NEIGHBORS MEET AT SAUNDERS' RECEPTION

Debut of Miss Mary Nash One of the Signal Successes of the Season-Other Events Wherein Society Was in Evidence.

Until recently more than three-fourths of all mistresses who did not wish to see callers instructed the mald or footman to say "not at home," and the lie was called a white one if any kind of a one, and excused on the ground that "not at home" was merely a formula for saving not at home to callers.

This winter the attendant is bidden to say; "Yes, Mrs. Blank is at home, but begs to be excused." Nobody but a peddler thinks of arguing the matter after this. A card is left and the caller retires with no thought of a slight, understanding that the message is given in good faith, for one of a great many possible excellent reasons, and not to him or her exclusively, but to all who may

Many hostesses who "have a day" when they are at home to all callers, are obliged to deny themselves at nearly all other times in order to reserve time needed for their thousand and three other duties or pleasures, whether social, domestic or what

Menu cards should never under any cir. cumstances be used at a private dinner. Each guest accepts whatever is served, and eats of it, or at least must have the ap-pearance of so doing. It is an evidence of fine breeding to seem to be happy whether one is content or not. To be able to accept situation as it is, even though the food and sentiments be not in accordance with his own thinking, is an accomplishment very desirable n the diner out. Formal dinner parties in these days, when given after the style of the Russians, is made so easy that both host and hostess have nothing to do but make themselves agreeable to their guests. It is courtesy for the host to diit were, rather than sustain the conversation himself, not forgetting to use tact in drawing words from the timid, who are usually silent, and coming to the rescue of those afflicted with embarrassment, which twin brother to awkwardness. On the other hand, guests must not forget that at a dinner, as on all occasions of hospitality, it is their chief duty to relieve their entertain ers from any annoyance or care, with the cnowledge that the dinner is not given simply for the purpose of giving a material pleasure. Good talkers are invaluable at a dinner party, but good listeners, too, come in for their share of welcome. "Silence when nothing need be said is the eloquence

A very pretty fancy is to get a carpenter o make a little low table of pine and then to enamel it yourself with white paint. Primarily, such tables were designed for 5 o'clock tea, being just about large enough to hold a dainty cup and saucer. This is a custom now as deeply rooted here as in

"Of drinking ten on winter afternoons From china cups with golden spoons." And every now and then some inventive genius goes to work and makes some triffe or other to still further add to the attractiveness of the 5 o'clock tea-if it isn't a table, or a tea cosy, it's doylies, or tea cake or candied rose leaves, which happens just now to be one of the nous hors d'oeuvres passed around at afternoon tea.

But these rose leaves, to be just the thing, must have been manufactured during the by the fair hostess. Although summer is over, possibly some reader may be the lucky recipient of so many bouquets that it is not too late to make this consction—here is the recipe, at any rate: Spread the rose petals out on clean papers and dry slightly for one or two hours. Make a syrup of a half pound of granulated sugar and a half pint of water. Boil until the syrup spins a thread; take it from the fire the saucepan in a dish of cold water until it is partly crystallized. Dip in your rose leaves, a few at a time, and with a pair of wire tongs take them out and place them on oil paper to harden—and volla, candled rose petals to grace the 5 o'clock reception given by Hon, and Mrs. Alvin Saunders Thursday evening at their beautiful home, on North Sherman avenue, was remarkable for the number of old citizens which their eards of invitation brought It is not often that so many old neighare brought together in these days of swell functions as on this occasion. There were faces noticeable throughout the evenwere faces noticeable throughout the even-ing that have not been seen at a public en-tertainment for several years, and the occa-sion was made all the more enjoyable on it was neculiarly an evening that account. It was peculiarly an evening of reminiscence with the old folks, although the young people found an opportunity to discuss the coming marriage of one of their number, which is scheduled before Lent, and indulge in prognostications as to how the season would terminate.

