

AS TO SOUTH OMAHA'S CLASS

Position of the Taxpayers League Passed Upon by the Supreme Court.

BUD LINDSEY LOSES A BIG FIGHT

Lincoln's Colored Politician Concludes His Election Labors with a Significant Jag and His Flocks Picked of Several Hundred.

LINCOLN, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—In the supreme court a decision in the case of South Omaha et al. plaintiffs in error, against Taxpayers' League, et al. defendants, has been handed down. The decision reverses the district court and a decree is entered dismissing the action. Following is the syllabus of the opinion, written by Judge Harrison:

1. Where it is sought by legislative enactment to amend and repeal a former act, or any section or sections thereof, there should be a compliance with requirements of the constitution in reference to amendment and repeal of laws.

The act in question is an act to amend sections 1 and 2 of an act entitled "An act to incorporate the city of the first class having less than 25,000 and more than 8,000 inhabitants, and regarding their duties, powers and government," known as chapter XV of the general laws of 1890, and passed and approved March 14, 1890, laws of 1891, p. 125, not having complied with the requirement of the constitution contained in section 11 of article III, wherein it is provided that "No law shall be amended unless the new act contains the section or sections so amended, and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed," is void and without effect.

2. Where the acts of a municipal corporation are presumed without color of law, an action of injunction may be maintained by a party showing a sufficient interest, that irreparable injury will result to him if such acts are not enjoined, and a decision of the issue in the case may involve a decision of the particular class to which the municipal corporation is indebted.

Under the facts developed in this case, that injunction was the proper remedy.

LINDSEY'S LOST ROLL.

A painful sequence to the election tumult that has agitated Lincoln for the past week was experienced last night by L. L. Lindsey. Lindsey had been an active participant in the local campaign, his best energies having been put forth in behalf of the Mayor ticket. But last night, acting on his best judgment, he offered to bet freely on Holcomb's success. At the Capital hotel he exhibited a roll of currency and checks, amounting to $500. He offered to place $100 on Holcomb, but found no takers. Subsequently he drank freely with a number of companions. How many drinks he had he does not remember. In fact, he says the very little of what occurred after 10 o'clock is impressed on his memory. At all events, when he awoke in the Shakespeare saloon this morning at 3 o'clock, his roll was missing. Upon discovering his loss, Lindsey says, that it was his impression some friend had taken it, who would return the same at an early hour in the day. He has not, as yet, found his money. He says the worst part of it is that $400 of the cash was stake money, held in trust for parties who had bet on the election.

LINCOLN LITIGATION.

In the district court today Mary Sturey, who sues the Rock Island Railway company for $2,000, received a verdict for $100. Mrs. Sturey complained that the company had destroyed the value of her lot by building a side track on the premises.

Sarah Johnson is in court asking for a decree of divorce from her husband, W. L. Johnson. The latter is now a resident of Sioux City. She says she married William in Lincoln, April 10, 1890, and claims he deserted her on June 30, last, and has failed to support her ever since. She also charges that he has committed adultery with an unknown person in a brick block on Ninth street, between N and M, and that he is a fugitive from justice, having been charged by the Clarkson Laundry company with embezzlement.

The Lincoln Normal university has begun suit in forcible entry and detainer before Justice McCandless against John L. Stephens and the Normal Publishing company to eject them from the rooms they occupy in the normal college.

Day by day and still the much wanted Van Seiver, alleged California embezzler, remains in the hands of the supreme court. The California case, which is playing a waiting game because he is compelled, fits through town with an eye occasionally cast toward the setting sun and a sigh at the orange groves of the balmy region whence he is expected to decide the case tomorrow.

Woman's field of usefulness widens constantly. All progressive women praise Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

HERMAN FREEZE DISCHARGED.

No Evidence that He Robbed the Homer State Bank.

