Dr. Jeffers was born in Newcastle county, near Wilmington, Del., February 10, 1828. On his father's side he was descended from an ancestor who came across with William Penn, and on his mother's from William Vanderwerker, who was buried in 1659 in the old Swedish burial ground near Wilmington. He received his early education at Kentmere Square, near Philadelphia, and was in the dry goods business in Pittsburgh for four years. He came to Council Bluffs, then known as Council Bluffs, in 1853, and opened a sawmill in what is now the northwestern part of the city. He bought 320 acres of land for the timber on which he was living his life, he purchased 1,000 acres of land near Smithland, in Monona county, and went into the business of raising stock. Later on he went into the real estate business in this city, and platted several additions, one of which, Jeffers' sub, bears his name. Several years were passed in mining out west, and he had all the vicissitudes that fall to the miner's lot.

Dr. Jeffers took an active part in building up Omaha, as well as Council Bluffs, and it was largely due to his efforts that in plating the former city the streets were made so wide. Although he was a man of firm opinions, he was not a man of a high opinion of his own abilities, and he was not vain. There was never a spark of malice in his makeup, and his sympathies were invariably on the side of him who needed sympathy most.

MITCHELL MAKES A STATEMENT. Tells Why He Revoked the Extradition of Henry M. Flagler. FALL-HARSHIE, Fla., Jan. 6.—In an interesting statement Governor Mitchell made the following statement relative to the Flagler requisition: "I was absent in Tampa when the application for a requisition reached here. My secretary informed me by telegraph of the arrival of the papers, saying they were in due form. He asked me if I had any instructions, and I replied that I had none, whereupon the requisition was forwarded and the warrant issued. When I returned to the capital I carefully examined the papers and found that they were not in due form. The papers showed that Mr. Flagler was a fugitive from justice, and I learned from the papers that he had never been indicted and that he had never been arrested. My intention is to set a day for the hearing, which Mr. Flagler and the state of Texas shall have to prove. It has been said that the warrant should have been issued with a return on the information that Mr. Flagler had never been indicted. It was not the duty of the executive to hunt up Mr. Flagler and return him here, whether or not the charge was true."

Contempt of Schneider. Henry Schneider, a gentleman with the general bearing of a baron from the vaterland, presented an appearance at the city jail yesterday afternoon, leading by the hand a 6-year-old boy. One of the boy's eyes was hidden from sight by a grimy fist shoved into it as if it would go, and the other by the briny fluid that he could not restrain.

MOVEMENT FOR A SUGAR FACTORY. A meeting of citizens was held at the court house for the purpose of further discussing the feasibility of the plan of having a beet sugar factory started in Council Bluffs. The report of H. C. Graves as to his success in raising the vegetables and the large profits he made out of the forty acres of land on which he raised them was read, and he has been published in the discussion that followed it was plainly to be seen that the citizens had been awakened to a sense of the wealth that could be made, and many were the opinions expressed in favor of making a move at once in the desired direction.