Roses and palms were generously distributed throughout the rooms, while an orchestra, stationed in the east parlor, played delightfully throughout the evening. Ex-Senator and Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Milton Bar-low, Mrs. Smith Saunders of Council Bluffs, Miss Wolf of Denver, Mrs. Aifred Burleigh and Mrs. Samuel Burns received. Mrs. Saunders were a lovely gown of asbes of somes, silk trimmed, with cream lace. Mrs. Barlow whose conterns roses, silk trimmed, with cream lace. Mrs. Barlow, whose coming as a bride has been so joyonsly heraided, wore a cream crepon skirt, with a bodice of satin. Mrs. Samuel Burnes was in black velvet and point lace. Miss Wolf of Denver wore a deep lemon colored silk, with short sleeves and low neck. Mrs. Harrison, while not receiving, was a great favorite, as usual, in a light blue satin gown, with lace jetted bodice, blue chiffon sleeves, made in large puffs. A Beautiful Debut.

The debut of Miss Mary Nash Tuesday afternoon was a social triumph, which has not been duplicated this season. The debutante has had the advantages vouchsafed to but few candidates for society honors. She has been carefully educated, not only excels Guard, Omaha, Neb., Jan. 14, 1895.—Order in the languages, but is a proficient musician, and with all these accomplishments, she has not lost her sweet, gentle disposition, which more than any one thing makes this young woman the favorite in the social circles in which she moves.

Her beautiful home Tuesday was a bower roses, making a most fitting setting for the acout of Miss Nash, who emphasized, if anything, her position in the haute monde. Mrs. E. W. Nash and Miss Mary Nash received, while they were assisted by Misse Ringwalt, Miss Kountze, Miss Chase, Miss Crounse, Miss Brown, Miss Palmer, Miss Lindsey, Miss Buck, Miss Emma Creighton and Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick poured tea, Miss McKenna coffee, and Mrs. Charles Offute chocolate.

In addition to those mentioned as being resent, there were also noticed: Miss J. Millard, Miss Stevenson, Miss Yates, Miss Creighton, Miss Coad, Miss Hoagland, Miss E. Creighton, Miss Webster, Miss Hartman, Miss N. Brown of Council Bluffs, Miss Williard, Miss Morgan, Miss Jackson, Miss Johnson, Mrs. S. W. Kendell, Miss Lydell, Mrs. J. D. Creighton, Miss O'Rourke,

The regular meeting of the Bon Ami club was held last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Baker on South Thirty-second street, and was very delightful and well attended. Mrs. Baker's pretty home was made even more attractive than usual with vases of cut flowers, and the hostess did all in her power to make the evening the delightful one that it was. The prizes were won by Mr. Tatum, Mr. Purvis, Mrs. Babcock and Miss Graves of New York. Those present beside the members were Mr. Holmes, Mr. George, Mr. Herbert Wheeler, Mrs. Wilhelm, Miss Graves and Miss

The entertainment given Thursday evening in the Omaha Guards armory for the benefit of the drouth sufferers was a success, financially and socially. The King's Daughters and the Guards united their efforts, and a very enjoyable program was the result. The cathedral choir sang "Where Are You Going My Pretty Maid," and each member of the quartet sang a solo, all of which were ex-cellent and well received. The guards gave a very creditable drill, both in a body and as individuals. Sergeant Cone carried off

