PRINCIPAL WITNESS WAS NOT ON HAND

Ex-Deputy Anditor Roberts, on Whom the State Relled, Could Not Be Produced and the Court Directed an Acquittal. 171 177.00-44.23

SIOUX CITY, Feb. 5 .- (Special Telegram.)-A sensation was created today when it was announced that T. E. Bevington, excounty attorney, on trial for defrauding the county, had been acquitted by the jury by instruction of Judge Gaynor. There was not a syllable of testimony taken. County Attorney Hall made strong protest. This morning when the case came up for trial the county attorney asked a continuance on the ground of the absence of the principal witness for the prosecution, ex-Deputy Auditor Roberts. He hoped to produce Roberts in reasonable time. The defnese demanded immediate trial and the court granted the demand. The county attorney then offered to dismiss the case, but the defense insisted on acquittal. The court again decided against the state, and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal. There are four more indictments pending against Bevington.

ALEXANDER CHARLES CONFIRMED

Cedar Rapids' Postmaster Finally Given : Clear Title to the Place.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Feb. 5 .- (Special Telegram.)-The confirmation of Alexander Charles by the senate for postmaster of this city ends one of the bitterest fights in lowa. There were three or four candidates for postmaster, but Charles received the appointment about three weeks ago. The other candidates since that time have waged a most bitter war against Charles. All kinds of charges have been preferred, and affidavit after affidavit has been hurried to Washington. Telegrams by the score have also been sent protesting against the confirmation of Charles. Election Judges Exceed Their Authority, but Voters Do Not Suffer. DES MOINES, Feb. 5.-(Special Tele gram.)-An important ruling under the Iowa ballot law was made today. The district delegate being loud in his praises of Omaha court decided the supervisor contest in favor has been employed as day porter at the Ogden hospitality and cherishing fond recollections of Fisher, declared elected by the county canvassers, but unseated by the contest board. The ground of the latter action was the altertion in order to correct an error in the name of a candidate for a township office, which al-teration, the contest board held, made all the ballots so marked illegal, and they were accordingly thrown out. Judge Stevenson de-cided that this action of the contest board was unauthorized, that the ballots so thrown out were official ballots, and that as they had not been marked by the voters they must be counted as cast. The court holds that the act of the judges of election in making the alteration was an excess of authority, but it does not affect the validity of the votes cast

From an intimate friend it was learaed that the lieutenant will be married Thursday afternoon, February 21, to Miss Suzan Abercromble, at the residence of the bride's parents, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia. The bride, a lady of refinement and rare accomplishments, is the daughter of Briga-dier General John J. Abercromble, retired, and a sister of Lieutenant W. R. Abercrom-ble of the Second infantry. Lieutenant Wil-son and bride will be at home at Fort Omaha about March I. No officer at the fort is held in higher esteem in civil and military circles than Lieutenant Wilson, who received the con-gratulations of many warm personal friends upon his approaching nupfuls. He is a genial, companionable gentleman, popular in social as well as literary circles. As a writer of short stories Lieutenant Wilson has met with flattering success. About a year ago Harper's published one of his stories, "My Bunkie," a romance of soldier life in Arizona during the Apache cam-paign, and Lippincoits will soon present a story from his pen. Lieutenant Wilson has also published a small volume of short stories, which has reached a large sale. The story "A Boldier's Sweetheart" pob-sesses rare literary merit. During his so-journ in the east Lieutenant Wilson will by invitation read a short comedy before the Lamb's club, in New York. n action in the district court yesterday gainst Wheeler & Hereld of this city, de-Prominent Ethnologist Dead.
