IN MUSICAL CIRCLES.

Doings of the Men and Women Who Compose the Work of Tone. One of the greatest vocal artists of the world today is a young American, now and for a number of years in Paris, Mr. Charles Holman-Black. He is a son of Prof. J. S. Holman of Indianapolis, himself a vocalist and teacher of high rank.

Mr. Antonin Dvorak, who will have an article upon "Music in America" in the February number of Harper's Magazine, will say as to music in this country: "The white composers who wrote the negro songs which dimmed Thackeray's spectacle with a corked face and a banjo sings a little song, strikes a wild note, which sets the whole heart thrilling with happy pity."

absence. Mme. Muensterfer played the "Humorous Blacksmith" by Handel with a great deal of discrimination, although there was a sentiment present that her tempo was too slow. However, her madame justified her interpretation by playing from an exceedingly old score, the moderns being more inclined to accelerate the time and the Largo for violin was capitally given, although the organ seemed a trifle above pitch, which may have been due to the atmosphere of the room.

Mme. Adeline Patti, who left Craig-Nor castle January 10 for her projected tour on the continent sang in Herlin Tuesday of last week. Concerts in Vienna, Leipzig and Dresden will be given in turn, in each instance with the assistance of an orchestra.

has a good technique and phrases with a great deal of discrimination for so young a player. The "Philharmonic club" also won well deserved applause at this entertainment for singing "Let the Hills and Valies Resound." Mr. Charles and Miss Daisy Higgins entertained the pupils of the grammar grade of the Lake school last Friday afternoon by giving a violin and piano recital in the large class room.

The following program will be given under the auspices of the Omaha Postoffice Clerks association at the Young Men's Christian association auditorium, Tuesday evening, February 5: PART I. Overture—Poet and Peasant.....Suppe. Postoffice Orchestra.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—The finding of the dead body of Rebecca Land in the McLean building yesterday, the supposed cause of death being cancer, developed today into a sensation of a character similar to the Denver strangling case. Though the room in which the woman was found showed no evidence of struggle, today's discoveries indicate murder. An autopsy upon the body was completed this afternoon, and as a result it was announced that the woman was strangled.

RESTRICED FROM SELLING THE PROPERTY. CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Judge Jenkins today issued a preliminary injunction restraining the officers of the Hicks Stock Car company from disposing of the property of the concern. The action was taken pending the hearing of arguments for the appointment of a receiver. The receiver is asked for by R. J. Whitney, a stockholder, who charges the officers with a deliberate attempt to wreck the company. The Hicks Stock Car company was organized under the laws of West Virginia, with a capital of $500,000.

California's Winter Has Begun. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The flood which for months has deluged California with water is over and the fine winter has commenced. The wind has made it a little cold, the temperature averaging about 50 degrees. Frost is frequent, but warmer weather is predicted during the next few days.
