New York's Inspector Gets Into a Play with Great Vigor.

MAY STOP THE YALE-PRINCETON GAME

Orders to the Police to Interfere as Soon as the Football Match in Manhattan Field Today Develops Prize-Fighting Tendencies.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—It has been decided that no brutality will be permitted in the Yale-Princeton football game in Manhattan field tomorrow. Inspector Byrnes, in effect, prohibited the game if it proved to be anything but a purely scientific contest. The superintendent said he would not allow the players to act like a lot of prize fighters and publicly train each other for life. The game will be stopped at the first exhibition of brutality.

The members of the football team will get no official notification from the superintendent of his intention. The superintendent insists that if the players are treated they are not to be treated as prize fighters. If action is taken by the police and resistance is offered the enthusiasts at Manhattan field may witness some wholesale arrests.

A police official, who said that he expressed an opinion only as a citizen, said it was his belief that there was not the slightest chance of the game being interrupted and that the superintendent was making a "grand stand play."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30.—Yale men, when shown the dispatch regarding Superintendent Byrnes this afternoon, ridiculed and said they "reversed" the news. They said that the coach and men said it was to be trivial or to be a "grand stand play."

Early yesterday the citizens commenced to partake of the enthusiasm of the approaching game, and the red and black was waving everywhere, and when the train arrived from Hawatha the streets were alive with excited anxious people waiting to catch a glimpse of the rival teams.

The Hawatha delegation of over 200 people, headed by their band, made a fine appearance as they marched through the streets, their faces and faces radiant with expectant joy. Hawatha ran on down and on down, and Falls City, by steady gains around the ends and through the line, soon had the ball on Hawatha's twenty yard line, when they were met by a strong defense, and the first touchdown. ### FATAL QUARREL OVER FOOT BALL

Two Boys Come to Blow in a Saloon and One of Them is Shot.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The culmination of the football war between the University of Stanford university over the victory of Stanford university over the University of California was a shooting affray in San Francisco soon after midnight, in which a football player was "wounded" perhaps fatally. The victim is "Brick" Whitehouse, one of the most prominent football players on the Pacific coast, who played with Stanford last year and with the Reliance club this season. During the past few weeks he has been assistant coach to Walter Camp at Palo Alto. His assailant is William Whitehouse, brother of the football player.

Whitehouse was removed to a hospital, Loughborough escaped from the saloon after the shooting, but at 2:30 p. m. he was captured by his father, surrendered himself at the city prison, where he was locked up. Earlier in the evening Loughborough had a quarrel with another young society man named Max Rosenfield, whom he shot after a few words, slightly wounding Rosenfield in the thigh. Loughborough has become very unpopular because of his frequent altercations and brawls.

FATHER RORDAN EXP. CTED THE PLACE

Powerful Influence Felt of Him Seemed to Render His Election Certain, but Mate's Friends Surprised Them.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The Post says: Rumors of disaffections in Bishop Matz' Denver diocese and his consequent resignation brought to light a remarkable story of ecclesiastical politics in which Father Rordan, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church of this city and brother of Archbishop Riordan, was deprived of the bishopric after he had been practically conferred with the honor.

The episcopacy in question was the very one from which Bishop Matz is shown to be endeavoring to resign, and to which it is possible he may be elevated in the near future.

The story goes down, and it is now for the first time made public, that there were two candidates for the see in Denver. They were Father Walters of Lafayette, Ind., who is now dead, and Father Rordan of this city. The latter was the choice of the majority of the powers of the church, and everything pointed to his election. Archbishop Riordan's aid was not needed, and in fact he would ordinarily assure the choice of any man for the office. Father Rordan, however, was intrusted behind Archbishop Riordan's support, and he changed his mind.

The cardinal himself, the distinguished prelate, it is said, did not hesitate to enter the breach and declare himself for Father Rordan. He let it be known that he was in support with Archbishop Riordan's brother, and was apparently not unwilling that his stand in the matter be broached to the public.

When it was learned in this city that Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and other dignitaries of the church desired that Father Rordan be elected to the bishopric, the fact was regarded among Catholics in this city (who had knowledge of the promises) that such action would eventually be taken.

BIT OF NEWS

Interesting History Connected With the Appointment of Bishop Matz.

