Moore, who has been living with her daughters on Twenty-ninth street, has been showing symptoms of insanity lately, and her son-in-law, Charles Nichols, filed an information and had her brought before the commissioners yesterday. At that time she sustained a fracture of the arm and several bad bruises about the head, which have left her in very bad shape mentally ever since.

The picture now in the possession of the chief shows but little resemblance to iose received a few days ago from Pinkerton agency in Chicago, when Crowe was thought to have been the man who shot Deputy Sheriff O'Brien. The last picture is of a beardless boy, while the others represented a man with a mustache and parently a number of years older. A close examination, however, reveals a good many points of resemblance.

A telegram to that effect was received from Owen Daly, chief of police, by Chief Scanlan yesterday afternoon.

Rief is the son of one of the best known farmers of Pottawattamie county, and his family connections enabled him to get almost anything he wanted. So he forged his father's name to a note for $300 and passed it on W. H. Mackland, another wealthy farmer of Boomer township, December 4, 1894. He sold a lot of hogs to J. H. T. W. Williams of Latter Day Saints' church Butler, another Boomer township man, taking a cash payment of $150. He then ran the hogs across the river to Omaha and sold them again for $460. He sold the same hay to two different parties, realizing about more than he otherwise would. He forged his father's name to a note for $500 and sold the note to Officer & Pusey's bank in this city. He mortgaged a lot of cattle to J. W. Squire of this city for $500, and then took the cattle to Omaha and sold them. These are only a part of his misdeeds, but hey are enough to show that he understood his business and attended strictly to it.

MANHATTAN BEACH IN LITIGATION Suit in Sarpy County, Neb , Which Involves

a Number of Bluffites. The doctrine of accretions, which played a star part in the Cut-Off litigation which ended in the United States supreme court a couple years ago, has come to the front once more, and this time it is Manhatton beach, Lafayette addition, and a lot more land just south of Lake Manawa that are involved Charles S. Lefferts of this city commenced an action a few days ago in the district cour of Sarpy county, Nebraska, against the Man-hattan Beach Improvement company, Dode Batchelor, Tom Skinner and a number of others, to establish his title to lot 1, in frac-tional section 8, township 14, range 14, and all accretions formed against that lot.

Lefferts purchased the lot some little time ago, and he and his attorney, L. W. have been going through the musty traditions of the past, ascertaining just where the river ran in all its successive stages. When the government survey was made in 1856 the river, near where Lake Manawa now is, ran in a general southeasterly direction. Little by little it ran farther to the north, making a larger and larger bend, until in 1881 it had reached the bed of the present lake. Then in that year there came a sudden change, and the river ran more than a mile south of the high and dry, and a large tract of land be-tween the two. Lot 1, the tract which Lef-ferts now owns, was originally on the south bank of the Missouri, but now lies far to the

The contention of the plaintiff in the suit now pending is that all the land formed against lot 1 between 1856 and 1881, and within the bend of the river as it flowed at the time of the cut off of 1881, became a part of lot 1, and is now within the jurisdic tion of the state of Nebraska. These accre tions, under the rule established in the East Omaha case, belong to the owner of the original lot. If Lefferts' claim is upheld by the courts the Manhattan Beach Improvethe courts the Manhattan Beach Improve-ment company, like Batchelor, Skinner, and the rest of the occupants, is merely a squatter, without any rights against Lefferts. Colonel F. C. Reed also claims to own some prop-erty on the south side of the lake, so that he, too, is interested in the outcome. The defendants have until April 16 in which to file an answer.

It is the Insurance gasoline stove, the only gasoline stove made that a child can play with and do no harm. It takes care of itself; can be blown out, left open or turned on, and there is no possible way for the gasoline to ignite or explode. No smell or odor, no dripping of gasoline, no burning your house down or burning your wife or mother-in-law to death. No misery, no fu-nerals, no deaths or use for an undertaker if you use the Insurance gasoline stove, as it is absolutely safe. If you don't believe it any of our competitors, then ask them to blow out their stove and leave it open for ten minutes, then apply a match to the stove as we do with ours and see what will happen, but be sure to be a quarter of a mile away before he lights the match, as there is sure to be an explosion; then we would no get to sell you an Insurance stove, as there would be a funeral next day.

JURY FOUND EMARINE NOT GUILTY. Took Them About Three Hours to Agree on a Verdict. The trial of John Emarine on the charge of assault with intent to murder his father-inlaw, W. K. Eames, came to an end yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It has proved very interesting, and the court room has been crowded each day with eager spectators. Siefert Rief, the well known young farmer After being out a little over three hours the with a verdict of acquittal.

