The members of the police force who witnessed the difficulty cannot bring their stories within forty yards of each other, and there is strong probability of the case being dismissed soon. Al Rachwitz and Henry Droge are under arrest, charged with being implicated with Herman and William Droge in the theft of some dead horse bones. Rachwitz claims that the burying ground from which the bones were taken is a part of his deceased father's estate, and that his father put the bones there while he was holding down the position which Sorenson now occupies. He was merely acting without bonds as admin-istrator of his father's estate.

HAD A TIP THAT PROVED WORTHLESS

Found a House Where the Thug is Sald to Have Spent the Night After the Shooting-White Not the Malvern Robber.

Yesterday at noon the sheriff's department received a tip to the effect that Charles Connor, alias J. Riley, the escaped bank robber, passed Monday night at John Crowe's saloon, at the corner of Broadway and Twentythird street. Sheriff Hazen, Deputies Peterson and Goodwin, W. R. Kemp and Thomas Maloney went to the spot and in an impressive manner began a search, after surounding the house so that Riley, in case he had remained there forty-eight hours for the purpose of being arrested, could not escape. They found nothing. Crowe was not there and the women claimed they knew nothing about Riley having been there. Before the object of the visit was made known however, they seemed to have a pretty fair idea of what it was. The sheriff's force came back to the court house trailing its artillery in the dust.

John Schoentgen, formerly a member of the school board, was one of the first to be notified that Riley had been caught, and his notification came by telephone from some notification came by telephone from some unknown party.

The fact that White, one of the robbers now in jail, was positively identified Tuesday by Sheriff Davenport of Union county and James F. Bryan of Creston as one of the parties supposed to have been implicated in the robbery of a bank at Malvern last October, brought William Evans, cashier of the bank, to the city yesterday afternoon. Evans is a brother of Mrs. Judge Read of this city, and Mrs. Reed is largely inverested in the bank in question. After having an interview with in question. After having an interview with White through the bars Mr. Evans declared positively that he was not the right man. Sheriff Campbell of Glenwood was also at the jail during the day, and he, too, said that the man in custody was not the one implicated in the Malvern robbery. During the day officers from other towns and coun-ties throughout the state called at the jail, as well as outsiders, who were actuated mostly by curiosity, and craved the pleasure of resting their orbs on the faces of the culprits. The physician of Smith, the wounded man, finally issued orders that no one should be permitted to see him excepting the jailer as his condition would not permit it.

A photograph is now in the possession of Sheriff Hazen of Charles Connor, the Omaha crook, who is said to be identical with the shootist. Riley. The picture was shown to Nick O'Brien yesterday, and he pronounced it Riley's picture. Sheriff Hazen went to Omaha yesterday afternoon and held a consultation with the officials of that place with a view to learning what they know about Con-nor. The theory of the officials is now that Connor is the man wanted, and that he is to be found in this immediate vicinity. Dr. Macrea stated last evening that O'Brien was not doing well at all. His pulse is up to 130 and his temperature 103. He was flighty during a large part of the day. The symptoms last evening indicated that by this morning inflammation would have set in, and very serious results may follow. Smith, the serious results may follow. Smith, the wounded robber, is resting comfortably, but Dr. Barstow said last night that his case, too. might result seriously. The outcome will depend largely on the course his trouble takes in the next twenty-four hours.

TALKING ON COAL RATES.

Railroad Men Meet to Talk Over the Situation. For several years the railroads of the transnissouri country have been engaged in an effort to do one another on coal rates, with the result that no uniform tariff could be agreed upon. Lines east of the river had their own mines to look after and protect, while lines west of the river were ambitious to give corporations operating mines along their properties the benefit of rates whereby they might be able to undersell eastern coals. Manipulations of declared tariffs be-came very common, and usually one of the stable articles of consumption became a foot ball to be kicked about the street. As a result of the recent cut on Rock Springs coal made by the Union Pacific, which was promptly met by the Rock Island and Burlington on coal from their mines, the coal question began to assume a chaotic aspect, and talks of conferences were heard in railroad circles. When General Manager Truesdale of the Rock Island was in Omaha last week he talked upon the coal problem with the Union Pacific people. He suggested that a meeting of lines be held in Omaha for the purpose of talking over the situation, with a view-of reaching an agree-

A Benefactor of Other Years, Being Needed Again, Is en Hand for Duty.

A nation threatened with war looks about for leaders, and naturally turns its eyes to veterans who have fought well in previous contests. So people attacked by disease and seeking a remedy inquire what has helped them in other years. The grip is here sgain, and in some places has assumed a form more malignant than ever. It will doubtless provid about looking fer victims and it is a matter of medical history that, when grip was here before it was quickly thrown off by bodies that had been strengthened by a stimulant of the highest order of excellence. To hasten complete recovery after the grip Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was employed. That the same remedy is doing the same good work today appears from a letter written by Mr. Thomas Barrett of Seammon, Kansas, who says:

"Having been continually coughing, with

Thomas Barrett of Seammon, Kansas, who says;

"Having been continually coughing, with pains running through my body, and being unable to work. I lock two bottles of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am now abl' to work. The cough and soreness on my chest are almost gone."

The cough, headache and soreness of muscle, following the grip, are never helped by local application. Being Signs of general weakness, they are thrown off or fy when the whole system is toned and stimulated, so that no organ does too much nor too little. To do this is the mission of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

All who remember how it gave them clear heads, sound stomachs and a healthy circulation when they were getting over the grig in other seasons have supplied themselves with Duffy's Pure Malt and have pointed out to their neighbors a way to avoid misery and loss of time. Is not the suggestion worth listening to?
