PRINCETON AND PENNSY.

Only a week remains before the Princeton-Pennsylvania game takes place. Next Saturday the two teams will join in their usual almost death struggle. There is probably no game played during the season in which more determination and "do or die" spirit is shown. Pennsylvania always has played harder in this game than in the one with Yale or Harvard. There seems to be an overwhelming desire to defeat Princeton living inherently in the generations of undergraduates of the university, It is almost the same at Princeton, but the college would far rather have a chance to PRINCETON AND PENNSY. ollege would far rather have a chaince to rub it into Harvard. But the feeling there is very strong and the feeling of both institutions has always displayed itself in its strongest form in the foot ball teams. The result has been that both teams go on the field with a wish to die rather than be defeated. From the work of the teams during the season it would seem safe to preresult has been that both teams 60 of the the field with a wish to die rather than be defeated. From the work of the teams during the season it would seem safe to predict that Frinceton will again gain the victory. Practically the only weak spot in her line is the center, and that is not very weak. Back of the line the team is weaker. Ward has not been playing his usual varsity game. Besides, he has been injured and is not recovering as fast as was expected to take the other position as half, has a cracked rib, McCormick, Vorhis, Rosengarten and Morse are all temporarily out of the game, and, even if they do recover in time, they are losing much valuable practice. Cochran at full has been doing only fair work. His muscular build makes him a valuable man in interference and his tackling is low and sure. His kicking is good, but a trifle slow. He plays with a good deal of dash and hits the line hard. He has been troubled with a braised muscle in his kicking leg and this has interfered with both his kicking and catching during the past few days. His greatest handleap is lack of experience. As yet he is unfamiliar with his part in complicated plays. A freshman named Boannard has also tried the position and has been found to be a fine kicker. He is a good punter and his swift, low line plunges result in good gains. As a defensive player he is strong, but by no means the equal of Cochran. Burt, who was regarded as first in the race for a long time, was a disappointment in the Cornell game and has since injured his knee. Since then he is not as reliable a player as before his accident. Tyler continues to play full back, but has not shown the improvement expected of him early in the season. On the whole, the position is still in doubt.

covered.

The play of the team as a whole is still somewhat below the standard. It still lacks the snap and dash, the absence of which is almost inexcusable after nearly two months of practice. In the last two or three games, however, interference has been in most cases quickly formed and effective. The team that will line up against Pennsylvania will, in all probability, be as follows: Center, Riggs; left guard, Wheeler; right guard, Taylor; right tackle, Lea; left tackle, Holly; right end, Trenchard; left end, Brown; quarter, Morse; left half back, Ward; right half back, Reiter; full back, Cochran, It may be that McCormick will take Reiter's place at half back and that Burt will occupy full back.

PENNSY LACKS LIFE.

The recent southern trip taken by Pennsylvania was a sore disappointment to her admirers. The scores run up were small and in the game with the University of Virginia a touchdown was scored against her. All the games showed that the line is weak, much weaker than the first play of the season promised. This is the case especially on the right side. Farrar has supplanted Minds temporarily at tackle, and in practice it has looked like an improvement, but not a noticeable one. Princeton's game will, without doubt, be to go through Pennsylvania's tackles and around the ends. These are the weakest points, and the Tigers well know it. There is too much muscle in the center for the orange and black to make any great headway there wharton, Bull and Woodruff can be relied upon to look after the line at that point. The ends also are very slow in getting down the field on kicks, and they might tackle lower. PENNSY LACKS LIFE.

the field on kicks, and they might tackle lower.

Knipe has been urged repeatedly to go back to half. What must be done in the short time intervening is to develop team work, which is sadly lacking, and to bring this about many think it would be necessary for Knipe to go to half back. Every one wants to see him there, and they think it will put new life in the playing of the team. Williams has been playing a fine quarter, and at that position he will make five tackles to Knipes' one, and he can be depended upon to get the ball from the snap back quickly and surely. Knipe has been doing considerable fumbling, and such a thing would be disastrous in the game with the Tigers. Who would have to give way to him if he should change is a question. There has been some talk of displacing Osgood, but his work recently has been exceedingly brilliant. The same must be said of Gelbert, but the latter has one quality that Osgood never seems able to gain, and that is following interference. If Knife goes back to his old position, as he really cught to do, because he is too big a man to play quarter. Gelbert will, in all probability, be the other half. Everybody must concede that Pennsylvariia has backs that are phenomenal. Knipe weighs 150 pounds, Osgood 188. Gelbert 175 and Brooke 170, and all are better than eleven seconds in 100 yards. They are all great ground gamers.

