Omaha Business Men Ready to Back the State Fair Project.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN SIGHT

Further Consideration of the Matter Last Evening-Utt's Delay in Sending Notices Proves Exasperating - Encouraging Reports from Prompt Committees.

Business men interested in securing the state fair, is connection with a mile track and racing association, for Omaha, met at the Commercial club rooms last night, with W. V. Morse again in the chair.

Secretary Utt reviewed briefly the proceedings of the two former meetings and then announced the following committees appointed by the chair to secure subscriptions, as provided by a resolution at the last meeting, and to report at last night's Lumber, John A. Wakefield, Frank Colpetzer; owners of horses, W. A. Paxton, Clinton Brggs; land owners, Curtiss C. Turner, A. L. Reed, Alfred Millard; coal dealers, Jeff W. Babcock; South Omaha retailers, Ed Johnston, H. C. Bostwick, UTT WAS TOO SLOW. Mr. Morse stated that he had the above list all made out and delivered it at the Commercial club rooms with instructions to have the notifications typewritten and sent out to each committeeman at the earliest possible ranches and business in Logan county. Nemoment, but notwithstanding this importunity braska.

for some unaccountable reason Secretary Utt promiss did not get them out until Saturday after-noon. He must have realized, said Mr. Morse, that all possible expedition was nec-essary in this matter, inasmuch as the bid for the state fair must be put in by January 1, and the different committees were expected to report at the joint meeting held reports of these committees were next in order, but as they had only had the short time since Saturday afternoon to do any work the majority of them were unable to port to make

READY TO SUBSCRIBE. Emil Brandels, temporary chairman of the retail dry goods and clothing committee, reported that his committee had put in an hour canvassing yesterday morning, and the retail dealers would guarantee a cash donation of $5,000 to push the project to an early and successful issue. He added that he thought it would be no difficult matter to raise $50,000 among the business men, as all they waited upon were extremely enthusiastic and willing and apxious to subscribe, which statement evoked some very vigorous ap-

J. E. Baum, chairman of the committee on locations, reported that it had received propositions on five different locations, and after careful consideration of all the advan-tages offered by each, recommended the selection of the Picard tract of 160 acres, including what is known as the Omaha Driving Park association property in the proposi-tion to it from the land owners. It further recommended that a permanent organization be effected as soon as the subscriptions would make it possible. It also recommend-ed the appointment of a finance committee to take charge of all subscriptions and other drive to Weston one dark night. On the Fair and Race association, and that they meet with the subscribers to the project at a meeting to be called for next Tuesday evening. The resolution and amendment was adopted.

Mr. Morse said that he considered it high time to discontinue the adopting of resolutions and appointment of committees; that there was but one thing for the business men of Omaha to do, and that was to raise the money necessary to carry out the plans already outlined; that the soliciting committees pattern after Mr. Brandeis' committee get out and hustle and ascertain how much could swell the pot. He declared that there was but one thing that could cut any fig-ure in this enterprise, and that was money,

SECRETARY UTT'S DAMPER. Right here came a damper from Secretary Utt in the declaration that the state fair was only a side issue to this matter, that it was Yesterday forenced to a race track and association that the people wanted, and that if subscriptions were to be taken with the idea that the state fair was in the interests of a race track. Mr. Morse corrected the gentleman in his conception of the object of the work in hand and stated emphatically that the primary haue was the securing of the state far, as the min-utes of the last meeting would show by an amended resolution of Mr. Walsh, which amendment, however, failed to manifest it-self on the secretary's records. It had been overlooked or lost by his typewriter.

Mr. Hicks also took occasion to elucidate, declaring that the object mainly was for the state fair, then the race track, but both, at all hazards. He thought there would be no

EARNESTNESS ONLY WANTED. Mr. Baum stated that he had no fears what-ever that Omaha could secure the fair if its business men took right hold of it in a vigorous and aggressive manner.

Mr. Morse suggested that it might be apropos to again state by resolution that the object was to secure the state fair, if it could be secured, a mile track, race and exposition association, and anything and everything else calculated to invigorate Omaha's business in-terests and to bring crowds within its gates, but before this suggestion could be acted on the fire in the Consolidated Coffee company's building broke out and the meeting was hurriedly adjourned until next Tuesday evening.

