'Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: "When the life of a nation is at stake, and the laws which govern its existence are incapable of defending the rights of its citizens, the mo-ment comes when all restraint must be thrown aside, and the supreme right of rev-olution invoked. For the first time since the present presiding officer of this convention assumed the leadership of the democratic party in this state, I am in revolt against him, and ask this convention to disregard decision, and place upon his sense of duty the acceptance of a nomination which does not desire as a favor at its hands. (Applause.) I am aware that there is no honor that the state of New York can nonfer upon its distinguished son which is not already his, won in honest battle in defense of popular rights and democratic principles. But I believe that there cours a time in the history of every man when the difficulties that surround him are the opportunity upon which he rises to higher opportunity upon which he ruses to higher planes. We must not deceive ourselves. We are confronted now with a stuation which requires the democratic party to array itself in its strengest armor and to choose its tried and much esteemed leader to carry it through the crisis which confronts it. The battle for the couwhich confronts it. The battle lot the people of this country is not yet over, and victory is not yet achieved. Upon the results of this election depend the future of democracy, in which is involved the future of this country. We must not take the risk of a failure." WITHDREW THATCHER'S NAME. Vainly did Senator Hill use the gavel upor the desk and call for order. When some quiet was restored the senator demanded that the roll call proceed under the rul w of the convention. Clerk De Freest began cal ing the roll. As each county was called its leader arose and declared for David B. Hill. When the call was about half completed ex-Assemblyman Hitt from Albany, who had nominated Thacher, jumped to his feet and mounting a chair withdrew his candidate and earnestly call d upon Hill to accede to the wishes of the convention. This made HM the only candidate before the convention. Congressman Cockran interrupted the roll call by springing upon a table and thunder ing out: "All who are in favor of the nom-ination by acclamation will say aye."

There was a mighty shout, and to the same summons for those opposed "No" there was not a voice heard. Then, turning to Senator Hill, he said: "Sir the people sum-mon you to your duty." (Applause.) Mayor Gilroy mounted a chair and added:

"I only desire to say that it is the unani-mous sentiment of this convention that Senator David E. Hill should be the democratic standard bearer in this campaign I am satisfied of the fact that Benstor Hill has never yet failed in his duty to the democratic party, and if this wish is conveyed to him deliberately and properly ill obey the command of this convention.

The roll was then called and every county answered for Hill and the secretary an nounced Senster Hill had received all the votes cast. During the excitement that attended the clerk's announcement of the nomination of Senator Hill, the senator was inanimate behind the chairman's table. His usually pale face was almost ashen. His hands trembled and he did not venture to Delegates rushed for the stage and shouted for a recess so as to forbid Senator Hill from refusing. The leader, however, opposed adjournment on the very same ground, and finally the convention went on with its work. LOCKWOOD FOR LIEUTENANT GOV-ERNOR.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan in a brief eulogism nominated Hon. Daniel F. Lock-wood of Buffalo for the office of lieutenant governor. The nomination was made by ac-clamation amid great appliance. James D. Bell nominated James G. Gaynor for judge of the court of appeals, and the convention nominated him by acclama-tion. The usual resolutions were adopted. A motion to adjourn was carried. Senator Hill says: "The convention that is running itself wants to adjourn. I declare it adjourned." Convention adjourned sine die at 3:39. THE PLATFORM.

Following is the platform as adopted by The democratic party of New York state congratulates the people of the state on the restoration of business confidence and the improvement of industrial conditions which are following the repeal by a democratic congress of the laws of its republican predecessors.

congress of the laws of its republican predecessors.

Unsound, financial legislation, driving out our gold and threatening a silver standard; worse than a war tariff, unnecessarily adding to the cost of living, diminishing federal revenues, and overstimulating favored industries at the general expense; profligate expenditures converting an assuring treasury surplus into an alarming deficit; these were the Ill-conceived and Ill-fated products of republican partisanship which brought the country to the verge of financial and industrial ruin; which wiped out private fortunes, reduced incomes, turned tens of thousands of men out of work, closed factories, destroyed business, brought thousands of deserving poor face to face with starvation, and inflicted general distress upon the people. Complete transfer of the government to the democratic party was too late to avert these terrible evils;
it could only remove their causes and repair the injury.

