indicted for conspiracy to import Chinese laborers and smuggle opium. He states that the fact was established that more than 1,500 Chinese laborers and 30,000 pounds of opium had been smuggled into Portland, Ore., from British Columbia in a period of less than twelve months and that seven of the prin-cipal smugglers pleaded guilty and three others were convicted. The supervising agent reports that Chinese laundrymen who desire to leave the United States and to return invest small sums in the business of dealers in Chinese groceries or other merchandise, thereby establishing a claim to consideration rchants. As a result of this practice much difficulty was experienced during the hast year in enforcing the law relating to the exclusion of Chinese, of whom 6,800 made application for admission, and of the number 1,241 were rejected. There were 1169 Chinese hours are method to make in 1,169 Chinese laborers permitted to pass in transit through the country, their destination in most cases being Havana. Mr. Crow-ley is of the opinion that the treaty lately entered into with China, which provides for the return to this country of Chinese lawill, if ratified, greatly increase the work of special officers, as it is certain that the number of applicants for admission exceed that of any year since the passage of the first exclusion law in 1882.

In speaking of the force of special agents in Europe, he states that in one instance suit has been instituted for the recovery ,000, and in another for $35,000, the in formation in both cases being conclusive and furnished by the agents abroad. A seizure of $50,000 worth of jewelry by one of the officers of the special force, is cited.

One of the most important recommenda tions made by the supervising special agent has reference to the reorganization of the coms service. He urges the abolishment of many of the ports, where the expense of maintenance greatly exceeds the receipts, and suggests a plan whereby all necessary facildocumenting vessels and the transaction of similar business may be furnished out the present expense.

Mr. Crowley recommends the abolishmen nds given by importers of merchandise which is entered for warehousing or transrtation in bond, for the reason that the goods in either case are protected by the bonds of the warehousemen or the common carriers.

In speaking of the territory of Alaska, the supervising agent expresses the opinion that laws similar to those provided by the government for other territories should be enacted for Alaska.
