

DISTURBED A LINCOLN JURY

Judge Hall's Court the Scene of a Peculiar Incident.

JURYMAN CAUSES ALL THE TROUBLE

Alleges that an Attempt Was Made to bribe Him to Assist in Rendering a Verdict in an Interesting Case.

LINCOLN, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—A big sensation was created in Judge Hall's court this morning when Jurymen Roy L. Stewart and before the court the evidence of an attempt to bribe him. Stewart is a member of the jury which is sitting upon the case of Leavitt against Rawlings. The plaintiff was a member of a picknicking party which hired a team from Liverman Rawlings. It was guaranteed to be a gentle team and the driver competent, but there was a runaway, and every member of the party was badly injured. Suits for damages followed. Stewart's story was to the effect that an envelope was left at his house last night, enclosing two $5 bills and a note, which read:

"Roy: Hang the jury. Don't give them one cent damages. You can use it a blackmailing scheme. Smoke with me. A Friend."

The note was badly spelled and in execrable handwriting. The jury was immediately dismissed until the afternoon, when they were sent to their room. Upon reconvening court, Judge Hall addressed the jury, admonishing them to dismiss the money and everything connected with it from their minds, and not to consider it in making up a verdict. He also cautioned them not to read the newspapers and admit that they had not to refer to the incident in discussing the case. This admonition was brought out by a spirited colloquy between the attorneys, in which each side accused the other of perpetrating the job; the plaintiff for effect, and the defendant for results.

No further investigation will be made today, and the hearing of the case was then proceeded with, much to the disappointment of the large number of attorneys who had gathered to hear the testimony.

AFTER A VIADUCT.

A mass meeting of citizens was held at the council chamber last evening to consider the north side viaduct matter. The council has authorized the voters a proposition to bond the city for $200,000 to build a viaduct on the north side of the city, under the Oakley law, being necessary to vote the bonds first and build the viaduct with the proceeds, then collect from the railroad companies afterwards. Considerable opposition has already been shown on the ground that the past record of the council is not such as to warrant the people to vote that large amount of bonds and depend upon that body to cancel the railroad to pay for it. Property owners on the north side want the viaduct very badly, and are agitating the matter, although some of them are frank enough to state that they do not want it if the city is to pay for it.
