PROPOSED PLEASURE RESORT

SIX HUNDRED ACRES TO BE LEASED will preside.

Capitalists Will Start the Enterprise and Will Then Ask the City to Subscribe for a Share of the Stock.

ASHLAND, Jan. 20 .- (Special.) - Ashland is again full of hope for the consummation of the much talked of enterprise, started some three weeks ago, when the option was purchased on 600 acres of land south of town for the purpose of constructing a dam and making a large pond for ice and fish purposes, in connection with a pleasure resort.

The presence of a number of strangers in the city last week has been attracting no small amount of attention, and has given color to the report of the enterprise being completed. A Bee representative called upon the local agent of the capitalists and learned from him that by the death of one of the parties interested the affairs were left in such shape as to can e an unavoldable delay, which would be overcome by next week, and then in a few days the wirk will be commenced, and with favorable weather will be completed by

April 1. He further stated that there would be a part to perform by the citizens, as they would be asked to take an amount of stock when the work had reached a satisfactory point to justify their confidence in the men who are at the bottom of the undertaking. There has been a committee composed of business men appointed to investigate and report what imediate steps should be taken to meet the expectations of the company. He said in regard publication of the company's plans in that by next week matters will be ready for the public's inspection.

Ashland's High school class of '95 are enjoying a great deal of notoriety at present over the actions of the school board in not allowing Hon. W. J. Bryan to deliver an oration for commencement. An editorial appeared in one of the lead papers that resedue. peared in one of the local papers that raised Mr. Bryan's ire, and he wrote them a rather harsh letter, and the board concluded not to allow him to deliver the address. ## FREMONT'S NORMAL PROSPERS.

Established Ten Years Ago it Has Grown to

FREMONT, Jan. 20 .- (Special.)-The board of trustees of the Fremont Normal School and Business College company has decided to issue a deed for the college property to President W. H. Clemmons, and the transfer will be made as soon as the necessary papers can be made out. This institution, with its hundreds of students constantly in attendance, is of great benefit to Fremont, and is his whereabouts are unknown. No good the means of bringing to the city something like $100,000 each year, which is paid for board, clothing and tuition. The college was first projected over ten years ago, when Prof. W. P. Jones, then an associate editor of the Chicago Inter Ocean, decided upon Fremont suitable place to establish a normal He made a proposition to the citizens that if they would furnish the ground and erect a building be would obligate himself to maintain a school for a period of ten years, with an average attendance equal to the State Normal school at Peru. The proposition was accepted and the school established, but a little more than a year Prof. Jones ed, leaving the school in the hands of his wife. After a few months the management was transferred to W. H. Clemmons, who is still in charge. His first term had only twenty-eight pupils in attendance, but he was pushed the work vigorously until the school ranks equal to any institution of the kind in the west. In 1889 it was found necessary to erect a boarding house for the accommodation of pupils, and in 1891 an addition to the colwas erected, which doubled its capacity, same year another boarding house was erected, with a dining room to accom-ate over 300 persons. The original colmodate over 300 persons. The original col-lege building was also rearranged and im-

The ability to earn of the school was based upon the comparative attendance of the State Normal at Peru and the Fremont Normal. At Peru the average attendance for ten years has been 287.2, and at the Fremont Normal the average has been 513.2. Thus the condi-tions have been fulfilled at Fremont and a deed is to be issued to Prof. Clemmons for property. The average attendance for past three years has been over 900, and is growing. The school is a matter in which very public spirited Fremont citizen takes

Mrs. Stella Wrightmeyer arrived Friday evening from Gretna, Neb., and took rooms in the Miller-Loomis block. zens had three streams of water pouring farmers and their families in the wide area on the burning building. When the alarm of the drouth district, are still pouring into was given, about 3 o'clock, flames were shooting through the roof. The building was a two-story frame structure. The loss will be heavily felt by Bennett, who lost a isolated cases which do not for some unwork.

That the needs of many portions of the state are great is beyond question, and that it will require a great amount of both clothing and provisions is also true, for there is a great expanse of country to be covered, in each community of which more or less aid will be necessary. The people of more favored portions of the state, and also from other sections of the country, have responded nobly to the call for assistance, how well can best be told by the records of shipments from the relief bureau. Durng the first five days of the past week here were sent to various points in the state forty-five full car loads of supplies. These onsisted of clothing, fuel and provisions and have been distributed with care and from the best information obtainable of the needs of the various communities. In ad-dition to this quantities in less than carload lots were sent to dozens of other places, ranging in amount from one box up to a large fraction of a car load. All parts of the state from which applications have been received are represented in the consignments sent from relief headquarters.

