JENKINS BLAMES THE CITY

Charges it with Shirking Its Duty Toward the Poor and Destitute.

COUNTY MAY NOT AID DETROIT SCHEME

Chairman Stenberg Believes Taxpayers Would Not Approve an Appropriation—Matter Discussed at the Meeting Yesterday—Credit Until July.

With only $84 in the treasury to the credit of the general fund Douglas county from this time until the middle of July will do a credit business. Fees turned over by Frank E. Moores for the last quarter to the amount of $1,912 bring the special cash fund up to about $20,000, but every cent of this money is needed by the county to pay its officers, so that all purchases of supplies will have to be made on the credit plan.

On account of these facts, which were brought out at the meeting of the county commissioners yesterday afternoon, the question as to whether any aid can be extended the promotors of the "Detroit plan" for the relief of the poor is highly problematical. As stated Friday, it is certain that the county cannot extend any financial assistance except as it may call on its credit, which the commissioners expressed themselves as loth to do.

A letter was read from Secretary M. A. McGinn, who acts for the committee having the city garden plan in charge. He stated to the board that it is anticipated that $1,500 will cover the expenses of the enterprise, and the commissioners are asked to contribute this sum toward the seed fund. Just what amount of seed will be needed, or how many applicants will be on hand to utilize it he did not know.

Judge Stenberg commented upon the fact that a new organization had been formed, apparently supplanting the Associated Charities, for taking direction of the undertaking. He hoped it would get the same confidence as was placed in the other organization, but doubted if there would be a saving of 80 per cent to the county, as stated, in demands for relief next winter, if the garden plan was carried out. He did not think it would save over 10 per cent. It is doubtful, he said, if the taxpayers would acquiesce in an expenditure of the amout asked of the county. The assessment for this year will be less than for last, and he would now estimate the probable deficit as not less than $50,000 at the end of this fiscal year. Yet in spite of the deficit and decreased assessment the court and other expenses would continue right along. Under these circumstances the doctrine that necessity knows no law would hardly apply in this case. The board might do something by extending its credit, but would not dare go further than the public sentiment would carry it.

Commissioner Livesey approved of the plan and recalled a time when he first struck Omaha, with nothing but a hoe to his name. He had raised, on a small lot, enough vegetables to supply two familes, and knew that the poor could do well. Perhaps the county could save 40 per cent by having this garden plan carried out. Doubtless the seed could be purchased at cost by the county and individuals, if an earnest spirit was shown.

Commissioner Jenkins called the city to account in a vigorous speech, showing that the county had been doing its duty, while, in his opinion, the city had done nothing but shirk its responsibilities as far as relieving the poor was concerned. The city had been piling up taxes, while the commissioners had reduced their levies. He said there seemed to exist a notion that the county must furnish everybody with anything, just for the asking, transportation being asked often to the most distant points. He submitted figures showing that on account of charities alone the county had had to expend about $36,000 the past winter.

Mr. McGinn explained how the county would be the gainer, as it was the intention to give all pensioners of the county notification that they must avail themselves of a parcel of land or would get no relief next winter.

Mr. Stenberg inquired of Mr. Sutton whether Douglas county could not avail itself of a portion of the $250,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the drouth sufferers, inasmuch as Douglas county pays one-ninth of the state taxes.

Mr. Sutton replied that when he had been asked if the county wanted any of it he had answered "no" on his own responsibility, as he did not suppose the county would care to go on record as destitute, but that about $25,000 had been reserved for emergencies and out of this sum probably something could be obtained.

A motion prevailed to refer the McGinn communication to the charities committee for consideration.

In regular session the board received a report concerning the fee dispute between it and Sheriff Drexel. The finance committee, in view of the sheriff's refusal to pay over $926 of his fees accumulated by him by virtue of acting as a special receiver in various cases, and in response to the sheriff's request to have the case adjusted before the court, directed County Attorney Baldrige to bring a suit at once in district court to recover the amount of Sheriff Drexel.

The regular quarterly reports of the county officers were received, including a report of fees by Frank E. Moores, accounting for $1,912 in the district clerk's office, and $294 in the probate judge's office.

The aid of two assistants to County Treasurer Irey was extended until May 1 for getting out the delinquent tax list.

Judge Duffie requested the use of a private office, asking for one in the New York Life building.

The bridge at Waterloo was reported in bad condition, and immediate repairs were recommended.

The board meets Wednesday afternoon, when a response to the request of the poor relief committee is expected.

Bredin Wins the Trophy Again.

LONDON, April 6.—At the meeting of the London Athletic club at Stanford today, the race for 600 yards challenge cup, E. C. Bredin, the holder of the trophy, beat W. E. Lullyens, the crack miler of Cambridge University, by fifty yards. Bredin's time was 1:11 3-5.

