rive safely; we never gave up hope."

QUARANTINE, Feb. II.—When the Associated Press dispatch at 4:35 p. m. first announced that La Gascogne was sighted off Fire Island flags previously agreed upon as signals were hoisted on the office of the French line, upon the World building and over the offices of all the Associated Press newspapers, joyfully announcing York and through the wires of the Associated press to the United States and Canada that the long overdue steamer was safe. Then followed a mad rush for Bowling Green, and by 4:30 the offices of the French line were packed with excited people having relatives or friends on board the disabled steamship so anxiously expected for eight days past and almost given up for lost.

TUGS SENT TO MEET HER. had three daughters aboard the Gascogne and who had lost a dearly beloved child only a month ago, wept as if his heart would break, and many others had handkerchiefs to get and three influential inclined. The French colony down to Sandy Hook. The second boat, the Edwin M. Millard, which was placed at left New York at 8 p. m., was placed at the disposal of the press by the French line and carried down to Quarantine about fifty newspeper men to add to the fifty already there, backing up fifty others who were on board tugs cruising about among the ice floes | distance. The trib down to Quarantine in the moonlight, crashing through the ice, buffeting into the arctic wind blowing, was a delightfully bracing experience in spite of the cold. One and all seemed to feel the excitement of the moment, the joy fell on the receipt of the news telling of the rescue, apparently from a terrible calamity, of about 450 souls splendid ocean steamship, valued at about $1,000,000, and having on board a cargo valued at about $500,000. Therefore cargo valued at about $500,000. Therefore what mattered it if the interior of the little tug's pilot house was like an ice chest and that one's breath froze all over his face. In feebound Quarantine, which part of Staten Island was hemmed in by an apparently im-penetrable ice field, all was light and joility. The new and handsome build-ings devoted to the use of the Associated press ship news office, and the office of the health officer of the port of New York was blazing with electric lights and alive with newspaper men who carried their enthusiasm to the extent of gathering on the pier head to the number of say 100 and singing more or less melodiously: "Nearer My God to Thec." It was quite touching, so much so that two boat captains and four deck hands were converted on the spot and joined in the singing with fervor. Pickets were posted on every hill and close watch was kept on the telegraph office and telephone room, for with all the enthusiasm the gentlemen of the press were on the watch for the slightest crumb of news. One light down the bay was watched with anxious interest. Every rumor was carefully sifted and chronicled; every echo of a report was investigated and little more could be gathered than the dull fact that away off Fire Island a steamer, apparently disabled, was slowly, painfully threading her way to port, and under her own steam at that. That was the milk in the cocoanut. But one rumor had it that she was being towed in by two ocean steamers; another had her in tow of one steamer only, and a third would insist that it was not certainly La Gazcogne. Lit tle by little the good news beamed out brightly from the mists of uncertainty, and nearer and nearer came the gallant steamship with its happy human freight. BOARDED THE BOLIVIA.

The first and only real break in the monot-ony of the night's cold watch on the snow-clad shores of Staten Island, on that icecovered pier, by those floe-laden waters, was the sighting, coming around Fort Wadsworth, of the Bolivia, Captain Baxter, from Mediterranean ports. It was believed she had passed near La Gascogne. In fact, some of towing the disabled French steamer. Hence there was a wild desire upon the part of everybody to board her and get the latest news. It was not an easy job. The ice off shore was almost solid, but a tug cruised its way slowly along the steamer and Captain Baxter was interviewed as he was preparing to let go his anchor. Captain Bax-ter and h's chief officer took turns at watch-La Gascogne closely through a powerful marine glass, and they came to the conclusion that her machinery was disabled. Pilot Nich-olas Reach also took a squint at the slowly moving craft, and the opinion was expressed the she was down by stern, and it was judged that either her propeller shaft or rudder, or both, were disabled.

No News from Lost Fishermen NEW YORK, Feb. 11.-After having been suspended for several days by reason of the term and ice, communication with Swinburn island was resumed today. Nothing has been seen or heard on the island of the four fishermen belonging to the schooner Emma, which drifted ashore on the ice on the west bank on the night of February 7. The remaining members of the schooner's crew, after a terrible ex-perience, managed to reach the lighthouse keeper's dwelling at Fort Tompkins in an exhausted condition.

Ashland Drug Clerk Takes a Few Shots at Night Prowlers. ASHLAND, Neb., Feb. 11.-(Special.)-

About 11 o'clock last night "Huck" Clark "Solly" Wakefield and John Moshier, concluding to have some fun, put a tich-tack on the window of a drug store in which a clerk was sleeping. When he awoke he turned on the burglar alarm, which failed to raise any assistance on the outside, because of the lateness of the hour. Then he opened the door and stepped out and fired three shots at the receding figures in the shade of a building, but missed the mark. By this time the night police had arrived, and the two succeeded in rounding up the supposed burglars.