We therefore rejoice that by the repeat of the Sherman law for the purchase and storage of silver bullion, all fear of a depreciated currency has been allayed and faith has been restored in the ability of the government to maintain a constant parity between its gold and silver coinage; that depreciated currency has been allayed and faith has been restored in the ability of the government to maintain a constant parity between its gold and silver coinage; that by this repeal of the McKinley tariff law, the inordinate taxation of the many for the benefit of the few has not been notably diminished and in the plane of equitable and monstrous customs duties which have starved some industries and overfed others, the tariff schedules have been adjusted so that while affording ample safeguards for American labor they reduce the price to the people of the necessities of life and encourage the promotion of industry by cheapening the cost of many raw materials used in manufactures; and that by reducing expenditures wherever possible, and by provision for additional revenues, the legitimate demands upon the federal treasury will not longer exceed the government's income and necessitate an increase in the public debt.

The beneficial effects of the adoption of these salutary means of public policy are already plainly apparent. Each day gives evidence of returning prosperity. Milis closed by the effects of the republican legislation are reopening and their operatives are returning to work. Merchants report a largely increased yolume of business and manufacturers are preparing for periods of prosperity which the readjustment of the tariff and cheaper raw materials certaigly assures.

We concur with President Cleveland that ment of the tariff and cheaper raw materials certaigly assures.

We concur with President Cleveland that the new turiff measure does not embody the full issue of tariff reform, but with him we also endorse its provisions for cheaper and freer raw materials and lower taxes as a substantial reception of democratic principles, and we bespeak for the law an impartial trial, confident that its successful operation will convince the people of the wisdom of democratic policy and induce them to demand its proper extension. While favoring, therefore, wise moderation and readjustment of particular schedules, and readjustment of particular schedules by the enactment of separate bills as fuat orders should be addressed to DICTIONARY DEPARTMENT ture conditions and the fulfillment of democratic piedges require, we deprecate, pending a fair trial of the law by actual operation, any further general tariff revision which under present conditions would be likely to retard improvement in business and thereby prolong the evils brought upon the country by republican folly.

We commend the enactment by the democratic congress of many measures of public importance demanded by the people, particularly the repeal of the federal election law and the stringent legislation for the suppression of the trusts. We reaffirm the declaration of principles contained in the democratic national platform of 1892 and we reiterate the expressions of recent democratic state platforms in favor of honest money, economy in public expenses, just and liberal provision for all disabled union soldiers, their widows and dependents, and strict adherence to the true principles of civil service reform.

We commend the effort made by the senators and representatives in congress from the state to avert the imposition of the income tax, and we record our regret that the reform of the tariff to which all democrats were committed was embarransed by engrafting on its provisions a direct tax to which many democrats were strenuously opposed.

The platform then demands the rigid enforcement of the laws to prevent and control trusts, it heartily endorses the hand; purpose and high ideas which have characterized the administration of President Cleveland, and piedges their carnest support in all his efforts to secure the enactment of democratic measures and the carrying out of democratic policies, expressing confidence that the people will sustain him at the polis in November. The remainder of the platform is devoted to state issues, closing with an endorsement of Governor Flower's administration.

