Earl Gondon Shcots Himself as the Police Break Into His Room.

WAS BY THE SIDE OF HIS MISTRESS

Out of Jail Under Suspension of Penitentiary Sentence, He Was Wanted Again for Forgery - His Letter to Dolile Edwards.

Earl Gondon committed suicide in room 42 of the Dodge European hotel, corner of Thirteenth and Dodge streets, yesterday. Ever since Wednesday morning the city detectives had been hunting for Gondon, who was wanted by the police for forgary. During the forenoon Detectives Dunn and Donahue located their man at the hotel above mentioned and rapped on the door. Gondon an swered, but did not open the door. He asked the detectives if they had a warrant. They told him "No," but said that there was a warrant at police headquarters. Gondon refused to open the door until an officer with a warrant came, so Detective Donahue was left on watch while Dunn telephoned to Chief Detective Haze. This took some little time-almost an hour. When Haze appeared he stated to Gondon that he was the man with the warrant and wanted to get into the room. Gondon still refused and Haze proceeded to kick down the door. Just as Haze made his last kick the report of a pistol was heard and as the door flew open the three detectives saw He held a revelver in his Gondon fall. right hand. The bullet entered the head about an inch above the right ear. A physician was summoned. He looked at the suffering man and stated that death would come in a very few minutes and suggested to Chief Haze that the coroner be notified. Maul was sent for, but when he arrived the man was still living.

WAS EXPECTING ARREST. Dollie Edwards, a woman of the town, was in the room with Gondon. She stated that Gondon had told her during the night that the police were after him and that he must be on the lookout. As the officers were kicking in the door he leaned over the bed and kissed her, and then quickly turning away shot himself. Detective Haze ordered the woman held and she was sent to police headquarters and placed in the matron's charge to await an inrestigation

Up to soon Gondon had not expired, and upon the advice of Dr. Towne, the patrol wagon was called and the patient removed to the Presbyterian hospital. Brains were obzing out of the wound, and the flow of blood could not be stopped.

Warrants were issued Wednesday out of the police court for his arrest for passing a worthless check for $25 on Nicholas Yager, but he escaped.

He was released from the county jail few days ago on a suspension of sentence that was to last during good behavior. At the last term of the district court he was tried for burglary and sentenced to the pen-Itentiary for six years. Up to the end of last September he was in the employ of Straight & Howe, commission merchants, at Eleventh and Howard streets. At that time the firm was robbed of $45. The money was taken out of the safe. A short time later another sum was taken. As Gondon had the key of the store and knew the combination of the safe he was suspected, and on the strength of the suspicion was arrested, but not prosecuted. A few days later the store was again entered, the safe was opened and nearly $50 taken. When the proprietors came down the doors were found locked, and so was the safe. Gondon was arrested, and before he had reached the station he confessed that he was the man who, had committed the rob beries. In the last instance he crawled through a cellar window, opened the safe with the combination, and after he had taken the money closed it again. On trial he was found guilty and sentenced, but sentence was suspended. The police think Gondon preferred death to serving out his former sentence and the one he would get for passing a worthless check. HIS MIND WAS MADE UP.

In searching Gondon's clothing letters were found, in which he stated that he intended to commit suicide. In them he exonerated everybody from any blame in connection with the affair. Dollie Edwards, the woman in the case. has been the cause of five men committing, or attempting to commit suicide. Gondon died at 2:30 yesterday afternoor After the Edwards woman had been locked

After the Edwards woman had been locked up a letter was handed her from Gondon, which had been malled on Wednes-day, but written on Monday night, the same night that Gondon wrote to his the same night that Gondon wrote to him father. In the letter Gondon signified his firm intention of putting an end to his life, as the police officers were "chasing hot" after him. His chief renson for the deed seemed to be, however, the fact that he did not have money enough to leave town with Dolly and marry her, as he could not see her leading a life of sin. The letter was very affection-ate one sentence reading thus. "During the ate, one sentence reading thus: "During the last month I have learned to love you never loved before." The woman and Gon-don appeared to have both talked over sul-ciding, as the letter frequently urges that she should not be so foolish as to kill herself, although he had set her such a bad exam-ple. The forgery is admitted, and the letter read: "if Scott is still on the hereh I will read: "If Scott is still on the bench I will surely get twenty years." A postscript that was written on the following day, asked her to come and kiss him after he was dead. "I will know who it is. Good-bye. Good-bye."

The woman was closely watched last night, as she appeared to be desperate, and it was feared that she might attempt to kill herself. She states that on Wednesday night Gondon did not sleep a wink, and took up the revolver several times, but she each time pre vented him from using it. The inquest over the body of Gondon will be held today at 2 o'clock.

Trying to Work Out. There is a very interesting and somewhat complicated trial in progress before Judge Dundy.

Swift & Sons, the South Omaha packers, have sued Hamilton Bros., the butchers, for $3,100, and the defendants bring a counter suit for $9,000. The Swifts allege that they had a contract with the Hamiltons to furnish them meat, and that a year and a half ago, when beef was expensive, the Hamilton brothers bought large quantities of them, and then turned round and sold it to the opposithen firm of Cudaby, and in turn Cudaby sold it back to Swift, thereby giving the latter the "double cross." To offset this the Ham-flions want $3,000. They claim they had a contract with the Swifts for meat, and that the Swifts refused to fill their orders at a time when they were exceedingly pressing.

.'O YEARS THE STANDARD,

Arriving in Omaha from Canada in 1867 he opened a large boot and shoe store where Falconer's now stands. The store and goods went up in flame and left him nearly stranded.

Honest, industrious and persevering, he opened a shoe shop, and with his own hands wrought at the trade he had so thoroughly learned in his youth. There are many in Omaha today who remember the good work turned out by John Byers from the little shop posite the postoffice. Thoroughly converted to God, he there heard the call, "Go preach My gospel," and from the time he obeyed till the time of his death he was instrumental in leading hun-dreds to accept Jesus the Christ as their Savior. For some time he was an elder in the United Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Thomas McCague was pastor, then occupying the building at California and Eighteenth streets, now used by the People's church, and in which his funeral services were held today. These services were con-ducted by Elder George Weavers of Tabor, Ia., assisted by Rev. Charles W. Savidge. Mr. Byers leaves a wife, who reaides in