Present supplies appear to be adequate for present needs, and as there does not appear to be any diminution in the offerings there is no reason to believe that there will be any absolute suffering except, as stated, in Lynk cases which escape the attention of those rents, southeast of town.

Philip Eberhardt and Miss Ellis were ple in the afflicted portions.

Z. W. Lynk Charged with Embezzlement. BEATRICE, Jan. 20 .- (Special Telegram.)-Z. W. Lynk of the firm of Lynk & Penry that failed in business this week at Virginia, was arrested in this city late last night on a charge of embezzlement filed by J. V. Allen. Lynk is school district treasurer at Virginia and Allen is a director. The amount claimed to have been embezzled is $250. Lynk was placed under bond for $500 and trial fixed for February 14. At the time of his arrest, Lynk was passing through the city on the Rock Island road, returning from a trip to Illinois. He was met at the depot by Allen, who persuaded him to get off and me up town, where he was informed some of his friends wished to see him upon business matters, and he was taken into custody. Lynk has been looked upon as an exemplary citizen, and the turn affairs have taken caused much surprise and comment.

Its Usual Rate Paid When a Reduction Was Looked For-Some Figures Showing the Extent of Liquidation with European Creditors.

writes of the situation in Wall street:

"Since our advices of the 12th inst, there has been no important change in the direction or the volume of Wall street operations. The transactions on investment accounts have been moderate in amount, and speculation still remains largely restricted to professional operators. Events have supplied no conspicuous motive for new ventures on either the 'buil' or 'bear' side, and the two forces seem to be about evenly balanced. With a large supply of stock on the market, sellers might possibly be able to make some impression on prices, but, with the present limited holdings the 'bears' cannot sell any important lines of stock without encountering difficulty in borrowing shares to make their deliveries and exposing themselves to being squeezed. On Wednesday a better feeling was developed by Illinois Central declaring its usual rate of dividend, in place of making a reduction, as was generally expected. There are also other considerations calculated to bring the better class of dividend-paying stocks into demand. It seems to be generally conceded that they have now seen their worst experience, and that the fall in prices has more than discounted the recent adverse influences affecting them, so that, at current prices, they should be a good purchase. During the latter half of the week this feeling was distinctly apparent, and the transactions in expectation of better prices for good properties apparent for some time.

expectation of better prices for good properties produced a more hopeful tone than has been apparent for some time.

CAUSE OF LIQUIDATION.

"The treasury report on foreign commerce for the calendar year 1834 furnished matter for some transient pessimistic comment. The record shows the effect of the foreign distrust excited by our silver legislation of 1830 more strikingly than the returns of any of the three preceding years during which the Sherman act had been in operation. For the two fiscal years 1839-1 and 1891-2 combined, the foreign commercial movement, including that of gold and silver, showed an excess of exports over imports amounting to $330,000,000, or an average per year of $165,000,000. Taking the amount needed for payments of interest and dividends at the usually estimated sum of $100,000,000 per year, it follows that the balance of $35,000,000, went to pay for returned securities or to settle withdrawn credits. For the past year we had a net trade balance of $181,000,000 in our favor, and yet made a net export of gold amounting to $31,000,000, leaving $252,000,000 to be accounted for. Assuming $100,000,000 of that sum to have gone in the payment of dividends and interest, the remaining $162,000,000 will-gepresent our liquidations of various forms of foreign financial indebtedness, such as securities sent home, real estate mortgages, banking and other running balances, the owners of which preferred to withdraw from use here. With the foregoing figures covering three and one-half years, it is easy to see how, during the four and one-half years for which the silver act of 1880 has been in operation, we may have been driven into the liquidation of fully $350,000,000 of the principal of our various forms of debt to foreign countries.

"There can be little question about the cause of these immense withdrawals of capital to Europe. In the main, it signifies that our foreign creditors have become distrustful of our ability to save our selves from diffing upon the silver basis. Their fear is not so much a CURRENCY REFORM DELAYED.

