RETURNED FROM LOUISVILLE

Delegates to the Young Men's Institute Praise Southern Hospitality.

ORGANIZATION IN A HEALTHY CONDITION

Over One Thousand Have Been Added to the Membership During the Year -Carrol Council Meets Tuesday to Hear Reports.

Rev. D. W. Moriarty of Columbia council South Omaha, and Rev. S. F. Carroll and Mr. T. J. Fitzmorris of Carroll council, Omaha, delegates to the fifth grand council of the Young Men's Institute, which met in Louisville on the 24th ult., have returned from the border land of the sunny south enhusiastic in their praises of Kentucky hospitality. They journeyed hence with a vague idea of the largeness of the Kentucky article and return with the conviction that it surpasses the capacity of the average north-

Most of the delegates assembled in Louisville on the Saturday preceding the council and received cordial welcomes individually and collectively. The city was theirs for the time being. Although the regular delegates numbered only 148, they were reinforced by thousands on Sunday. They came in rich regulia, with bands and banners, from adjacent cities to participate in the parade which did not take place. The impression conveyed by the dispatches regarding the parade and the alleged disobedience of the orders of Bishop McCloskey is misleading. The bishop was not advised of the proposed parade until the day before, and advised its abandonment Louisville shandonment. Louisville counadvised its abandonment. Louisville coun-cils abided by his advice, as did also the visitors, who were merely marched with their bands to the various headquarters and serenaded the delegates. But what little lisappointment the abandonment of the barade caused was lost in the succession of eceptions and balls that followed, begining on Sunday evening and ending with a banquet on Thursday morning.

The display of membership, the enthusiasm manifested and the hearty fraternal feeling shown on all sides was an agreeable surprise to the Omaha delegation. There are 1,200 members of the Young Men's institute in Louisville alone, divided into nine councils, and the membership is growing rapidly. Most of the councils have elegantly apbointed homes, with libraries, billiard tables and gymnasiums. Others are rapidly gaining in strength. The rivalry between the coun cils is swelling the membership rapidly Those who have watched its growth in Louisille assert that it has already accomplished an incalculable amount of good in shaping the habits and unifying the young men of the

The annual grand council, the fifth held the Atlantic jurisdiction, represented a total membership of 5.748. The net gain for he year was 1,424. The councils are spread over the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Misissippi, Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New ersey and New York. Its growth is not fapid, because persistent effort has not been made in that direction. At present its greatest vitality is centered in the Ohio valley where it was founded in 1888, but it is grad-pally expanding, and is destined to become of the strongest benevolent and social orders in the country. It is grounded on the broad principles of mutual help and good will. It tends to elevate and strengthen sharacter, to educate and refine, to young men from associations of evil tendency and surround them with the influences of good example. Besides the social, educanal and amusement features of the institute, it provides a mutual insurance sys tem, membership in which is optional.

The officers elect of the grand council are sident, Judge H. W. Rives of Labanon Ky.; first vice president, B. T. Jennings, Chicago; second vice president, James L. Gaynor, Scranton, Pa.; secretary, Robert Keyer, Louisville; treasurer, F. P. Bolgor, Faul, Trenton, N. J.; organizer and lectures Rev. W. B. Ryan, Bellevue, Ky.; medical examiner, Dr. H. L. Tobin, Louisville; marshal, J. F. McDonald, Carbondale, Pa.; directors for two-year term, J. M. Kelly of Lexington, Ky., J. J. Keough of New York City, E. C. Jacobs of Columbus, O., and J.

 A special meeting of Carroll council of Omaha will be held in its rooms next Tuesrates to the grand council, and indulge in the regular monthly smoke.

CATHOLIC REVIVALS.

