

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE.

R. ROSEWATER, Editor. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily Bee (without Sunday), One Year, $5.00...

THE AUTHORITY TO ISSUE BONDS.

There is no question as to the authority of the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds. This authority is conferred by the resumption act of 1875...

Those who construe this law strictly contend that to use the proceeds of sales of bonds for any purpose other than that specified in the act, as in the payment of the current expenses of the government, is an unwarranted assumption of authority.

The Nebraska republicans may decide to contest the election in behalf of Major, but Editor Rosewater of The Omaha Bee declares that he will not do so.

The total value of the agricultural products of the United States, including animals, was $2,395,000,000 in 1893.

It is questionable whether those who make the contention that the proceeds of a bond issue under the authority of the resumption act cannot be used for any other purpose than the redemption of legal tender notes do so from a conscientious desire that the treasury shall conform strictly to the terms of the law.

Under the circumstances the city council could do nothing else than to award the electric lighting contract to the lowest bidder. It remains to be seen whether the Wiley outfit will be able to manipulate the new contract to the advantage of the existing electric lighting monopoly.

There is something wrong somewhere in the case in which an unnaturalized nonresident was drawn to serve on a jury in a pending murder trial. The blame should be traced and the responsibility placed where it belongs, even if no punishment is visited upon the neglectful parties.

Traveling men may now carry excess baggage at the old rates. This means that the cost of carrying overweight will continue to be paid in two parts, the sums paid as tips to the baggage-men and weighmasters equaling, if not exceeding, those that go into the railway company's coffers.

If the stories are true regarding the imprisonment of Christians in Armenia for the sake of extorting ransom for their Turkish captors this revival of prayer ought to be treated by the civilized nations in the same way that the pirates of the Mediterranean were treated in the latter part of the last century.

The Commercial club has passed a resolution pledging its members to cooperate with the relief commission that is engaged in collecting contributions for the drought sufferers in the western part of the state. Everybody who is in a position to do so should cooperate in this worthy purpose and may well adopt a resolution for himself pledging his aid to the extent of his ability.

It may be pertinent to repeat what The Bee has said time and again, namely, that there is nothing whatever to prevent the Union Depot company from completing its unfinished depot at any time it may choose to do so.

by the candidates who can offer the most powerful inducements. This is injustice, not only to the citizens of Omaha and South Omaha, but also to the citizens of every other country precinct. Whether or not the county commissioners see their way clear to cut off this rotten borough, the party managers of the various parties should take steps forthwith to reduce the importance of the Clontarf delegation in county conventions to something near what its vote entitles it. Douglas county is sadly in need of a reform bill.

AMERICAN SECURITIES ABROAD.

The special report to the State department of the United States consul general at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, relative to the standing of American railway securities in Germany, ought to command the serious attention of the people in this country who are interested in these securities. It may be well to say that Consul General Mason is one of the most intelligent and trustworthy men in the consular service of the country, as well as one of the most experienced, having been in the service some sixteen years. What he reports, therefore, can be relied upon as absolutely accurate.

The Nebraska republicans may decide to contest the election in behalf of Major, but Editor Rosewater of The Omaha Bee declares that he will not do so. He writes: "I do not know, and I do not wish to know, what you have ever done for us that we should give you a pass."

RAILROADING IN NEBRASKA.

A good story is just now going the rounds in the city. It is reported to be one of the members of the jury panel at this term of court. It appears that one of the jurors spoke up after the jurors had retired, and after introducing himself, remarked: "I do not know, and I do not wish to know, what you have ever done for us that we should give you a pass."

A STORED THOMAS H. REED.

Editor Rosewater, editor of The Omaha Bee, and until a couple of months ago a member of the Nebraska republicans, has been in the city yesterday and is staying at the Southern. Mr. Rosewater is taking an interest in the campaign through which he has just passed.

MERRY REMARKS.

Philadelphia Record: The speaker of the house—most anybody's wife. Buffalo Courier: The stutterm's words frequently have great value.

