OLEOMARGARINE BILL A LAW.

With the signature of the governor the Sloan bill, to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in the state of Nebraska, becomes a law, to go into force in August next.

The oleomargarine law is clearly a piece of flagrant class legislation from which the dairymen hope to gain at the expense of the oleomargarine manufacturers and their employees.

Had he voted it and sent in a new bill framed to meet his own suggestions there would be no doubt about his acceptance and re-enactment by the legislature.

Some of the trusts have within a short time shown signs of weakness, which warrant the hope that under the operation of the natural laws of trade these combinations may in time dissolve and permit a return to that free competition in trade which prevailed before they came into existence.

When it is considered that the trust is neither a normal nor necessary type of commercial development, says the Commercial Bulletin, that it is at best a partial and temporary remedy for the excessive competition which it is designed to prevent.

One lone Nebraska democrat who had his hopes raised by a presidential nomination to a posthumous presidency was left out in the cold by the failure of the senate to act on the nomination.

The decision of the supreme court in the case against the Sugar trust is very strong and clear on this point. It was declared that the relief of the citizens of each state from the burden of monopoly and the evils resulting from the restraint of trade among such citizens was left with the states to deal with.

The decision of Judge Caldwell that the employer's liability law of Kansas applies to railroads in the hands of receivers as well as to solvent roads is encouraging to the contention that a receivership does not suspend all state laws with reference to the company and its employees.

The explanation offered by Senator Wright for voting in the first instance against the confirmation of one of the governor's appointees is novel, to say the least. The senator said that, knowing nothing personally of the man nominated, he would require some of his fellow-senators to vouch for his qualifications before he would vote to confirm him.

The decision is distinctly in the public interest. As noted in the telegraphic report, it affects numerous patents held by different interests, but that portion of the public which will probably be most benefited by it are the users of the telephone.

The discharge of the late grand jury was strangely lacking in those peculiar spectacular features that so often accompany the discharge of the federal grand jury.

THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Indianapolis Journal: It is a great gain for the cause of the House of Commons to have discussed a proposition for an international monetary conference and to express a willingness to participate in it.

Chicago Journal: The attitude of the Colorado League of Women Voters seems to be without value until the delegates attending them shall be empowered to do something, and to bind the governments they represent to the limit of their instructions.

Chicago Journal: If the democratic party were not already a hopeless minority this split in its ranks would doom it to retirement. As it is, it makes but little difference whether it declines to run or declines not to have a civil ceremony until nearly two hours after the religious services had been concluded by Archbishop Corrigan.

Chicago Journal: A few days ago it was announced from Washington with a loud flourish that the silver men were to organize a new political party, but instead comes a manifesto from the champions of free silver in which they announce that they have decided to remain in the old party.

The trouble in Cuba is not as rash as that which bothers the queen regent of Spain. It is a mistake to suppose that the best people of Chicago are out for reform in city government, but the primaries will be conducted as heretofore.

A prolonged search failed to reveal that the wife of the late Senator Alton was ever in the city of Chicago, and that she was never in the city of Chicago, and that she was never in the city of Chicago.

OPPOSES THE CIVIC FEDERATION.

Chicago Mayor Approves the New Gas Franchise as Opposed to Monopoly. CHICAGO, March 5.—Mayor Hopkins last night announced his unconditional official approval of the Ogden gas ordinance, which has aroused warm opposition from the Civic Federation and in other influential quarters on the ground that it is a "hoax" measure.

NEBRASKA AND NEBRASKANS.

There are thirteen Sheridan county boys in the reform school at Kearney. Fairfield can secure a creamery if his citizens will put up the necessary bonus.

Two young men near Creighton were caught stealing hay and the court fined them $5 apiece and made them pay double what the hay was worth.

Philadelphia Record: Paradoxical as it may seem, the miter to be successful must dig in the dirt.

Chicago Tribune: The Hon. Mrs. Strongmind (rising in her place and speaking in deep, resonant tones) I wish now, Madam Speaker, to move that we adjourn until the next session of the Prohibit Men from Going Out Between Acts at Theaters.

Take off that heavy overcoat! The landlord said, with every shout, "I won't let you out of my sight! I will not let you out of my sight! I will not let you out of my sight!

Will it be warmer? If it is, what are you going to do with that big overcoat—shed it—shed it for a new light spring overcoat.

THE SILVER HORN BAND.

St. Louis Journal: Mr. Bryan of Nebraska is determined that the democrats shall be led in the next campaign by a silver corner band, and he wouldn't object to wearing the harem headpiece.

Chicago Journal: If the democratic party were not already a hopeless minority this split in its ranks would doom it to retirement. As it is, it makes but little difference whether it declines to run or declines not to have a civil ceremony until nearly two hours after the religious services had been concluded by Archbishop Corrigan.