WAS NO BRASS BAND THERE.

Home Coming of Douglas Delegation Was Without Demonstration.

All of the Douglas county members of the legislative session which closed up shop yesterday, returned from Lincoln over the Burlington road last evening, coming in on the 4:10 train. There was no brass band at the depot to play "The Conquering Hero Comes," which fact was a source of some annoyance to the legislators. During the day there had been an attempt to raise a shake purse sufficiently large to pay the expenses of a band, but somehow the money was not dropped into the hat.

The train arrived on time, as is the usual custom, and several of the proud law makers climbed down from the rear steps of the rear coach and looked around for some one to welcome them home again. Not seeing these parties, they shouldered their grips and their disappointment and walked up to the street car line, boarded cars which run toward their respective homes and were soon buried in the bosoms of their families. An abortive attempt was made by Sam Macleod, Bill Shoop and a few others to work up a little reception for the gentlemen, but it "died a-borning."

RELATIVES TAKE THE BODY.

Remains of F. Adams Colvin Will Not Go to the Dissecting Room.

Relatives of F. Adams Colvin, who committed suicide Friday, will claim the body, and, this being the case, the Omaha Medical college, to which Colvin said it should go in a letter which he left, will not ask for it.

Colvin was a member in good standing of Occidental lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Columbus, and Chancellor Commander McAllister of this lodge telegraphed Past Grand Chancellor Scism of this city to see that the body was held until relatives arrived. The coroner agreed to hold it.

W. T. Colvin of Brayton, a brother, will reach the city this morning.

Hurt by Falling from a Car.

Archie McCoy, 1030 South Eighteenth street, was severely bruised last evening by falling from a street car on the South Omaha line as it was rounding the corner at Fourteenth and Cass streets. He was taken to Sixteenth and Cass streets, where the police ambulance was called and he was taken home. The injuries were not considered serious.

Archie McCoy and another boy named Jones have been arrested on a warrant charging them with keeping a vicious dog. The complaining witness is Mrs. Knedell, who claims that the dog bit her daughter. It is not known to which one of the boys the dog belonged and therefore both were arrested.

Before Judge Ambrose a hearing was given yesterday to numerous creditors who are seeking to obtain some of the money due for work done on Fort Crook by the plumbing firm, Welshans & Co. An injunction has been brought to restrain the bondsmen of Welshans from getting first money out of the sum due from the government and the court was asked by the bondsmen to set the order aside.

Arguments were heard by Judge Duffie Saturday by creditors of the John T. Paulson estate. The creditors are seeking to have set aside a mortgage given on property of the estate by one of the children. It is claimed that the other three children, heirs, transferred the proprty to the fourth child for the purpose of having the $25,000 mortgage placed upon it. The will prohibits the mortgaging of the Paulson estate.

Sewer Commissioner Balcombe says that the asphalt paving contest in Omaha has finally passed into a cut rate war on a gold basis. In view of the present lively competition between the contractors, it is the best opportunity that the taxpayers may have to obtain pavements at cheap rates. In his opinion it would be an economy for the property owners to come in with petitions for the repaving of the wooden block streets while the war is on and take the benefit of the competition.

TALK OF THE TENNIS CLUBS

Omaha Players Will Open the Season's Play Early This Year.

INTEREST IN THE GAME'S WELFARE

Local Organization Hopes to Show Some New Champions—Affairs in the State Unsettled—Changes in the Rules—English Leaders Coming.

One week from next Saturday it is proposed to hold the formal opening of the Omaha Lawn Tennis club. The courts are already in good shape for play; indeed, they have been in constant use all winter. The weather has been so mild that hardly a week has passed that some of the more enthusiastic members have not been seen at practice. It is customary these days for lawn tennis clubs, like millinery and other establishments, to have an opening at the beginning of the season, or else matters might be allowed to move along as they have been doing since last spring.

Apart from the almost continuous practice on the courts, the winter has been far from a close season. Two very lively meetings have been held. Officers have been elected, who, every one admits, will pull well together for the furtherance of the club's interests. In addition, the Omaha club has become a member of the National association, and this will give a greater prestige to the principal tournament of the year, the one open to all comers, at the end of August.

There can be no doubt that the season of 1895 will see a great development of the game in the city. There is a greater rivalry among the leading members of the club than there has ever been before. No one can say with any degree of certainty who will hold first place, even at the beginning of the season, and there are so many of the younger men who are said to be coming to the front that the competition may be even keener as the season grows older. C. S. Cullingham, who held first place in the state for so long, and was temporarily laid off last year by an injured hand, is now in excellent condition for the fray, and hopes to regain the premier position. Austin, who acquired the title last year, however, is also practicing hard, and the opinion is very widespread that he will forge rapidly ahead as the summer advances and will leave all his present rivals far behind. Roy certainly intends to do his best to justify the confidence that his friends have in him, and is planning to visit several of the leading tournaments in Chicago and other places.

