The meetings so far at the Latter Day aints' church are well attended. Several Saints' applications have been made for baptism. The subject for tonight is "Are God and Christ One Person?" For Thursday night, "The Holy Ghost, What is It?"

Articles of incorporation were filed with the county recorder yesterday by the Dinsmore Remedy company, composed of H. O. Skin-ner, W. O. Coleman, E. L. Johnson and W. A. Page, all of San Antonio. The capital stock is $50,000, and the object of the corporation is to treat diseases of the blood and nerves and catarrh.

Henry Wagner, who keeps a grocery store at the corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street, left his store unlocked for a few minutes Monday night at about 9 o'clock. When he returned he found that some one whose hunger had proved the master of him had entered and taken away a lot of bacon and bread, together with $5 in cash.

The Sixth Ward Republican club held a meeting Monday evening at L. M. Shubert's store for the purpose of organizing for the spring campaign. Mr. Shubert was elected store for the purpose of organizing for the spring campaign. Mr. Shubert was elected president and Forrest Smith secretary, and it was decided to hold meetings every Mon-day evening. The members of the club have day evening. The members of the club have strong hopes of electing a republican alderman from that ward next spring.

At the meeting of the city council last evening the petition remonstrating against the peddler's license, signed by about all the fruit dealers and grocerymen in town, was presented and discussed for an hour with a good deal of feeling. It is contended that the license scheme is directly in the interest of the Omaha itinerant fruit and vegetable dealers. No action was taken, but the matter was referred to the committee of the whole to report at the next meeting.

Some Northwestern railroad men found an old man lying under the bridge across In-dian creek, at Eleventh street, last night. They were passing on the track, and heard vided all along that they should be not less than eighteen inches square, but they were made much smaller than that. The new cards are a plump eighteen inches, and loom up on the side of a house like circus posters on a bill board. on a bill board.

he said he was at home wher-ever he met a brother butcher. He recounted the history of the national organization, which had been in existence really since 1876, when it was called into C. S. Crafton, the alleged diamond robber, has come and gone, Justice Cook holding that being in answer to the cry that was going there was no conclusive evidence to warrant up against monopolists, which more particu-larly meant the western dressed beef packhis being turned over to the grand jury. He his being turned over to the grand yiely. He was given a preliminary examination yes-terday morning, all the trainmen and J. W. Wombold, the victim, being present. The evidence was lacking in several material particulars. The prosecution was unable to show that the theft had really taken place, because no one saw 0 done. If the disuond ers, whose meats were coming into such sore ompetition with retail butchers in eastern citles. While they were successful in their war against these first encroachments of the packers they were successful to a degree in some other things. They were instru-mental in passing inspection laws, but packbecause no one saw it done. If the clamond was stolen, no one could swear that it had ers had too much money, and the butchers failed on account of the lack of nothing taken place in any particular county, so that the Pottawattamic courts could not ac-quire jurisdiction. Circumstantial evidence was all the prosecution had to go on, and so the courts discharged the defendant. Howard is to have his hearing tomorrow morning at 6 cilcular that time having hear else but money, going as far as it was possible for small local associations to go.

The butchers sought to make th packers brand their lard for just what it was, for the nondescript stuff that the packers were selling under the name of refined lard, commorning at 9 o'clock, that time having been agreed upon as most convenient for the railway men who are to testify. There is a strong probability of his case going the same way as Crafton's, and for the same reason, in spite of the fact that his actions after the alleged robbery were such as to lead to the conclusion that he was guilty. Some little criticism was indulged in on account of the manner in which the prose-

Our organization is spreading with wonderful rapidity of law suits as well as the county attorney. In this instance, there is some doubt as to until now it covers the greater part of the Inited States, We need protection against whether the presence of the county attorney would have changed the result, inasmuch as these large packers, who are not satisfied with the hides, hoofs, horns and tallow, but who the state had a very poor case, from a tech-nical standpoint. It has been customary, They were passing on the track, and heard his groans. He was in an insensible state of intoxication, and had fallen from the bridge, and was badly hurt. One eye seemed to be gouged out, and he was covered with cuts and bruises. The patrol wagon was called, and he was taken to the police sta-tion. Papers on his person showed that he was an old soldier. The placards which are being made for houses where infectious diseases are found are to be much larger than before, and not that have proved so offensive to many sensitive persons. It seems the law has pro-vided all along that they should be not less than eighteen inches square, but they were want the heart also. We want to hold them nowever, to allow cases to take care of them has been had, and in this way many a hardened criminal has been able to secure a discharge when the advice of a competent attorney might have sufficed to hold him. The taxpayers, who foot the bills for arresting and prosecuting persons charged with crimes, are beginning to wake up over this matter, and a protest is likely to be made before long in a way that will command the attention of the authorities. #### HOWE AND MAJORS ACTIVE. There was a gathering of about twenty-five Grand Army men in Lincoln yesterday after-noon, all champions of Church Howe in his effort to secure a re-election as department commander at the coming encampment at Hastings. Up to the present time his prin-cipal competitor has been Captain A. E. Adams of Superior, who was chairman of the last republican state convention. Not con-tent with aspiring to the position now held by Howe, Adams has another iron in the by Howe, Adams has another from in the fire not calculated to enhance the physical comfort of the Nemaha warrior and states-man. He proposes to make T. J. Majors the senior vice commander of the department, thus placing him in direct line for promotion to the highest honor one year from now. Majors' supporters for the position of senior vice commander are Adams, Russell and a few other friends who were so prominent in the determination to force him upon the state ticket last fall as the candidate for governor against the protests of a formidable body of republicans. The fight between Majors and Howe at this time may not be of especial interest to the general public, but it is of intense interest to these two Grand Army comrades themselves and the coming encampment at Hastings promises to be the scene of a lively contest.

