Workings of the State Relief Commission to Be Inquired Into.

RESULT OF THE DEBATE IN THE HOUSE

Statements Made by Secretary Ludden Lead to a Desire for Further Knowledge of the Operations of the Commission.

LINCOLN, Jan. 22.-(Special.)-After much contention and show of feeling, the house today decided upon an investigation of the actions of the State Relief commission. The investigation is the natural culmination of a long series of complaints that have been made in the public press, and in scores of letters to Individual members of the legislature. While it is true that no particular effort has been made to ward off an investigation, it is nevertheless true that the house has been loth to institute an inquiry into the workings of the commission, from the fact that, in spite of the numerous complaints, there has been a general feeling of confidence in the ability and integrity of Rev. L. P. Ludden, the secretary of the whole city of Omaha suffers. commission, and, in fact, its general manager and director.

The house has gradually worked itself t the point of declaring for an investigation. The first noticeable feelings of hostility were aroused in the all-day debate on the general relief bill last Saturday. The house, by a decisive majority, was in favor of the appropriation of $100,000. Individual members who opposed so large an appropriation quoted the secretary of the commission as authority for the statement that from $35 000 to $50,000 would be sufficient. Brady, the live and energetic member from Buffalo county, was one of the leaders in the move ment for the larger appropriation. This forenoon Brady offered a resolution calling for the immediate resignation of Secretary Ludden. The house was in no mood for so radical an act, and the resolution was tabled by a heavy majority. Later in the session Brady renewed the at-tack by offering the following resolution: Resolved, That a committee of five be ap-pointed to investigate the complaints made against the State Rellef commission and ascertain, if possible, the cause, and report the same to this house; also to report the amount of goods already delivered to was-orn sufferers.

amount of got orn sufferers. Cooley of Cass county endeavored to head off the investigation by moving to table the resolution, but only nine members were willing to oppose the object of the resolution Then it was adopted. Speaker Richards has not yet reported the names of the members to serve upon the committee, but is expected to do so in the morning.

HOW IT WILL PROCEED.

There is some doubt as to the precise manner in which the investigating committee shall take up the work. It is conceded that a more inspection of the letters of complaint received from the several coun ties of the drouth-stricken districts would hardly be a fair basis for the proposed investigation, for there would be no means of verifying the truth or credibility of the complaints. It is also conceded that a personal visit to the thirty-six counties included in the drouth district would be impracticable, as the investigation could not be made soon enough to alleviate any gencral suffering now neglected by the state commission.

Many members of the house have expressed their belief that a wide range should be taken in looking over the books and records of the commission, and that a statement should be prepared showing in detail all denations received by the commission, the names of the donors, wherever they can be obtained, and the towns and states from which the donations were received; that a second statement, should show in detail every county to which the shipment has been made, and the names of the committees or individuals receipting for the same; that another statement should show the cash reter and deprive them of the emoluments conferred upon them by reason of their present connection with the pay roll. The rotund and oleaginous inspector of meats made himself generally useful in and around the committee rooms, and excited many comments from members who do not exactly understand the real nature of the position he occupies. At any rate, he exhibited no credentials from the charter revision committee nor from the solid citizens who held a few sessions at the Commercial club rooms and made a few amendments on their own responsibility. Another interested individual from Omaha in attendance upon the meeting of the com-mittee way J. T. Wertz, who is ostensibly looking after the interests of the proposed Omaha canal. WILSON'S APPOINTMENT HELD UP.

From developments here tonight it looks as if there may be a fight in the senate over the confirmation of the appointment of Judge Wilson to be commandant of the Soldiers Home at Grand Island. Governor Holcomb sent the appointment to the senate nearly two weeks ago, and the senate in executive session referred the appointment to a commit-tee consisting of Senators Hahn, Sloan, Akers and two others. This committee has as yet done nothing toward considering the appoint-Today it was stated that Colonel Scoville, the present commandant, was here fighting the confirmation. Senator Hahn stated this evening that he had talked with oville about the matter recently. Scoville exhibited a large number of clippings from populist newspapers, charging him with disosty and irregularity in the conduct of the to be displaced without a hearing upon the charges made against him. At the request of his fellow members on the committee Sen-ator Sloan addressed a letter to Scoville, asking for full particulars of the alleged charges against him. The committee will do nothing in regard to the appointment until a reply is received from Scoville. Senator Hahn said that there was no disposition whatever on the part of the committee to hold up any ap-pointment that the governor might send into the senate, but if serious charges affecting the official integrity of Commandant Scoville had been made by the governor or by populist newspapers the committee would insist upon a full investigation before making any report to the marting and the second to the senate.

The exact course that will be pursued by the investigating committee is something yet to be decided upon. It is conceded that Repre-sentative Brady of Buffalo county will be chairman of the committee. The State Relief commission as organized at present was appointed by Governor Crounse about three months ago. It is composed of the following well known citi-zens of the state: W. N. Nason of Omaha, chairman; L. P. Ludden of Lincoln, scere-tary I. H. McClay of Lincoln, tragsurer: tary; J. H. McClay of Lincoln, treasurer Thompson of Broken Bow, C. J. Erns of Lincoln, Rev. James Duryea of Omaha, Henry Sprick of Fontonelle, J. W. Hartley and A. J. Sawyer of Lincoln.

SOME OF THE OBJECTIONS.

While the personnel of the commission is perhaps all that might be required to give it standing in the state, it yet remains said that several circumstances have com-bined to render the commission a poorly selected body of men. A. J. Sawyer is the United States district attorney and the duties of his office have required his entire time. Rev. Dr. Duryea has been seriously ill for many weeks and could therefore give the commission no part of his time. R. R. commission no part of his time. Chairman Nason has been unable to give the necessary time to the active duties of the commission.

Secretary Ludden has been the head and front of the commission. That he should not have been compelled to bear the whole bur-den of the immense amount of labor involved in the relief work is admitted by himself and nceded by all who have informed themselves as to the workings of the com-

No one is disposed to criticise or call in question the individual ability or integrity of the commission. Individually the members are able, conscien-tious men. Collectively they have been a tious men. Colle practical failure.

WHY IT IS NEEDED.

Representative Brady says that he desires to cast no reflection on the honesty of Rev. L. P.