BIG WREEL MEET AT KEARNEY. Opens Today.
The indications are very flattering for two days' hot sport at Kearney on today and tomorrow. The track, now considered the fastest in Nebraska, has been much improved since the state tournament was the fastest in Nebraska, has been much improved since the state tournament was held. Experts declare that it is at least ten to twelve seconds to the better. In addition to the magnificent prize list hung up by the club, mention of which has been made heretofore, the E. C. Stearns company of Syracuse, N. Y., has donated a beautiful silver trophy, valued at $50, for a team race of five miles, three men to constitute a team. An Omaha team won the trophy at the state meet in July and very probably a team from Omaha win try to bring home the Stearns trophy. Chief Consul Ebersole of the Nebraska division, League of American Wheelmen, has been tendered the official position of referee of the tournament and has mailed his acceptance. The Kearney Cycling club will see that all visiting wheelmen are well entertained, a guaranty that those who attend the races will not feel lonesome and homesick. Arrangements have been made with Prof. J. B. Dearing, balloonist, who will attempt to lower all existing world's unpaced records for distances under the mile in his descent from the mammoth airship. He will use in his attempt a full-geared bleyde. The races will be run off in the afternoon of each day; trial heats in the morning, very likely. Manager W. B. Walker predicts the smashing of all existing state records in competition. The Western Passenger association has granted a fare and a third for all Nebraska boints and purchasers of tickets will call-for that rate.

The tournament winds up with a grand complimentary ball at the new Midway hotel on the evening of the 28th. Racing men from the surrounding states will attend largely, entries being numerous in both classes A and B. The entry list is too long for publication, but judging from some of the cracks are so a "little pot hunting tour;" that they will be surprised is not merely a conjecture. There will considerable friendly rivalry and splendid riding in every race of the "snaps" will be few and far between. Set held. Experts declare that it is at least the possession of the Riverton challenge plate today. Indiay's victory is the seventh successive one for Welch, and it looks as if the much covered plate will eventually become his property. Today's shoot was the tenth and was governed by the same rules as the preceding events, 100 birds each, thirty yards rise and fifty yards boundary. The score: Welch, killed, 89; missed, II. Downing, killed, 80; missed, 80; Welch used his second barrel sixty-one times, fifty-one being for safety. Downing used his second barrel fifty-four times, thirty-six being for safety. Welch had four birds drop dead out of bounds and Downing had eight.

Secretary Honin proceeded to read Boyle's petition. It proved to be a screed in de-fense of Mrs. President Cleveland from what was alleged to be a scurrilous attack made by J. The reading pro-ceeded amidst the greatest of confusion and it was with some difficulty that Judge Doane of Omaha obtained recognition from the chair. Then with a voice trembling with suppressed indignation the venerable jurist denounced the scurrilous screed as uncalled for, unheard of and an outrage upon the democratic convention.

Mr. Boyle's remarks and petition were:

or destroyed, or such other means taken to show it is not intended as approved history of the state." of the state."

In the midst of the excitement and confusion S. M. Smyser of Box Butte county climbed to the top of a pile of delegates and leclared that the man who had the temerity to offer such a document for the consideration of a democratic convention was deserving of the contempt of every man in the house, offe moved a vote of censure on Juan Boyle, and as Chairman Oldham declined to entertain the motion he put it himself, and it was carried with wild enthusiasm.

BRYAN NOMINATES HOLCOMB. The long expected and long deferred conest over the endorsement of Judge Holcomb. the candidate of the people's independent party for governor, came at 11:30, when Congressman Bryan took the platform to place in nomination as the democratic can-didate for governor Silas A. Holcomb. Mr. Bryan spoke with great earnestness, and was listened to with the greatest attention. He spoke briefly as follows:

"Delegates of the Convention: arisen to perform a duty, and I shall not shirk it, as I have not shirked any duties that have fallen to me. People are responsible for their legitimate acts, and they are presumed to mean that which follows naturally from what they do; and when we proceed to the nomination of governor we should enter into it with a consciousness of our responsibility. If we know the re-sults of our conduct, we must be presumed to mean these results. If we attempt the nomination of a candidate for governor, who is to receive the support of the democratic party, we will not be able to accomplish party, we will not be able to accomplish anything but the election of a republican, and do that which the republican party would have paid thousands of dollars for us to do. I do not care what result it may have on me, but I shall not assist to elect a republican governor of Nebraska. It is possible for us to nominate a man who agrees with us on every originile of who agrees with us on every principle of importance; a man who used to be a demo-crat, and who is now anxious that these crat, and who is now anxious that these principles be maintained.

