practically closed up shop early this mern-ing, but in the corridors of the Capital and FELLOWS WHO LAUGHED FIRST Lindell hotels the question has been quietly discussed and fears expressed that there was a plot hatching in the Majors political incubalor to count him in, regardless of the vote or expense. Today the Lancaster county vote is being canvassed, but it is not likely there will be any material change in the vote as returned, especially on the head of the ticket. But at 4 o'clock today the Majors men, who had been throughout the day complaining of BUT IT IS ALL VERY D.FFERENT NOW that lired feeling, began to grow chipper. They also became suddenly quite free with their money, and quite a number of small bets were offered by Lincoln republicans that Tom Majors would be the next governor of Nebraska. In all these cases it was noticed that the bets offered were small on s, and when Hol-comb men manifested a will ngness to increase them they were refused. Two con-structions are placed upon these actions. One is that the affair is a big bluff; another that some intangible information has floated into town relative to a scheme to count out the legally elected governor. The change in the South Omaha vote had, doubtless, no to do with the sudden animation of little the Majors crowd. It is popular opinion tonight that something from republican headthe at one time comatose Majora crowd.
