WITHOUT SIGNIFICANCE HERE.

Few in Omaha Diocese to Be Affected by Antl-Secret Society Encyclical.

In speaking yesterday of the papal decree against secret societies Rev. Father Colaneri said that it was no surprise to him. It had long been anticipated, and so far as the diocese of Omaha was concerned it would have but little significance. While the Catholics had not been previously interdicted from joining these so-cietles, it was well understood that such a course was not approved by the church, and few if any good Catholics had ever connected themselves with any of the socie-ties. Among the 62,000 Catholics in this diocese Rev. Colaneri believed that less than ifty were members of any of the societies. The chief objection to the societies was on account of the ritualistic services, which had always been obnoxious to the heads of the church. But the decree was not to be in-terpreted as antagonistic to these societies. It was very different from the opposition of the church to the Masons and was simply a command to the church to let them alone In his opinion there was no doubt but that the order would be implicitly ob yed. Any member of the church who refused to sepa-rate himself from any of the objectionable societies of which he was a member would be denied the sacrament, but he would be readmitted to the church at any time when

The decided to the church at any time when he decided to obey the decree. The decree is now in the hands of the bishops, but the clergy have had no official notice of its arrival. Within a reasonable time it will be read from all the altars and its provisions will be rigidly enforced.

Other Judges Called in to Take a Hand-News of the Courts.

Arguments were made in a case before Judge Ferguson yesterday the object of which was to show that Judge Scott has no authority to pass upon the legal and judicial business of the entire district. The motion grows out of Scott's orders in the case of the creditors against the Heyn Photo Supply company. Some time ago the tentiary at hard labor. place was closed on a mortgage and then some of the creditors applied to Scott for the appointment of a receiver. The application was granted and ex-Deputy Sheriff John Lewis was placed in charge of the store and stock. Since that time Scott has gone on issuing ex-parte orders to the receiver with- five of each month to be on bread and water. out giving notice to any of the creditors or other parties interested in the case.

Attorneys for the creditors applied to Judge Ferguson for an order requiring the receiver to report only to an equity judge and to receive orders only from a judge of the equity court. The motion recites that the matter is purely one of equity and that Scott had and has no authority to act in the case.

Neither Gets the Child.

Judge Ferguson has decided the Page divorce case. Both Page and his wife were after a decree of sparation and each wanted the custody of the child, a boy, the result of a most unhappy matrimonial venture. It was developed during the trial that the marriage was consummated without the formality of a li-cense or a minister's services and that for years both the man and woman have been trying to see which could commit the widest Forgues of the marriage obligations. Judge Forgueson decided that the union was a mar-riage at common law and that neither of the parties should have a divorce. He held that neither Page nor his wife was fit to have the child and ordered it given into the custody of relatives in Iowa.

Court Notes.

Judges Ambrose, Ferguson and Duffie will sit en banc on December 31 to hear a branch of the litigation growing out of the Polish Catholic church troubles.

Judge Ambrose overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of Marshall Field & Co. against Morse. The jury found a verdict for Morse in the trial, a replevin action.

The county attorney has appealed the case of Hayes vs Douglas county to the supreme court. This was the case in which Hayes, court. This was the case in which Hayes, a police officer, brought suit for witness fees and secured judgment.

Arguments were heard for a new trial be-fore Judge Ambrose in the case of John Czaplewski against Martin Ittner. The boy had lost a hand while employed in Ittner's brick and the set of t brick yard, and secured a verdict for dam-ages in the sum of $5,000.

The Benedicts are seeking to quash the notices of service in the damage suit brought by the T L V Land and Cattle company. They claim that the service was void because the papers were served upon them while they were in Omaha from another state, at-tending the trial of a case in which they were interested.