The funeral services were held at the residence of Dr. John O. HAMEL HAS TO PAY THE CASH. Findings of County Court Sustained i Wheeler Estate Matter.

Ira Bachelor made another effort to get the Bert Glendower Wheeler case before the courts yesterday and was knocked out again. The action came up from the county court, where Judge Baxter had made an order removing Gust Hamel as guardian for the ninor child of Bert Wheeler, deceased, and ordered Hamel to pay over $1,925, the money of the estate. Hamel had receipted to the county court for the money and had taken in lieu thereof a morigage on some Kimbali county sand hills, owned by a brother of J. W. Eller, who as county judge had appointed Hamel as the child's guardian.

Hamel appealed from Judge Baxter's order the district court and on Friday Judge Hopewell confirmed the action of the county judge. Then Bachelor, Hamel's attorney, went before Judge Scott and asked to have the appeal heard again, as he was out of the city when Judge Hopewell made his ruling, Judge Scott took the matter up yesterday and said he would strike the petition from the files if the attorney for the new adminis tration would make a motion to that effect, as Hamel had filed no appeal bond and no pet tion in error. This motion was made and the appeal finally set aside.

Judge Charles L. Benedict, judge of the United States court for the eastern district of New York, appointed to that position by President Lincoln, is in Omaha as a plaintiff braska. The suit is brought on thirteen promissory notes of a total value of $9,734 with interest for a couple of years.

The defense alleges that while the notes were given they were taken up and in their stead Judge Benedict was given bonds of the T L and V Land and Cattle company of the value of $25,000. Mr. Benedict alleges that the bonds were not legally issued and has refused to surrender the notes. The cattle company also presents a counter claim of something like $23,000, which Mr. Benedict time since Saturday afternoon to do any alleges has no foundation in fact. The case work the majority of them were unable to has been on trial for several days before a make any progress, and hence had no rejury in Judge Blair's court and will not be completed before this evening, Judge Benedict's court was to have opened in New York yesterday, but has been adjourned for a week owing to his inability to leave the case now on trial. with those which were left over from the previous exhibition. These have been previously discussed, but the remaining galleries are hung with a collection which is entirely new to this city. These are the work of Mr. William Aaron Reaser of Paris, and most of them have been done within the past two years. They include pictures, sketches and studies of nearly every description, but those most highly prized by the artist are a number of small figure pieces which he has painted during his travels on the continent and which present a remarkably accurate delineation of some types of continental life. Several of these have been accorded flattering positions at the Paris salons, and come to Omaha with the prestige gained from the commendation of some of the best critics of One of the most happy efforts of the artist is a small figure painting, "Two Workers," which is catalogued as No. 8. It represents a French home scene in which a middle-aged matron is knitting, while an infant child sits at her side and industriously assists her by tangling her threads like a mischievous kitten. The characters are true to life and the effect is very pleasing.

One of the paintings which has attracted auditor's office of the Northwestern railroad the most attention from local connoisseurs at Chicage, and the passes he has are for is No. 129, "Sunrise on the Waal." While the exhibition is not designed as a source of revenue, the expenses of lighting, hanging, etc., are considerable, and an admission fee of 25 cants is charged, which includes the catalogue. The collection is well worth careful study, and in time the managers hope to create sufficient public interest to warrant a gradual increase in the extent

