Grain Markets Had a Tempestuous Time of it Yesterday.

WHEAT HAD A STRONG START GENERALLY

It Had Scarcely Got Under Way, However, When the Orders of the Short Sellers Were Turned Loose.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—The grain market had a tempestuous time today. The reported death of the czar, a heavy New York failure, light receipts and light clearances mixed themselves and the traders up badly, and fluctuations were sharp and numerous. At the finish December wheat was ¾c lower, May corn unchanged and May oats ¼c lower. Provisions declined moderatly.

The small local receipts of grain and firmer markets abroad gave the wheat market a strong start. It had scarcely got under way, however, when Pardridge and Leeming and other commission houses whose principal clients are short sellers opened their flood gates and swamped the early buyers. December, which started at from 54¼c to 54⅛c bid, and with a sale or two at 54⅜c, was knocked down to 53⅝c in the course of fifteen minutes. The short sellers had but a few minutes of triumph at that time. The people who handle cash grain reported buyers of their goods at an early hour of the session.

The reports from the northwest were confirmatory of what was telegraphed yesterday regarding the falling off in farmers' deliveries at interior stations, but the decreased movement was generally ascribed to the rainy weather and consequent bad state of the roads. The report that the czar of Russia was dead was a matter which tangled up legitimate influences for a short time until the rumor was killed and the czar restored to his family and subjects. The price recovered equally from its decline and soon sold up to 54½c for December, May keeping step in the advances and declines of from ⅝c to 1-16c, more or less than that. The strength of corn at this time helped wheat. The failure of a New York stock house was the signal for general selling again by the local scalpers, under which the price dropped again to 53¾c for December. A few buying orders at the decline quickly changed the feeling of the crowd once more. The price on the last named advance reached 54⅝c. Primary market receipts were light at 748,521 bu., which included two days' arrivals at St. Louis. To offset that the Atlantic port clearances were only equal in wheat and flour to 229,000 bu., including 10,000 bu. at New Orleans. Closing cables were firm and higher from Liverpool and Berlin, but rather easier from Paris. The last turn of the whirligig market was downward. The bears took more comfort out of the Wall street failure than the bulls could find in all the favorable features of the day's news. The market declined to 53½c under the bear hammering and closed firm at 53c to 53⅝c.

Corn was strong the greater part of the session. The selling pressure by heavy speculators has given place to buying by a similar class. The strength of the cash situation, which includes the smallness of elevator stocks, and very light receipts were the main element of strength. October corn, which has ruled lower than the May future recently, got to a good premium today, and spot corn brought ¼c premium over sellers of the month. A sale of 100,000 bu. of No. 2 corn for shipment to Peoria, which was reported early in the session, emphasized the scarcity of spot stuff, but liberal offerings of No. 3 for November and December deliveries received from points in Illinois found no buyers at from 4c to 4½c per bu. discount under May prices. Local receipts were only sixty-nine cars, and 110 estimated for tomorrow are likewise very light for this season of the year. The market, after being strong nearly all day, closed weak, effected by the decline in wheat. October opened at 50½c bid, advanced to 50¾c and closed at 50⅛c, or ⅛c improvement for the day. May started with buyers at 51⅜c and from that up to 51½c, compared with 50⅞c at the close yesterday. It rose to 51¾c, slumped to 50⅝c and 50¾c, and closed at 50⅞c bid.

Oats met fairly good sales, and after opening a shade easier gradually firmed up. The movements of prices in corn continued to influence oat fluctuations principally, although there were strong bullish features in this market. The disposition to buy was very good, and with local scalpers about the only parties selling, considerable strength was derived from that. May started steady at 34⅜c, touched 34¼c, sold down to 33⅞c, up to 34⅝c and 34¼c, and shortly before the close sold at 34¼c, closing at 34c.

The market for hog products ruled weak. The prices, compared with those at the close yesterday, are 15c lower for pork, 5c lower for lard and 7½c off for ribs. Packers were again the sellers. Liverpool market was quoted weak for meats and is 1s 6d lower for lard. Hog receipts were 17,000 head today and 10,000 head are estimated for tomorrow.

Freight rates steady at 1⅜c for wheat, 1¼c for corn and barley, and 1½c for oats to Buffalo.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

STOCKS AND BONDS.

Speculation Was Strong in Tone with an Upward Tendency.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Speculation on the Stock exchange today was strong in tone and the movement of prices upward, the occasional slight reaction occurring being merely the unimportant recessions incidental to a rising market and due to realizing sales and bear spurts, but did not seriously interrupt the tendency toward a higher range of value. It was in the railway list that the improvement was most marked, and of this group the grangers were the leaders. A prominent factor of the situation was the firmness of American securities on the London market, although beyond some small buying of St. Paul the foreign houses were not in the market to any appreciable extent. Yesterday's covering movement was continued, and most of the room traders were on the bull side of the market, and there did not seem to be any bear movement on which the shorts could operate. So firm was the tone of speculation that no effort to hammer stock was made on the announcement of a receiver for the firm of Coffin & Stanton, which appears to have been due rather to a disagreement between the partners than to any financial embarrassment, their reltions having been strained for some time past. The rumored death of the czar was also without effect on the market, and no better evidence was needed than that neither of those caused the slightest flurry. Under ordinary conditions depression at least would have followed the one or the other.

