All the members, with the exception of six socialists, including the national policy of protection. Singer, Liebknecht and Ulrich, sprang to their feet and cheered heartily. Von Levetgow called upon the sitting members to rise in honor of the emperor, but they refused to ance in case of war with Guatemala. The do so. Their refusal led to acgry protests from the other members and a great uproar followed. The president declared the conduct of the socialists was not in consonance with the traditions of the Germans or the usages of the house. The socialists resented the attitude of the president and Li bknecht rose in his sort his manuer befor quite threater. in his seat, his manner being quite threaten-ing. Uirich also sprang to his feet, and, amid renewed shouts and cries of "Shame, shame, shook his fist at the other members. When order was restored the re-election of officers of the house was proceeded with. When this had been concluded, President von Leveizow expressed his regret that he was unable to punish the disloyal socialists. Singer thereupon arose and attempted to justify the attitude of himself and his fellow socialists. He was repeatedly interrupted, but was understood to say: "We never will be compelled to cheer for one who recently told the service recruits that should circumstances arise they would be ordered, against the will of the people. to shoot their fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters; for the one who is now introducing an anti-revolutionary bill aimed against us. To cheer him would be irreconcilable with our honor and dignity." The rest of Singer's words were drowned in a storm of vehement protests, which only subsided when Von Levitzow called the speaker to order. The house then opened the debate on a motion to abandon the pending prosecutions of some of the socialist members. Baron von Manteuffel, the conservative leader, took oc-casion during the debate to inveigh strongly against the conduct of the socialist mem-ber, made a speech warmly advocating the

GERMANS PROTEST.

Why that Country Objects to Our Duty on Her Sugar.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 .- The president has sent to congress the statement of the German contention in reference to the discrimination against the importation into the United States of German sugar, to which reference was made in his message to congress. The statement is in the form of a letter from Secretary Gresham to the president. In substance it is a recital of the German protest made August 25 last against the additional duty of tenth of 1 cent per pound sed by the Wilson act on sugars imported from bounty-paying countries. The secretary says the discrimination is pointedly at variance with the treaty stipulations and holds that payment on exported products cannot be considered in the light of a discrimination; certainly not more stricken from the constitution of the labor so than the imposition of a projective or practically prohibitive daty on the importation of an article. The two measures are the same in principle; the question as to which shall be adopted is a matter of domestic policy. Each is intended to create a national advantage in production or manufacture and between the two the bounty is more favorable to the inhabitatnts of foreign countries, since it tends to enable them to get cheaper articles at the expense of the bounty-paying government. In conclusion the secretary says the additional duty levied on bounty-paying sugar by the act of 1894 is a discrimination, that it adopted yesterday. Mr. Cooper of Florida, a member commerce committee, declared the bill had four important features. It authorized and legalized railroad pooling, and in doing so it gave a new grant of power to all the rail-roads of the country; it provided amendments to the procedure section of the present law in prescribing rules of evidence (a good feature); it changed wholly the criminal liability for discrimination rates, and lastly it changed the remedies for cause of action. While he doubted the advisability of granting pooling powers to railroads, he was willing to agree, if such pooling should be allowed, it should be under the direct control of a responsible commission. He offered a substitute to meet his objections to the bill.

The consideration of the railroad pooling bill was resumed under the special order

Mr. Henderson of Iowa asked if the fact that small shippers under a pooling system would not be able to get the advan-tages of the low rates now given big shippers would not justify the passage of a law legalizing pooling. Mr. Cooper replied that that was the only condition which could induce him to vote to authorize pooling, but he would not do so

Cost of Collecting the Income Tax.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.-The appropria-tion committee received this afternoon from the treasury the estimate required to carry the income tax provision of the tariff bill into effect for the remainedr of the present fiscal year, beginning January 1, 1895. The estimates for the collection of taxes until July 1, 1895, aggregate 1245,095. The ap-propriation to provide for the collection of the income tax will be incorprated in an urgency deficiency bill, the consideration of which will be ready on Monday, and will be immediately passed. The bill will prob-ably precipitate the first general political skirmish of the session. The eastern mem-bers, irrespective of party, will, as a rule, oppose the appropriation, and the debate will probably bristle with acrimony. Al-though it is express themselves as en-tirely satisfied it will carry. Pushing the Pacific Ballroads' Bill. into effect for the remainedr of the present

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 .- The cash balance in the treasury today was $154,727,085, of which $109,560,123 was net gold. This is a loss in gold since yesterday's report of $1,-581,897. The treasury officials offer no explanation of this decrease, but the information comes from New York that during the last three days the subtreasury has several times been obliged to meet demands for gold in exchange for legal tender, but so far as known here none of the g.ld withdrawn has yet been exported.
