SEVERE ENGAGEMENT NEAR SANTIAGO

Villagers Forced to Join the Revolt Under Threats of Death-Captain General of the Island Says the Government is on Top.

further disturbances in Santa Clara the government has declared that province under martial law. A party of 200 insurgents appeared near the sugar plantation of San Line yesterday. They were under the leaderbandit, but sympathizers of the patriot cause say this accusation is unjust.

The government received word of the presence of the party in Rodas over the telephone from a person who is loyal. A detachment of volunteers was sent there at once with three officers and five members of the civil guard. They arrived in two hours and went in search of the Matagas party. They were found in Los Cumos, near the village of Santiago, where the insurgents were ambushed in a fine position, surrounded by low hills.

A hot engagement followed, which lasted more than an hour, during which time the insurgents held the position. The volunteer forces fought bravely, however, and finally dislodged them. According to the government advices, the retreat of the insurgents became a rout. The insurgents ran in disorder, pursued by the loyal forces. In their flight the insurgents abandoned eleven horses, pravisions, hammocks and other all of which were captured by the loyal forces.

A hat which had been plerced by a bullet was also picked up on the field. In the hat was the name of Arango Rodriguez, one of the sub-chiefs of Matagas. Another chief was recognized as El Tourto Matos.

Information has been received that Matagas forced under threats of death the country people to join his movement. This was noticeably the case in Javacoa and Medidas, In the engagement one lieutenant and four of the loyal volunteers were wounded and taken to Rodas. When last seen the in-surgents were going toward Los Burros. It SAYS THE REBELLION IS DYING. Emilio Calejay Isasi, captain general of Cuba, in an interview, said: "By quick and strong measures we have stopped the up-rising in Matanzas in six days. The party of the bandit Matagas in Colon and other places, reported as 200 strong, was acquired by enforcement draughts from these villages. "How about Sanguily?"

BOOK CONCERNS ARE PROSPERO: S. Annual Report to the Methodist Conference is a Flattering One. BALTIMORE, March 6 .- After a short preliminary service of prayer and the administration of communion today, the Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church settled down to the work of its one hundred the conference this year is the Pentecostal service every morning and afternoon.

In telling of what the general board of education has done during the past year. Dr. A. F. Payne said that it had been largely instrumental in giving to the Methodist Episcopal church the best system of education put up by any Protestant denomination in the country. Dr. Payne urged the strict observance of Children's day and compliance of the requirements of the discipline in sending the Children's day collection entirely to the board of education. The money re ceived by the board goes to educate young people, and it has been doubled in the past six years. Not a cent of it goes for expenses of administration. Last year 1,639 students were assisted. Most of these could not have remained in school except for the money the board lent them,

Dr. Sanford Hunt, senior agent of the National Methodist Episcopal Book Concern, called attention to the fact that the appropriations made during this year by the concern were $120,000, an increase of $20,000, notwithstanding the financial distress.

cinnati. he said, "have been greater than those of the eastern house at New York. What we have been expecting for a long time has come to pass. The patronage of the New York house has decreased, while that at Cincinnati has increased. This will be made more apparent in the future. The west does not feel the pressure of the times as does the eastern house. In the east, and particularly in New England, where the people are engaged largely in manufacture, hard times were immediately felt. Then the native agrarians are driven from that section to the west, and the employes of the mills are composed almost entirely of foreigners, who are Catholics. It is a fact that there are scarcely any Americans employed in the shoe factories of New England, they having been driven out by Canadians.