"You have been told that the election of Mr. Holcomb (applause) would be a blight and that the credit of the state would be affected if we elected him. The republican barty in Alabama endersed a populist to beat a democrat, and did not think of a blot upon the state. In the state of Georgia the republican porty made no nomination, for the purpose of electing a populist. I want your attention to the fact that when James E. Boyd was elected governor, the republican party didn't think it would be a blot on the state to elevate a man elected by the people. When Judge Maxwell (applause) of the supreme court declared Mr. Boyd elected, the republican party didn't think it a disgrace to put a man in his place. Though the republican party elected an honest governor, as I believe Governor Crounse to be, he has been unable to get a renomination, and they didn't think it would be a blot upon the state. When the republican party had two candidates for gov-ernor, one of one railroad, and another of another railroad, they didn't think it would be a blot upon the state.

"If the democratic party wants to obey the dictation of the Burlington road, it will do it without my aid. They told us that if we nominated Mr. Holcomb for governor, a part of the convention would belt. I will not believe it until I see it. But I would rather see a bolt than that we should bow t dictation of the corporations who have sough to set up this convention. The democratic party has members who only use the party for private gain. These members of the party is as honest as the honest members of

in a state convention in Nebraska, he de-clared with vehemence that he permitted no man of any party to impeach his devotion to the principles of the true democracy of Thomas Jefferson. He wanted to enter his protest against any proposal to foist upon the grand old democratic party a candidate for governor that did not avow his earnes aflegiance to the party. He nominated Judge Ong, who, he declared, had stood shoulder to shoulder with him in his fight for free silver. He denounced the populist of the Third congressional district for nom Inating Judge Davine, a protectionist. Pat Ford of Omaha declared that every corporation democrat in the convention wanted to see a democratic candidate nom inated, in order to insure the election of Ton

Silas A. Holcomb.

Dr. Leese of Chadron in an excited speech nominated Frank P. Ireland for governor, declaring that while he had comeled that distance to assist in the nomina tion of a populist on the democratic ticket.

The roll call then commenced. GAGE LEADS THE BOLT.

Before the result of the roll call was announced Dan Cook, the well known Tom Majors democratic striker from Beatrice who has masked his friendship for the corporations and his loyalty to Toburlington Castor under a specious plea that he favored a straight ticket, representative of pure, unadulterated Jeffersonian democracy, at nounced that Gage county did not propose be bound by the result of the roll call, and that therefore his delegation would change its vote of thirty-four votes from Frank P. Ireland to Silas A. Holcomb. The democratic party had reached the parting of the ways. Cook's announcement was the signal of the threatened revolt, and the Gage county delegation, accompanied by a large number of delegates, left the half. They were followed by the bisses and execrations of the large body of delegates who termine in their seats, still faithful to the true in terests of the people as opposed to the political machinations of the railroad and other corporations.

HOLCOMB NOMINATED. The secretary announced the result of the roll call as follows: Holcomb, 324; Ireland, 188; Harwood, 7. Holcomb's nomination was then made unanimous.

J. N. Gaffin, the populist candidate for Heutenant governor was then made the dem-oratic candidate, by acclamation. At this point Judge Crawford of Cuming county climbed a chair and attempted a speech. Chairman Oldham wanted to know whether Judge Crawford was addressing the convention as a member,

Crawford replied that he was speaking as a democrat to the convention. "That does not make any difference," said he chairman. "Are you in it or out of it?" Judge Crawford said that he had been a democrat long before the young chairman who presumed to catechise him had been born. The judge launched into a democratic speech, but the convention was in no mood to hear him. He was summarily called down. The chairman declared him out of order. In vain Judge Crawford de-clared that he had organized the democratic party in northern Nebraska and had at-tended conventions when he had to walk barefoot over the prairies and sleep in haystacks on the way. He finally declared that if he could not be heard in what he called a populist convention he would go to a democratic convention where democrats were no

