

TO SUCCEED JUDGE STRODE

Lancaster County Bar Association Selects John M. Stewart.

SOME MEMBERS OBJECT TO THE CHOICE

Committee Appointed to Inform Governor of the Choice of the Lincoln Lawyers—Further Litigation Over Mosher's Affairs.

LINCOLN, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—One hundred members of the Lancaster County Bar association convened in the court room this afternoon to pass upon the question of the successorship of Judge Strode, who will step from the bench and into congress January 1. The following resolution was introduced by Paul F. Clark, who moved its adoption:

"That the Lancaster county bar proceed to elect a majority of all votes cast to be declared the choice of the Lancaster county bar for district judge to succeed Hon. J. B. Strode, and to be recommended to the governor for appointment."

The resolution was adopted, and after some discussion the vote was taken, with the following result: John M. Stewart, 33; A. J. Cornish, 15; W. A. Sells, 7; J. W. Webster, E. P. Holmes, J. E. H. Woolley, 1; C. A. Atkinson, 1. Total vote cast, 63. Nearly forty members of the bar were present who did not vote. D. C. Courtney tried to show by the records of the secretary of the association that Stewart was not the choice of a majority of the members of the bar. But he was overruled, and on a subsequent attempt was again knocked out. The motion to make Mr. Stewart's recommendation unanimous was carried and the following committee appointed to notify Governor Crounse of the action of the bar: H. H. Wilson, E. J. Burkett, F. M. Tyrell, George W. Hibner and Paul F. Clark.

TO PROTECT MOSHER'S VICTIMS.

Receiver Hayden has secured permission to be made a party to the proceedings relative to the equitable and legal ownership of Mosher's holdings of stock in the gas and insurance companies, the Webster Manufacturing company and the prison contract. He has filed his answer and a cross petition, and a document of some length. Hayden states that he secured judgment in the federal court against C. W. Mosher for $43,476 on his holding of 420 shares of bank stock, 699 against Mosher on his indebtedness to the bank, as shown by promissory notes, and $36,428 against Mosher and Outcalt on the 330 shares of stock held jointly by them. Property has been found to satisfy executions issued upon them. It is alleged by him that at the time of the failure, as at present, the books of the company showed that Mosher owned 500 shares of stock in the Western Manufacturing company and 2,500 shares of old stock in the gas company. The receiver asked to subject his stock to his judgments. The receiver's contract, he also says, is owned by Mosher, but that it has been fraudulently assigned to W. H. Deane, who, he alleges, is in receipt of large sums of money which go directly to the benefit of Mosher. Permission is asked to get at the assets of this contract. The receiver also presents holders of the stock the receiver says he is unable to secure. But he says their claims are in fraud of the receiver, and Mosher, C. O. Weldon, C. E. Magdon, and J. D. McFarland are alleged to be putative owners of a portion of Mosher's stocks. The transfer of the stocks to the receiver, he claims, is fraudulent. In his petition Receiver Hayden prays that all interest of Mosher in prison contracts, together with his stock in all the companies, be held subject to the equities of the receiver; that they be sold and proceeds applied to his judgments as being superior liens to all other creditors.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

In the district court today David May began suit against A. D. Kitchen for $2,000 damages for the alleged malicious attachment of property belonging to plaintiff. It is claimed by May that Kitchen unlawfully retained some goods, and says that defendant's action, supported by false and malicious affidavits, injured his credit, interrupted his business and otherwise interfered with his financial interests. A similar action was also begun by Tullie and J. W. O'Neil. They ask damages against Charles White and his bondsmen, C. E. Shaw, L. M. Crawford and L. C. Burr, in the sum of $12,000, claiming that the defendant caused an attachment to issue against them, injuring their credit and business. On similar grounds Mrs. May also sues Hattie Tuttle for $500.

ARRESTED DAVEY ROBBERS.

Special Officer Maguire, who was sent out to Davey this morning, returned with a man to run down the man who robbed the store of A. S. Eager and Phillip Opps at that place Thursday night, carrying away $300 or $400 worth of goods and secured his men. He also recovered the goods.

Dodge County Farmers Fight.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Yesterday two farmers of Elkhor township, William E. Neary and John Ellis, got into a dispute. During the altercation Ellis picked up a necktie and threw it at Neary, who, with it, inflicted painful injuries. Neary came to town, and after having his head bandaged by a physician swore out a warrant before Justice Winterstein for the arrest of Ellis. Sheriff Milliken, went down to Elkhor township and served the warrant and brought Ellis to town. He was arraigned before Justice Winterstein and pleaded not guilty. In order that witnesses might be subpoenaed the judge set a return for today at 1 o'clock. Ellis vitines $300 bonds for his appearance. Today the case was again continued to December 10.

