Saturday Night Political Rally at Out of Results in a Fight.

PARTISAN BEER WAS SADLY MIXED

Democratic Facet Pumper Cuts the Head of a Populist Celebrator with a Butcher Knife and Lands in the County Jail.

The democrats and populists held a political rally last Saturday night in a building on Locust street.

As a result J. O. Redman, who was to have been a judge in today's election, occupies a cell at the city jail, with the charge of assault with intent to kill booked against him.

While Bob Johnson has a large hole in the left side of his neck, said to have been made by a knife in Redman's hands.

Redman was acting in the capacity of beer pumper, and through his efforts a large part of the contents of two kegs had been transferred down the necks of the voters.

When a quarrel arose on account of his alleged discrimination against the populists, a melee ensued.

A melee ensued, in the course of which Johnson, who was of the opposition, was hurt, but whether the wound was inflicted by Redman's butcher knife or a piece of one of the windows that were broken during the fracas is somewhat uncertain.

Redman was sent to police headquarters and Officer Weir went to the island, arresting Redman.

Johnson is said to be quite a hard to scrap on a large part of the contents of two kegs had been transferred down the necks of the voters.

HOWLER, DICK & WALKER.

AT THE NEBRASKA SOLDIERS' HOME.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., March 3.—(Special.)—Saturday morning is set apart at the home for "drawing" day, when the inmates who are in need of anything in the line of clothing file into the quartermaster's office and call for what they want. They are limited to a certain amount, $10 per year. Some came in yesterday for underclothing, some for hats, slippers, suspenders, etc., and one veteran even had so small a want as a handkerchief, choosing a handkerchief of the Allan Thurman style. Commandant Scovill and Adjutant Walker were in Lincoln Friday attending a meeting of the board of purchase and supplies, and incidentally taking in a session of the legislature. "The legislature," he continued, "is very often like a cat which has caught a mouse and with it to her satisfaction before killing it. I have frequently noticed it in other things."

Woman's Club.

The parliamentary practice department of the Woman's club met at its usual time, at which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and "enjoyed" by a very large class. After a slight review, the leader, Mrs. Henderson, asked that the meeting be resolved into a committee of the whole, and, as she said, give her a chance to make a little speech. She thought the department should have some more definite aim than the mere studying of the technicalities of parliamentary practice. It would be a good idea to form a society for the prevention of cruelty to children. She made an eloquent appeal for the homeless and neglected little ones, and helping in any way to raise the poor and often discarded mother.

Thief Committed to Church.

J. M. Leonard was arrested last night as he was coming out of the Young Men's Christian association building with an overcoat in his arm. Officer Flynn, seeing him with an overcoat, suspected that he had stolen it. The coat contained a pair of gloves and a cap, and the muffler proved the means of learning to whom the coat belonged. The name of Howard Kenyon was on the coat, and an officer was sent to his residence. He made inquiry concerning it, and found that the coat had been stolen a short time before from the Kounize Memorial church at the corner of Sixth and Harney.

Not Exactly a Cliché.

This is the way a man named Gaines of St. Peter, Minn., got the better of an insurance company: Many years ago Mr. Gaines insured his life for $3,500. After many years of payment of $90 a year premium at the age of 70 he asked the officers of the company how much they would pay him to cancel his policy. They offered him $2,000. He refused to take it, but made them this proposition: "If you will give me $410 a year until death, which is $8 a week, I will cancel the policy." "Agreed," said the company, which thought it had a clinch in its favor, as he would not live many years. Since that time he has lived eighteen years, and the company has paid him his yearly stipulation of $410, which up to this time has amounted to $7,488—the saving of the $90 premium in the eighteen years and the interest make it the sum of over $18,000 that the old man gained by his bargain. Mr. Gaines is well preserved at 88 and bids fair to receive many more payments at the hands of the company, which struck a tough piece of human timber upon which to base its calculations.
