The threatening weather yesterday did not deter the democracy of Douglas county from holding a convention. In point of fact, the drizzling rain just before the convention hour drove the spectators and delegates indoors, and as a result a great many logs were rolled across the floor to awaken the echoes of past conventions held in Washington hall. In the hour just prior to calling the convention to order a number of slates were made and placed at a high altitude, only to be smashed as soon as the convention was in good running order. This afforded amusement for both makers and smashers, and thus the convention passed off with great eclat and tobacco smoke.

When the time came to call the convention to order the sun emerged from behind a bank of clouds and smiled heaignly, and at 2:25 Chairman Rush of the county central committee called the assembly to order. It was 2:30, however, ere the convention was in order so that Secretary Platti could read the call.

J. J. Mahoney of the First ward placed David L. Cartan of that ward before the convention as a candidate for the office of temporary chairman. Dan B. Healn nom-inated I. J. Dunn of the Fourth ward, and then it was decided to elect by a call of the wards and precincts. The roll started off with the candidates running even, but at the approach to the wire Dunn was so far in the lead that Carsan withdrew and Duan was chosen by acclamation.

HOW THEY COULD WIN.

Mr. Dunn was very proud of the hohor conferred upon him, and said that the democrats were gathered to perform a serious duly. No conventions had been held in Douglas county for years fraught with so much of interest to democracy. He asked the delegates to lay aside personal friendships and personal prejudices, saying that if this was done and only good men minated, democracy would triumph in suglas. He said the republican ticket Douglas. could and would be defeated if the convention did its solemn duty. Then the speaker referred to Commissioner Stenberg in an emphatic manrer. He said the present emphatic manrer. He said the present fight was a fig.t for purity in the government of the state. He referred to the senatorial fight and glowingly culogized Bryan, which brought out some hearty cheers.

W. J. Truckee was elected temporary secretary, and as there were no contests reported to the chairman of the central conmittee, the gentlemen named in the credentials were declared the delegates. Mr. Alexander of the Second ward was made assistant secretary. Then, on motion of D. L. Cartan, the temporary organization R. B. Montague of the Fourth ward introduced a resolution authorizing the county central committee to fill any vacancies that might occur in the ticket. The resolution was adopted. Then Mr. Montague introduced a resolution pledging the legislative nominees to W. J. Bryan for United States sensior.

candidate, and the selection was ratified. South Omaha reported that the choice of her delogates had fallen upon C. P. Hogan and C. M. Hunt. W. F. Wappleb remarked that e thought the nominees were to be demo-CTHER.

"They are," said the chair. "Is not Mr. Hogan the nominee of the populists?" asked Wappich. "Yes." repiled a South Omaha delegate.

"I can't help it," said the chair, and the roccedings went merrily on. A formal ballot was decided upon and the call of wards and precincts resulted as fol-lows: De France, 49: Andres, 61: Hart, 37: Crooks, 19: Bullard, 1374; Parkhurst, 1124; Egbert, 19: Barton, 108; Godfrey, 111. The chair, amidst great applause, declared Crooks, 19; Egbert. that Messre. Bullard, Parkhurst, Barton and Godfrey were the nominees. LIST OF ASSESSORS.

Then the always tiresome task of nominat-ing candidates for assessor in the various wards and precincts was taken up. The con-vention resolved itself into confusion for a space of time while the delegates fixed upon candidates, and when the confusion was over he following gentlemen were found to have drawn lucky numbers. First, F. W. Schneider; Second Joseph Percival; Third, Thomas Herrington; Fourth Lawrence Fay; Fifth, W. B. Franklin; Sixth. Eighth, Edward Seventh. -----; Seventh, ----; Eighth, Edward Connolly; Ninth, D. Legy; Chicago Peter Hofelt; Clontarf, Adolph Harnes Douglas, —; East Omaha, —; Elkhorn, W. R. Each ward and precinct was instructed to hand in its list of members of the county central committee, and it was then decided that the convention select the chairman of the committee. Harry Miller of the Eighth ward, Oscar J. Pickard of Douglas precinct and George Tierney of the Sixth ward wore placed before the convention. Mr. Miller was declared the choice of the convention. LITTLE FUSION IN IT.