L. B. Wood, who assisted very materially in making the evening a success. Last Tuesday evening a quiet wedding ceremony occurred at 1722 North Eighteenth street, by which Mr. Will L. Fisher was united in marriage to Miss Mabel L. Lewis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. D. Llwyd of the Church of the Good Shepherd, in the presence only of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bridal couple left during the evening for a short wedding trip and they will be at home at 1722 North Eighteenth street after February 1. Both the young people are favorably known in Omaha, the groom being one of the oldest employes of a leading business house and a prominent member of the Thurston Rifles. Among the out of town guests were Mrs Mary Smith and Mr. Elmer Hyde of Atchi Mary son, Kan., and Mrs. A. G. Prosser and Miss Clara Prosser of East Atchison, Mo. In honor of Mrs. A. L. Reed and Mrs. Isaac Coles, Mrs. F. B. Johnson gave a very large function Thursday afternoon. The house was filled with flowers, most artistically arranged, particularly in the dining room where the table was completely covered with La France roses and white lilles, a most effective combination. In the Japanese room punch was served in a veritable bower of smilax, which added a finishing touch to the unusually artistic room. The guests of honor assisted Mrs. Johnson in receiving, while those in the various rooms were Mrs. Balch, Mrs. Deuel, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Gifford, Mrs. Remington, Mrs. McCormick, Miss Doane, Miss Millard, Miss Hoagland, Miss Himebaugh. The assistants took turn in pouring tea and coffee and serving punch to the 200 guests who attended this very pretty reception. Mr. and Mrs. Sol Hopper, 2826 South Nine-

IN LOCAL MUSICAL CIRCLES. Freda Simonson, the celebrated child plan-

iste, has arrived in America and will make a tour of the country with Juanito Manen. the II-year-old violinist. The young planiste is a protege of Mme. Adelina Patti, who is largely instrumental in having the prodigy make an American tour. Freda Simonson is the daughter of Mrs. Lucia Simonson, and was born in Hanover in 1884. Up to her third year she showed no evidence of being lifferent from other children, but when however, her musical talent asserted itself, and she was enabled to play simple melodies upon the plane in such a way as to call particular attention to what even then appeared to be her remarkable planistic gifts. Her development was rapid, and she was placed in the care of Karl Klindworth, di rector of the Klindworth conservatory of Berlin, where she was subsequently taught by Prof. Leipholz, who took such a fancy to the diminutive little artist that he devoted special attention to her musical training. When but 6 Frieda made her debut in Berlin, playing correctly and with an excellent conception of the works, some of Beethoven's variations. When but 7 she played at Kissingen with full orchestra, this time rendering Beethoven's C minor concerto, Little Frieda takes great delight in playing in pubic, and it is said that the first question she asks on entering a concert hall is: "Are the critics all here?" These two young artists made their or pearance at Carnegie Music hall last Tuesday, assisted by the Damrosch orchestra, and made a wonderfully pronounced hit.

Judge and Mrs. Dundy entertained the Omaha Glee club last Monday evening at their home. The entertainment was not a formal one by any means, but was highly enjoyed nevertheless. About twenty of the nembers of the club were cordially welcomed host and hostess and Miss Dundy The first part of the the songs which they the club in singing the songs which they have been rehearsing for the last six months, "Night Witchery," by Storch, "Comrades in Arms," by Adam, "Breeze of the Night," arranged by Macy, and "Annie Laurie," arranged by Buck, were sung with a precision and attention to shading The first part of the evening was spent by rarely heard in male organizations. "Nellie Was a Lady," a beautiful arrangement for solo, with humming accompaniment, was sung with fine effect, Mr. Dan Wheeler, jr., singing the solo. The program was varied with a solo by L. B. Copeland, "The Two Grenadiers," by Schumann; two violin solos, by Brand W. B. Copeland, "The Two Grenadiers," by Schumann; two violin solos, by Brand W. Br by Prof. Kuchenmeister; "Simon, the Celarer," baritone solo, by J. M. Baldridge; "Sweet Little Cherub," by Wilson G. Smith; "Sweet Little Cherub," by Wilson G. Smith; tenor solo by I. M. Treynor and "Meditation" and a tenor solo by Chenery rendered by C. H. Ogden. J. H. Simms acted as accompanist for the evening. The Dudley Buck Male quartet of Council Bluffs, composed of Messrs. I. M. Treynor, C. H. Ogden, J. H. Simms and W. L. Thickstun, sang Buck's "Star of Love" with excellent effect, and for an encore sang "The Grasshopper" and for an encore sang "The Grasshopper," "Ernani." the quartet from Verdi's opera, "Ernani." After the musi-cal part of the program had been finished Verdi's opera, dainty refreshments were served. While the smoke was rising from a score of Havanas Judge Dundy, who is a graceful Havanas Judge and accomplished bear slayer, told of a num ber of hair raising encounters he had had while he had been engaged in the work of shorting bruin off the face of the earth. The club's first "night out" was voted a success.