Yonkers Statesman: Patient—Is the doctor at home? Maid—No; he has gone to the foot ball game. Patient—For pleasure or professional?

Detroit Tribune: Stern Father—He who sees the wind says the white man. St. Paul Globe: Well, he raises the wind, anyway.

Chicago Inter Ocean: O, for a thousand tongues to sing, if doing this would cease the world's war, and if it would, I would play and play and play.

Indianapolis Journal: "Speak," blazed the burglar, "and you are a dead man." New York Herald: Well, responded the citizen, blinding at the dark lantern, "there are any number of dead men talking since the election."

Syracuse Post: Mrs. McSwatters—Troubles never come single. McSwatters—You're right. They always come when you're married.

Somerville Journal: This is the season of the year when your country relatives write to you to say how they enjoy your visit to the farm this summer and ask you whether there is anything particularly interesting at the theater just now.

Tid-Bits: Physician (with ear to patient's chest): There's a curious swelling over in your heart which must be reduced at once. Patient (and/or): That swelling's my pocketbook. Doctor: Please don't reduce it too much.

Washington Star: "Well," said Mr. Dolan, "there's no made up my worryin' about insurance, 'em fixed my life." "Eh-wat do yez mane?" said his wife. "The boss (weld) me 'e'd kape me at work on the new postoffice 'till I was finished."

Detroit Free Press: First Mule—If this electrical development keeps on there won't be any more mules. Second Mule—Well, I'm not kicking.

BLAND'S LAMENT. Minneapolis Times. Canst thou not minister to a man that's afeared? Pink from the memory, a rooted sorrow, Puff from the nostrils, a stubborn anger, All with some pain, and some shame, and some grief, And with some hope, and some punishment, and some Christian nation any less severe.

Chicago Record: If but half the facts alleged are true it will be the duty of the European powers to compel the sultan to disannul his promise to prevent forever the repetition of such outrages. After the Crimean war the powers did extort from this ruler a treaty promise to protect his Christian subjects from the sultan's power. It may be necessary this time for Europe to station in Turkey some military agency which will compel him to observe it.

Denver Republican: The report of terrible atrocities in Armenia are exaggerated somewhat, but there is little doubt that it has a foundation of truth. In this connection it will be recalled that one excuse for the war waged by Russia against Turkey was to protect the Christians and redress their wrongs. The recent outrages may give rise to a protest from the powers against Turkey, and it ought to lead to radical reforms in the Turkish government. The way to reform the government of Turkey is to abolish it.

ord Quiz: Now that the republicans have charge of the legislature let a rate law be passed that can be enforced. Fullerton Journal: The coming legislature should pass a freight rate bill which would be reasonable between the railroads and the people.

Winnipeg Chronicle: We hope the legislature elect will pass the last state platform in the state of its members. It is a notable document and should be lived up to.

Waukegan Leader: Will the republican legislature of Nebraska, when it convenes, be able to meet the emergency with a new freight rate law? We shall hope so.

Niobrara Pioneer: Editor Rosewater and his Omaha Bee are receiving well merited compliments from various sources throughout the state for their single-handed fight for good government.

Stuart Ledger: Fusion does not always lose. That is demonstrated by the recent election in this state. The glory of Holcomb's election does not belong to the fusion or the pops. It is all Rosewater's.

Buffalo County Beacon: Mr. Holcomb has made a good judge, and there is every reason to believe he will make a good governor; he should be and should receive the hearty support of every citizen in his efforts to justly administer the laws of the state.

Beatrice Tribune: The wisdom of the selection of Judge Holcomb by the populists has been abundantly demonstrated by the heavy vote that was cast for him outside of his own party. His lofty character as a Christian gentleman, and his reputation politically was such as to command the respect of the best men of all parties.

David City Press: The average republican majority over the union ticket was about 15,000 on all save governor. Mr. Holcomb's majority was 3,000 for Governor. Mr. Rosewater will be dead, without influence, and all that sort of thing, but we will probably hear less said along that line when a certain republican paper and politician thereafter.