Altogether, the result of the convention showed what was admitted indeed before it showed what was admitted indeed before it met, and that is that the attempt at fusion between the democrats and populats ended in almost complete failure. C. P. Hogan, for the lower house in the legislature, is the only candidate on the ticket who is absolutely the candidate of both partles, but if promises made are kept, Ed P. Smith is practically a fusion candidate. A lat attempt of the two made are kept. Ed P. Smith is practically a fusion candidate. A last attempt of the two parties to get fogether was made at the Pax-ton hotel yesterday forencen, when the popu-list county central committee and the popu-list candidates met. It was there agreed that if the democrate should nominate Smith for, county attorney and he should agree, if elected, to name H. G. Bell, the populasi

CO-OPERATION WITH COUNCIL SOUGHT

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: ITHURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1894.

New Plan of Anses ment Considered at Much Length=Hadical Difference in Opinions-Restriction of Franchise Granting Power-

The citizens' charter amendment committee met in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon and became involved in so interested a discussion of the contemplated changes that it nearly forgot to adjourn. Most of the time was devoted to the discussion of a new plan of assessment, but beyond comparing individual ideas no definite action was taken.

As Chairman Tukey was out of the city, Mayor Bemis was named to preside. The committee appointed at the previous meeting to confer with the council committee in an endeavor to secure united action reported that a meeting of the council committee would be called this evening, at which time they had been invited to be present, and a plan would be arranged for the consolidation of the two committees.

A communication was read in which Edmund Burke urged the proposition that the owners of abutting property should be compelled to pay for the repaying of the wooden block streets. He said that the property owners had insisted on having a cheap pavement, and now they should be compelled to pay for their whistle and not shoulder the loss on those who had petitioned for good pavements and paid for them. The subject of assessment was then broached and a motion that a committee of three members of the citizens' committee and two councilmen be appointed to draft an amendment covering that point and submit it to the committee for discussion was carried. It was said that this matter, and that relat-ing to a new plan for repaying worn-out streets were the main subjects that demanded the attention of the committee, and they should be discussed and pushed to some definite proposition at once. Mr. Strickler suggested that if the Platte canal proposition was carried it would be necessary to secure an amediment by which the right of emigent domain could be acquired, and that it would also be a good plan to frame a provision by which power would be given to the city to condemin the property of the water works company and prepare a bill providing for its

Mr. Boggs was called on to unfold a plan of assessment which it, was and tsuid he had had in process of incubation for some time. He stated that his judgment was that thre should be a number of assessors appointed, probably ten, each of whom should make an entire assessment of the city prop-erty, estimating the real estate and improvements separately. Then the ten lists should be added together and divided by ten, and this would give about as fair an assessment as could be devised. He ad-mitted that this method was expensive and somewhat cumbersome, but thought that the city could well afford to expend $100,000 if necessary in order to get a fair assessment, and after that the work would be comparatively simple.

City Engineer Rosewater differed with Mr Boggs as far as the appointment of ten assessors was concerned. He maintain d that a system where there were eight or ten heads could not be successful in any und rtaking, and that while as many subordinates might be employed as was necessary, the assessment should all be under one hand, and in this manner it would be uniform in all cases. He suggested that the assessor should prepare a map on a large scal: which would show the assessment of every piece of prop-erty in the city, and by this means any one could see at a glancy what the assess-ment of a given piece of property was. He maintained that a system based on actual values was the only true system, although uniformity was the most material considerasion of the committee. On motion of Mr. Balcombe the chairman was directed to ap-point a committee of five, of which City Enpoint's, committee of five, of which City En-gineer Rosewater should be chairman, to pre-pare an amendment covering the paving ques-tion. The mayor will appoint the several committees recommended some time today and the next meeting will be called by the chairman as soon as an understanding is reached with the council committee.

The resolution was adopted with a whoop and then it was decided to proceed to the nomination of a county attorney ED P. SMITH NOMINATED.

W. MacNamara of the Sixth ward made a neat speech nominating i.d P. Smith. L. D. Croffut of the First ward made an uent speech nominating Edson Rich. Montague seconded the nomination of Smith, saying he could poll 1,500 more votes than Rich.

F. Wappleh seconded the nomination of Rich, and then the convention processded to take a formal ballot unidst great dis-order. Smith was an evident winner from the start, but each delegation's vote was cheered. The vote stood 106 for Smith and 76 for Rich, and, of course, the nomination was made unanimous. He was loudly called but the chair said the nominee was out of the city trying a lawsuit.

