo pole, advances with closed eye and thrust the stick through the door of the palace."

Queen Margaret is not allowed to walk outside her cabin limit. She must be carried on a litter by her maids, and when she ventures upon a journey her subjects are ordered to under pain of death to keep hidden in their respective domiciles.

The captive queen explained to Luttrell that she desired to be freed but had never dared to say so to those who hold her prisoner. She explained that her subjects were kindhearted and meant to cause her no unhappiness but they religiously followed the customs of their ancestors in acting as they did toward her.