sociation and organized a state and local union. They were successful at once, and up to a few days ago have enjoyed the full retail trade. At the first of this year Nelson Mor-ris of Chicago came in and partially succeeded in getting the packers to break their contract, leading the way by opening retail shops all over the city. I need need buy. not tell you what method was pursued by the National association, but a dispatch which I hold in my hand dated Kansas iCty January 14, says Nelson Morris has made satisfactory arrangements with the local butchers, but Morris is now com-plaining that butchers in hundrade of town plaining that butchers in hundreds of town are not buying meat of him, and while not deigning to answer our communications : while ago he is now ready and anxious to meet our committee which convenes in a few days in St. Louis. "If we organize as a national association we can make every packer who is injuring our business come to time. I understand is not a hotel in this city or Omaha that is not supplied by packers or whole-salers. With a national association we can make these packers feel that they cannot dictate to the retailers as well as to the poor ranchmen. Unless we do organize it will not be long until they will crowd us out of existence. Every state where inspec-tion laws have failed the failure is because of the money corruptly used by packers and wholesalers."

SHAKER'S EXPERIENCE.

Then the speaker went ahead and detailed some of his observations and experiences in Chicago, St. Ltuis and other large citle before the packers were intereferred with by local inspection laws. They would butcher anything. He had seen in Chicago cattle hauled away from the yards in hos-pital wagons stricken with Texas fever and slaughtered and the meat delivered by the packers to the retailers within a few hours.

These facts reached the European consumers and they quit buying, shut out our meat by rigid laws. This called for national inspecwhich the packers favored, but favored only for the benefit of their European trade. He denounced the federal inspections as farce to the broadest character.

The benefits of a national association as a preventive of deadbeatism was dwelt upon. and was shown to be another of the many the way shown to be another of the many beneficent features of organization, and that it alone was worth more than the cost of the association to the members. A state charter would cost $50, and local charters $10, while the annual dues of members would only be 50 cents.

A general discussion of the question was then held. Mr. Pace of oCuncil Bluffs asked what would be the result when the buchers refused to buy from the wholesalers who re-tail when we are situated like we are here, with three packing houses all engaged in retailing and no I cal slaugter houses to fall back upon. Mr. Brokate explained that in that case the national association would take hold of the matter, pick out the worst of the offenders, throw the trade to the one best house, and if that failed another method would be ad pied, which would be explained in secret session later on. The sime problem was up in St. Louis now and whose identity is still a mystery, had told him that by digging up the sod at a certain point in the southwest corner of the park he would find a pot of gold and other val-uables, which would make him rich for life. In the federal court this morning the case of Mrs. Jennie F. Stevens and Maude Stevens, her daughter, against the Bankers' Life Insurance company of Minnesota and the Northwest Mutual Life of Milwaukee some color was given to this statement by the fact that some one, presumably the orig-inator of the joke, had loosened up the sod and made it appear as though something had been buried there recently. He worked came on for hearing. The plaintffs sue for policies on the life of George Stevens, hus-band and father, who has been absent from

Just what connection Officer Weir of the police force has with the case cannot now be learned. He admits that Bresse came to him with a request that he be allowed to do a little gold mining there, and said that he had chosen 3 o'clock in the morning for fear of interruption. Weir told him to go ahead, but he denies emphatically that he had any Counsel today showed the jury that Stevens had become the sole owner of the Bank of Crete with the exception of some $600 in stock, held by his wife. The capital stock of the bank was $55,000, but $38,000 of this was fictitious, as only $12,000 was paid up. The state banking board had been after him, as his cash reserve was far below the limit. Neither had the bank complied with the law by publishing a financial statement, and, when pressed, had published a false state-ment to the world by saving that the entire capital stock of $50,000 was paid in.