The following will probably be the team:
Center, Bull; right guard, Wharton; right
In case Knipe goes to right half, Williams will fill quarter.

The two teams have played against the same opponents so far this season in two cases—Lehigh and the University of Virginia. In the early season Princeton defeated Lehigh by the small score of 8 to 0, and was almost scored against. On Oc. And was almost scored against. On Oc. NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—Tulare university of Alabama played same teams, and this time Princeton won by the score of 32 to 0. A week later Pennsylvania met Lehigh and defeated her by the score of 30 to 0. About a month ago Frinceton met the University of Virginia and won by the score of 12 to 0. Last week Pennsylvania won from Virginia by the score of 14 to 6. It is unsafe to base any predictions on past sames; but both from the score and from the play one would give the superiority to Princeton. The two teams had an equal number of substitutes in the games. Princeton played a much inferior game with Virginia than she is playing now. Taking general experience and past play into consideration, Princeton ought to win with two or three teuchdowns to her credit. If Princeton plays her game Pennsylvania ought not score, but the chances are that she will if one of her half backs gets around an end. This will be an exceedingly hard thing to do with Trenchard and Brown in the positions.

BLUES ARE TAKING ON FORM.

By the victory of the Omaha High school foot ball team Saturday over Lincoln's team Omaha has obtained the championship of the northern circuit of the Interscholastic Foot Ball league. From now on until Thanksgiving day the team will put in the time practicing in order to obtain the championship of the Western Interstate association by being defeated by Missouri to the tune of 18 to 14. Iowa is in the same boat, by losing to Kansas by the score of 14 to 12. Both the games were hard contests and the teams were very evenly matched. Yale was the only one of the big college elevens that played Saturday. She had a game with Brown and gained a victory by the score of 12 to 0. She was practically scored against, as at the call of time at the end of the first the ball was the first the first the ball was the first the BLUES ARE TAKING ON FORM.

ness in running with little or no interference.

Heffelinger has been doing the coaching of the line, and he has taken each man in turn. Hickok improved considerably in his play as a result of the coaching. McCrea, it is thought, will have to leave the line, as Brown and Chadwick have been making great progress. Stillman, unlike the two guards, is showing lets of spirit, and is working hard. Murphy is doing finely at right tackle, and gives promise of making one of the best tackles Yale has ever had. He has gitten into condition quickly, and is not a man who is likely to be injured. He breaks through well and tackles low and sure, and when sent with the ball almost always makes good gains. Young Hickok has been doing well at the other tackle lately. He holds his man well and is a sure ground-gainer, his chief fault being in inability to make holes. Murray's play has been gradually improving, and should Beard be unable to play, the fight for left tackle will doubtless be between him and R. A. Hick. Thorne and the only question is whether DeWitt will be chosen or right half filled by Mills or Marks. DeWitt is the hardest man to down that Yale has, and when tackled always falls forward. He is not a sure man on a catch, which will count against him. At with chances in favor of Adee, although Morris is pushing him hard.

Yale is still showing a dangerous carelessess in offside playing. The team throughout the year has shown a laxness in this respect, and the coachers are paying a great deal of attention now to this fault. It is a thing which, under the new rules, would prove most disastrous against a strong team. The eleven is gradually getting into shape and displaying more team work, and it is expected that the next week will mark a noticeable improvement. A kicking game is being played quite frequently and shows that plans are laid for all contingencies.

HARVARD'S TEAM PICKED. Heffelinger has been doing the coaching

HARVARD'S TEAM PICKED. The work of the Harvard team during the past week has been such that the makeup of the eleven which will represent the college in the big games with Yale and Pennsylvania has been practically determined, and it is now possible to give a list of the men, at any rate of the forwards, as they will line up in those contests. In the rush line this year Harvard will have only two men who played against Yale

CORNELL AND THE CADETS.

Harvard is very anxlous to arrange another game with Cornell. Recent practice has resembled Cornell's game, especially in the kicking. The coachers think that the game was of immense value, and are consequently using every effort to obtain another. Yale has refused to meet Cornell, because she has no open dates. It is unfortunate that a game could not be arranged, because the relative strength of Harvard, Yale and Princeton could have been judged to a certain degree. After the excellent record that Cornell has made this year it is safe to say that, with as good coaching next year, she will give the big teams a harder rub.