United States are possible.

CURRENCY REFORM DELAYED.

"The prospects of currency legislation by the presetn congress are fast vanishing, if they have not wholly disappeared. Any general scheme for dealing with bank circulation becomes more impossible of hurried realization as diversities of opinion develop. Time must be allowed for the comparison and maturing of views; and sentiment seems to be drifting in favor of the appointment of a national commission of coninent experts who shall hear witnesses and report conclusions at the next session of congress. There is much to be said in favor of that course, especially as congressmen are imperfectly informed on the question, and as this method of treatment might develop the mature judgment of those best qualified to counsel better than any other. But the deranged condition of the treasury finances, and especially of the gold reserve, is a separate matter, which will not admit of any such postponement. A measure providing in the first place for deficiencies of revenue, and in the next for a fixed gold income, imperatively needs to be enacted at the pending session of congress, and it is hardly conceivable that the administration will fall to urge the adoption of a law to that effect at an early day. That being accomplished, the more acute and urgent difficulties will be overcome, and the question of retiring the legal tenders and filling their places with bank notes can be well allowed to stand over for a year without any immediate serious inconvenience. That is in the nature of a general currency measure, whilst the treasury problem is the much narrower one of re-establishing recent departures from the customary usages of making payments to the government in gold or gold certificates."

Securities Unusually Active Owing to the French Crisis. LONDON, Jan. 20.-With an easy market partly due to French purchases of consols, owing to the presidential crisis, the stock market was unusually active during last market was unusually active during last week, with a great increase in the volume of speculation. The buoyancy was equally felt in all the markets. The French crisis had hardly any adverse effect. Buying was no longer confined to merely investment securities. Home railway and foreign securities advanced. Victorian and other colonial issues recovered from their recent depression. Mining securities were rather less dealt in, owing to mechanical difficulties connected with the settlement of a heavy account. The tone of the market for American railroad securities was better than for months past. Reading and Union Pacific made fractional declines, but all the others advanced.

There the best man gets the decision without having to put his man out. No. I do not believe that puglism is dead. It has had a number of setbacks lately, but, mark my words, there will be a revival in a few years, and it will then be as popular as in the old days when the clubs fell over each other to get a fight pulled off. True, the public is against too heavy punishment and knockouts, when a man will stagger through a couple of rounds without a show of winning and only waiting for the knockout. I expect to make another try for championship honors, and I think I can show 'em I'm not the stale fellow I've been called. My increasing weight is the only thing that will keep me from going against the winner of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons go. I am heavier now than ever. I have no doubt that those rival champions will meet sooner or later, and you may safely bet that it's a sure tip that Lanky Bob has a good show of coming out first best. Accused of Selling Appointments in the Port Townsend Customs Office. PORT TOWNSEND, Jan. 20 .- For several days the local press has been teeming with open letters addressed to Collector of Customs Saunders charging him with selling customs house appointments and having straw men on the pay rolls. He ignored the charges completely.

Three sureties, representing four-fifths of his bond, began investigating and suddenly, without notice, wired the department asking to be relieved from any further responsibility The local democratic press declares the customs administration to be corrupt, and de-mands the strictest investigation on the part of the Treasury department. In one instance, it is alleged, Saunders appointed to house secretaries during Cleveland's first administration. He secured his present appointment through his acquaintance with Cleveland and with the assistance of H. G. Wallace of Tacoma, the national democratic committeeman, who is a son-in-law of Chief Justice Fuller. Saunders said: "This whole affair emanated from an unsuccessful attempt to blackmail me in giving out federal appointments to unworthy and incompetent persons. Not one word of the charge is true. Special Treasury Agent Cullom was here this week and made an informal investigation and is satisfied of my innocence. As to the alleged smuggling of Chinese oplum into the United States, that's all bosh."

It is alleged here that the department has instructed special agents and the United States district attorney to investigate the charges of alleged crookedness. In all probability a grand jury will be especially embility a grand jury will be especially em-

He told her he would find a customer for the stock and asked her to send to Chicago for it. She got the stock and Hager brought the customer to her, but she refused to let the securities go out of her hands unless she received the money. That ended the negotiations and the arrest of herself and Hager followed. Mrs. Adams expects her son to arrive from Chicago in the morning, and she has confidence she will be released after her hearing tomorrow.
