Not Only Concerning His Own Health, but Concerning His Children.

CNE SON STRICKEN WITH FAT'L ILLN:SS

Czarewitch Stubbornly Refuses to Wed the Princess Alix, as He is Passionately Attached to His Beautiful Mistress.

BERLIN, Oct. 11 .- A member of the staff of the Russian embassy of this city informed the Associated press correspondent this evening that the czar fully expects to die, but is eager for his removal to Corfu, the latter step becoming imperative if the only chance to save his life is taken. Prof. Leyden persists in his rather favorable diagnosis of the czar's case, and he fully believes that if it is left entirely in his hands he will be able to effect a cure. The czar is incessantly worried, first, about the plainly approaching death of his son George, and secondly, the conduct of the ezarewitch, who stubbornly refuses to marry Princess Alix. The Russians assign the refusal to the great love of the czarewitch for his mistress, who seems to have such a hold upon him that for the sake of keeping her he has offered to renounce his right of succession to the throne. At the same time, the czar fears for the weifare of Russia, and perhaps for the peace of Europe, If a regency is necessary. These worries, Prof. Leyden asserts, constitute the greatest feature of the czar's case.

Senor Castellar Tells Leo Why He Advised

Support to the Spanish Monarchy. ROME, Oct. 11 .- Senor Emilio Castellar, the Spanish republican, had a special audience lasting over an hour with the pope. The greatest cordiality was shown on both sides. The pope spoke of the speeches and writings which had rendered the name of Castellar illustrious. Senor Castellar explained his personal opinion and declared that while he would always remain a republican he took into account the present condition of Spain and he had this in view when he advised his friends to support the monarchy. Senor Castellar declared that the audience had convinced him that the pope could do much to promote international peace and that he felt he had been in the presence of a really great man. Upon his return to his hotel Senor Castellar was visited by Premier Crispl.

Cause of a Consul's Suicide.

LONDON, Oct. 11 .- Some pair ul details transpired in regard to the suicide of Patrick Henderson, recently British consul at Cadiz, Spain, who shot himself yesterday. It seems his wife died recently, and this, with the unhealthy efficiency, and this, with the dh-healthy efficience of Cadiz, so depressed Mr. Henderson's spirits that he was impelled to apply for his removal to some other post. His application was refused, and the unfor-tunate man went to the foreign office yester-tunate man went to the foreign office yesterday in order to renew his application. Sec retary Foley was again compelled to reply that it was impossible to change him from Cadiz to some other place, whereupon Mr. Henderson burst into tears. This so affected Mr. Foley that he turned away his head, and as he did so Mr. Henderson burst in the tears and the source of the as he did so, Mr. Henderson drew a pistol and shot himself in the head.

FARYING FIEWS OF MISSIONS.

Dr. Gladden Asserts that Special Intelligence is Not Needed for the Work. MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11 .- The session of the American Board of Missions today was devoted to addresses from district secretaries and returned missionaries. Secretary Stimson introduced a resolution providing that the portion of the Otis fund devoted to new missions, about $80,000, be applied on the board's indebtedness, about $150,000. Re-ferred to a special committee of seven.

A paper on mission work was read by C. N. Hitchcock of Chicago, Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., gave an able ad-dress on mission fields. The idea was a very mistaken one, he said, that missionary work required a man of the highest training and intelligence. Dr. H. H. Jessup, a Syrian missionary, home on furiough after thirtynine years service, gave an interesting re-view of the board's work in Syria. Dr Creegan spoke on the importance of giving missionaries thorough training, which should aclude not only intellectual, but industrial branches. President Angell of Ann Arbor university, in an address, said a mistake was made in thinking the brightest men must be retained for our city churches, while cranks and dullards might be sent as missionaries. He also spoke of the importance of combining the labors of old and experi-enced men with those of youth and vigor. TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

Many Amendments Proposed, but Few Are Chosen.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 11.-At the fourth day's session of the International Typographical union, recommendation No. 15, by President Prescott was considered. It pro poses a new article to the constitution, providing that after July, 1991, any contributing member in good standing shall be entitled member in good standing shall be entitled to an out-of-work benefit of $3 per week for six weeks, commencing with the second week of his (dleness, on being deprived of employment from any cause except on ac-count of strike, lockout, illness, debauchery, intemperance or other immoral conduct. Re-jected, 62 to 83. The next question was an amendment to section 51, general laws: "No local union shall sign a contract runnanteeme its mean.