DEATH ADDED TO WANT. Mournful Fortunes of a Painter and His Huddled around a cook stove, which had long since served its usefulness, and which gave out more smoke than heat, sat J. E. Jacobs and his children of 1505 South Fourteenth street, yesterday, while on a dilapi dated looking bed lay the dead body of the wife and mother.

Jacobs is a painter, who has been out of work for nearly a year, and the sickness of his wife, who wast suffering from consumption, has used up their small savings, until now they have nothing to eat, wear or keep warm with. Five little achildren, the eldest aged 9 years, and the youngest 8 months, were crying as if their hearts would break, while the bereaved husband tried to minister to their wants and console their grief. Too proud to make known his needs, Mr. Jacobs has suffered poverty in silence, and his family has done without the actual neces. sities of life. The dreaded disease, consump-tion, was steadily making inroads upon the health of his wife, and he could hardly buy medicine for her. Yesterday the woman was attacked by a severe hemorrhage of the ungs, and shortly afterward death ended her sufferings. The little children who had gathered about the bed to witness the'r mother breathe her iast were distracted when they learned that their best friend had gone from them forever. One of the little girls ran out of the house sobbing and the attention of a kind neighbor was attracted. Then the true state of affairs ecame known and the little ones were removed to more comfortable quarters, while the authorities were notified to prepare the emains for interment. In telling this sad story to reporters terday Mr. Jacobs could not repress sorrow, but he bravely bore up under his affliction. He said that he came to Omaha two years ago from Lexington, Neb. He se-cured work at his trade until hard times came and then his wife became afflicted with lung troubles which resulted in her death. He had saved some money, but the expenses of living and maintaining a large family soon depleted the small treasury and now he was absolutely without means or the necessities of life. He said that if he could raise enough money he would send his children to a more fortunate brother, as he could not bear the hought of having his little ones dependent upon the charity of strangers. A number of ersons have interested themselves in behalf of the family and are providing for their immediate wants, but they will need more as-

The plan was to find 1,000 men and women in Omaha who would form a citizens' relief PIERCE, Neb., Feb. 11.-(Special.)-A auxiliary to the Associated Charities and buy nemberships at $5 each. Individual sub c le tions for a less amount or donations of any kind will also be received by Secretary Laughland of the Associated Charities. If one man wants to buy ten, or any number of memberships, in the rescue club he can do so, and there is no limit to contributions less than $5. This was thought to be the most feasible manner in which to raise a popular subscription to save the Associated Charities from impending dissolution. Committees of three will be apointed in each church, the Commercial and Omaha clubs, among the business men, and arious charitable and benevolent organizations, secret societies, and among occupants of large buildings where employes want to form a club and buy memberships in this army of 1,000 c'tizens, good and true, propose to fight poverty and protect the poor of the city from distress.

Next Sunday sermons will be delivered by pastors of this city appealing for help and urging each congregation to respond to the needs of the penniless and hungry. The county funds for charity are being exhausted at the rate of $1,000 per week, and the Associated Charities is simply dragging along with an occasional handout from some good-hearted citizen to help it along. Hence the speakers yesterday urged immediate action to raise the amount of $5,000 asked for by Secretay Laughland to bridge the organization ver until spring.

Many sad cases of destitution, temporarily elleved by church societies and the Associated Charities, were reported yesterday, and, after listening to speeches from Rev. Dr. Hellings, Secretary Laughland, County Commissioner Jenkins, T. L. Kimball, Rev. Leo M. Franklin, Rev. John Williams, Revs. Bryant and Butler, John Rush, Alderman Prince and others, the meeting was thoroughly aroused with sympathy, and a resolution, which embodied the sentiment mentioned, was unanimously adopted.

Mayor Bemis presided and Secretary Laughland recorded the proceedings. There was a good attendance and it was generally conceded that if the people of Omaha would now come to the front and respond to an official appeal for help, to be issued by the officers of the Associated Charities and Mayor Bemis, the deserving poor would be provided for and lives will be saved.

BERING SEA DOCUMENTS.

President Sends a Batch of Papers and Reports to the Senate, WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.-The president sent the following message to congress on the Bering sea question.

