Peter Sonnichsen Met a Footpad Who Relieved Him of a Watch. Peter Sonnichsen, a bartender at 2814 Cum ing street, was held up Thursday night shortly after 12 o'clock at Fifteenth and Cass streets and robbed of a watch. As Sonnichsen was nearing the corner of the two streets he was suddenly confronted the muzzle of a revolver and was commanded to hand over his watch. He argued with the footpad for some time and offered him $1 if he was hungry and wanted something to eat. The footpad refused the offer and demanded the watch, which was reluctantly handed over. Without being asked for money Sonnichsen was told to pass on.

Sonnichsen followed up the man to Six-teenth street, but was afraid to tackle him. He offered $1 to a boy to capture him and the latter got a crowd of companions and started, but the man dodged into an alley. Later he came out and went to the Union hotel and took a room. Sonnichsen hunted up three or four polleemen and the man was arrested. On being searched the watch was found in his possession together with his re-volver. The value of the watch, except as an heirloom, was small, and Sonnichsen was of the opinion that he was about 75 cent-ahead by the footpad taking the watch instead of the money. The highwayman gave his name as C. C. Gibson. Gibson waived preliminary examination and was bound over in the sum of $1,200.

MATTERS WERE SADLY MIXED

Sum of Money and a Revolver Sent Ballard to Jail.

Thomas Ballard was arrested Thursday night on lower Farnam street while he was in search of a revolver with which he stated he was going to kill C. J. Langell. The two men had had some difficulty and Ballard stated it was on account of some money which he had stolen from another man.

According to Ballard's story a stranger went into a lodging house at Twelfth and Howard streets and while there he (Ballard) robbed him of $140. Ballard stated that he in his turn was robbed of the same money.

He claimed that another man was robbed $20 in the same place Thursday and over of $20 in the same place Thursday, and over these matters the dispute arose. Ballard became very angry over the matter and with the avowed intention of committing murder he left the house to borrow a revolver. He was in an intoxicated condition when seen by Sergeant Whalen and was arrested. Bal-lard was yesterday fined $5 and costs.

Burglars Make a Small Haul.

Another of the burglaries that never find their way to publicity through the police department occurred at the residence of W. N. Nason at 511 North Seventeenth street Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Nason are in the south and the house is occupied by their son and Mr. and Mrs. Eastman. All were out on the evening in question, and when they returned it was found that a beaver coat and gold watch belonging to Mrs. Eastman had been stolen and the trunks and bureau drawers had been thoroughly ransacked. It was evident that the thieves were frightened by the return of Mr. Nason at about 11 o'clock and fled precipitately before they had time to secrete all the valuables that were in sight. A chair had been placed and partially concealed by a curtain at the front window and one of the thieves had evidently sat there and watched for intruders while his confederate went through the house. department occurred at the residence of W

DAVIS WAS A LIVELY RUNNER,

Took His Creditors in New York Six Months to Catch Him. After a chase that covered 2,700 miles and extended over a period of six months Max Radt of New York City yesterday morning ran Henry L. Davis to earth in the postoffice in this city.

Davis is wanted in New York on an inflotment that charges him with grand lareny, and it is settled that he will be prosecuted on other charges of the same nature and possibly on the charge of arson. He may be wanted in other cities on various charges of fraud, but the probability is that he will be convicted in New York. Requisition papers have been sent for.

Davis is a tailor. He is a man of small stature and is about 35 years of age. At the present time he calls St. Joseph, Mo., his home, as his wife and family are now living there. He has, however, been there for only a month. He says that he came to Omaha to look for employment, but his pursuers tell a different story. He claims that he came to the city yesterday, but it is said that his wife has been receiving letters from him from here for some time.

Prior to last June Davis appears to have pant confirmation suit obtainable, in genuine been doing a prosperous tailoring business clay worsted, single or double breasted, and in New York City and vicinity. He had a clay worsted, single or double breasted, and one of the greatest bargains in the store.

Long pant confirmation suits, ages 13 to 18 years, in single breasted black cheviots, at the low price of $5.00.

Long pant confirmation suits, black diagonal cheviots, ages 14 to 18, at $8.50.

The clay worsted confirmation suits that we sell for $10.00 Saturday, long pant styles, is beyond all doubt the finest and most fashionable suit conception ever produced. We might easily sell them for $15.00, but we sell for $10.00 Saturday, long pant styles, is beyond all doubt the finest and most fashionable suit conception ever produced. We might easily sell them for $15.00, but we want to put one every boy in town, and we accordingly make the price $10.00.

For $12.50 we'll give you a Thibet black cheviot suit, in long pants, ages 14 to 18 years, that is a decided bargain and very dressy.

BOYS' BLUE OVERALLS, 50C.

Every boy should have a pair of the blue 8-counce Everett Denim two-thread, double and twist, overalls for 50c; good to play to work in; have patent elastic suspenders and are strong and well made; 50c is the price.

MEN'S NEW SPRING SUITS.