Although accustomed to hearing good things at the recitals of the Musical department of the Woman's Club, the meeting last Wednesday afternoon was exceptional, the entire program being of superior quality The opening number, a paper on Bach, by Miss Ethelwynne Kennedy, was interesting throughout. Miss Kennedy in her treatment of the life and character of the father of dern music did not confine herself wholly to the genius of the marvelous and versatile writer of counter-point, but brought out the strong religious side of his nature as well. Mr. Don N. Long made his first appearance in Omaha in an a, b and c number. Al-though the Chopin Nocturne was somewhat lacking in depth of feeling it was correctly and intelligently played. The mandolinata, by Leschetizky, and the Rheinberger Etude both showed to advantage the clear and finished style of Mr. Long's technique, and conclusion of the number he was received with enthusiastic applause. Mr. Long may congratulate himself upon having scored a complete success and won a high plan musical circles

Mrs. Harry Nott, while a comparative stranger, is not entirely unknown among literary people. Her paper on Handel was most entertaining, being in conversational style, with the scene laid in a London coffee house among the Behemian element of King George's time. By this means and the writer's skillful treatment, the facts con-cerning the life, character and influence of George's time. his well known composer took on a fresh

Mrs. Charles M. Wilhelm delighted the audience in Nevins' beautiful song, "Doris," S. B. Litovsky, cello, and Mr. W. T. accompanied by Mr. Franz Adelmann Marshall, piano. The warm and enthusiastic reception of this number succeeded in bring-ing Mrs. Wilhelm to the floor, but only to bow her thanks. Miss Edith Wagoner's rendition of Schumann was a complete triumph. Under her skillful fingers these difficult and artistic compositions were most intelligently given. The "Novellette in F major" was extremely well played, the phrasing being almost perfect. Miss Wagoner has easily given. extremely placed herself among Omaha's best musicians, and we predict a bright future for her. Since the "St. Cecelia" quartet the Ladies' Musical society has not had the pleasure of bearing a ladies' quartet equal to the one which sang last Wodnesday, Composed of Mrs. Charles M. Wilhelm, Mrs. John L. Ken-Composed of nedy, Mrs. Charles Morton and Miss Frances Roeder the success of the quartet was assured beforehand, and Rees' composition, "Oh, Tell It Her." gave evidence of the careful and conscientious study the quartet is doing. There is a place in musical circles for an association of this sort, and it is earnestly hoped it will continue, Every singer in Omaha, South Omaha and ouncil Bluffs is invited to join the festival chorus. Rehearsals are held on Tuesday venings, 8 to 9:30, at the Young Men's Christian association lecture room. The Thomas orchestra, which will be the chief attraction of the festival, is the finest body of musicians the world and all music-loving people should cordially welcome them to Omaha. Remember that all singers having good volces are cordially invited to attend

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. W. T. Taber gave an organ recital in the First Baptist church, Cheyenne. Speaking of the recital, the Leader of that place says: 'The organ recital in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon was attended by a large audience of music lovers, who much enjoyed the rare musical treat. Mr. Taber of Omaha, whose talent as an organist is well known and appreciated in Cheyenne, added to his past reputation and won many new enthusiastic admirers.'

Mr. William H. Sherwood will give a reital at Brownell hall Monday evening, February 4. Of Mr. Sherwood the Berlin Royal Prussian Anzeiger says: "He can stand side by side with the best living planists." In this country Mr. Sherwood has appeared with Theodore Thomas, the Walter Damrosch and the Boston Symphony orchestras with success. Tickets on sale at Chase & Eddy's.

The first recital of the Beethoven Quartet will occur this afternoon at the rooms of the Woman's club at 3 o'clock.