IT WAS A GOLD DECK

And Was Rugged by an Agreeable Man on an Atlantic Steamer.

"The last time I went to Europe," said an editorialist of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, "I went in very distinguished company. Among my fellow passengers were George Gould and his wife, Widener, Elkins and Yerkes, the street railway millionaires, and I don't know how many more rich men."

"On the second day there was the usual drift of fellows of sporting proclivities toward the smoking room, and very soon several games were going on. A very gentlemanly person, who was looking on, like myself, asked me if I ever played poker. I said: 'Yes, now and then, if the stakes are small.' After a little further conversation a table was set up for a game of cards.

"The matter had almost passed out of my mind when the man who had won my money came to claim his reward."

"I think I ought to give that money back to you."

"No, but this is different."

"How different?"

"Well, if I had known that I don't think I would have played with you. But if you were to play with me again, I would not."

"That's just it," he said. "Here is your money. You are not the sort of game I am after. I rang in a cold check on you during a party."

"Then he went on to tell me, after I had taken the money, that he had come aboard expressly to pluck George Gould or one of the other railway magnates, but had given up the job."

"The fact is," he said, "rich men nowadays are not like they used to be. So soon as they get a big lot of money, they do something in stocks or grain. Sometimes we get hold of a sucker that has come into a fortune by luck, and is good game, but that sort of thing is going out of fashion every day."

"That's just it," he said. "Here is your money. You are not the sort of game I am after. I rang in a cold check on you during a party."

Prof. Charles E. Dwight of Wheeling, W. Va., writes: "I regard Dr. Price's Baking Powder as one of the most useful articles in my own family and it gives perfect satisfaction."

HOW DIAMONDS ARE SET.

Great Skill Required in Fastening Valuable Gems.

Few people outside the jewelry trade have any idea how the "brilliant" they buy and wear are fastened into their settings, and a great many retailers, who have sold jewelry for years, are equally ignorant. The art of setting a diamond is a comparatively simple thing, but it requires the most delicate touch required, which can only be gained by years of practice. There are only four distinct methods of setting a diamond, though mountings are made which involve two or more of these methods. The most common is the clamp or claw setting. This comes to the setting with every clamp as straight and square as a fence picket.

He then, with a thin file, sharpens all the clamps, bringing them up to sharp points. Then, with a scraper or graver shaped like the stem of the diamond, he grinds the surface of the stone into a shape that will fit the setting. The stone is held in the setting, and he then, with a pair of pliers, pushes the stone into the setting. The stone is held in the setting, and he then, with a pair of pliers, pushes the stone into the setting. The stone is held in the setting, and he then, with a pair of pliers, pushes the stone into the setting.

By this strange and unexplained manipulation of "church machinery," respected and best liked of the Catholic clergy in the west, was deprived of an office which he would have invested in the future. The fact would have been discharged with the ability which is pre-eminently his.

Christine Terhune Herrick (daughter of Marlon Terhune) writes: "Ever since American housewife who wishes to have the certainty of achieving the best of her cooking should use Dr. Price's Baking Powder."

BETTER PLAN OF TEACHING.

Improvements Suggested by Four Results in School Work.

In a recent number of the Boston Transcript a correspondent directs attention to the fact that the curriculum of the primary school, as it is still very poorly adjusted to the needs of pupils. The educational system, considered as a body of teachers, organized under superintendents, assisted by a board of education, and with financial support from the state, and the management of the school buildings, apparatus and the like, has had in the last half century a magnificent development. There has been money spent and ability applied in the development of the machinery of education under state administration. The system has been improved by the introduction of the science of pedagogy, and the result has been a better plan of teaching.

WEALTH VS COMMONWEALTH.

A Sketch of H. D. Lloyd's History and the Growth of His Industry. More than sixty years ago it was known that illuminating oil of an excellent quality could be extracted from bituminous coal, and in 1850 there were more than three score manufacturing of it in this country. In that year it was first discovered that vast deposits of rock-oil lie under the soil of Pennsylvania and adjoining states.

It seemed that no department of human activity offered less encouragement to the spirit of monopoly than the production, refinement and distribution of this natural oil. Yet hardly five years passed after the value of the great discovery became known before a mysterious power was felt to interfere with the work of every man who had been instrumental in securing, and his views on the matter were promptly suppressed.