"Methodism is drifting westward. There is no rivalry between the two houses. They work as one. The center of population is now west of Cincinnati, and the center of Methodism is even still farther west. The net capital of the eastern house is $2,015,840; that of the western house $1,381,112, a total net capital of $3,396,952. The sales last year of the New York house were $868,136 and of the Cincinnati house, $989,186; total $1,857,822. The total profits in the past two years has been $411,280." PORT OF SPAIN, Trintdad, March 6 .-This city has missed almost total destruction by fire. The loss will amount to nearly $4,000,000, the chief business section having been the center of the conflagration. Nearly it not been for the assistance given by the United States North Atlantic squadron and H. M. S. Buzzard in extinguishing the flames. The facilities for fighting fire are very unsatisfactory and the people are very indolent. The Maravel water works, which lie several miles distant, are smple for ordinary purposes but they are not sufficient for a great emergency. Soon after the flames got under headway in the town Rear Admiral Meade signaled from the Newark to the Raleigh and Cincinnati to land as many men as could be spared and simultaneously the flagship's hoats went into the water. There was a lively rivalry among the men from each ship to reach the fire first, especially as the British cruiser Buzzard, having a nearer anchorage, also bestirred herself to land a party. From the United States vessels more than 250 men were sent ashore, while the Buzzard landed about fifty. Each boat's crew was supplied with fire buckets, axes and ropes and the plan of action was quickly laid down and carried out, chains of bucket parties were formed and a steady stream of water was thus conveyed to the lee side of the fire to prevent its spread as much as possible. To extinguish the buildings already burning or in close proximity to the flames was impossible and all efforts were concentrated in tearing down the buildings around the main conflagration and wetting down those upon which sparks and burning fragments might fall. Organized men and determined fighting of the flames at last had a good effect and the fire was checked, though not until the sailor men, as well as the townspeople, were thoroughly exhausted. Several of the American seamen had narrow escapes. Everything is in con-fusion and it will take several days to determine whether there is any loss of life. The city is overwhelmed and it will be many years before it recovers from this blow.

Sir Richard will point out that the award of the tribunal was adverse to the United States, the only point unsettled being the amount of compensation, and that Canada has agreed to the amount she was willing to accept in full settlement of her claims. Therefore he will ask whether, in view of the great and growing discontent in Canada, the government proposes to take any and if so, what steps to settle the dispute, either by obtaining the payment by the United States of the amount agreed or if necessary by arbitration.

The Amerique was bound from France to Carthegina, Colom-bia, with ninety emigrants. During a gale bound from France to Carthegina, Colombia, with ninety emigrants. During a gale she was blown upon the Bocus de Cenizas reef, two miles off the coast. She struck with such force that her masts went by the board. Luckily for those on board, the bark became spiked fast on the rocks and she settled down on the reef so firmly that the sea which swept over her decks did not force her off into deep water. The crew and passengers, however, suffered untold hardships. The ship's water supply gave out the first day. It was impossible to launch any lifeboats, owing to the roughness of the sea. On the second day the watchers on the wreck sighted the Colombian gunboat La Popa, and were led to believe that succor was at hand, but the gunboat, after exchanging signals with the vessel, steamed away on her course. The hopes of the unfortunates were again raised the next morning when the Pacific Mail steamer City of Para and the Mexican steamer Eliza came within hailing distance. Both vessels passed close to them, and after asking by signal the state of affairs on board passed on their way. On the morning of the fourth day the sea went down and the people were able to ashore the emigrants were taken care of by the French consul.

TOLEDO, O., March 6.- The sheriff of Wood county today arrested Peter Peany at Wood county today arrested Peter Peany at Tontagony, O., charging him with the murder of his (Peany's) wife. Late Saturday night the woman was found dead with a bullet wound in her head. Rubbish had been piled around the body and an attempt made to burn the remains. Peany denied that he ever had a revolver, but the sheriff found a gun at a neighbo 's residence, which, he claims, was left there by a Mrs. Garrett of Toledo, who says Peany gave it to her to hide. Mrs. Garrett's arrest is considered probable. The motive for the murder is not apparent.

WINSTON, N. C., March 6.-The trial of in Wilkes county last fall was to have come up in the Wilkes count court this week, but Joseph Roberts, the most important witness for the state, has been found dead. Foul play is suspected. His death will probably cause the case to be postponed. The death of Roberts caused a president, he added, would return in eight of ten days.

LAST WORDS FOR HARRY HAYWARD. Erwin Making His Final Appeal Before the INSURANCE MEN IN SESSION. Complain of the Laws in Force in Many States. ST. LOUIS, March 6 .- About 100 repre sentatives of fire insurance companies composing the Western union met in semiannual convention here today, with President A. J. Harding in the chair, and will be in session for several days. Delegates from eighteen states are present. All the sessions are executive. The object of the convention is to hear and discuss reports on the various questions interesting fire insur-ance companies, to recommend changes in rules and suggest needed legislation.

President Harding delivered his annual report, and the reports of numerous committees were read and held for action until tomorrow, when the real business of the convention will begin. Among the reports were those of the committees of the four districts in which the Western union is divided. A satisfactory condition of business was shown, except where losses have been especially heavy in certain districts, and where the laws of some localities operate against the companies. Dissatisfaction is felt with the insurance laws of Missouri especially those against incendiarism, and an effort will be made to have the present

less Strivers Return to Work. NEW YORK, March 6 .- The United Building Trades league, composed of all the members of the Employers' and Contractors' association, met tonight and adopted the fol-

Resolved, That we, the contractors on the various buildings affected by the strike, in meeting as a body, agree to proceed with our work at once, with union or nonunian men, and pledge to each other our mutual support, and that it is our opinion that the various employers' organizations should enderse this action.