It is in the doubles game probably that the greatest improvement is to be looked for. Many of the leading players are already paired for the season.

Those who have not already chosen their partners are mostly looking out for some one with whom they can practice constantly, so that when tournaments come around they will be in condition to vanquish all competitors. It is the lack of regular partners that has robbed doubles competitions in the past of their natural interest. Not only has the standard of the game been kept down, but the interest in following the leading pairs through the season and in the competition among the best of them has been absent. This year there is every evidence that there will be an improvement in this respect.

In regard to the state association it is too early as yet to state anything very definitely. The Omaha club is making vigorous efforts to reach some results, but until the clubs in the different cities of the state have organized themselves it is impossible to get them to take much interest in the matter. It is hoped that instead of an organization of only three clubs like the old one, some dozen or more will come and make a union worthy of the name. In due time a meeting will be called, which it is suggested should be held at Lincoln, at which the officers should be elected and a constitution drawn up and adopted. Then will come the great stumbling block. Two or three cities in the state are likely to ask for the state championship competition, and the rock on which the old association foundered will have to be crossed. If there were no association of the kind the difficulty would settle itself, for the champions are all in Omaha, and, of course, would naturally insist that the challengers should come here to play them. But it is a question whether the interests of the game throughout the state cannot be better served by allowing one or the other of the events to go elsewhere. It is really a matter that should be decided by the Omaha club, but, of course, it will come before the state association, at any rate for final decision.

It will not be long before the city tournament will be engrossing the attention locally. Last year a slight attempt was made to give the younger and weaker men the advantage of the handicap, and the outcome was so eminently successful that the idea will probably be carried further this year. A year ago the players were only divided into three classes; this number might be easily raised to six, even if the tournament committee did not feel equal to the task of handicapping every one in exact proportion to his skill. There can be no doubt but that such a move would be extremely popular, especially among the many enthusiastic players in the city who are not members of the Omaha club, and would probably result in double the number of entries.

In this connection the Lawn Tennis Bulletin gives very great prominence to an article by Valentine G. Hall, urging the importance of the handicap tournament. The article does not contain any very valuable suggestions on the point raised, but its prominence indicates that the experts are beginning to notice the absence throughout the country of what has done more to give tennis the position it holds in England and other countries.

At a recent meeting of the National Lawn Tennis association of England important action was taken regarding two of the rules. One of these hardly seems to be receiving the attention it deserves. It is a change which so far is only suggested as an experiment, but which, if permanently adopted, is going to revolutionize the doubles game entirely. It is to prohibit the server's partner from volleying the return of the service. This means, of course, that both the server and his partner must stand at the base line until the ball is well into play, both running up together if they wish to play a volleying game, as is generally conceded nowadays to be the only reliable one. The matter came up in the form of a recommendation from the committee which had been appointed to consider the question of the service. This committee has been devoting great attention to the matter, and the fact that they were unable to suggest any plan which would be likely to commend itself to players indicates, as Pastime very reasonably claims, that there is but little demand for a change. The committee, as a rider to their report of failure, "recommend strongly for trial" the following rule:

Both in the singles and doubles game the server shall stand, when he shall be in the act of serving, with both feet behind the base line, and within the limits of the continuations of the side and center lines of the single and double courts, respectively.

So far the rule is practically as it was enforced here last year. But it proceeds, and it is this last clause which is important:

In the doubles game neither the server nor his partner shall volley the return of the service.

At the same meeting of the English association definite action was expected to be taken on the question of the let. It was proposed that all balls touching the net, whether from the service or in the middle of the rest, should be allowed to be replayed. There was so much divergence of opinion, however, that it was decided to appoint a committee to obtain the views of players on the point.

There is much interest over the report that the English champion, Mr. J. Pim, and also Mr. E. W. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard (English lady champion), and Mr. M. F. Goodbody, who was here last year, are to take part in some of the American tournaments this year. Pim is several degrees above any one on this side of the water, and it is very doubtful if Lewis would not be able to defeat any of the American players in a championship competition, although he has probably passed his zenith. The report is published in good faith by the Bulletin, but it is not at all likely that Lewis will be seen here this year, if ever. Goodbody left last fall with the intention of returning, and it is more than likely that he has succeeded in securing a promise from Pim, who is a member of the same club in Dublin, to accompany him. Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard are also quite likely to cross the ocean, if Mr. Hillyard does not decide to stay at home for the sake of cricket. W. B.

WILL PROHIBIT PRIZE FIGHTING.