The next question was an amendment to section 5., general laws: "No local union shall sign a contract guaranteeing its mem-bers to work for any proprietor, firm or corporation, unless such contract is same-tioned by the allied trades council." The amendment was adopted. The placing of the government printing office at Washing-ton under civil service rules was referred. Among recommendations by the commit-tee on laws concurred in were those to con-tinue investigations on the copywright laws and the appointment of a committee to en-courage the movement to crect a monu-ment to the late George W. Childs. The following officers were elected. Pres-ident, W. B. Presecut, Toronto; first vice ptesident Frank G. Boyle, St. Paul; third vice president Frank G. Boyle, St. Paul; third vice president, Charles B. Laham, Chi-cago; secretary-treasurer, A. G. Wines, St. Louis. HILL OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION DISCUSSED

Claims it Has Unfairly Apportioned the Legislative Districts to tive the Republicans Permanent Control-Denunciation of the A. P. A.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 11 .- Senator

David Bennett Hill sounded the keynote of his campaign for governor tonight in this city and with his address opened a partisan battle that promises to be historical in the annals of state politics. The Alhambra rink, where democrats and republicans alike have sounded the tocsin of political battle, was the scene of the opening note of warfare.

The first political meeting that ever named Senator Hill for an office assembled under its roof. Some 3,000 people heard Senator Hill speak tonight and half as many more were unable to gain admittance. The American flag was very much in evidence as a decoration and a good many of the fair sex lent their presence to the occasion.

The doors were opened at 7 o'clock and within half an hour the hall and platform had been filled to repletion. The band amused the crowid until a few minutes of 8 clock and then there was an uproar, a rising in seats and great enthusiasm, as Senator Hill, dressed in a plain frock coat and black tie, stepped upon the platform. He was the usual cool, impassive statesman, and to the storm of applause made but a slight inclination of his head. When the cheers and applause had subsided and the vast audience had again seated itself, County Committee Chairman Yale stepped to the front of the platform and said he had been authorized by the committee to name as chairman Hon. Frederick J. Mowrey, who introduced Senator Hill. When his name was mentioned, the sena-tor stepped to the front and stood with one hand on the table, facing his audience. For some minutes he waited while the audience cheered, and then cheered again, and then he began his remarks. He was listened to with great attention,

He was instended to with great attention, but was frequently interrupted with most vociferous applause. He spoke in a clear, concise and convincing way and held his audience until the last word. His allusions to Seymour, Cleveland, Flower and the American Protective association issue caused tumultuous applause. tumultuous applause. "I know of no more appropriate place in which to open the present campaign than be-fore the united democracy of Onandagua county. (Applause.) It is with pleasure that I recall my first nomination for a state office, which occurred in the city of Syracuse, and that during all my political career the de mocracy of this city has been among my most earnest supporters.

It has not escaped public attention that the partisan Lexow committee has not sought to discover any police abuses in any of the re-publican cities of the state, and with such unfair discriminations the people will not tolerate any attempt to make partisan cap-ital out of the reports of only a partial inves-tigation. Neither do they propose to per-mit any other issues, entirely disposed of, to engross our attention in this campaign. The question whether the democrats, properly or improperly, regularly or irregularly, se-cured control of the state senate in 1851, is powder already burned. I don't intend to thresh old straw over again, but I desire simply to suggest that the democrats had fairly carried the state ticket in 1891 by MAJORS' VENALITY EXPOSED fairly carried the state ticket in 1891 by 47,000 majority, and no legal quibble, no technicalities, and no harnh constructions of judicial enemies should have been permitted to deprive them of the control of the legislature, to which, under such circumstances, the dominant party was fairly entitled; and whether any law was strained or not, justice did, in fact, prevail. "The republicans, last fall, accidentally obtained control of the constitutional convention and have proceeded to place an appor-tionment of senate and assembly districts in their constitutional amendments to be sub-mitted to the people at this election. "The unfairness, the partisanship, the ab-solute injustice of the proposed apportion-ment admits of no argument. Its purpose was openly avowed on the floor of the conven-tion to secure for all the future control of tion to secure for all the future control of the legislature of the state to the republicans, and no one denies such will be its effect. scheme, and thereafter issued an address to the people, giving in detail their reasons "I cannot better describe the scheme to disfranchise the democrats of the state than by reading to you what our representatives in that convention so truthfully and tersely said concerning it in the address:

The republican majority has incorporated in the constitution a plan of apportionment which violates the fundamental rules of popular representation. ""This plan prevents any new apportionment until after 1905. It forestalls the future by prescribing impossible conditions, even to the legislature of 1896. It destroys the proportion of four to one between the assembly and senate which has existed since 1821. It creates fifteen senatorial districts with population greater than differen other districts by 459,872. It leaves threpresented a pop-ulation in democratic districts of 131,287. It overrepresents republican districts by 130,-349. It has a superstant district of 130,-It thus makes a discrimination against 348. democratic districts of 261,835. It permits 35,572 citizens in republican districts, but requires at least 41,000 in democratic dis-tricts in oper as tricts, to elect an assemblyman. It pre-scribes that 115,817 citizens shall be entitled to a senator, but it affords to the republican counties of Erie and Monree an additional senator for one-half that number. It refuses the democratic county of New York and of Kings an additional senator for any num-ber less than 115,817.

INSURES REPUBLICAN ASCENDANCY. "'It provides that New York shall never, no matter how great its population, have more than one-third the senators. It pro-vides that Kings shall never, no matter how great its population, have more than one-third the senators. It provides that New York, and Kings counties shall never, no matter how great their joint popula-tion, have more than one-half of the senators.

" It fastens republican rule on the state regardless of popular will, inesmuch as a majority of 75,000 in the state against the majority of 75,000 in the state against the republican party will not disturb its hold upon the legislature. Popular representa-tion in the scate is abandoned for terri-torial representation, and the counties of the state which are thermaning in popula-tion are deprived of representation for the benefit of those counties whose populations are steadily decreasing. The success of this scheme at the polls means the abso-lute control of the legislature to the repub-licans for all time to come. It means the

RECORD REVIEWED BY MR. ROSEWATER

Occasion Made Something of a Holiday in that Vicinity and Hundreds of People Gathered to Greet the Speaker.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 11 .-- (Special Telegram.) -The citizens of Bradshaw turned out en masse to hear Mr. E. Rosewater discuss the political issues of the state campaign. The day was made something of a holiday, the banks and most of the stores and offices being closed in the afternoon while the meeting was in progress. The buildings of the handsome little village were profusely decorated with bunting, and large American flags were hung across the streets.

The town was filled with wagons and carriages of those who had driven in from the country. The Ancient Order of United Workmen hall would not contain one-third or one-fourth of the people who desired to hear Mr. Rosewater speak. The meeting would have been held in the open air but for the high wind which filled the streets with blinding clouds of dust. Mr. Rozewater was introduced to the audience by Thomas Gray, who stated that the people of Bradshaw were giad to welcome the speaker of the afternoon, not only because be was one of the distinguished citizens of Nebraska, but because when Bradshaw had been stricken and demolished by the cyclone a few years ago no man in the state had done There was a big crowd at the depot to cheer and to follow him in an organized procession to the residence of General Alger. more for the rebuilding of the town than the editor of The Bee. For an hour and a half Mr. Rosewater discussed the vital issues of the campaign in Nebraska, handling the state house jobbers, the legislative lobby and the rings without gloves. His every point was enthusiastically cheered, and while scores of voters in the audience wore Majors badges, not once was the speaker interrupted as he exposed the venality of the republican candidate for governor.