Paulist Fathers Arrange to Hold a Series of Them in Om tha,

A series of missions conducted by three priests of the noted order of Paulists of New York has been arranged to be held in the Catholic churches of Omaha. The first will begin at St. Peter's church next Sunday and continue two weeks. The second mission will be held at St. Philomena's cathedral, November 11-25, and the third at St. Cecelia's church, Walnut Hill, November 25 to December 2.
Missions in the Catholic church are imilar in object to revivals in Protestant The principal purpose is to awaken religious fervor, banish indifference, and show the erring the evil of their ways. Great crowds are attracted to similar misflons all over the country by reason of the fame of the conductors, and it is quite certain the services here will tax the capacity of the respective churches.

The order of the Paulists is famed as a community of orators and converts to Catholicism. It is American in origin and character, and was founded by Isaac Thomas Hecker, who was born in New York of German Protestant ancestry. December 11, 1819. In 1843 he joined the famous Brook Farm community, organized two years previously as an experiment in social reform, and later became a follower of the Concord School of Philosophy. In 1847 he joined the Catholic church and went to Belgium to make his novitiate. Having made his profession and received ordination, he returned to the United States in 1851, and with Fathers Walworth. Hewit. Baker and Deston, all converted to the control of the con worth, Hewit, Baker and Deston, all converts, like himself, entered upon his career as a mission priest. Father Hecker was the first superior of the new society. The habit adopted was that of students of the propaganda; the rules grounded on those of the Redemptorists. The chief intent of the society is mission work, though Father Elliott recently said that the conversion of Boncatholics is their primary vocation. Father Hecker died in 1888 and was succeeded by the Very Rev. A. T. Hewit, son of the noted Dr. Nathaniel Hewit. Father George Deston, the present local superior of the order in New York, is a graduate of est Point and was General Sherman's best man at his marriage.

of the fathers coming to Omaha, Father ledges, the superior, is a convert from the piscopal church, and son of Judge H. R. edges, sr., of Ohio. He graduated in 1848 om leton, an institute founded by another distinguished convert, James R. Bailey, after-wards archbishop of Baltimore. Father Wal-ter E. Hopper was born in New York of Knickerbocker parents, and educated in Charles college, Maryland. Father 1 Father Elias Gouron is a native of Calcutta, India, where was educated, and subsequently engaged

The special features of these missions is temperance and to the lectures all will be admitted. The hours and manner of service will be announced by the fathers in their introductory adverses. roductory addresses.

Revival at United Presbyterian. The meetings in the Central United Presbyterian church, at Twenty-fourth and Dodge streets, began on Wednesday evening are growing in interest. Rev. R. M. Russell, D. D., of Pittsburg, Pa., who is conducting these services, will preach this morning at 10:36, and evening at 7:30, on "The Wisdom of Winning Souls," "What is Salvation?" and "How Are Men Saved?" All who have heard Dr. Russell are pleased with able and finished discourses. A hearty greeting always awaits the stranger at this church, and an earnest invitation is given to all, of whatever belief, to attend these Sabbath services and the evening meetings of the coming week. A chorus choir leads the singing, which is congregational and entered into with zest, forming a pleasing part of the services.

the program, showing a need of about $200 under very unfavorable cricumstances proved himself conqueror as usual, and in about an hour $207.45 was raised and the church formally dedicated, the whole cogregation with the exception of two or three remaining through the entire service. The building is 28x50 feet, with windows of stained glass. A lower forty feet high was built at a cost of $1,300. The church is but one year old, has a mem bership of twenty-one and has a very bright

A very novel and pleasing entertainment was given by the young people of the First Universalist church last Friday evening. The fore part of the evening was devoted to a musical and literary program, which was well rendered. Each lady in attendance was requested to bring one of her oldest photo-graphs, together with lunch for two, the plotures being placed in envelopes, each gentle-man to purchase one at a nominal sum and then find the owner, who became his partner Thomas Mulcahy, who, as a citizen soldier guessing the right party a fine of 5 cents was imposed, which afforded considerable amusement. The entertainment was a grand success, both socially and financially, and the soon, where the gentlemen are to bring their Offertory Antienne Guilmant Postlude in G minor Rinek "The Old Tunes." At the urgent request of his friends, ministerial and lay, Rev. Frank Crane will deliver his popular and unique sermon on "The Old Tunes" at the First Methodist church this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Crane has delivered this masterplece of his before many audiences, and each time he has made a great success. It is founded on the theme of a man uninterested in religious matters, casu-ally entering a church, and the lecture graphihymn singing, illustrating each idea by an old tune which he sings and usually requests the congregation to join in.