DAKOTA CITY, Neb., Nov. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—Herman Freeze, recently elected county attorney of Antelope county, who was arrested October 16, charged with embezzlement and larceny resulting from finding about $1,100 in a well at Homer on property occupied by Freeze bank, which institution was robbed of $150,000 the morning of October 31, 1891, was discharged upon his preliminary hearing today. The examination occupied two days. The money was introduced in evidence. The bills were in bad condition and will have to be redeemed by the government, and the silver was badly tarnished. The money was identified as that sent from Washington to the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis seven days before the robbery and afterwards to the National bank of Sioux City, and from there to the Homer bank. C. O'Connor, present owner of the Homer bank, expects to pay a salvage to the finder of the money and claim the same.

Captured a Sneak Thief.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—While Mrs. W. H. Thompson was boarding a street car a sneak thief, who gave his name as Jess Dell, followed her, and crowding between her and Hon. W. H. Thompson, took her purse and attempted to get out. Mrs. Thompson grabbed him and told him to hand over the stolen purse, but he tore away and ran down the street. He was followed by at least 100 people and quickly dropped the purse. Rushing up a different street he ran into a small store, and when his pursuers entered he stood calmly behind the stove. He was promptly arrested. It is the boldest case of theft that ever was attempted in this city.

Miss Kedzie, instructor in the cooking school of the Kansas State Agricultural college writes: "Dr. Price's Baking Powder is my preference of all the powders in the market. My fifty-seven girls who come to the laboratory every day for class work enjoy it."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Albini's London Empire Entertainers is the attraction at the Fifteenth Street theater for the coming week, commencing Sunday matinee. Regarding the performance the St. Louis Dispatch says: "Albini, 'The King of Cards,' held court at the Standard yesterday, surrounded by his courtiers and jesters. Albini himself was the star of the performance. His tricks were as clever as of old. The egg trick, with which he has defied detection and imitation for years, set the audience yesterday fairly wild. The magician came right into the audience with a little green bag, and first there is an egg in it and then there isn't. It is done with people all about him, but how, is a mystery. Albini is said to sleep with that bag and numerous other things, and he has become a hero and a hero's daughter trying to get him drunk enough to get it away from him, but without success."

Among the other attractions on the bill are Nellie Maguire, character star, O'Brien and Buckley and many others.

The "Anti-Christ" is the subject of Mr. Davenport's lecture in Exposition hall next Sunday night. The lecturer will endeavor to show that his appearing cannot be far off.

About Croup.

Croup is a terrible young mother's. To post them concerning the first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. In a child indication of croup is hoarseness. In a child who is subject to croup it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's cough remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough has appeared it will prevent the attack. It has never been known to fail.

In Baking Powders

"Royal" Leads.

As the result of my tests, I find the ROYAL BAKING POWDER superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest, but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

CITY IS WITHOUT A CLERK

Action of the City Council Produces a Peculiar State of Affairs.

ANOTHER APPOINTMENT MUST BE MADE

Alleged Agreement Between Republican and Democratic Members Fails to Work—Gossip as to the Presidency of the Council After January 1.

Though it is not a matter of general knowledge, it is nevertheless a fact that the city of Omaha is at present without a city clerk, or at least there is a question about it. This condition of affairs is a result of the prolonged quarrel between the political factions in the council which was connected with the appointment of John Evans to serve out the unexpired term of Mr. Wakeley.

It will be remembered that at the time when the death of the regularly elected city official left the office vacant Mr. Evans was appointed by the mayor to fill the vacancy. This action was the result of a conference which was held in the mayor's office. At this time the democratic members agreed that if the republicans would vote to confirm the appointment of Mr. Evans for the remainder of the year they would assent in passing the ordinance providing for the filling of the vacancy by election.

Mr. Evans was appointed by the mayor August 7, the appointment reading "to serve until the next general election in November." The confirmation was unanimous, and the ordinance was passed. But when the republicans attempted to pass the ordinance authorizing the mayor to include a clerk to fill the vacancy in the election proclamation they were defeated. The democrats claimed that when they promised to pass the ordinance it was with the understanding that no definite time was contemplated, and on this subterfuge they evaded their caucus obligation.

After a good deal of controversy the republicans succeeded in passing another ordinance, which was very similar to the one first introduced. There was this difference, however, that the ordinance provided that the elected candidate should take the office on January 1 instead of immediately after the election, as was contemplated when the appointment of Mr. Evans was made.

Now that the election is passed the term for which Mr. Evans was appointed has expired, and accordingly the office is vacant. Mr. Higby cannot assume the duties of the office for nearly two months. In the meantime there is a technical vacancy in the office of city clerk, which is probably being filled by another appointment by the council Tuesday night. There has been some effort to have Mr. Higby named as the appointee for the intervening two months on account of the action of the democratic caucus. This will hardly be considered, however, and the probabilities are that the mayor will simply reappoint Mr. Evans for the additional period and that the appointment will be readily confirmed.

THE NEXT COUNCIL.

It Will Contain Thirteen Republicans and Only Five Democrats.

The next city council will consist of thirteen republicans and five democrats. Not a single democratic candidate succeeded in getting a foothold this year and the council will not contain enough members of that political faith to make a fight on any important measure.

Owing to the enforced retirement of Ike Haskett the first ward will be represented by two republican members. The second ward, holding over with S. I. Gorham as his colleague. In the second ward, which has had two democratic members, the republicans, against the Capital Fire Insurance company for $500 insurance on the American house on Douglas street, which was destroyed by fire, the company holds that the loss was not total.

OPEN TO WAGON TRAFFIC.

Sixteenth Street Viaduct Repairs Almost Finished After Six Weeks.

The Sixteenth street viaduct is now open again for wagon travel, nearly thirty days after the limit of the contract had expired. The continuous delays on the part of the contractor have postponed the completion of the work in spite of the efforts of the Board of Public Works and of the councilmen from the ward to get the structure completed at the earliest possible date. The replanking is now finished and teams are permitted to travel over the viaduct. The street cars are still running by way of Thirtieth street, but a gang of men is at work putting down the tracks on the viaduct, and the South Omaha line will be able to go back to its former route by the first of the week. The viaduct is now declared to be in a condition that will remain safe for several years, and as soon as the city engineer has made a final inspection the estimates will be acted on by the Board of Public Works.

The Hot Plaster.

Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application to the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat, a cold, a headache, a toothache, or a neuralgia, will be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with pain balm.

Health Board Has a Defect in Sight that It Wants to Remove.

There is another deficiency in sight in the health fund. At least that was the gist of a report submitted by Commissioner Saville at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. Dr. Saville stated that there was at present just $1,018 in the fund. This would be insufficient to pay the regular running expenses of the board with the present forces of inspectors and to defray the cost of removing dead animals which has reached considerable proportions. The commissioner recommended that all of the inspectors be retained until December 1, and then that the cost of the sanitary inspectors be laid off for one month.

On suggestion of Chief of Police Seavey no action was taken on the motion. It was deferred until the first meeting in December and in the mean time an effort will be made to induce the council to provide sufficient funds to pay for the hauling of dead animals which will leave the health fund sufficient to answer the regular demands of the department.

The American Water Works company was granted permission to be allowed to dig up the main as they are exposed, to prevent them from freezing.

Mary Goodchild, one of the smallpox patients, was allowed $20 for damage which had been destroyed by the orders of the commissioner of health.

IN THE COURTS.

Matters Here Are Demanding the Attention of Judges and Juries.

Dr. Ira Van Camp is the defendant in a malpractice case brought by Anton Sorenson in Judge Keyser's court room. Sorenson alleges that he was called at the time his wife was to be delivered of a child and that he assumed the duties of a doctor, but that the child was still born and the wife is permanently injured, being now confined to her bed as the result of improper medical and surgical treatment. The amount asked for was originally $5,000, but on this second trial, it has been raised to $10,000. Dr. Van Camp has filed a general denial to the accusations.

The case wherein Mr. L. Cohen sued Joseph Garman, Jr., for a promissory note was continued last evening in Judge Keyser's court. By agreement of both parties the case was heard before a jury of six until the plaintiffs were allowed to withdraw one of the jury.

By agreement the case of James Casick against the Omaha Street Railway company, in which he sues for $100,000 damages, has been dismissed, the plaintiff to bear the costs in the case. Elizabeth Kuhlman is the plaintiff in a case in Judge Blair's court against the Capital Fire Insurance company for $500 insurance on the American house on Douglas street, which was destroyed by fire. The company holds that the loss was not total.