Sugar led in the transactions and was so successfully manipulated as to be closed exactly at yesterday's price of 85⅝c, after having been run up to 86⅝c, and sold down to 87⅝ per cent. There is a growing belief that the controlling interests in the stock are desirous of keeping the price down for effect on congress and are not averse to increasing their holdings at that lower figure. Chicago Gas also stands unchanged on the day, having moved within a range of ¼ per cent. Early in the day a deal of this stock was sold to take the profits of yesterday's advance, while in the later dealings there was good buying of the shares. It is thought the bull clique, disliking too many followers, took occasion to shake out some of the weaker holders by letting the price down a few points. The principal gains on the day are: Burlington, Lake Shore, Erie preferred, Northern Pacific preferred and Tobacco preferred, 1 per cent; Chicago & St. Paul, 1¼ per cent; Pittsburg, Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago & St. Louis, 1¼ per cent; Denver & Rio Grande preferred, 1⅜ per cent; New Jersey Central & St. Paul preferred, 1½ per cent, and Adams Express, 4 per cent. Declines were established of 1 per cent in St. Paul & Duluth, Ohio Southern and American District Telegraph. In the final dealings trade was light in volume, but the market closed strong. The bond market was firm all day and the trading active, sales aggregating $1,463,000 Chesapeake, 4½s, Texas Pacific seconds and Atchison 4s being most prominent in the dealings. The changes are mainly confined to fractions. Advances were recorded in Minneapolis & St. Louis firsts, southwestern division, 3 per cent; Georgia Pacific consols, trusts receipts, 4 per cent; Iron Mountain, Cairo, Arkansas & Texas firsts, 2 per cent; Oregon Short Line consol 5s, 2 per cent; Chicago & St. Louis and New Orleans 5s, 1½ per cent, and St. Paul firsts, southwestern division, 1 per cent. Declines: Wisconsin Central income, 2½ per cent; Oregon Navigation 5s, trust receipts, 2 per cent.

The Evening Post says: With no great show of activity, the stock market continued today to manifest its returning confidence. Nearly all the prices moved up slowly from the start, the gains in some of the granger stocks being considerable. Foreign brokers did little, though American stocks went above our level in the London market before this market opened. There were some faint echoes of the war scare in the form of bold and transparent dispatches that the czar was dead, but this was all.

The Evening Post's London cablegram says: The stock market opened firm today but quickly gave way on continental selling, accompanied by rumors of the death or fatal sickness of the czar. Neither report was confirmed, but the latter statement is generally believed. Americans were firm the greater part of the day, owing to support on the New York side and the scarcity of the stocks here. The closing was weak, in sympathy with our markets. Louisville especially was offered. Silver securities were exceptionally steady on rumored China and Japanese loans.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKETS

Cattle Receipts Reach the Highest Mark Recorded at the Local Yards.

NO FINISHED STEERS ON SALE

Offerings Entirely from the Range—Cows and Canners Sell Slightly Lower—Hogs Steady to Weak—Sheep Dull and Feny Crowded.

FRIDAY, Oct. 5, 1894.

So far this week receipts of cattle have been nearly 7,000 heavier than last, while hog supplies have fallen off about 3,000 head and sheep nearly 2,000 head.

Late arrivals on Thursday swelled the receipts to 8,647 head, which was the largest number of cattle ever received here in any one day. The largest previous run was 7,786 head, which number arrived nearly a year ago, on October 23, 1893. A good share of the cattle that came in late on Thursday were on today's market, so that, with the 4,900 fresh cattle there were over 7,000 on sale today when the market opened. Nearly everything was direct from the range and there was an unusual scarcity of beef for so large a number of cattle. Conditions were all against the sellers and they had to accept a very material decline in prices. With such ample offerings buyers could afford to be indifferent, and in the face of a decline of from 50c to 60c in Chicago this week they were inclined to be very bearish. Bids and sales were all of from 10c to 15c lower than Thursday, making a decline since Monday of from 25c to 40c. Of course, the under grades, being most abundant, suffered the most, but even the more desirable grades did not escape. It was a dull, weak market throughout and nothing like a complete clearance was made.

Cows also shared in the general depression. Including holdovers, there must have been nearly 1,000 loads on sale, and, although the demand was quite active, both from local and outside butchers, most sellers were perfectly satisfied if able to work off their holdings at within from 10c to 15c of Thursday's prices. Calves were in good demand and firm, notwithstanding the liberal offerings. Bulls, oxen and stags generally sold at a shade under Thursday's quotations.

The market was simply oversupplied with stockers and feeders, so that buyers were able to shade prices somewhat, in spite of the continued active demand from all sources. Good to choice feeders are quotable at from $2.70 to $3.15; fair to good, from $2.40 to $2.70, and common grades from $2.25 down. Representative sales:
