Do you want an Overcoat____ Made in Sing Sing or New York sweat houses? Then Don't Come to Us.

If you want to know the names of the Omaha clothing houses who do sell penitentiary made goods, then buy the New York Herald of Oct 21, or we will show you a copy if you call. There are houses in this city that can sell you an overcoat for $2.75 and make big money on it, but we can't—although we do sell you a woo'en overcoat for $2.75 that wasn't made in Sing Sing. We don't make any money on it either; neither do we have to "chew the rag" to find out if it's wool—you can see the wool yourself—and besides it is made in the latest style, long cut. As to our $6.75 overcoat-it is all wool, with an inch wider velvet collar and two inches longer cut in the body and better trimmed than any coat in this city for twice the money, or advertised as snaps by unscrupulous houses. Made by legitimate tailors, too. Every overcoat we sell is "Union Made," and although the price may often be below New York sweat house prices, you can rely upon the goods, the quality, the style, the makealthough we don't make such an awful sight on them. There's no use talking-we do the business, getting bigger and bigger every day, for the people are finding out that we sell only first class goods at a price that sets competitors crazy.

In the meantime we shall continue-this week, at least-selling what there are left of those broken sizes in OVERCOATS and SUITS-displayed in our window, worth two and three times our price for a five dollar bill. The Overcoats are double-breasted kerseys, with silk and farmer's satin lining, and the Suits are cassimeres and cheviots, single or double breasted, and in four different patterns, this week's choice

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 13.-(Special.) -Last night's regular meeting of the city council furnished something of a sensation in the shape of a communication from Police Judge Archer in which that magistrate filed a strong complaint against Policemen Murray and Woodson. The judge alleged that the officers in question while using his office as police headquarters during the night had gone through his private papers and corre-spondence and had made known the contents about town. The judge petitioned that the officers be dismissed from service and at first a few of the council seemed disposed to act in that manage the the council seemed disposed to act a few of the council seemed disposed to act in that manner, but the matter was finally settled by forbidding the officers the right to use the office as headquarters and separate rooms had an interview with John Y. McKane in Sing Sing in regard to an examination of the accounts of the town of Gravesend. Mr. Brown was requested by the mayor and comptroller to examine the accounts, and to da so he would have to secure access to many important papers of McKane which have been held by the latter, he refusing to give them up to the authorities. When Mr. Brown visited McKane the latter de-clared he was innocent of any wrong doing in connection with the affairs of the town, and said he was willing to let Mr. Brown have all the papers in his possession, as he had nothing to fear from an investigation. All he asked for was a fair report. This was promised, and McKane will furnish all the desired information. evening in settling contested seats. Several delegations were contested. Three of the cases were disposed of and four were post-poned until tomorrow. At the latter session reports of committees will be received. The election will follow. The scheme for the ensolidation of all labor bodies will probably be brought up immediately after the