WAITING ON CZAR HOLDREGE

Attorneys at Lincoln Ready to File the Contest Papers at His Word.

IT IS NO LONGER A QUESTION OF POLITICS

Reduced to a Mere Proposition of Management of the B. & M. Road in Nebraska—Republican Sentiment Against the Move.

LINCOLN, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The anticipated contest of the election of Judge Holdrege appears to have been taken out of politics. It is now in the hands of one man, General Manager Holdrege of the B. & M. And Mr. Holdrege is said to be a democrat. It is almost the unanimous opinion of Lincoln republicans, and many visitors from other portions of the state, that a contest or a recount of the votes is unadvisable and inexpedient from a party standpoint. But in face of all this contest papers have been prepared in blank, attorneys are ready to file them, and word is only awaited, not from officials of the republican party, but from Holdrege, to go ahead with the deal.

The twenty-day limit in which they must be filed expires at midnight Monday next. No consultations are being held with republican leaders, and the whole affair appears to have degenerated into a matter of strict business with the B. & M. railway company. The only point not yet definitely known is what kind of a compromise, pledge or promise does the Burlington expect from the new administration in consideration of which it will refrain from filing contest papers with the secretary of state and upon Governor-elect Holdrege.

Judge Holdrege, who was expected to arrive in Lincoln today, did not come in from Broken Bow, as it was understood that he would arrive at the independent headquarters that he will arrive early in the week.

GAIN AGAINST ODIUM.

NEBRASKA CITY, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Ex-Senator C. H. Van Wyck, speaking this evening to the Bee correspondent regarding the much talked of contest, said: "I have thought all week whether I should be attempted. Not that there are any grounds for a contest, but because the Majors men think they have the power to seat him. You see the entire state is divided into republican and democratic camps. Behind both these powerful bodies is one more powerful, the B. & M. railway."

"I don't know whether the B. & M. will consent to a contest or not. Should Holdrege think the gain in even of winning, the test would be greater than the infamy that must cling to him from such proceedings. The contest will go on. All decent republicans, however, are against it, and their determined attitude may cause the corporation holders to allow the choice of the people of Nebraska to be seated in the gubernatorial chair without casting disgrace upon the state."

WAS MINT THEY SAW.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 24.—Prof. P. B. Van Trump of Elm Prairie, thirty miles north of the Northern Pacific, where a splendid view of the mountain could be obtained, writes the Ledger to the fact that mist rising from the mountains has been probably mistaken for smoke. Prof. Van Trump writes: "Persons familiar with mountain phenomena, especially those pertaining to this great mountain, know that clouds or masses of mist often form very rapidly on the mountain sides or near its peak, some times appearing in a few minutes, and sometimes elongate into streamers or columns and shoot rapidly up the mountain in the ravines or depressions between the rocky ridges, and the high above the peaks, and then, seen from the other side of the peak, this ascending column of mist is of a dark or dark blue, when seen in a certain light, and looks like smoke issuing from the summit of the peak. Such phenomena is sometimes seen in connection with the north peak. Again, the weather caps which are thrown off from the peak, sometimes a half dozen in rapid succession, often appear very much like puffs of smoke. These caps are simply condensed mist, air or steam from the crater, and almost always precede a storm of change in the weather."

TOUGH CUSTOMERS CAPTURED.

Turning Hawk and His Mexican Friend Behind the Bars. DEADWOOD, S. D., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Deputy United States Marshal Bray has returned to Deadwood from Pine Ridge agency, having in his custody a noted Sioux braver, Turning Hawk, who was a conspicuous figure in the last Indian war. Turning Hawk's heart is still bad, and in the ways of peace he cannot find contentment.

His latest escapade was to hit his dusky sweetheart over the head with an ax, almost splitting her skull in two, and then with the blunt end of the weapon sought to drive her into the ground, but was prevented by the arrival of the Indians who witnessed the assault, from killing her outright. Marshal Bray was sent for, and when he arrested the brute it looked for a time as though blood would be shed, as Turning Hawk, backed up by a half-breed Mexican, was inclined to make a fight, but the marshal, assisted by the Indian police, overpowered the desperadoes that they would just as soon take them dead as alive, and Hawk and his grizzly friend weakened. They were now safely behind the bars of the Deadwood jail.

Judge Winters' Reply to His Critics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—The severe criticism by a local newspaper respecting the allowances made by Judge Winters, implying extravagance and mismanagement in the Iron Hill receivership, has called out today an open letter from Winters to Judge McMaster, his successor on the bench. The newspaper in question has especially denounced the allowance made by the court to Receiver Winters, and the receiver, in return, has a law firm for services rendered in the settlement of the trust, and characterizes