A candidate for commissioner from th Second district was then cast about for. Mr Montgomery of the Fourth ward named W. H. Ijams, and T. J. Lowry of the First ward nominated William Neve, saying that Neve would poll a heavy Danish vote. Mr. Lowry said the voters of the First ward had beet disfranchised, but that they incended to votfor Neve and carry the case into the courts. Shoemaker nominated W. J. Mount, and Charles White nominated Major George L. The first ballot was an informal one and resulted as follows: ljams, 75; Neve, 70; Mount, 29; Dennis, 6.

There was no choice, so the delegates proceeded to prepare for a formal ballot by shouting for their favorites. The vote stoud as follows: Ijams, 106; Neve, 74; Mount, 1. Mr. Ijams having received a majority was duly declared the nominee, and then it was made unatimous. Mr. Ijams was called for and responded. He said he was flattered because of his nomination, and promised to make a lively campaign, and if elected would do his best to fill the office as it should be

FOR STATE SENATORS.

The scratorial portion of the ticket then came up for consideration. John Tierney of the Sixth nominated W. S. Felker; J. J. Mahoney of the Fourth nominated W. S. Poppleton; D. L. The first ballot was a formal one and resulted as fol ballot was a formal one and resulted as fol-Felker, 151; Poppleton, 169; Page, Kitchen, 111.

While the secretary was footing up the totals Mr. Montague introduced a resolution endorsing Boyd's candidacy for congress and pledging him a hearty support, was adopted without a dissenting voice

The chair announced that Messrs. Felker, Kitchen and Poppleton were the nominces. Mr. Poppleton came forward in response calls and thanked the convention and said he would go to Lincoln and stand by Omaha, South Omaha, Donglas courty and W. J. Bryan. Mr. Felker said he had battled for democracy since 1856, and would fight for Boyd and Bryan. Mr. Kitchen was not present to respond.

· FOR THE LOWER HOUSE.

Then candidates for members of the lower house were named. J. J. Mahoney moved that the country precincts be allowed to name one candidate, South Omaha one, and name one candidate, South Omaha one, and Omaha seven. A South Omaha delegate in-misted that his delegation be allowed to name two candidates. W. S. Sheemaker submitted some figures to show that South Omaha was sourcely entitled to one. A German dele-gate said: "Mr. Shoemaker made some re-gate said: "Mr. Shoemaker made some remarks, but more people were going to South Omaha than were coming back." The convention gave Shoemaker a merry laugh, then proceeded to give South Omaha the two candidate for the same position, as his dep-uty, allowing the populists to name two dep-uties, then Bell would withdraw from the race. This being agreed, the meeting broke up, and in the convention Smith was nominated. During the pendency of the meeting of candidates and committees, a messenger from the camp of the administration demo-crats was announced and admitted to the conference room. The siren message which he hore was to the effect that if Deaver was pulled out of the congressional race and the entire strength of the party turned to Boyd, the populists might have the whole democratic legislative and county ticket from state senator down to constable. This was something of a prize to turn down, owing to the fact that with the proposition there came another to the effect that if the deal was consummated, the democrats would open the barrel and pay all the campaign uses. After some spirited discussion pretty picture was turned to the wall, expenses. and the messenger was instructed to re-turn to the place from whence he came, and tell his chiefs that the offer was rejected in its entirety. In refusing to accept, they gave two reasons. One was to the effect that if they pulled Deaver down and sup-ported Boyd, they would be surrendering every principle in their platform to help elect a hard money democrat on issues that were contrary to the teachings of declared was because they recognized in Deaver a winner, and there was no reason why a sure thing was to be given away. The other feature of the proposition not so roughly handled, as some of the candidates, and all of the committeemen were in favor of the same. This proposition was to the effect that the populists should pull off six of their nominees on the legis-lative ticket, the democratic convention would endorse the remaining six, and then put up six simon pure democrats, who would be acceptable to the populists.

be acceptable to the populists. Everything went well in this di-rection until the vital question of who should withdraw from the ticket was reached and thes was reached, and then there was confusion. Sam D. Nedrey, Lyman Cowles and Theodore Benine declared that they would not get off the ticket, and if they were forced off without their consent, there would be trouble from start to finish. This settled the matter, so far as fusing on legislative matters were concerned, and the deal was called off and the democrats informed of the de-tion. Many people had acquired the taken idea that an assessment based on actual values compelled the county to pay more than its share of the stat taxes. This was not true, as the schedules filed by the va-This was rious counties with the State Board Equalization were practically reduced to actual values by equalizing the amount of the levy. The county that based its assessment on one-tenth of the actual value was made to pay a heavier per cent than one which sub-mitt d an assessed valuation of one-third of the actual value.