The secretaries of war and the navy have been deaf to all the entreaties that have been recently made to secure a foot ball game between the cadets of the two academies on Thanksgiving day. The policy adopted as a result of last year's game to prevent the two branches of the service from meeting again on the gridiron will be rigidly enforced. On that occasion bitter animosities were aroused, and the secretaries have determined that they would not take the responsibility of reviving the rivalry. Consequently the game will not be played. The secretary of war has issued an order allowing games to be played at West Point, but the team of the cadets is prohibited from playing elsewhere. The Annapolis team cannot leave the school. The game was played annually at Annapolis and was always a hard contest.

STATE FUNDS LVING IDLE.

No Provision for Investing the Surplus in CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 3.-(Special.)report with the governor. The report shows that the income from the state land permanent fund has accumulated to $22,188.88, while there is on hand about $33,000 of rentals lying idle, with no provision for investment or distribution. In this connection the report recommends that the next legislature make some provision for investing it these funds. The treasurer reports that the money has been deposited in banks and interest amounting to $3,221.50 has been added thereto.

Section 40, chapter 70, of the session laws of 1890-91 would seem to provide a means of utilizing these funds when it orders that all such funds (referring to state land funds) is shall be invested in interest-bearing warrants of the state at not a higher cost than par. Wyoming's bonds, however, have always sold at a premium and the state has no floating indebtedness in which to invest, nor, under existing circumstances, can it have, so that the law is rendered nugatory.

The total receipts of the sate treasurer's office from all sources for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1894, were 2529,565.12, and the entire expenditures for the same period $216,602.18. The balance in the state treasury at that date was $188,335.16.

GIBBONS ON CHRISTIAN UNITY.

Wide a Gulf as Many Suppose, BALTIMORE, Nov. 4-Cardinal Gibbons preached at the Cathedral today on "Caristian Unity." He said: "Thank God, there is a yearning desire for the reunion of Christianity among many noble and earnes Christianity among many noble and earnest souls. This desire is particularly manifest in the English speaking world. It is manifest in England and in the United States. I. myself, have received several letters from influential Protestant ministers expressing the hope of a reunion, and inquiring as to the probable basis of a reconciliation. Reunien is the great desire of my heart. I have longed and prayed for it during all the years of my ministry. I have prayed that as we are bound to our brethren by social and family, and by natural and commercial ties, so may we be united with them in the bonds of a common faith. The conditions of reunion are easier than has been imagined. Of course there can be no compromise on faith or morals. The doctrine and moral code that Christ gave us must remain unchangeable. But the church can modify her discipline to suit the circumstances of the cause. May the day be hastened when the scattered hosts of Christendom will be reunited. Then, indeed, they would form an army which infidelity cannot long resist, and they would soon carry the light and faith of Christian civilization to the most remote and benighted parts of the globe. May the day soon come when all who profess the name of Christ may have one lord, one faith and one baptism; when all shall be in one fold under one shepherd." souls. This desire is particularly manifest Stocks Low Enough to Entice Even Careful Investors but Public Interest is at Present Even Lower Tean the Price of Stocks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 .- Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street; "Wall street remains comparatively stagnant and during the past week there has been considerable yielding in prices, partly due to the unsettled condition of the anthracite interest and partly to unsatisfactory net earnings on some of the granger roads.

"On the part of the 'bulls' there has been less apparent disposition than usual to stand by the market under this relapse, not, how ever, from any decline of confidence, but rather because they prefer to see some elasticity in prices as a means of attracting interest and of promoting a freer movement in securities, on the principle that stagnancy is always hostile to values. The railroads, as a rule, are now doing reasonably well and have before them the prospect of an increasing tonnage; but they necessarily increasing tonnage; but they necessarily begin to show the effects of the long depression of trade in their financial statements and in diminished ability to pay the usual rate of dividends. This is nothing more than has been expected, and these considerations have been already discounted in the prices of stocks. As the facts are made public, however., there is an imperfectly informed class of operators who needlessly take alarm at them. Long-headed buils have no objection to taking stock from such sellers, feeling that the improving tendency in earnings should scon cause a recovery in values.

al 9:20 o'clock tomorrow morning and adjourned annual meeting is set for 133 o'clock. Supporters of the present board of directors say that no matter what the desion may be the victory will be theirs. Had it not been that it might have been discreted their ticked of Juriser spectful to the court, they might have gone on and elected their ticked of Juriser on and elected their ticked of Juriser or an and elected their ticked of Juriser or an and elected their ticked of Juriser or an an elected and the committee could not have elected a man. Unless there is some thing in Monday's decision wholly unexpected, even if it should be in favor of the protective committee and the cumulative plan been allowed in respect to those; the protective committee could not have elected a man. Unless there is some thing in Monday's decision wholly unexpected, even if it should be in favor of the protective committee and the cumulative will not be able to elect a director.