North Platte Telegraph: It would be the proper thing for the legislature, which will be strongly republican, to pass a good, fair maximum freight rate law this winter. The republican party is now in power and will have no trouble to remain there if laws governing freight charges are passed. What is needed is a law that will be fair to the railway companies, just to the people and upheld by the courts.

Winnipeg Chronicle: The republican majority in the legislature will have the opportunity to make a maximum rate law this winter to take the place of the Newberry bill which seems destined to die in the courts. The republican state platform declared for the regulation and control of the railroads, by the state. The party is in a position to do the people a good service and redeem itself in the eyes of the public. It will seize the golden opportunity.

Howells Journal: Let the state legislature see that our state laws regarding our assessments are amended. What we need is a fair, equitable and just system of assessing and the assessing of property at its actual value. The legislature should also amend the laws regarding the assessment of mortgaged property. It is unfair for a man to be required to pay taxes on a mortgagee's property when he is not the owner of it.

St. Paul Globe: Our motto for the next legislature is—meet, legislate and then quit. Don't harbor a grand army of hangers-on like the populists did. Don't attempt radical legislation these hard times, but in a businesslike manner promptly and conservatively pass what laws you find to be necessary and then adjourn. Cut down incidental expenses, another jobs, do away with junketing trips and send home the very commencement of the session the great horde of camp followers who will be hanging around for a job, and show the people that the party is in a position to do the business administration of Nebraska's affairs. Economize! Economize! Economize these hard times!

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

THE ARMENIAN MASSACRE.

New York Courier: Civilized powers cannot and should not maintain friendly relations with a power whose methods of repression, according to its own avowal, are the murder of men, the violation of women, and the slaughter of innocent children. This fact should be forcibly and promptly made known at Constantinople.

Minneapolis Tribune: All the Christian powers of Europe ought to unite and say that the nation described by Mr. Gladstone as "the unpeppable Turk" shall no longer dominate the Christian provinces of Eastern Europe. The provinces, if they cannot be annexed to Russia, ought to be organized into an independent state under the joint protection of the civilized powers.

Globe-Democrat: It appears that the Armenians are becoming quite common in Massachusetts. Most of them are engaged in factories, and some in trade. They are said to have excellent business talent, and to make successful bankers and merchants. The situation of their race under Turkish rule is peculiarly hard, and those who can get away are mostly coming to this country.

Kansas City Times: The Armenian atrocities are slow in reaching the ears of the world, but they lose none of their horror through the tardy publication of the details. The unpeppable Turk, as usual, appears in a most unenviable light, and while it would be foolish to whip a dog for last year's offense, the sin will probably not tend to make his name less unpeppable by some Christian nation any less severe.

Chicago Record: If but half the facts alleged are true it will be the duty of the European powers to compel the sultan to disannul his promise to prevent forever the repetition of such outrages. After the Crimean war the powers did extort from this ruler a treaty promise to protect his Christian subjects from the sultan's power. It may be necessary this time for Europe to station in Turkey some military agency which will compel him to observe it.

Denver Republican: The report of terrible atrocities in Armenia are exaggerated somewhat, but there is little doubt that it has a foundation of truth. In this connection it will be recalled that one excuse for the war waged by Russia against Turkey was to protect the Christians and redress their wrongs. The recent outrages may give rise to a protest from the powers against Turkey, and it ought to lead to radical reforms in the Turkish government. The way to reform the government of Turkey is to abolish it.

St. Paul Globe: Our motto for the next legislature is—meet, legislate and then quit. Don't harbor a grand army of hangers-on like the populists did. Don't attempt radical legislation these hard times, but in a businesslike manner promptly and conservatively pass what laws you find to be necessary and then adjourn. Cut down incidental expenses, another jobs, do away with junketing trips and send home the very commencement of the session the great horde of camp followers who will be hanging around for a job, and show the people that the party is in a position to do the business administration of Nebraska's affairs. Economize! Economize! Economize these hard times!