An amusing little piece of by-play took place at the morning session. County Attor-ncy Saunders was making his closing argument to the jury, and in it he took occasion to say that Colonel Daily was one of the fin-est criminal lawyers in the state of Iowa, that he had conducted a strong defense, and he said a number of other things that would have a tendency to make a modest man blush for oy. As he was finishing his tribute Colonel Dally, who was sitting about ten feet away, arose, walked across to the water pitcher filled a glass with water, set it on the table close by Saunders' hand, and resumed his by Saunders' hand, and resumed his The movement was accomplished by an apologetic sort of look, as though Colonel Daily wished it were stronger, but hoped it Daily wished it were stronger, but hoped it would do. It took the audience several seconds to comprehend the meaning of the joke, and then a quiet snicker went around the room, extending to a considerable depth in

Colonel Dally devoted most of his energies during the trial to throwing ridicule on the state. He was occasioned some embarrass-ment by the refusal of the county attorney to put Clarence Eames, the young man who shot Emarine, upon the witness stand. He had expected to turn Eames inside out upon cross-examination, and make a spectacle him that would influence the minds of the jury in favor of Emarine. This pain was spared Eames and Saunders by Eames being spared Eames and Saunders by Eames being kept off the stand, and in his argument Colonel Daily accused Saunders of being afraid to put Eames up where he could be subjected to the hot shot of the enemy. When saunders came to reply he likened Clarence Eames to a mustard plaster, which Daily was using as a sort of counter irritant to call the attention of the jury away from the guilt of John Emarine.

ROLLEN CASE HUNG UP IN COURT. officers in a Quandary Whether to Push th Prosecution or Not.

The case of Andy Rollen, charged with fracture of the state liquor law, has not yet been disposed of, and recent rumors are to the effect that the city authorities are finding it a very troublesome one to deal with. At all events they are showing not the slightest anxiety to push Rollen to the wall and agree without argument to all of the defendant's requests for continuances. Rollen would have been fined $50 and costs but for the agreement between his attorney and the city attorney that the case should be held under advisement for a few days. In speak ing of the case Judge McGee refused to con sider the complaint of the police that Rollen had kept his saloon open until after mid-night, but only that he had broken the 10 'clock closing law. Seeing that the officials were not anxious to have any stress laid upon this feature of the case, he said that they could do as they pleased about dis-missing the case, but if they chose to prose-cute the fine of $50 and costs would be levied is laid down by the law of the state. The officials now find themselves in a rather uncomfortable position. If they pros-ecute Rollen for keeping open after 10 o'clock, as the court says they must if they prosecute at all, Rollen will probably turn right around and prosecute all the other fellows in the same line of business. Every saloon keeper in town has been keeping open until midnight by either a tacit or expressed agreement with the city officials. If the present suit is dropped there will be further trouble, but if it is pushed there is great danger that a saloon war will be pre cipitated. People have had all they want of that sort of amusement, and there is a strong hope expressed that some way can be found of avoiding it.

Dr. Reese Will Lecture.

Dr. H. W. H. Rees of Cincinnati, formerly pastor of the Broadway Methodist church in Council Bluffs, will lecture next Sunday even-ing at the Methodist church on the subject of "Charity," and the Christian home and its needs will be the central theme. No admission fee will be charged, as the lecture is given purely with the idea of awakening interest in the home. Dr. Reese is well known to the people of his former home as a thoughtful and entertaining speaker, and there is no doubt that his popularity, with that of the institution he favors with his help, will be sufficient to pack the church. Several pastors of the city will take part in Hans Schmittlein, the young German who victimized Fred Spetman and C. F. The father showed no inclination to do so, and yesterday the blow fell. Schmittlein waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond is each of the cases was fixed at $300, and in default of the amount he was sent to jail.

AMONG THE AMATEUR SPORTSMEN. Ganymedes Will Run to the Valley Today-

Discussing a Race Meet. The Ganymede Wheel club will make its first run of the season this morning, leaving the club rooms at $:30 o'clock for Missouri Valley, twenty miles away. A dinner will be served at the Valley. The question of whether there will be a race meet this summer is now agitating the minds of the local wheelmen. This depends principally upon the action of the executive committee of the League of American Wheelmen. The Ganymedes have made application for membership in the national circuit, and a meeting of the executive com mittee is to be held April 10 to whether it shall be granted. If Council Bluffs is enrolled, as it wants to be, one of the finest meetings ever held in the west will undoubtedly be held. The club does not feel like going to the expense of $3,000 to give a meet on its own hook with times as hard as they are now. The club is in a prosperous condition, the membership being