VANQUISHED THREE BURGLARS.

Denver Woman Makes a Winning Fight and Then Faints.

DENVER, Nov. 4.—Mrs. James D. Scott, wife of the proprietor of the Capital Turfe exchange, vanquished three burglars who broke into her house last night after a desperate fight, in which she was seriously injured. One of the men was armed with a zerolyer, another with a slungsho at the third will be the state of the proprietor of the proprietor of the state banks as well as the national system of body but she fought so energetically and raised such an outcry that they beat a retreat without taking any of the jewelry-or other valuables lying about. The hattle lasted nearly ten minutes, but Mrs. Scott did not faint until her assailants had gone. An hour elapsed before she revived sufficiently to give an account of the affair. She is a hundsome woman of 45 years, signer, and weight so energetically and values by younds. She was feet tall, and weight so younds. She is a hundsome woman of 45 years, signed which the burglars assaulted her.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

All Securities Firm and Americans Take an Upward Turn. LONDON, Nov. 4.—After the hardening of discount rates at the beginning of last week the money market relapsed to its former level. After the shadow caused by the approaching death of the czar had been removed the markets on the Stock exchange improved all around, with every appearance of a continuance of the upward movement. Foreign securities were buoyant. Russians rose ½ per cent and Turkish ½ per cent. Argentines and Brazilians were finm. Rumors of a new Brazilian loan were current. A better feeling prevailed in the market for American securities, which responded quickly to any upward movement in New York. With the exception of Lake Shore, which was down ¼ per cent, the week's movements were all forward. Denver preferred was up 1½ per cent, Atchison 4s 1½ per cent and Union Pacific, Central Pacific and Atchison each ½ per cent. The others made fractional advances, Costa Rican bonds dropped about 5 points on rumors of a compromise with the holders. removed the markets on the Stock exchange

MANCHESTER MARKET REPORTS.

Cloth Market Depressed and Little Inquiry for Prompt Delivery. MANCHESTER, Nov. 4 .- The week's business was considerably below the production, but there was no material increase ir stocks, as old orders took all that was made Cloth was rather depressed. There was little inquiry account for prompt delivery at closing rates. A good trade was done for Bombay, Madras, Corea and Singapore. Little was done for South America and minor Levantine and continental markets. The home trade was moderately active, but very uneven. Prices were easy and nominally unchanged. Yarns were firm, but quiet. The eastern inquiry was fair, but impracticable. Home users are only covering their daily wants. Quotations are only a little lower than they were last week. Spinners are doing well, while cotton receded from 3%d to 3%d. Yarns fell a little more than 1%d, whereas in the cloth business there were only offers at the full decline of cotton. Spinning mills shares are actively sought after and are strong, with few offering. The French cotton goods trade is brisk and fairly profitable. Germany, however, sends less encouraging reports. little inquiry account for prompt delivery at just to hand says: "It is needless for me to express my high opinion of Pearline, and that no clean family lives with out it." Thousands of letters come, praising Pearline, but they don't all put it so strongly. We wouldn't want to, ourselves. We don't say that things can't be made clean without Pearline. But we do say that things can't be made clean with so little labor and so little damage by any other means. And we want to say that, loudly. Millions use Pearline. Only a short time ago they rubbed and scrubbed and fussed in the old-fashioned way without it. Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you. "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. [38] JAMES PYLE, New York.

CHILDREN TAKE UP THE FIGHT.

Boy Killed in a Row Growing Out of Religious Differences. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.-Theodore Kayser, the 1-year-old son of August Kayser, a north side butcher, died today from the effects of blow received yesterday afternoon from the hands of John Groniich, 11 years old. The fatal blow was struck during a small riot between the boys of the Bethlehem Lutheran school, a Protestant institution, and the Holy Trinity school, Catholic. For a long time the enmity between the male scholars of the two schools has been very bitter, owing to their religious prejudices, and fights have by no means been uncommon. Friday's affray was a little more desperate than usual, but until the death of Kayser, who attended the Catholic school, nobody paid much attention to it. Now feeling is running high as the result of the affair, Adolph Lenk, il years old; Eddle Lichterman, aged 11; Louis Lichterman, aged 13, and John Gronlich are now locked up at the Fourth district station pending the coroner's inquest. and the Holy Trinity school, Catholic, For
