Lunatic Creates Considerable Consterna-

tion About the Court House. During the past few days a mild-mannered lunatic has been making life miserable for some of the officials about the court house. Wednesday afternoon this party, John Martin, a colored man, bolted into Judge Scott's private room and declared that he wanted to see the judge on private business. Scott greeted him very cordially and told him to take a chair, but instead of doing so Martin broke out in incoherent language, declar that he was not Sam Payne; that he not give Sam Payne the grip, and that he did not know anything about the murder of Maud Rubel. He said that he had been represented as having had some connection with the affair, but that he was innocent. After prancing up and down the room, gesticulating wildly, he again declared that Ramge. Last summer he conceived the idea that he was the leader of both the republican and democratic parties and became such a nuisance about town that the insanity commissioners took the matter up and investgated it, adjudging him insane. He wa sent to Lincoln, where he remained some months, finally being brought back again to the county hospital. About the middle of November he escaped from that institution and since then has been running at large. Martin is something of a letter writer, having recently sent a communication to Frank E. Moores, in which he solves the whole political problem. In connection with this letter he made a pressing appeal to Moores to furnish him a suit of clothes with a Prince Albert coat and a long black over-coat with knots on it. He says he has a short overcoat, but it is not becoming to a man who occupies the high position in life that he fills. The insanity commisioners will sit on Martin's case, and he will probably be sent back to the Lincoln asylum.

Helping the Poor. The Associated Charities, in connection with the relief work in its central district, Leavenworth to Cuming streets, the river to the western city limits, has subdivided that territory into section blocks, to each of which visitors will be assigned, according to the relative density of population and material condition of the section. The advantages of such a plan are thought to be three-fold: To ascertain, as far as is dellcate or permissible, all cases requiring food, clothing, medical attendance and employ-ment, referring all such, according to the circumstances of each, either to the aid so-ciety of the nearest church, or to the church to which the unfortunate family belongs, to the Associated Charities, to the county agent, or to private and personal relief; especially to see that no duplication of aid is given, and to keep check on the professional pauper. To extend that friendly and Christian sympathy that is often as necessary and wel come as food and raiment, and to endeavor to lift up morally those whom cruel circumstances have caused to fall by the way, and to locate those of all kinds and conditions of men who are willing to help and assist their less fortunate neighbors-more particularly those who "suffer and endure" rather than ask for charity. These visitors will seek to reach every house on every block, so that no case of dis-tress may be overlooked. At the same time they will be glad to receive contributions of cash, clothing, food or fuel, no matter how small, and the citizens of Omaha will have an opportunity of giving to this organization an opportunity of giving to this organization with the guarantee that their gifts will reach only those deserving assistance, and that for all relief given the labor test will be applied in every practicable case. A relief ticket is issued (sold at 5 cents each) by which the house to house beggar can be relieved and the labor test applied in every case. Two of these tickets furnish a lodging to a single man and the tender-hearied person can thus man and the tender-hearted person can thus relieve the alleged homeless individual, who is so much in evidence about twilight in certain sections of the city, who solicits "15 cents for a bed, sir." Not infrequently the cash given goes to the salcon and the beg gar to his shanty.

Very many cases can be relieved locally without sacrificing the self-respect of the unfortunate, hence especial attention is asked to any such cases that may be brought to the notice of your family by any one of the wiasters. "To help the poor to help themselves" is the motto of the Associated Charlties. It seeks to aid and not to pauperize.

CONCLUDE THE DELIBERATIONS. Nebraska and Iowa Implement Dealers

Bold the Next Convention in Omaha. The annual meeting of the Nebraska and Iowa Implement Dealers' association, which has been in session in this city during the last two days, was concluded yesterday and most of the members left last evening for their homes. The convention was fairly well attended and the deliberations have been marked by exceptional interest. Yesterday's session was largely devoted to adlresses upon subjects connected with the Lucuis Wells of Council Bluffs delivered an able address upon the abuses of the implement business. In substance he believed the depression in that line largely due to the long time credit system in vogue among im-long time credit system in vogue among implement dealers. He believed shorter time and less credit would remedy the evil.

Colonel J. W. Woods of Kansas City spoke in an interesting vein on some features of the history of the trade. He briefly reviewed the history of the past eighteen years and discussed some of the lessons that dealers, had learned during that certed dealers had learned during that period. The business, like all other things, had its ups and downs and was, at the present time, chiefly occupied with the downs. But it was a source of consolation to know that hey were now at the bottom and ready to begin the upward movement.

The first order of business in the afterncon was the election of officers, which was accomplished as follows: President, W. S. Grafton, of Western, Neb.; vice president, John Trompen, Hickman, Neb.; directors, Gus Graff, Wymore, Neb.; H. M. Bronson, Albion, Neb., and D. C. Shaeffer, Corning, Ia. Mr. H. C. Staver of Chicago delivered a very business-like address upon possible re-forms in trade methods. He urged more effective co-operation on the part of the manufacturers, the jobbers and the retailers, and suggested that by these means many of the difficulties that now existed might be easily disposed of. There was considerable discussion over a otion that the president appoint a committee of two to confer with the members of the legislature with a view to obtaining some modification of the exemption law which has been he cause of a good deal of trouble in relation to collections was finally decided to leave this matter to he executive committee.