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The second annual tour of Jacob Litt's very successful drama of Blue Grass life, "In Old Kentucky," has been auspiciously inaugurated and another season of prosperity is undoubtedly in store for this capital play The seven months' stay at the New York Academy of Music last season prevented the production from visiting many cities, and therefore it will be entirely new to a great majority of theater goers, especially in the west. Its prime features, however, have been made more or less familiar through the general attention given to them by the dramatic writers of the country. The strik-ing novelty of a brass band, composed en-tirely of diminutive darkies, and the genuine racing scene will particularly arouse interest among theater goers, and the general excellence of the play itself, will doubtless combine to attract large audiences every where. "In Old Kentucky" comes to th Boyd on Thursday evening next, for the remainder of the week, with Saturday matine Patrons of Boyd's theater will recognize welcome visitor on Sunday evening next in the coming of Charles Hoyt's farce comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown." The engagement will be noticeable for more than one reason. The play holds the record of having had a longer run in the metropolis than any other production, no matter how elaborate, that has ever been seen in the city of New The presentation to be seen at Boyd's theater identical with that given in New York Not only does it embrace the same cast, but every particle of scenery and all properties in fact everything down to the minutes detail, is brought to this city for this en gagement. Referring to "The Prodigal Father," the Newark, (N. J.,) Times says: "The Prodigal Father at the Lyceum this week is an excellent comedy. With just a dash of horseplay to give it spice, it pro duces fun that is fast and furious. The company is one of great and even power. The many curtain calls which the second act re-ceived from the well filled house attested its success here. The story is simple. / wealthy old geographer starts out to explor Africa, but the day before his steamer sails he meets with a diversion in the shape of a serio-comic actress. He straightway gives up his scientific ideas and tags after her for six months. He receives no encouragement, so gives up the chase. Arrived a home, he tells his family of imaginary ad ventures in the dark continent. Complications entirely unlocked for follow him scenes that are both ludicrous and touches o nature. The company is made up of cellent material. All are young people, and to judge from their style last night, eachas a brilliant histrionic future." This funnicat of plays comes to the Empire for the week of December 16, commencing with the usual Sunday matinee.

Sing Long, the diplomat launderer of Cuming street, attributes the defeat to the fact that it takes a good many pieces of China to a set for a Jap to feast on. Secretary Gresham is trying to persuade the emperor to give some China to the Japs as a Christmas present in order to keep Shanghai from the

China makes a lovely Xmas present among the rich, but the non-rich must look to something more useful and less ornamental. A suit of dressy and warm clothes is the thing. Sensible and appreciative.

The Nebraska has p repared a Xmas surprise-2 splendid suits-extraordinary values-a good deal better than we've ever done before.

Five Dollar SUIT.

Six Fifty SUIT.

The $5.00 one is really a $10.00 one. All wool to begin with, strong and service-rendering cheviot and tweed: Italian and wool lined, light, dark and blue, checked and mixed patterns-sack style.

The $6.50 one is a close companion to any $12.00 suit in Omaha-nobby, dressy and stylish-some 3-button cutaway sack (the newest cut), some one, and some 4-button sack. The fabric is blue diagonal cheviot, similar to richest merchant tailor garments-in appearance, at least-double warped farmer satin lining and finished in a manner becoming any first-class cloth.

A forerunner to Xmas-gilt-edge value No. 1-You'll hear of usin a few days again about other Xmas things. Watch our announcements.

Perhaps He Might See Better if Me held that paper a little closer; he certainly could see, not only much better, but perfectly, if provided with a pair of properly fitted spectacles. Near-sightedness, uncorrected by glasses, imposes a severe tax on the eyes, which are needlessly weakened by the strain involved in trying to misuse them. Defects in vision grow, like weeds, without cultivation, and it's dangerous to overlook them. Whatever may be thought of a tax on income, a tax on the sight will never do, as it is apt to leave the taxers out of sight. We fit every eye perfectly. NO CHARGE FOR TESTING THE EYES,

Morris Couch-Chair.

There are many fashions in Easy Chairs, just as there are many fashions in Comfort. But there is one chair which in itself supplies nearly all the fashions of comfort from the flat bed to the erect seat. This interesting piece of furniture is the Morris Couch Chair, Strictly a chair, it is convertable into the most perfect of couches. with the pillow adjustable at any desired angle. Or, in an emergency, the couch may b used as a bed. The head rest is then let down perfectly flat, and with the aid of a down pillow and a blanket you have a complete, most comfortable bed. Such a creation as this Morris Couch-Chair dispences with half a dozen pieces of furniture, for it makes them unnecessary. You will need no easy chair, no lounge, no smoking chair, no reading chair. Here are six different articles of furniture combined in one piece, and the changes can be made by the occupant without arising.