At the conclusion of the address a republican wearing a Majors badge stated that he could count twenty-five republicans in the audience who would scratch Majors' name on political ovation for the people's party. FAIRFIELD, Neb., Oct. 11.-(Special.)-The first republican rally of the campaign took place at the Columbian hall Tuesday night. After brief speeches by local candidates, Tom Majors and D. A. Scoville entertained the audience. The hall was filled to overflowing. Scoville, it was generally to overnowing. Scovil.e, it was generally remarked, overshadowed Majors in oratorical ability. Majors devoted a share of his time to explaining the coldness, or warmess, rather, between himself and Mr. Rosewater. The only individual whose sentiments were changed by the speeches, as far as can be learned, is Mr. Corey, the democratic post-master. He says that previous to the meet-ing he intended to vote for Majors, but after hearing him speak he has reconsidered the matter and will vote a straight democratic ticket if it can be found.

REVIEWED MORTON'S HISTORY. 'Born in the state of Vermont, prohibi tion Vermont, let me observe, the state whose republicanism is most extreme and illiberal in its character, he afterwards renoved to New Hampshire, and it is a peuliar and significant fact, not without spe dal interest in this campaign, that all the while Mr. Morton lived in New Hampshire and until as late as the year 1867, the constitution of that state was most proscriptive In its terms, and actually prohibited any person 'not of the Protestant religion' from being governor or a member of either house legislature, and its bill of rights then of th provided and still provides that only 'Protestant teachers of piety, religion and morality' may be maintained at the public expense of the respective towns of the state. "It is not impossible the early, narrow as-sociations of Vermont and the proscriptive sentiments of New Hampshire which sur-rounded Mr. Morton during his residence in hose states may have influenced his cor tions upon certain public questions and led to his selection in this peculiar crists. "Everybody knows the real republican can-didate for governor is not Mr. Morton, but Mr. Platt himself. It is the voice of Levi but the hand of Thomas. The people of the state have not forgotten the fact that for every office which Mr. Morton has to, be has been pushed forward by Mr. Platt. And now this same very respectable and venerable gentleman at the age of 71 years, was selected by Mr. Platt months before the republican convention convened as his candidate for governor when the nomination by right, and according to precedent, belonged to others whom the party would have delighted to honor, and the people of the state are asked to ratify his personal selection. I don't fail to appreciate the business qualifications, the ex-cellent character and unquestioned political ability of Mr. Platt. I differ from him politically, but as a citizen and geniteman I have nothing to say sgainst him, and decline to be one of his traducers. He has a perfect right to be ambitious and to aspire to the governor-ship of this state, but I do insist he should be a candidate in person and not by proxy. SELECTED HIS OWN ISSUES.

"We would not permit our opponents to obscure the real issues involved in this elec-tion. We decline to belittle the important questions that divide the two great parties by entering upon the discussion of the abuses pertaining to the police department of a sin-ple city as though the correction gle city, as though the correction of such abuses could be made a party question. The mocratic party of the state will not sanc tion republican or democratic blackmail, whether discovered in democratic or republi-can municipalities, and it is an insuit to the intelligence of the people to assume oth-erwise. We refused to be placed upon the defensive upon false issues. The plain truth is, the polic department of New York is a nonpartisan, or rather a bi-partisan department, governed by civil service rules, and that the irregularities or abuses recently (x-posed have already implicated more republican then democratic police officials, and that such exposur s have been followed by prompt dismissals from the force and prompt cutions at the instance of zealous democratic city and county officers. "It is idle to think a state election can be objectionable sugar clause. (Applause.)

condemned in my speech at Saratoga and I condemn here also that unamerican spirit which is insidiously fastening itself upon portions of our communities, which seeks to set up a religious test as one of the qualifications for public office in this country.

"In the national constitution which our fathers framed, it was, wisely provided that 'no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office of public trust under the United States.' This proposition reflected the wisdom of our early statesmen, illustrates their liberal spirit and showed their true patriotism. pleased with the result of the meeting and predict much good therefrom.

CRESTON, Ia., Oct. 11.-(Special Tele gram.)-An impromptu and unexpected political debate occurred last night at Lincoln Center, where the republicans were holding a rally. Attorney D. A. Porter of Creston was addressing a large republican audience when J. F. Willets, the noted Kansas populist, appeared with a number of his followers. There having been a conflict in regard to dates, Attorney Porter suggested a debate. County Superintendent Emerson followed with an hour's address, in which he unmercifully attacked the democratic party, but made no reference to republicanism. Mr. Porter closed with a rousing and logical sermon fo drew-went away well satisfied.
