

Selling out the Parmelee & Otis STOCK OF FURNITURE.

We have bought from the mortgagees, the entire furniture stock of Parmelee & Otis, at a price that will enable us to sell it less than cost at the factory. The goods are all new, Parmelee & Otis having opened but little more than a year ago, and the quality of the goods are as good as the best makers can produce. Monday the entire stock will be offered at sale; prices marked on every ticket. This is a furniture opportunity that will not last. See for yourself. Compare prices and if cheap buy.

PARLOR.

A furniture man remarked on looking over this stock that there was too much parlor furniture. No doubt this is so. Several new suits and chairs came in December. The prices now start $15 for 5 pieces, and you can buy any quality for less than the manufacturer gets for it. A very good line of odd pieces, too, including handsome cabinets, tables, chairs, all reduced to the very lowest prices ever known, for furniture.

LIBRARY.

Leather couches, corduroy couches, plush couches, tapestry couches, same last year's width, same the extreme of extremes, take your choice; you may never have another such opportunity to buy couches, overstuffed tapestry and leather chairs, massive tables, with fine carving, bookcases and shelves, writing desks.

Dining Room.

A large line of sideboards offers you a selection that any furniture store could be proud of. 30 styles to select from. The cheapest $10 full oak and the highest $75, price was $115.

Your dining room chair and table wants can be taken care of now before the stock is broken; principally in oak and mahogany,

Bed Room.

There are none too many of the bed room sets in proportion to stock, so if you are thinking of getting one, don't delay. Prices start out at $10 per suit of 3 pieces 24x30 inch beveled mirror and range to $110 which Parmelee & Otis sold at $175

Brass and iron beds, dressing tables, chiffoniers, all to be closed out.