There were three citles in the field with nvitations for the next annual convention. A Lincoln man thought that it was time his city received the honor, but as his was the only vote in the affirmative he failed to carry. The Iowa contingent named Council Bluffs, but this was also voted down and Omaha was nearly the unanimous choice. Most of the members favored Omaha, as it was urged that the majority of the dealers could combine business with pleasure, as this was their central market point and conse-quently the attendance would be much larger han if the convention was held in some other

One thing only seems lacking in the 'Country Circus," which pitched its tents last night at Boyd's. The smell of the sawdust, dear to every circus goer, is noticeable by its absence, an odor of pachuli and lily-of-the-valley taking the place of the arcma that comes from the circus ring. All the other features of tent life have been retained, however. "Grafting" is illustrated by the gentiemanly ticket seller the short change artist is very much to the front, the inevitable lemonade and some "butcher" has a place, while the specialty performance is quite novel and very in-teresting. The "turns" are eleverly intro-duced and the picture of the interior of the big tent fills the heart of every lover of tent shows with a desire that summer hasten its coming, for it brings circuses in its train. The passing of the show in parade is ingenfously put on with all the trappings and tinsel which go to make up the usua wagon parade.

Remnants of silk go according to size at 5c and 10c for entire piece.

Remnants of silk velvets, in all colors, worth $1.50 a yard, go in remnants, slightly which has made him famous. William Conrad performs a black and tan that does very many clever tricks, while a stud of ponies are presented by C. W. Wood. La Belle Tina on the high rings and bars adds William Showles introduces his jockey ac not a little to the strength of the variety features of the performance, but the grea act of the evening is done by Luciano Tatali a European importation whose contortion turn on the rings has never been equalled. Muldoon, the pony wrestler, amuses the small boy, while the Moorish troupe of athletes finish the performance with a series of feats in balancing, gun exercises and other pastimes, a part of Moorish life.

Leading up to the circus there is a fairly well told story of New England life, although one gets tired of the length of the story and becomes impatient to see the interior of the circus tent. Miss Bishop plays the heroine in a very pleasing manner, while Mr. Daly, as the sawdust hero, "who marries the queen of the arena," makes a grea deal of Tony Barnum. Fred Clarke is clever character actor and infuses Giftee Perkins with a great deal of humor. And a great deal of the fun is also contributed by Mr. Gibson in the role of Dr. Swop. ladies of the cast are good and the "Co-Circus" seems a very fair substitute for the simon-pure article which is indigenous to

The attraction for the first four nights of next week, commencing with matinee Sun-lay, January 13, at the Empire, will be John L. Sullivan in his new comedy in three acts by Edmund E. Price, entitled "A True American." Mr. Sullivan's character, that of John Desmond, a gentlemanly land overseer, fits him like a glove. He made his first appearance in the above at Syracuse and the press were unanimous in his praise, and the cheers that greeted the pugilistic idol of so many years were tiresome to the ear. His appear-ance in New York was most gratifying, the applause lasted fully two minutes; so great was the enthusiasm that the actor Sullivan could not proceed with his part owing to the numerous cheers; he has friends by the millions, and when he appears in our midst he, it is sure, will be accorded the same

MATTERS IN COURT.

Hearing of the Sherman Avenue Paving Case Goes Over Until Monday. The Sherman avenue paving case was to have come up for trial yesterday, but has been postponed until next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. A bench of three judges will preside at the trial, Judge Duffie having asked Judges Keysor and Ambrose to sit with him. The grounds on which the postponement was granted were that affidavits were filed by the city yesterday which state the plaintiff. William Sweezy, and others, have not had an opportunity to answer. The affidavits do flot raise any new points, but it is said that the attorneys for points, but it is said that the attorneys for the city are preparing to spring some new evidence at the trial. The case is an in-junction suit against the city to restrain it from entering into a contract with Hugh Murphy for the paying of Sherman avenue. It had been heard before Judge Scott, who granted a temporary injunction. Murphy put in two bids for the paying and the contract was awarded to him. Scott decided contract was awarded to him. Scott decided that he should have the contract.

A motion for a new trial has been filed in the Linton case, this time by the plaintiff. The grounds taken are error in sustaining the motion of the defendant and quashing the service of summers on Cooper, who is the defendant.

It is the finest body of land in that fine country.

The colony is making up of people of all trades and professions. With a fruit farm of a few acres at the bottom, working men, merchants and professional men are absolutely sure to better their condition, ingoing with him. There is land enough for 500 families; over 100 have already engaged trans-

Mr. Tilson will be at our office, room 101 Bee Building, for a few days. He will engage a civil engineer, a good accountant, a foreman, and ten or twelve laborers for steady work. All must have means to join the colony, as the owner of a piece of its land. Parties wishing to take tracts in this colony under our home guarantee contract system will be given special terms in this Farmers can take farms in any stage of improvement of any size up to 100 acres at farm land prices.
