Stole to Keep Warm.

William Wells, an old darky living near the Northwestern round house, was before Justice Vien yesterday for a trial on the charge of stealing coal from cars in the rail-road yards. He told the court that his wife was sick and he had a little child at home, without any fuel to keep them warm. He shouldered his basket and went out to the cars, just as he did last winter, and he had the misfortune to get caught, just as he did the other time. A sentence of five days in jail was imposed on him, but out of consid-eration for his age and the fact that he told the truth the sentence was suspended pend-ing good behavior. Fisher and Goodwin, the two young fellows found with him, pleaded guilty and were sent to jail for ten days. J. Gordon, another coal thief, pleaded not gulity and stood trial, at the close of which he re celved fifteen days. Ge ≠ge, Claude and Burt Webster, who were caught while supposed to be raiding the cars, were dischaged, the evidence showing that the guilty ones were three boys who got away.

Metcalf & Cornish, the owners of the building at 536 West Broadway, commenced proceedings in the district court yesterday as intervenors in the assignment of J. B. Dries-bach. As shown by the assignce's inventory, the assets amount to about $1,181, and the liabilities about $900. In the list of liabilities, as reckoned by Mr. Driesbach at the time he made the assignment, only $175 was said to be due for unpaid rent. In the petition filed by the intervenors yes-terday they set forth the fact that Driesbach was bound by a lease which does not exwas bound by a lease which does not ex-pire for twenty-one months yet, and they demand that the assignee be ordered to pay over to them the receipts from the sale of the stock until the whole amount of rent now due and to become due up to the ex-piration of the lease, which is $1,800.

Burghars at Oxford Mills carried off $100 worth of goods from the store of Kettleson Bros. They fitted themselves out with new suits and left their old clothes at the depot.

Taylor is Not in New York. NEW YORK, Jan. 9.-Numerous inquiries from the west reached banking houses today in regard to the whereabouts of W. W.

Taylor, state ireasurer of South Dakota. As president of a small bank in Redfield, Taypresident of a small bank in Redfield, Tay-lor did business with the Chase National bank of this city. According to President Cannon of the Chase National bank, how-ever, his accounts with that institution are all right, his indebtedness being amply se-cured. Mr. Cannon said tonight, relative to the matter: "Mr. Taylor was here about five weeks ago on a matter of business connected with the bank. I have not seen him since, and I have no idea, where he is." James W. Brown, banker and broker, who is a particular friend of the missing e-state treasurer, tonight said he had seen nothing of Taylor for some weeks past. He felt certain, he declared, that Taylor was not in the vicinity.

Movements of resgoing Vessets Jan. 9.

One of the Manchester reporters early one morning discovered a blaze in a pile of rub-bish in a back street. "Where's the nearest firebox?" he asked, rushing up to an officer, "Let's see, you're a newspaper man, aren't you?" queried the patrolman. "Yes; where's the box?" "Can't tell," was the reply. "Chief's orders." At New York-Arrived-Noordland, from Antwerp: Teutonic, from Liverpool; Mans-dam, from Rotterdam; Mississippi, from London; S. S. lates the Washington Post, has a card, on one side of which is printed his name and address, and on the other these words OWN.

I HAVE TROUBLES OF MY O' DON'T MENTION YOURS.

The other day Senator Voorhees and the owner of the card were seated together in a cable car. The Indiana senator, in the cours of the conversation, suddenly turned on the Missourian, who, of course, is a democrat, and began to arraign him severely for the way in which that great state had treated the democratic party in the late election. The Missourian listened patiently to the senator's outburst for some time, and then slowly wen down into his pocket and fished out the card, which he handed to his neighbor. "What's this?" asked the senator, holding it to the light of the car windaw. "I have troubles of my own. Don't mention yours." The spirit of the joke suddenly dawned on the Indiana statesman, and throwing back his head, he laughed hilariously. When he handed the card back to its owner he expressed a wish to get one like it, because, he aid, it exactly covered the situation, and he had much need of a similar device to shut off debate.