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

VOICE OF THE STATE PRESS.

ord Quiz: Now that the republicans have charge of the legislature let a rate law be passed that can be enforced. Fullerton Journal: The coming legislature should pass a freight rate bill which would be reasonable between the railroads and the people.

Winnipeg Chronicle: We hope the legislature elect will pass the last state platform in the state of its members. It is a notable document and should be lived up to.

Waukegan Leader: Will the republican legislature of Nebraska, when it convenes, be able to meet the emergency with a new freight rate law? We shall hope so.

Niobrara Pioneer: Editor Rosewater and his Omaha Bee are receiving well merited compliments from various sources throughout the state for their single-handed fight for good government.

Stuart Ledger: Fusion does not always lose. That is demonstrated by the recent election in this state. The glory of Holcomb's election does not belong to the fusion or the pops. It is all Rosewater's.

Buffalo County Beacon: Mr. Holcomb has made a good judge, and there is every reason to believe he will make a good governor; he should be and should receive the hearty support of every citizen in his efforts to justly administer the laws of the state.

Beatrice Tribune: The wisdom of the selection of Judge Holcomb by the populists has been abundantly demonstrated by the heavy vote that was cast for him outside of his own party. His lofty character as a Christian gentleman, and his reputation politically was such as to command the respect of the best men of all parties.

David City Press: The average republican majority over the union ticket was about 15,000 on all save governor. Mr. Holcomb's majority was 3,000 for Governor. Mr. Rosewater will be dead, without influence, and all that sort of thing, but we will probably hear less said along that line when a certain republican paper and politician thereafter.

North Platte Telegraph: It would be the proper thing for the legislature, which will be strongly republican, to pass a good, fair maximum freight rate law this winter. The republican party is now in power and will have no trouble to remain there if laws governing freight charges are passed. What is needed is a law that will be fair to the railway companies, just to the people and upheld by the courts.

Winnipeg Chronicle: The republican majority in the legislature will have the opportunity to make a maximum rate law this winter to take the place of the Newberry bill which seems destined to die in the courts. The republican state platform declared for the regulation and control of the railroads, by the state. The party is in a position to do the people a good service and redeem itself in the eyes of the public. It will seize the golden opportunity.

Howells Journal: Let the state legislature see that our state laws regarding our assessments are amended. What we need is a fair, equitable and just system of assessing and the assessing of property at its actual value. The legislature should also amend the laws regarding the assessment of mortgaged property. It is unfair for a man to be required to pay taxes on a mortgagee's property when he is not the owner of it.

St. Paul Globe: Our motto for the next legislature is—meet, legislate and then quit. Don't harbor a grand army of hangers-on like the populists did. Don't attempt radical legislation these hard times, but in a businesslike manner promptly and conservatively pass what laws you find to be necessary and then adjourn. Cut down incidental expenses, another jobs, do away with junketing trips and send home the very commencement of the session the great horde of camp followers who will be hanging around for a job, and show the people that the party is in a position to do the business administration of Nebraska's affairs. Economize! Economize! Economize these hard times!

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of precedence in forcing on the convention one whom the people did not desire and they quietly went to the polls and under the Australian ballot, the greatest rule of voting, placed their votes for the man in words that spoke so plainly that further comment is not necessary. That Nebraska is republican no one will deny, and no one who has seen the state should be long remembered by all political leaders who at times feel superior to one perspective parties. In this great struggle no one party is entitled to so much credit as Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, which really is the victory will be known as Mr. Rosewater's, and those politicians who do not love him must at least respect him. Those qualities which have placed him at the head of western journalism for a quarter of a century are not losing any of the old fire that has been so successful in many a battle before and they give him a position of an enviable position as the leader of the republican party in Nebraska.

Pukwana Magazine: The friends of Colonel Thomas H. Reed were warned of the consequences of his course. If he insisted upon and were successful in placing his name at the head of the republican party in Nebraska, the rule or order of