> Backed by Other Interests, He Will Ask that the Oregon Short Line Be Taken from the Union Pacific Receivers'

Control-Railway Notes.

There is little surprise expressed around Union Pacific headquarters over the action of Joseph Simon, representing the American Loan and Trust company of New York, trustees of the consolidated bonds of the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern, in filing his application for a separate receiver for the Short Line. This action has been looked for for weeks past. When Receivers Mink, Anderson, Coudert and Doane were on their western trip they had a series of conference with Mr. A. A. H. Boissevain, representative of the Dutch interests in the property, with a view of ascertaining his feelings regarding the separate receivership. And it is no secret now that while he was emphatic his endorsement of the management of the property, he was inclined to look upon a separate receivership as the only solution to a vexed problem. This decision of Mr. Boisse vain naturally caused considerable trepidation among the receivers, and from all reports they were inclined at that time to make showing of a fight for the control of the Short Line property. But now close investigation reveals a rather starting condition of affairs in that nothing is known about headquarters as to whether a fight for retention is to be made or not. In fact it is thought in some sources that the Union Pacific interests will not be represented at all, except indirectly, in the hearing for a separate re-ceiver before Judge Gilbert at Portland, Jan-In certain circles it is thought that if a separate receivership is granted the Union Pacific will be able to make traffic arrange-ments with the Southern Pacific, via the Oglen gateway, that would be in every way as favorable as the present arrangements vin the Short Line and Utah Northern.

The question was asked yesterday if the court would sit idly by and see this vast property disintegrated in view of the fact that Judge Sanborn's jurisdiction extends over Wyoming and Utah, the states through which the Oregon Short Line & Utah North-ern partly runs to its connection with the Ore-gon Rallway and Navigation company at Huntington. The separate receivership is peti-tioned by the American Loan and Trust company as trustees, for the consolidated bonds, which are a first mortgage on the property between Ogden and Salt Lake, and within the jurisdiction of Judge Sanborn. But the reply to the question was ambiguous It was thought, however, that should the It was thought, however, that should Union Pacific interests, and particularly Ames Interests, show no signs of fight the appointment of a separate receiver would be allowed to be made on the one part testimony as set forth in the plaintiff's petition for a separate receiver.

Another condition, however, may present itself at the last moment which would effectually spike Major McNeill's scheme of disintegration, should it be pressed. The government might decide to intervene on the ground that the appointment of separate receivers would tend to further degrees its interests in depress its interests in the Union Pacific property, and would greatly injure its second mortgage security, which it holds on the system. Under such circumstances it would be pretty hard to see how the court could consistently grant the prayer of the petitioners for a separate receivership. Back of all this unrest, this attempt to disintegrate what once was one of the great-est railroad properties in the United States, brought into fine perfection by President Clark and General Manager Dickinson, is seen the hand of Major McNeill of the Oregen Railway & Navigation company, whose dreams of power are much like the fairy tales of Haroun al Raschid. But there is a pay day coming, and when it does, it will be interesting to watch Major McNeill in his unrivated scientific feat of squeezing ern out of the fold, it will leave the present receivers of the Union Pacific enjoying the on Pacific, the Kansas Pacific, the Denver Pacific, and small branches in Nebraska and Kansas. Contrast this line of track with the 6,500 and odd miles of two years ago. and it will be seen what financial depression has done for the great Overland system, a system which was taken by General Mana-ger Dickinson when in a state of collapse and put into magnificent shape, its physical condition being the talk of railroad men the Dentistry country over. Heretofore all Chinamen going back Francisco were under the secret societies organization compelled to pay a heavy head tax to the Six Companies. This tribute, or blood money, put the line via San Francisco at serious disadvantage. The Southern Pa-Teeth extracted and put in same day.