To the Senate-On the 8th day of January I received a copy of the following senate resolution:

"Resolved. That the president be required if not incompatible with the public interests. to communicate to the senate all reports. documents and other papers, including logs of vessels, relating to the enforcement of the regulations respecting fur scals adopted by the governments of the United States and Great Britain in accordance with the tribunal of arbitration convened at Paris and the regulations under which said reports are re-quired to be made, as well as relating to the number of seals taken during the season of 1894 by pelagic hunters and by the lessees of the Pribyloff and Commander islands; also relating to the steps which may have been taken to extend the said regulations to the Asiatic islands of the north Pacific ocean and Bering sea and to secure the concurrence f other nations in said regulations; and further, all papers not hertofore published, including communications of the agent of the United States before said tribunal at Paris relating to the claims of the British government on account of the seizure of sailing vessels in the Bering sea."

In compliance with said request I here with transmit sundry papers, documents and reports which have been returned to me by the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of the navy, to whom said resolution was referred. I am not in possession of any further information touching the various subjects embodied in such resolution. It will be seen from a letter from the secretary of the navy accom-panying the papers and documents sent from is department that it is impossible to fur aish at this time the complete log books of some of the naval vessels referred to in the resolution, but I venture to express the hope that the reports of the commanders of such vessels herewith submitted will be found to contain in substance so much of the matters recorded in said log books as are important in answering the inquiries addressed to me

GROVER CLEVELAND. Executive Mansion, February 11, 1895. PELAGIC SEALING UNPRECEDENTED

The message is accompanied by a letter from the secretary of the treasury, who puts the number of seals killed by pelagic hunt-ers in the Northern Pacific and Bering sea in 1894 at 142,000, and says of this number about 60,000 were killed in Bering sea and on the American side of the North Pacific. He also states 15,033 seals were taken on the Pribyloff Islands by the North American Commercial company. The unofficial figures place the number killed on the Commander islands at 27,285. The secretary also transmits the logs of the Rush, Bear and Corwin in relation to the enforcement of the Paris tribunal regulataions and closes with the statement that the papers forwarded "con situte all the reports and documents in the department which it is deemed compatible with the interests of the government to transmit to congress at this time." The correspondence includes 129 letters and telegrams. In a letter of January 23 to Sir Julian Pauncefote, after referring to the seal killing of the year, which was, he says, unprecedented in the history of pelagic sealing. Secretary Gresham says: "It would appear the vessels engaged in Bering sea, although one-third of the total number employed in the North Pacific, in four or five weeks killed 31,585 seals, not only 8,000 more than were killed in Bering sea in 1891 (the last year the sea was open), but even more than the total number killed dur-ing the four months on the American side of the North Pacific ocean this season.

"This startling increase in the pelagic slaughter on both the American and Asiatic herds has convinced the president and cannot fall to convin eller maje ty's go enment that the regulations enacted by the Paris tribuna have not operated to protect the seal herds from that destruction which they were designed to prevent, and that unless a speedy change in the regulations be brought ex-termination of the herds must follow. Such a deplorable result must, if possible, be averted.

INVESTIGATING COMMISSION SUGGES-TION. Mr. Gresham suggests that in order to add to our scientific knowledge a committee be appointed, consisting of one or more men, to investigate. He would have the men visit the Asiatic side of the North Pacific and pass among other things upon the proper measures to protect the herd from destruction and allow its increase in such numbers as to per-manently furnish an annual supply of skins. He adds that he is directed by the president to propose such a commission, and he also submits terms of a modus vivendi to be ob-It has been decided by the wholesale bread dealers of the city to mak: the price afty loaves for $1. the Asiatic shore, and be enforced during the coming season in the whole of the Pacific ocean and waters north of that line. Furthermore, that sealing in Bering sea be absorbed. lutely prohibited pending the report of such commission." He suggests the necessity of speedy action. SOME BYGONE BLIZZARDS.

Leaves from the Experience of the Oldest Inhabitant. That venerable and veraclous character the oldest inhabitant, gives the St. Louis Globe-Democrat a few chapters on former cold spells. List to his tale: In the year 401 the Black sea was frozen

In 784 the Black sea was frozen to a dis-tance of fifty miles from shore. The Helles In 184 the Black sea was frozen to a distance of fifty miles from shory. The Hellespont and Dardanelles were frozen, and the sea of Marmora was passable for cavalry. In 1963 the river Thames was frozen over for fourteen weeks. All the rivers of the continent were frozen, and even south of the Alps the Po and many other streams were blocked with ice.

In 1294 the Cattegat was covered with ice soven feet thick. Batteries of artilizry were moved to and fro on the strait.