IN MULCAHY'S HONOR.

Memorial Resolutions Adopted by New York Veteran Volunteers' Association. The following resolutions have been sent to the family of the late Brigadier General Thomas Mulcahy, whom, as a citizen soldier of Omaha, all his country is proud of:

of Omaha, all his country is proud of:
From the Headquarters War Veterans Association, One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York State Veteran Volunteers, City Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y.:
We, the surviving veterans of the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth regiment, New York State Volunteers, in regular monthly meeting assembled, desiring to express to the bereaved relatives and friends of Brevet Brigadier General Thomas Mulcahy, who recently died, ripe in years and full of honor, in the city of Omahi, whose growth and character were in no small measure directly attributable to his intelligent and increasing activities on its behalf, do declare:

increasing activities on its behalf, do declare:
That we cherish with affection and pride the memory of Thomas Mulcahy.
That during a long and active service he endeared himself to the members of his command by the exhibition under all the exigencies of war of the qualifies of a man and a soldier that never fail to nwaken a loyal following and enduring esteem.

Warm and true-hearted, sympathetic, faithful friend, duty-loving, dashing, gallant and brave companion in arms, he was a splendid type of the American volunteer soldier. Long and illustrious as is the official record of the military services of our late comrade, there is yet a longer and not less lustrous record not kept in books or war department archives, but in the hearts of those who served with him and who love and remember the many instances of the overflow of his abundant kindness.

The same carnestness of temperament The same earnestness of temperament that made him the daring and resolute leader in the field followed him into civil life and characterized him as a ploneer and Conspicuous in his early years for ardor in the discharge of his duties in camp and field, his late years exhibited no decline of enthusiasm when his sympathies were enlisted or his interest for his fellow man involved. When the moise of Lattle ceased and the smaller of war had a supported by the smaller of the smaller volved. When the noise of la the ceased and the smoke of war had vanished he went far from the theater of that career to collaborate in the successful ubbuilding of the greatest city of this important commonwealth, himself no small part of the activity contributing to the proud result.

Sold er, clifz n, ta r.o.t, fr.end, comm nder, comrade, in thy life we loved thee; in thy death we honor as we mourn thes.

Resolved, That a copy of these memorial minutes be spread upon our record book and that a copy suitably engressed and attested by our president and secretary be forwarded to the family of Brigadier General Muicahy.

TO CORRECT RAILROAD ABUSES.

South Dakota Jobbers Will Make an Effort to Have Odious Laws t hanged.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 6 .- (Special.)-The Sioux Falls Jobbers' association has issued an important campaign document There has been formed a Producers and Shippers' association, with the Jobbers' association as the leader in the movement, for the purpose of securing from the coming legislature laws which will abolish grievious abuses which the railroads have foisted upon the state. The membership extends throughout the state, and includes not only jobbers, but farmers, merchants and shippers. The document recites that "At present our railroad commissioners are a nonentity; they have no power; there are no laws in our statute books to enable them to enforce anything." Attention is called to the section of the republican platform in this state which says: "We demand of our legislature that the railroad commission shall be dignified with sufficient authority to properly protect such interests (referring to agriculture, mining, manufacturing and commercial interests) against unjust discriminations by such transportation com-panies." The document also calls att n tion to the part of the section in the state democratic platform: "We promise to quickly and rigidly reform these abuses "We promise (referring to the railroad extortions) and to impose a maximum rate law for freight and passengers."

