SCALDED BY AN EXPLOSION.

Charles Forman Sustains Injuries that May Prove Fatal.

Alfred Forman, living at 1320 South Thirty second avenue, was severely scalded by the bursting of the heater in the furnace room

Young Forman, who is in the habit of making occasional visits to the furnace room, had on this occasion gone to the room some time moval of the clothes. He was removed to Mr. Palmer's, a neighbor, where physicians were summoned and the wounds dressed. The physicians report that his recovery is doubtful owing to the nervous shock received, which was more severe than the in juries sustained from the hot water. The young man has been unconscious since the accident occurred, but some hopes of his heater and other fixtures in the room were

CHANGES IN COUNTY JAIR

Judge Scott Wants the Grand Jury to Rec ommend Several of Them.

Women Should Have Cells in a Distinct Apartment and a Matron to Look After Them-Eleven Indictments for Small Offenses Found.

The grand jury returned five more indict ments last night and then adjourned until next Monday morning. The jury will be in session all of next week, and possibly for some time longer. It is understood that on Monday evening on "Japan and the Japan-Monday the investigation of the gambling ese." question will be begun, and the indications

Before the jury filed out of the court room after the foreman had handed the indictments to the court Judge Scott stated grand masquerade ball at Germania hall on that he had a matter which he wished to bring to their attention. He had heard, he said, that there was no provision made in blood poisoning. The remains will be forthe county jail for the care of boys, but that warded to Chicago for interment. they were put with the men who were in the jail, and who were criminals of various will be buried from the residence of his degrees. He said that nothing would ruin a father-in-law, Mr. R. Sketchley, 1821 Burt boy more quickly than being placed in the companionship of such men. He had also heard, he continued, that there was no matron in the jail, but that all women who were imprisoned were placed in the companionship and under the care of men. He thought that this should not be, and asked the jury "in the name of humahity" to look into the matter. In answer to a question from one of the jurors as to whether the jury had the right to do more than report, he said that whatever report the jurors brought in would have great weight with the court and wread right to do more than report, he said that whatever report the Jurors brought in would have great weight with the court, and urged them to bring in a report couched in such language as would show strongly what their language as would show strongly what their conclusions were. While he did not say positively that he desired them to order separate quarters for boys and separate quarters are quarters for boys and separate quarters. The nonappearance of Mrs. R. E. Sunder-land, elocutionist of the Mozart Quartet company, during the past three months is due to a privated throat trouble, which now the intimated as and a matron for women, he intimated as much. He added that he had brought the matter to the attention of the county commissioners, but, whether it was their fault or not, nothing had been done.

Each barrel of garbage or refuse matter, thirty gallons or more in size, 20 cents; barrels, boxes or other receptacles of less than thirty gallons of garbage or other refuse matter, for each ten gallons, 10 cents.

As soon as the contract was awarded to Mc-Donald he shut out all of the other garbage haulers of the city, and they at once brought nations of the city, and they at once brought suit, Henry Coombs posing as the leader. In their petition they alleged that the city council had exceeded its authority, and that in giving McDonald an exclusive contract, a monopoly had been created. The case went into the courts and was heard by the equity judges, numerous affidavits being filed, showing how the contract was obtained and what ing how the contract was obtained and what enforced. After being argued, the court held that it was beyond the power of the city council to enter into such a contract, that it At the Mercer: George Cox, St. Louis; H. H. Wailace, Tekamah; F. C. Howell, who acted as chairman in the absence of Major Halford, introduced Councilman Howell, who opened Councilman Howell prefaced his remarks July he had introduced in the council a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to arrange a charter under which South Omaha and the greater portion of the county should be included within the city limits. The direct object of this change was to decrease the cost of government and to equalize taxation throughout the county.

After a number of meetings the committee finally prepared its report, which was put into the form of a bill which is now before the legislature.

MAKING OF CHARTERS. City Engineer Rosewater was called on flooded Thursday by the bursting of a water pipe in the second story of his building. by the chairman to make a few remarks on the matter and responded. He said that he was not very enthusiastic over the success that the amendments would meet in the legislature. In his opinion Omaha would Young Men's Christian association star series never get an ideal government until, like other large cities, it obtained home rule. Charters which had been formed out of the experience of years could be entirely overthrown in a few hours by a legislature whose members knew nothing of city government. St. Louis and Kansas City are now being governed by charters which were made by the citizens. Under a constitutional amend-The members of the Omaha Schwaben ment the cities of the state of Missouri are allowed to hire competent men to frame a charter, which is then submitted to the people. Under the present system the city has no voice in the assess-ment at all, it being made by nine mer elected by the county, who turn the lists over to the city. Under this system the rich men pay only a small proportion of the taxes, the chief burden falling upon the poor man. The water works company, to which the city pays $86,000 annually, is assessed at $70,000, although its property and stock is worth $9,000,000. The street railway company, which is worth $4,500,000 in prop-

They were suspected of disposing of some stolen flour. The evidence showed that they had been practicing deceit on the superintendent of the county poor by representing themselves to be in need of assistance. They would take turns in going after the provisions furnished by the county, and would usually take flour, which was the ensiest disposed of. In this manner they succeeded in beating the county out of 200 or 3.0 pounds of flour, after which they sold it to some of their friends. The judge read them a severe lecture and then gave them a heavy sentence.
