The suit brought by Ohio's food commissloner against a Cincinnati druggist for selling Paskela, on the grounds that it was nothing but glucose, resulted in a great victory for Paskola and a verdict against the

During the course of the trial Prof. Shaller of the University of Cincinnati testified that Paskola was not glucose, and even if it was, would be harmless. He also bore witness ege testified to the same facts. So did Prof. chmidt, the chemist of the board of health;

A practical test was made in court, showing nents and proved Paskola to be of great value in indigestion and wasting diseases.

This verdict disposes of the malicious attack that has been made against Paskola by in-terested rivals, and suits have now been brought against the proprietors of a well known emulsion of cod liver oil for having given wide circulation to a false formula and ther misrepresentations regarding it. The animus of this attack will be better inderstood when it is stated that Paskola is being largely used in the place of cod liver

"A Bunch of Keys" will jingle at the Fifteenth Street theater for four nights, commencing with Sunday matinee, December 2. This production is known to be one of the drollest and most amusing of plays. It is crisp and witty, the situations are of the most ludicrous description and should send the audiences into roars of laughter.

The play deals with the tria's of one Littleton Snaggs, a pettifogging lawyer, in his endeavors to run a hotel, and is a vehicle for attractive specialties and amusing situa-tions. Ada Bothner, Charles W. Browser, Harry Foy and Kitty Wolfe are among the better known artists comprising the company and are assured cerdial receptions by Omaha playgoers, as they are well known to them

"In Mizzoura," the play by Augustus Thomas, with which Mr. Nat C. Goodwin will open his engagement at the Boyd Friday evening. November 30, is a charming sketch of southern life, which has been pronounced by the press and public of New York and of the author. The story is a strong one, of serious interest, and in this respect "In Mizzoura" is quite unlike any play in which Mr. Goodwin has ever been seen. His charsecter, Jim Radburn, a Pike county deputy sheriff, involves much dramatic as well as sheriff, involves much dramatic as well as comedy work on the part of the actor, and comedy work on the part of the actor, and has compelled him to make a wide departure from his familiar stage methods. In making pared for their careers as teachers. Special this departure he has achieved the success of his theatrical career, and shows that his is as able to arouse the tear of sympathy as to provoke the laughter of an audience. He has established his claim to a versatility which has characterized few actors of the workers and stopping them as far as possible into harmony with those in use in the public schools, both as regards the division of classes and modern or ancient stage, and shown himself to be an artist of wonderful resources. It pleases the masses as much as it does the critics, and is one of the finest specimens of the new American dramatic school. It is elaborately staged and the company interpret. ing it is unusually strong for the support of a star. At Saturday matines "A Gilded Fool," and on Saturday evening a grand double bill, consisting of "David Garrick" and "Lend Me Five Shillings." The sale of seats will open at 9 o'clock this morning, and tickets for position in line will be given out at 8 o'c'ock this morning. Indications point to a Woman's beauty is a topic which seldom fals to attract the atention of both men and women. There are as many ideas regarding ideal beauty as there are people. To have health is to have beauty. Mme. Yale, who comes to the Boyd Friday afternoon. December 7, will tell women all about health December 7, will tell women all about health and beauty. She herself is her own best advertisement. At 41 years of age she is as beautiful as it is possible for a woman to be. She is plump, with a beautiful rounded neck, which is as white as the down on a swan's breast. Her hair is golden and there is a gleam of sunshine in the hazel of her eyes. She is an advocate of all reforms. She never wears a corset, tight shoes or a closely-fitting waist. Her gowns are made closely-fitting waist.

To begin with, Mme. Yale was not beautiful. As a girl she took up the study of chemistry, and, becoming interested in it, she branched out and perfected herself in all its branches. Her father and grandfather were of a scientific turn of mind, and she inherited a love of study which a woman seldom possesses. Becoming interested in the study of woman she experimented with the study of the study of

Mrs. Sarah L. Reed died at her late resi day, November 27, at 3 p. m., of pneumonia. The deceased was born in Hudson, N. Y. in 1822 and was married June 12, 1845, to John L. Reed, removed west and settled in Iowa, from which state they came to Omaha nine years ago. Of this marriage there came three children, all of whom survive their parents and now mourn a mother's death, S. B. Reed and Mrs. C. S. Wood of Denver and Miss Emma P. Reed of this city. Mrs. Reed's husband died November 3, 1892. She was a very devoted mother, patient and loving in her ways, and warmly attached to her family and friends. From girlhood she has been a member of the Presbyterian church. The funeral services will take place from her late residence Friday, November 20, at 2 p. m., being conducted by Rev. S. M. CATHOLIC SCHOOLS IN ROME

Instruction of Infantile Italians Under Direction of the Holy See.

EXHAUSTIVE REVIEW BY MGR. SATOLLI

How the Church Competes with the State in Marters Educational and the Diffleuities it Has to Encounter-Claim of Patriotism.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.-In an article on the Roman Catholic school system in the December number of the North American Review, which is published today, Mgr. Satolli all the lower boxes of Boyd's theater, and if makes his first contribution to American they are victorious over the University of periodical literature. Mgr. Satolli devotes lowa team this afternoon the occasion will his article to a seview of the foundation of take the form of an ovation. Mr. Gaylor Catholic schools in Rome by private funds will have something to say to the boys who independent of the Italian school system fought for the red and cream. The indicaafter the government had succeeded in el minating Roman Catholic influence from the educational institutions. He says: "In number the Catholic schools exceed the government and municipal schools combined." In regard to the qualifications of teachers, the text books and programs and method of teaching the Roman Catholic schools endeavor to adjust themselves as far as possi-Alabama," the work which made the fame religious corporations stopped at no expense terpret-theoretically and in the abstract be de-prort of scribed as the representative of the people Gilded it is practically and in concert dominated by a party and favors the system of education which is advocated by the party in power rather than that which is best adapted to the needs of the people. Even in connection with the method of teaching—in which the Catholic schools differ greatly from the public schools—the pontifical committee was at pans to conform to the requirements of the state. The number of pupils in the ele-mentary schools of the Roman Catholics ex-ceeds that in the municipal schools, and if effects, used in the metropolis will be car- for diplomas are the teachers in the state schools. Taking into account the contributions made or Roman Cetholic education from all quarers the expenses for primary Roman Catholic education in Rome would reach a total of at least 1,250,000 lire yearly. This amount comes from direct donations of the pope, from the estates of the holy see, from the denations of certain corporations, churches, congregations and individuals and from the fees of certain institutions. Mgr. Satolii emphasizes the cla m that the Roman Satolit emphasizes the claim that the Roman Catholic schools in Rome are more patriotic—more Italian in spirit in methods—than the secular schools—since it has been their special aim to deviate as little as possible from the national traditions which so harmoniously combine faith and science, and to form the laboration of the second to furnish the boys and girls of the new gen-eration with that grade of culture which is best adapted to their social position