It is suggested that masmuch as this is non-political matter that the voters in all the different localities in the state pledge their candidates on the question and refuse to support any man who will not favor reform. The document also says: "This association expects to put in every day from now until the legislature mests in prepar-ing statistics, etc., of all matter that will be necessary to convince our representa-tives that the relief demanded is justice and nothing more." These circulars will be distributed broadcast all over the state.

Involves Many Thousand. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 6 .- (Special.)-Judge Dundy of Omaha will on next Monday convene the Deadwood term of United States court for Judge Edgerton, whose feeble health keeps him as near home as possible. One of the most important cases to be tried at this term is the United States against the Homestake Mining company of Deadwood. It is a suit for timber trespass, in which the plaintiff places the damages at something over $700,000.

There is a case pending in the United States court here which calls for an accounting of Homestake property to the amount of over $12,000,000. It has been set for trial next month, but in all probability it will be continued.

Forger Van Wagner in the Pen. DEADWOOD, Oct. 6 .- (Special Telegram.) -Sheriff Remer of Lawrence county left today for Sioux Falls, having in his charge prisoners consigned to the Sioux Falls penitentiary. Among the prisoners is D. Van Wagner, alias George Bliss. He is well known to the Omaha police, and has rela-tives living in that c ty at the present time. He will serve a term of six years for utter-ing forged United States money orders. Two burglars and a horse thief were also of the party and will serve terms ranging from two to four years.

Dome Lake a Pleasure Resort SHERIDAN, Wyo., Oct. 6 .- (Sp.cial.)-Kilpatrick Brothers & Collins, the Burlington contractors, have put a force of about 100 men and teams to work at Dome lake, near Sheridan, intending to fit it up for a beautiful pleasure and fishing resort.

To De end Capcain Ray. RAWLINS, Wyo., Oct. 6 .- (Special Telegram.)-Gibson Clark, United States attorney, left on this morning's stage for Lan-der to defend Captain Ray at his prelim-inary examination upon the charge of un-lawfully branding stock.

It is exceedingly gratifying after the trying business year we have just experiencel to note instances where firms have increased their business and broadened out instead of sitting still and grouning about hard times. One of the latest additions to Omaha business houses is the firm of Steele & Co., exclusive retailers of cloaks, suits and all kinds of ready made wear for ladies' and children. Messrs. Steele & Co. operate a large dry goods house in Keokuk, la., and established their store here just a year ago in the large room on the second floor of Mrs. J. Benson's store. Their first year's venture has been an unqualified success and the past week has seen their removal to the large three-story building at 1511 Doug-las, just vacated by the Omaha Carpet Co. This entire building is occupied by them, and in it is shown the most extensive and complete stock of cloaks and kindred lines ever brought to Omaha. The first floor is filled to overflowing with the newest and choicest productions of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and everything new and desirable is in stock. They have also just added a new department—the manufacture and repairing of fur garments of all kinds. Huberman, well known to the trade has charge of that department. Visit Steele & Co., in their new location when down town, whether wishing to purchase or not. They will be glad to see you and show you their immense stock.

there was suffering, misery, bad temper, the nature, and all conceivable kinds of disagreeableness, it arises from a disordered stomach. A famous writer, Dr. I. D. Johnston, describes Drapepala 'as a disease of the digestive organs, in which one or more of the several processes of digestion are imperfectly performed. It is very complicated in its nature, involving, as it does, nearly all the organs in the system, through sympathy and reflex nervous action. It appears in so many forms that the symptoms and suffer-ings are almost innumerable. At one time the patient will point to his head as the seat of his disease, and entertain fears of apoplexy; another he will point to his lungs, and imagin that he has consumption; again he will think he has heart disease, and must die very suddenly. and thus he continues, from month to me a martyr to one of the most distressing of all

The inference is that many persons who think they are suffering from an overworked brain, pervous prostration, consumption, or even heart d'scase, are really the victims of Dysp. police indigestion and Work Storauch.
