THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The portion of President Cleveland's annual message which will command the first attention of the financial and business interests of the country is that relating to the currency, with which the message concludes.

It is questionable whether, as a whole, the Carlsle plan is preferable to that adopted by the bankers. The latter provides for a guaranty fund of 5 per cent, to be built up gradually, while the former requires a deposit with the government...

General Booth can have no fault to find with his reception in Omaha. Now that we have new letter boxes, why cannot the Postoffice department give us a few new mail trains?

It is really too bad that the Japanese army should spoil the good record for discipline which it has established by resorting to the inhuman butchery of their opponents at Port Arthur.

Some of the Lincoln newspapers are really becoming excited over the determined interest which Omaha business men are taking in the project of securing the location of the state fair in this city.

Interests. Nobody is blind or indifferent to the fact that pensions have been fraudulently obtained, but this does not justify the unjust and ungenerous course adopted by the present administration...

What and how were never so cheap as now. The staff of life is within easy reach of the unfortunate ones of earth. Now if the price of Omaha meats, famous the world over, could be reduced to the local consumer...

The advantages of the Omaha public library ought to be one of the attractive inducements to the people of South Omaha to give serious consideration to the question of annexation.

It looks now as though Grover Cleveland would rumble down the centuries as the one man that the nation is regretting being president and secretary of the treasury at the same time.

Nebraska in the Transmississippi Congress. Congressman Bryan made himself prominent as the free silver champion in the Transmississippi congress, and as chairman of the committee on resolutions...

Philadelphia Record: The most important article in the new treaty with Japan, which has just been signed by Secretary Gresham and Minister Kurino, regarding their respective governments, is without doubt that which provides for the abolition of consular courts and for the submission of foreign trials to the jurisdiction of native magistrates.

New York Herald: By the treaty which was signed in Washington by Secretary Gresham and Minister Kurino, and which will doubtless be ratified by the senate when it convenes, the United States welcomes Japan to the family of civilized nations.

It is the business interest of the city which keeps many buildings tenanted and keeps money out of circulation. The governor rejected the request.

McCook Tribune: They say that Rosewater is cutting from his exchange that the names of those newspapers whose editors have made themselves conspicuously obnoxious to him in the late state campaign.

As if the sun had kissed and fed his eyes, here she is, the beautiful, the little dot of dainty red, inside a russet cloud.