President Otto Eidlitz of the Master Build Electrical Contractors' association had adopted a similar resolution a week ago, saying non-union men would be put to work Monday morning, but decided to wait a few days e see if any of their men would return to work. Since they have not done so all the contractors in the various trades have decided to put nonunion men in place of the strikers At least 150 men of the United Brothernous of Carpenters, which is not affiliated with the board of walking delegates, who have been employed on John Jacob Astor's house, the Savoy hotel and Millionaire Yerkes' house At least 150 men of the United Brotherhood Savoy hotel and Millionaire Yerkes' house on Fifth avenue, went on a strike today out

PRESIDENT STARTS ON HIS TRIP.

NORFOLK, Va., March 6.-The United States lighthouse tender Violet, with the presidential party aboard, which left Washington on Tuesday morning, arrived at Norfolk this morning about 2:30 o'clock and procreded directly to Portamouth, where a stop was made at the United States Buoy yard opposite the navy yard. Very little interest was manifested in the arrival of the party, and when they reached the yard but two persons were at the dock. The president rose soon after leaving Portsmouth and was on deck at 8 o'clock, when the vessel reached the Gilmerton lock, through which she had to pass on her way to North Carolina. In ADEL, Ia., March 6 .- (Special Telegram.) Boldly stalking into the counting room of the Bank of Adel this morning, two men undertook to rob the cashier. They succeeded, and tonight one of the robbers is dead and the other is confined in the county jail, in imminent danger of lynching.

At 8:45, as Cashier S. M. Leach of the bank was placing the cash in the counter drawer, two men entered the bank, and one of them spoke to the cashier about making a large deposit. He drew the attention of the official for a moment, and when the latter turned again he was gazing into the yawning muzzle of a repeating shotgun. "Give us the money," demanded the larger PURSUERS SOON IN CHASE. "Blaze away with your little pop guns," houted the first of the robbers, as he ran, shooting promiscuously. People fell back, giving them a clear road to where their team was hitched at the corner of the square, and the pair was soon driving furiously out of town toward the south, where they hoped o gain safety in the hills of the Coon river. Pursuit was soon organized. Before the robbers had disappeared down the lane, a band of determined men were following on horseback and in carriages. Eight miles the chase was kept up, the pursuers, armed with pistols and guns, firing whenever given an opportunity, till finally a lucky shot struck one of the horses in the team driven by the obbers, and disabled it. One of the robbers sprang to the ground and ran for the ford, from Patterson, Madison county. BURNED OUT THE BANDIT Surrounding the barn, the posse called on the concealed man to surrender. His reply was a shot from his gun and a yell of profane defiance. Shot after shot was fired into the barn by the posse till ammunition began to run low, but the robber answered with bullets and curses. At this juncture the citizens held a council of war and decided to burn the barn and thus capture the prisoner. Accordingly the robber already, captured was given a can of kerosene and sent to pour it on the barn and fire it. With his hands still strapped behind him, he approached the barn, despite the threats of the desperate man inside that whoever attempted to come near would be killed, and pouring the oil out as best he could, set a match to it, and soon the structure was cosse waited, knowing the intense heat would soon drive the desperado from the barn-Not until the fire had gained great headway did he appear; then he burst through the door, his whiskers, hair and clothing in a blaze. Heedless of the calls to throw up his hands, he rushed for liberty, and fell, riddled by bullets. BENT ON LYNCHING HIM. Then the dead and captured robbers were taken back to town. It was with great dima culty that the living one was finally lodged in jail, as his lynching was already determined on. Two or three thousand people had gathered and were bent on finishing the work already begun without any further delay. Sheriff Payne managed to get the man into jail and then swore in a strong guard, armed the members with rifles, and placed them around the jail. Mayor Russell asked the crowd to withdraw from the street around the jail to a place where he could address it. He spoke long and earnestly against a mob demonstration, urging the crowd to let the law take its course. He told of the youth of the robber held in jail, spoke of his family, which is one of the best in Madison county, and pleaded the boy's former good charactes in his behalf, urging that he be given 4 irial by jury and not by Judge Lynch.