We are amply supplied with all that's new and novel in the way of color and fabric in our popular style spring suits. There's no necessity to ask, "What's the price?" for we claim that there is due them between $700 and $800, while it is said there are other creditors whose individual losses run as high

TRIED IT FURTHER WEST. When Davis left Jersey City he went to Cleveland where he started business under his brother's name, Max Davis. It is claimed that he failed under this name and that shortly after he again began business, this time under his father's name, David Davis. Again he failed and he again started up under the name of Wolf Goldstein, the name of a tailor whom he took with him. He did not succeed under this name, for in a short time he left for Chicago, taking along with him his stock of goods. From Chicago the goods were reshipped to St. Louis, from which place they were again reshipped to Kansas City. It is on the trail of these goods that Radt and his friend are chiefly

When Davis arrived in Kansas City he opened a store on Main street and carried on business under the name of Taylor, Cotter & o. This name was shortly after changed to Goldstein Bros. But it is claimed that the firm burned out and then transferred to St. Joseph, where it is said that the business is now being carried on under the name of Horowitz & Co. Radt and Jacobs have been trying to get possession of the stock of goods. Davis was absent, but the two men waited two weeks for him. The postmaster aided them in their search and during the past few days two letters dated at Omaha were received by Horowitz & Co., directed in Dayis' handwriting. Consequently Radt came to this city Thursday night and reported the matter to the police. Yesterday morning Dayis went to the postoffice to call for mail and as he was leaving the building Radt pointed him out to Detective Days Radt pointed him out to Detectives Dunn and Donahue, who placed him under arrest. Davis was opening a letter addressed to D. L. Henry, which is the reverse of his true

But it is not at all improbable that another charge than grand larceny will be placed opposite Davis' name when he is taken to New York. This charge is arson. It is claimed that he has been burning out more fre-quently than occurs in the natural course of events. It is said that two of his stores in New York City, two in Jersey City, one in Newark and one in Kansas City have burned. He has always succeeded in getting his in-surance money by a compromise. In one in-stance he accepted $5,000 on an alleged $15. 000 stock of goods, and in Kansas City he took $8,000 on a $15,000 stock. Recently, however, he has been unable to obtain any

STATEMENT OF MR. DAVIS. Such is the story told by Radt. Davis claims that his arrest is simply a part of a scheme to get him back to New York. He admits that he owes Radt & Co. the amount claimed and also says that he has larger creditors. But he says that he has been indebted to his creditors in larger sums and that he intends to pay. He disclaims all idea of skipping out to avoid an indictment. He says that he has no money nor goods, but that Radt is laboring under the delusion that

Davis admits that he has been in a large number of cities since he left New York, but denies that he has ever been in business. He was in Cleveland for several months and during the time he was there he worked for his father. He also admits that he was in Kansas City, but he says that while he was there he worked for a large establishment on Main street, but was unable to recall the name of the firm. He was discharged because business was poor. He said that he was engaged in no business in St. Joseph, but was looking about for a position.

"The whole scheme is to get me back to New York City for my debts," said Davis. "Radt has written me several letters in which he has threatened to cause me a lot of trouble if I did not pay up. The charges of arson are groundless. I burned out once, a year ago last August, and obtained my insurance without any trouble. I have never burned out before or since." Radt says that he has traced Davis by means of his picture on a letterhead. Two flearts that Beat as One.

SOARING TOWARD THE SKIES. Prices of Beef and Pork Make a Rapid

The price of beef has been having an up ward tendency for some time, but yesterday all the butchers advanced their prices on corn fed dressed steers to 81/2 cents, which is cents per pound more than they sold for thirty days ago. They predict that this is but the beginning and that beef is liable to go as high as it did upon the occasion when Mother Goose acted as historian and wrote up the famous jump over the moon. Pork, reached 6½ cents, an advance of 1 cent per pound in the past ten days.

FOR BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT. Pian to Appropriate $1,000-How it May Be Obtained.

The Board of Park Commissioners yesterday discussed the council resolution providing for the appropriation of $1,000 for improving the Southeast boulevard from Bancroft street to Riverview park. The matter was brought up by a letter from Councilman Taylor asking whether the board had any funds of its own to do the work with, and if the improvements were necessary. Both questions were easily answered. There was no doubt that the work was needed and that the board had no funds to use. But it was suggested that the north side contingen council would be opposed to the resolution unless a similar amount was appro-priated for use on the boulevard to Miller park. Members Kilpatrick and Judge Lake thought that the board should not place itself in the position of asking for the appropriation. It was the same policy that had inflicted thousands of dollars in special taxes on the property owners in years past, when one lot of councilmen had voted for improvements in one part of the city in order to get votes for their own measures. It was finally decided, however, that while the board should not ask for the work the council might be notified that it would expend the money in case the council saw fi to appropriate it. Superintendent Adams reported that the expense of taking care of the ice in Hanscom park during the winter had been $519.22. CITY OVERPAID THE BILLS.

Engineer Rosewater Submits Figures Show ing the Barber Company Was Overpald. City Engineer Rosewater has completed the plats showing the number of square yards of paving in the various districts on which the Barber company is entitled to pay for repairs under the present contract.

It will be remembered that the bills of the asphalt company have been allowed on the basis of the records of the engineer's office, which were prepared by Mr. Rosewater's predecessor. During the present year Mr. Rosewater had his assistants prepare an entirely new set of figures, which indicated that much of the area on which the asphalt contractor had been drawing pay for repairs had been occupied by stone gutters and street railway tracks since the survey of the former engineer was made. On these grounds the bills were not allowed by the Board of Public Works, and the city engineer was requested to submit plats on which the board could base its proposed reduction of

Mr. Rosewater's report substantially agrees with the figures made by the board at the time the inaccuracy was discovered. He finds that the Barber company was overpaid $436.24 in 1890, $616.48 in 1892, $308.24 during the first six months of 1893, $319 during the last six months of 1893 and $319 during the first six months of 1894. This makes a total overcharge of $1,998.96, of which $613.72 is on account of stone gutters and $1,385.24 on account of additional street railway tracks which have ben laid since the previous sur-
