

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Odds and Ends of Old Business Taken Up and Disposed Of.

WAS AN ANNUAL CLEARANCE SESSION

Several Matters Referred to Committees of the Incoming Council—Ordinance Regulating the Operation of Elevators and Providing for Their Inspection.

The adjourned session of the city council last night was mainly devoted to acting on the reports of committees on matters that had accumulated during previous sessions, preparatory to turning the city affairs over to the new council.

The most important matter came up in this connection was the report of the committee on the Sherman avenue paving muddle, which has been so vigorously contested in the Board of Public Works, the council and the district court.

The committee found that there was a majority petition for Trinidad sheet asphalt, and recommended that the contract be let to Hugh Murphy on his bid of $2.07 per two and one-half inches of concrete base.

The only new business was an important ordinance relating to the inspection and regulation of elevators, which was introduced by Wheeler and laid over under the rules.

The ordinance provides that all elevators in the city of over 300 pounds carrying capacity shall be inspected by the inspector and a certificate issued stating that they are in a safe and serviceable condition.

The contract and bond of C. W. Hall & Co. for furnishing cement during 1895 was approved. That of J. C. Seelye for removing the election booths was referred to the committee on buildings and property.

The report of the Board of Equalization on plans of assessment remaining in the hands of the council recommended that the plan of assessment made by the original assessor from the alley north of Nicholas street to the south line of Paddock place be rejected on account of an error in the report of the assessor.

The health fund was ordered to be inflated to the extent of $257 by a transfer from the general fund, on account of the smallpox cases.

Indications that Redell May Get the Much Sought After Plum.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners held a secret meeting yesterday, and when the members came out it was announced that they had elected a new chief.

When John Redell left here a few days ago it was understood that the only thing that prevented his immediate appointment as chief was some charges against his personal character.

SET LAWYERS TO TALKING

Peculiar Grounds on Which a New Trial Has Been Asked For.

WUN IN THE RAMACCIOTTI WILL CASE

Declared that Attorneys of the Woman Just Prior to Her Death Were Bound Not to Testify to Conversations with Her Showing Her Competency.

A motion for a new trial has been made in the case in which the will of the late Mary E. Ramacciotti was contested in the district court. The chief point raised in the motion for a new trial is causing much attention in legal circles.

The attorneys for the contestants allege that the court erred in admitting the testimony of Judge Estelle, General Cowin and W. D. McHugh, attorneys who had legal business with the deceased just before her death. These gentlemen gave evidence concerning their confidential conversations with the deceased, the purpose being to show that she was competent to make the will which she was contested.

The contestants now allege that the communications between Mrs. Ramacciotti and her lawyers were confidential and should not have been divulged in the court room after the death of the client.

There is much diversity of opinion among the attorneys on the merit of the point raised. The question will be argued before the adjournment of the term.

Echoes from Holt Court. A jury in Judge Blair's court is hearing the case of the First National bank of Moline, Ill., against the First National bank of Omaha, an echo of the failure of the bank at O'Neill, which suspended in 1893, after the Barrett Stock default.

The Darr, dated at O'Neill, for $1,102, and sent the same to the Omaha bank for collection. The Omaha bank sent the note to O'Neill for collection, and had business relations with a running account with the O'Neill bank until its suspension on July 10, 1893.

The petitioner alleges that the note was paid by the Darr to the O'Neill bank, and that the Omaha bank has failed to pay the bill.

The defense denies the payment of the note by Darr and alleges a state of collusion between the O'Neill bank and the Omaha bank that the note had been paid when no money had ever been received on it.

Minor Court Matters. In Judge Blair's court the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs in the case of the First National bank of Moline, Ill., against the First National bank of Omaha, an echo of the failure of the bank at O'Neill, which suspended in 1893, after the Barrett Stock default.

The suit of Minnie M. Morse has been decided, Judge Ambrose instructing the jury to find a verdict for the defendant. Morse, the Omaha dry goods man, sold a bill of goods to the defendant, O'Neill, who was mixed up with Charles Mosher in the Western Manufacturing company. Mosher took possession of the stock of goods, and Morse attached and sold enough to satisfy his claim of $400. Mosher brought suit to recover from Morse, alleging wrongful seizure. The court sustained Morse's action.

The personal injury case of John Holdman against the Union Stock Yards company of South Omaha is still on in Judge Keyser's court. This will be the last jury trial of the term. Court will adjourn today until after Christmas, and then the business of the term will be taken up by the several judges in chambers. The dockets are pretty full with work, and there will be nothing of importance done, and the term will be formally adjourned about the second week in January. The February term will open on February 11.

GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

Kezema, Turning to Blood Poison Treated by Specialists Seven Months without One Particle of Success.

BODY RUNNING SORES.

Condition Terrible. Life a Burden. Tried CUTICURA. In Three Days Attends to Business. Cure Permanent.

In the spring of 1891 I took that dreadful skin disease, Eczema, which turned into blood poison. I consulted the best known specialists in this city. They treated me but I never derived a particle of good from any of them.

They had given it up as a hopeless cure. I was covered with sores from head to foot. I had running sores all over me, some of them as large as two feet square. CUTICURA cost me hundreds of dollars with these so-called specialists. My condition was terrible. I was almost a burden to me. I could not eat, drink, or sleep. I was unable to walk and had given myself up as dead. I tried all medicines imaginable, until a friend who had got relief advised me to try CUTICURA.

I bought a box of CUTICURA and used it as directed. I took the first dose of your CUTICURA. I was unable to walk and had given myself up as dead. I tried all medicines imaginable, until a friend who had got relief advised me to try CUTICURA.