OTHER CANDIDATES. It was plain sailing from this on. All of the obstreperous delegates had left the hall by this time and the Bryan-Holcomb people had everything to their liking. Everything was in a state of wild confusion, hardly delegate present occupying his seat. The balance of the ticket was made up by ac-that this man should vilify Cleveland's personal character, but he makes history that may be a lasting blight for all time to come.

be to show that the maternal record shall reef, between Point Barrow and Herschel island, during a terrible gale, and became a total wreck. The crew escaped in the boats and were picked up and distributed among the remaining vessels. Captain McKenna has experienced unusually bad luck during the past three seasons. This year the barks James Allen and Keindeer have been lost in the Arctic. Last year the Hunter was damaged and is now tied up in Oakland creek, while in 1892 the John P. West was burned off the Hawaiian islands and the Sea Breeze was burned off the coast of Central America. All in all McKenna must have lost 4159,000 in whaling vessels during the past three years. The Reindeer was built at New Bedford, Mass., in 1877. She was valued at 389,000 and was insured for $14,000. Last year McKenna went to Europe and bought a steamer to act as tender to his whalers. The steamer was to have met the James Allen and Reindeer at Point Barrow and tow them to the mouth of the McKenzie river, where they were to winter. Before McKenna left to Join the steamer the news came of the loss of the James Allen, and the chances are that the Reindeer was lost while being convoyed to her winter quarters. The catch of the whaling fleet up to September 1 had been the poorest for many a season. The whole fleet had caught but twenty-five whales.

est between Robert Fitzsimmons of Newark, N. J., and Dan Creedon, hailing from St. Louis, for a purse of $5,000, took place in the arena of Olympic club tonight. They fought as middleweights at 154 pounds. A feature of importance to the match was the tween Fitzsimmons and Corbett. Fitzsimmons has been most persevering in his efforts to secure a match with the champion heavyweight, and from time to time has been put off with the reminder that he was not in his class. Corbett first named Choynski as the man Lanky Bob has to whip before he will talk of a match. Fitzsimons took on the match and then he was told by the champion that he would have to go with Creedon to Comparatively little was known of Creedon by the general public, although the visitors from St. Louis were enthusiastic in their praises of the man. Despite that fact, however, Fitzsimmons remained a prohibitive favorite throughout, his odds being quoted from 3 to 10 to 1 to 2, while as good as 5 to 2 could be had against Creedon.

When the men entered the ring for the great contest, Fitzsimmons looked indeed formidable. He was finely drawn, and but for traces of prickly heat, his skin was as white as a baby's. His enormous shoulders and chest, when compared with his narrow walst and hips, were particularly marked. His long, lithe arms and limbs were covered with sinuous muscles that gave every indication of terrible force and speed. His every movement in the ring was like that of a panther watching his prey and ready to spring upon it.

Creedon, as he appeared, presented a much stockier took, and all the lines of his symmetrical bedy indicated strength and excelent condition. Fitz had something the best in height and reach, but he stood with his legs further apart than Creedon, it was not so marked as it might have been. There were probably 5,000 spectators present. The ampitheater was brilliantly lighted.

Croedon was the first to enter the ring closely followed by Fitzsimmons. Creedon weighed 153 pounds and Fitzsimmons. Creedon weighed 153 pounds and Fitzsimmons, Jock The seconds were: For Creedon, Thomas Tracey, Mick Duin, Tommy White and Charles Daly; for Fitzsimmons, Jack Dempsey, James Dwyer, Kid McCoy and Sam H. Stern. After the usual instructions the men advanced to the center of the ring and the fight was on.

Round 1—Both men felt each other for an opening. Fitzsimmons led. He was short, however, but he forced the fighting and landed a hard right on the head, and Creedon scored a hard body blow. A moment later Creedon caught a left on the chin, and a one, two, three, on the head.