Continuing, Mr. Rosewater deduced a few facts to show the inconsistencies of the present plan of assessment. The water works company's property, for instance, was only assessed for less than I per cent of its actual value. The company's income every year was greater than the entire assessed valuation of its property, and the city paid it about the same as its assessment for hydrant rental yearly. Other corporations were as were company was assessed at $60,000 on property valued at $1,500,000.

GRANTING OF FRANCHISES.

Mr. Munro thought there should be an amendment restricting the right of the city council to grant franchises to corporations. No franchise should be granted until it had been submitted to a vote of the people. If it was not thus submitted, either the vote of the mayor should be final or else the measure should require the ghanimous vote of the council. Mr. Fowjer favored the idea in a general way, but thought it was unnecessary to apply the restriction to every franchise that might be sought. It would be better to provide that such a question should be sub-mitted to the period of the submitted to the people on the petition of a cortain number of property owners. After some further discussion it was decided to ap-After point a committee of three to consider this matter

Recurring on the matter of taxes, Mr. Rosewater suggested that the most economical plan would be to provide for the assessment of all property in the county by an assessor ordinates as necessary, and then duplicates of the assessment could be furnished to each city or village on which their taxes could be computed.

Chairman Winspear of the Board of Public Works was emphatically in favor of the single assessor idea. He said that under the sent system one man might bring in the assessments in a wand 25 percent too high and the assessor in another ward might make his figures 25 per cent too low, and there was no possible way of equalizing the differen If an assessor placed the value of the taxable property in a ward at $200,000, the Board of Equalization could shave a fittle off from one man's property and add it to another's could not raise the total a penny above the $200,000 returned by the assessor. Then the committee branched off on to the paving problem and Judge Doane and St. A D. Balesmbs lockes horns in a vigorous argu-ment as to the equaty of compelling the prop-erty owners on wooden block streets to pay for repaying. Judge Doane held that the ex-pense should be borne by the city, and the discussion was largely a repetition of that which occupied the time at the previous ses-

Conclusive proof of one thing-that the patent fleeced underwear (hygenic) is here to stay, as we predicted last year or a year before. Some persons are attached to it, and couldn't really do without. So would you if you try it, for two reasons. First-The fleece lining is tender, non irritable, smooth and heat retaining. Second-It is more durable, warmer and a good amount cheaper than ordinary wool.

IS IN KISSING THE COOK.

Heavy demands were made upon us for this underwear last year. We sold loads of 'em, in fact we were unable to supply the demand. This year we're fixed-arranged directly with the manufacturers for a full supply, and as a consequence we are also dealing with manufacturers' prices. Forty, Fifty and Sixty Cents for three lines of fleeced lined underwear that sold last year from 75c to $1.25. A stroke of enterprise we are to be congratulated upon.

The reduction on other underwear is perhaps not quite so extensive, until you reach imported wool, which received a sotback, because of the decree of free wool, which goes into effect January 1st, 1895. So far we squeezed the juice of the fruit and our stock of wool underwear is shelved at a good deal cheaper than last year. Camel's hair-last year 85c. this year Sixty Cents. Double breast and back camel's hair is this year only Eighty Cents, last year $1.10. Medical searlet is reduced from $1.25 to Ninety Cents. Two thread striped underwear is now One Dollar, cut from $1.50. $1.75 natural wool underwear stepped down to One Twenty-five and so on-finer the value, bigger the chip.

Cheaper underwear bearing cotton and wool mixtures, have suffered but little. Heavy purchasers, like ourselves, captured the best on closely shaven margins. Brown mixed stuff, a first class 50c underwear, is Thirty Cents, Jersey ribbed, a standard 75c underwear we sold last year at 50c, is this year only Forty. All wool is Fifty Cents.

This is underwear time-the prices lean toward you. Sizes complete. Why not buy early.
