Money Belonging to a Cattleman Alleged to flave Heen Held to Satisfy Debts Incurred by Another Person.

LINCOLN, Nov. 1 .- (Special.) -- The appeal of John Pederson against the South Omaha National bank was filed today with the clerk of the supreme court. This is the case brought up from the Fourth judicial district in which the appellant asks that the South Omaha bank be declared trustees of the sum of 1907. The petition sets up that John Palerson, through his agents, Gasmann & Dulley, sold twenty-one head of cattle to Swift & Co. of South Omaha for $925.42. After deducting commission and other expenses, Gasmann & Dudley are alleged to Plattsmouth Authorities on the Lookout for a Smooth Fellow.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—The local authorities are on the lookout for one William Wagner on the charge of obtaining a load of apples under false pretenses. Wagner got the apples tast week from a farmer, Eli Sage, who lives on the outskirts of town, and represented that he had a contract to furnish 60) bushels of apples to a party in Omaha and that he needed only forty-five bushels, or another load, to complete the contract Sage let him have the apples and Wagner promised to return from Omaha on Monday and make payment. Wagner failed to appear as promised, and Sage investigated and learned that Wagner's tale was all a hoax. In reality he had no apple contract. He had simply carried the load of apples to Omaha and peddled them out by the bushel.

Tuesday night Miss Nellie Stauffer very narrowly escaped suffocation from coal gas. The family retired after giving the stove the usual attention. Some time later Mrs. Stauffer awoke and complained of a terrible headache. Miss Nellie got up and started for the camphor, but had taken but a few atens when she fell and knew nothing further until she found herself in the open air, where her parents had carried her. Mrs. Stauffer suffered terribly from the effects the next day.

Order Promoting Major A. S. Kimball Finally Made Public. WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 .- On Saturday last, in the presence of the correspondent of The Bee, on an express train between Washington and Baltimore, Major Amos S. Kimball, who for some time has been on duty in the War department as an assistant to the quartermaster general, stated that he had just left General Batchelder, who had assured him that he would be made lieutenant colonel and chief quartermaster at the Presidio of California, San Francisco, December 31, to succeed Colonel John G. Chandler, who will be retired at that time. Two hours later General Batchelder said no such change was likely to occur for some time to come, intimating that it would be a month or more before such an order would be issued. The order, which was transmitted to The Bee on Saturday in spite of the denial of General Batchelder, was officially issued today. Major Kimball will be promoted to succeed Colonel John G. Chandler, Major Kimball will proceed at once to San Francisco. Major Kimball was on Saturday given his choice of pestions at Jefferson Barracks, St. Paul and San Francisco. Suit to Collect Taxes on Railroad Lands. FARGO, N. D., Nov. 1.-A case of much ment and importance to the tax payers of this state was argued before United States Judge Thomas today, being another of many which have grown out of the attempt of the various counties to tax the lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad company. This time several counties have taxed lands lying within the idemnity limits of the land grant, and argument was on injunctional proceedings restraining the counties from collecting the tax. The case was submitted on briefs at the close of the arguments, and taken under advisement. On the decision depends many thousands of dollars annually to the counties through which the road runs.

George Burch is again in the district court with a motion for a new trial in the case against the Lincoln Street Railway company. Errors of court are alleged in instructing the jury that when plaintiff got on defendant's car and refused to pay a 5-cent fare, but offered to buy six tickets for a quarter, he became a trespasser and the employes had a right to eject him. This is the case in which Judge Tibbets held that the or linance requiring the company to sell six tickets for a quarter was null and void.

Prince Cantacuzene said history in time would pay its just tribute to the merits of Alexander III. He had given Russia what she most needed—peace and quiet. For ten years there had been nothing heard of nihilists, except in the inspired attacks of malicious persons. The emperor had gone freely among the people unguarded and untatended. He was in the habit of driving with the exarina in a sleigh through the public streets. The sentiment of affection of the Russian people toward the emperor constituted a protection much stronger than police protection could afford. The previous emperor had been guarded by police and yet emperor had been guarded by police and yet he met assasination, while the late emperor moved openly among his people until he died, to their universal grief. A notable obituary sketch will appear in the Times tomorrow. The author of the sketch of the dead emperor was on intimate terms of friendship with the czar and he says the czar never had the slightest sympathy with high culture, adding:

"Indeed, the czar rather gloried in the idea of being of the same rough texture as the majority of his subjects and if he knew he was sometimes disrespectfully called the peasant czar he regarded this epithet a compliment. His straightforward, abrupt compliment. His straightforward, abrupt compliment. His straightforward, abrupt compliment. he was sometimes disrespectfully called 'the pensant czar' he regarded this epithet a compliment. His straightforward, abrupt manner, savoring sometimes of gruffness, and his direct, unadorned method of expression harmonized well with his rough hewn, immobile features and somewhat sluggish movements. The impression he generally made in conversation was that of a good, honest, moderately intelligent, strong willed man who might perhaps listen to expla-nations, but who certainly would stand no nonsense from his subordinates or any one else. Only those who have had the privilege of seeing him in the unrestrained intimacy of his family, and especially when romping with his children or amusing himself with his foorfooted pets, could fully realize what a simple, kindly nature was concealed behind a by no means sympathetic exterior."

The writer then alludes to the czar's strong anti-German feeling from the time he was exarewitch and says: "But he always had pacific intentions. He feared that Russia might be made the victim of a coup d'etat of the young kaiser and therefore thought it advisable to make persistent advances to France. But his attitude was strangely exaggerated, if not entirely misunderstood by France. The czar was too autocratic to enjoy hearing the Marseillaise in his own capitol and too prudent to ally himself closely with an impetuous nation under a weak government. While he was not quite ready to make use of an entente for diplomatic purposes, he had no intention of letting himself be

RESULTS ON THE RUNNING TRACKS. Queer Work by Jockeys the Feature of the Afternoon at Oakley.
OAKLEY, O., Nov. 1.—The track was dry, hard, lumpy and slow. Two favorites, Free Advice and Alibi, the two last on the card, were the only ones to win. The other favorites, Text in the first, Cerro Gordo in the second and Innocent in the third, failed show. Jockey Nelson, who rode Text in the first race, was suspended. He called on Scherrer to pull off, and when he re fused Nelson struck Scherrer twice with his whip. In the third race Donohue or Innocent tried the same trick that he used two weeks ago when he was suspended. He pulled across the track in front of the bunch. Service, who was leading, cut Inocent down, severing the tendon in her left hind leg. An effort will be made to save the filly, but her racing days are over, and she may have to be killed. She is owned by W. F. Spiers, and valued at $3,500. Results:

Sideboarding in'94

To sideboard or not to sideboard-ant is the question today with hundreds of hesitating and longing purchasers.

Here, for example, is an illustration of what we are trying to make clear. We are selling this Sideboard for 20 per cent less than we could manufacture it today. Such figures cannot long continue. The furniture depression is over; reasonable prices must soon be revived. In the meantime, however, there are great values here for the money. Notice some novel features of these new fall goods. The upper shelf has a raised center section, following the curve of the mirror beneath.

This is one of the seventy-five styles of Sideboards we are showing.