In 1323 the Baltic sea was frozen over, and during three months travelers passed from the continent to Sweden on the ice. Heavy wagon trains were substituted for the trading vessels.

In 1433 the Thames and all other rivers of England and Scolland froze over; the Seine, Rhime and Danub's were closed to navigation early in December. The Dardanelles and Hellespont froze, as did many bays and inlets of the Mediterranean Ice formed in Algiers, and the Strait of Gibraltar was almost impassible from drift ice.

In 160 the Baltic again froze over so as to permit travel on the ice. In Germany deer sought the towns for refuge from wolves. Packs of wolves came into the clies and attacked the people in the streets.

In 154 the cold was so severe in Holland streets.

In 1544 the cold was so severe in Holland that wine was cut in blocks and sold by weight. In 1594 all the rivers of North Europe were frozen before Christmas. The Cattegat froze, together with a large part of the Baltic. The sea at Venice froze so that during three weeks no boats could be used. The Tiber froze at Rome and men crossed it on the ice, a thing never known before nor since.

1658 the bays and inlets of North Eu-In 1658 the bays and inlets of North Eu-rope froze over early in December. Charles X of Sweden crossed the strait to Den-mark with his whol? army, including the artillery, baggage and provision trains. In 1648 the Thames was covered with ice over a foot thick. Booths were erected for a fair, which was held on the river. Coaches plied to and fro on the ic? as on dry land. All the French ports were closed for three or four weeks, the harbors being frozen over.

In 1691 the cold was so severe in eastern Europe that packs of starving wolves entered Vienna and attacked men and women in the streets. All the canals of Venice were frozen, and the principal mouth of the Nile was blocked with floating ice for a week.

In 1740 the Thames was frozen for eleven weeks. Forest birds almost all perished, and trees were split by the frost. The harbor of Barcelona froze over, and navigation was suspended in the Greek Archipelago on account of the danger from floating ice.

The winter of 1812-13 was one of the hardest ever known in Europe. The Thames froze from the source to the sea, the Seine, the Rhine, the Danube, the Po and the Gaudalquiver were all covered with ice. The Baltic froze for many miles from land, and the Ikagerack and the Cattegat were both frozen over. The Adriatic at Venice was frozen, so was the sea of Marmora, while the Hellespont and the Dardanelles were blocked with ice and the Dardanelles was impassable. The Tiber was lightly coated, and the Straits of Messina were covered with ice. Snow fell all over North Africa, and drift ice appeared in the Nile. This was the winter of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow, when 400,000 men perished, mostly of cold and hunger. The men froze to death in battalions, and no horses were left either for the artillery or cavalry. Quicksilver froze this winter.

In 1849 the cold in Sweden, Norway and Russia was so severe that great numbers of persons were frozen to death in all those countries.

In 1883-1 a severe cold wave swept over week. In 1740 the Thames was frozen for eleven countries.

In 1863-4 a severe cold wave swept over the whole of North America. The thermometer went to 60 below zero in the northwest. The Mississippi river was blocked with ice in a single night, and in twelve hours froze from St. Paul to Cairo.

Chairman Caldwell to Visit Omaha Today to Confer with the Burlington and Union Pacific Passenger Agena on the Situation.

B. D. Caldwell, the well known chalrman of the Western Trunk Line passenger committee, whose name gets oftener in the newspapers of the west than any other railroad. man, arrives in Omaha this morning to hold a conference with Messrs. E. L. Lomax, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, and John Francis of the Burlington, with a view of patching up the differences between the Union Pacific and the Burlington, Rock Island and Rio Grands Western. After the termination of the conference here Mr. Caldwell will go on to Denver to reason with General Passenger Agent Bennett over certain features of the agreement which Mr. Bennett is now objecting to.

In an interview had with Mr. Lomax vesterday he stated to a Bee man that the Union Pacific had not changed in a single degree from the position taken last December, when the defunct Transcontinental association began the herculean effort of trying to reunite its dismembered members under a trunk line agreement.

"We have agreed to advance the rates February 15 under existing conditions, which are perfectly satisfactory to the Union Pacific, but we will join no association unless put upon an equality with other lines members of the association. Our position is perfectly clear to all the members, and it seems the height of folly to reiterate it. With the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Rlo Grande Western, the Denver & Rio Grande and the Missouri Pacific out of the association, I cannot see how the Union Pacific is to be punished if it insists upon its right to the enjoyment of all benefits which are presumed to inure as a result of such association. As soon as the differences between other lines are harmonized, then I suppose the association will be ready to consider the answer of the Union Pacific, that it is willing upon terms of equality with all other mem-