The Council Bluffs Rowing association is planning for some much needed improve-ments this summer at its headquarters at Manawa. The club house will be moved farther to the west, to get it out of the neighborhood of the unsightly ice houses. The banks of the lake in front will be parked. Six double boats are to be pur-chased, and the five doubles that were bought last year will be made into singles. The club is in better shape this year than ever before. It now has a membership of 106, and to prevent it from becoming unwelldy the initiation fee has been raised from $10 to $25. For twelve years it has hung together through thick and thin, and now finds itself out of debt and with money n the treasury. A move is on foot to secure the state regatta. Whether the necessary funds will be secured is the main thing that stands in the way. It will cost about $2,500. Manawa is one of the finest bodies of water in the state for rowing purposes, and would furnish an excellent course for the races. Some of the members are disinclined to try to get the regatta, on account of the poor transportation between the city and the lake. Great enthusiasm is felt over the project by nost of them however. No prophet who cares a cent for his reputation will hazard a guess as to what the foot ball flends of Council Bluffs will do next eason. From March till September is a long time, especially when considering the person-nel of a foot ball team. Just at this juncture it looks as though the Hill school will have no team next year. The stand-bys of the '94 team were, in the main, members of the class which graduates from the school this spring. The members of last fall's team who will be in the school next year are few in number and rather light in weight, and could not be numbered among the most skillful players. The lawyers, the champions last fall, undoubtedly will scare up an eleven once or twice in the season, just to show the young-sters how easily old college men can walk around the school boys, even if time and lack of exercise have stiffened their joints and shortened their wind, and if they can't remember the tricks they played years ago. And it will take a very husky and heady team to defeat the lawyers, too.

The attorneys, of course, cannot be expected to play outside teams, to any extent. If the High school does not put up a team the public will have to rely on either the Young Men's Christian association or a purely independent organization organizing an eleven. There has been some talk of such an organizetion being formed, and the project is quite favorably regarded by the players of the

The war between China and Japan has made Asia the most interesting news center of the globe. The wonders which are going n in China, Japan and Corea are surprising, and the world really knows but little of these countries as they exist today. Mr. Carpenter who spent the greater part of last year in traveling through them, had wonderful facilities in getting information, and he interviewed every one in Japan, from the premier down to the jinriksha men. He had talks with the king of Corea and Li Hung Chang. He took photographs everywhere. His talks are to be ilustrated by magnificent views, and it is safe to say that no such idea o Asia could be gotten in months of study as from his lectures.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE SATURDAY. Fifty-Second Meeting of the Blues on the Thames Course Comes this Week. LONDON, March 23 .- Barring accident or a change in the program, the fifty-second boat race between crews representing the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge will be decided on the Thames, over the usual course, from Putney Bridge to the Ship Inn

at Mortlake, a distance of about four and -fourth miles, on Saturday next The greatest interest is taken in boating circles in the coming of the Cornell crew to compete at the Henley regatta with Eng-land's crack oarsmen, and the 'points' of the Americans are being eagerly discussed. They may be certain of a warm welcome among the oarsmen here. There is another feature of international sports which is attracting considerable at-tention here, and that is the prospects of the American horses now training at Newmarket. Naturally very few, if any, points are to be obtained by outsiders, but it is understood the Americans feel pretty con fident of getting a good share of the goo things during the coming season, although the weather has interfered with training. RESULTS ON THE RUNNING TRACKS.

to hang up a purse of $6,000 for the Carrol and McAuliffe contest for the lightweight championship, which they both accepted. The club has now been notified by the federal authorities that they cannot bring off a prize fight or glove contest to a finish in the federal district. The club does not feel justified in going out of the federal district to bring off the contest. They expected to bring it off in this city, as it is the only place where they could see their way to get their money back. The president of the club is negotiating with the National Athletic club of London, arranging to bring the contest off there.

Now that he rany clear signs of abatement in the re-ent wide prevalence of all manner of clior any clear signs of abatement in the reent wide prevalence of all manner of climatic and catarrhal maladies, there is no question but that the past week has been worse than the preceeding. Drs. Copeland and Shepard, who are perhaps closest to the people, generally, in their professional capacity, have no hesitation in declaring the maladies referred to now definately and decidedly epidemic. And it is needless to add that family physicians of large practice professionally familiar with climatic action on the human system, and presonally cor on the human system, and presonally conversant with the present situation, confirm the statements as unquestionably true.

Nor is the absence of any alarming present increase in the death rate of the city any evidence to the contrary. The curse of the maladies now prevalent does not lie in their immediate or early fatality. The danger and the horror of them is in a postponed fatality—in their inevitable liability to become settled and chronic, with no other prospect, if neglected, than that of a long period of suffering.

Drs. Copeland and Shepard have had a vast experience in the diagnosis and handling of these diseases and their subtle complications, and their methods reflect the present advanced state of medical science. IN DISTANT HOMES.