New Law in South Dakota on the Subject is Very Stringent.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. April 6.—(Special.)—After the middle of June, at which time the law prohibiting prize fighting passed by the recent legislature will go into effect, it will be very difficult for newspapers, both inside and outside of this state, to get any information concerning prize fights to be pulled off in this state, although it is likely that none will be pulled off, owing to the very strict law. The correspondent who sends out a notice of a challenge or of a fight comes under the head of those who "shall be confined in the county jail not exceeding six months and fined not exceeding $500." The participator in the fight "shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years." Section 3 reads: "Whoever is present at such fight as an aid, second or surgeon, or advises, encourages or promotes such fight, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years, and fined not exceeding $1,000." Section 4 is also quite sweeping. It is: "Whoever instigates, carries on, promotes or engages in any sparring or boxing exhibition, and any newspaper publisher who prints any challenge or other notice relating thereto, shall be fined not exceeding $500, or confined in the county jail not exceeding six months." If it is thought that a fight is about to be pulled off the supposed participants may be placed under bonds to keep the peace.

Entries for the Pactolus Park Meeting.

RED OAK, Ia., April 6.—(Special Telegram.)—Palmer L. Clark, secretary of Pactolus park, reports that 108 owners and trainers have made nominations in the seventeen races advertised for the summer meeting, June 25 to 29, and entries to which closed April 1. Over 200 entries, fairly divided among the events, insure the success of the meeting and undoubtedly the carrying out of the entire program without change. Morris J. Jones, president of the park and owner of Alix, 2:03¾, Pactolus, 2:12¾, and others, thinks many entries from small breeders, owners and trainers the best evidence that the worst of the depression in this line is over and that from now on there will be a decided and gradual improvement in the trotting and pacing horse business.

Electric Light Railway for Denver.

DENVER, April 6.—Denver is to have racing by electric light if the plans of a new company carry. The Denver Electric Light Track company, capital $25,000, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The incorporators are: C. J. Roentgen of St. Louis, Edward D. Kirk of Kansas City and George M. Sanders of Denver. Mr. Roentgen says the company expects to have night racing for ninety days, beginning June 15.

OZOMULSION -- OZOMULSION -- OZOMULSION

OZONE. COD LIVER OIL. GUAIACOL.

The Marvellous Power of Combination!

It is a well-known fact among chemists that certain curative agents which have a marked beneficial effect, when prescribed separately, often have those same effects very materially increased when combined with well-chosen agents having a similar therapeutic effect. One of the happiest combinations of this character is found in OZOMULSION. It is composed of a permanent Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil combined with Guaiacol, and the entire preparation charged with ozone. Two of the ingredients—Cod Liver Oil and Guaiacol—have long been accepted by the medical profession as most effective agents in the treatment of all forms of lung disease, scrofula, eczema, and all kinds of wasting diseases. Their combination in Ozomulsion not only retains all their respective virtues in the treatment of the distressing ailments referred to above, but, by the peculiar chemical combination obtained, secures effects which are in a marked degree superior to the best produced by separate prescription of all of them to the same patient. The Emulsion is perfect, and the chemical combination such as to produce in Ozomulsion the grandest germ-destroying, blood-purifying and flesh-producing remedy of the age. No other preparation approaches Ozomulsion. It is an unique, powerful, positive remedy—one that was produced for a specific purpose. It is not a nostrum or a cure-all, but a reliable specific for all wasting diseases, Consumption, whether of hereditary or accidental origin, scrofula or scrofulous taint. It can be taken for any form of lung trouble, colds, la grippe, blood-poisoning, eczema, scrofula, feebleness from old age; in weak, nervous conditions arising from overwork or any other cause; emaciation, or any wasting disease; angular women, puny girls, sickly children. Its effects are immediate and certain. It is acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and as harmless as pure water. It is the kind physicians prescribe. Sold by all druggists.

ECHOES FROM THE ANTE ROOM

Alpha Camp, Woodmen of the World, Awards Prizes for Membership Gained.

ENTERTAINMENT BY KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Delegates to Grand Lodge of United Workmen Chosen by Union Pacific Lodge—Reunion of the Scottish Rite in Omaha Next Week.

The regular meeting of Alpha camp No. 1, Woodmen of the World, held on Thursday evening, was largely attended, and much enthusiasm in the work was demonstrated. The award of prizes for the largest number of members brought in by different members during the last sixty days was made. The purse, amounting to $100, was divided into four prizes of $50, $30, $15 and $5. These prizes were awarded to C. E. Allen, George S. Scott, George C. Thompson and Dr. L. A. Merriam respectively. During the months of February and March there were 229 members added to the rolls. The members are all showing a great deal of interest, and it is predicted that in the next thirty days as much will be done as in the past sixty. Particular attention is being paid to sick and needy members, and a great deal of good work in this line has been done during the past season.

The committee on social entertainment is preparing to give an extra fine program for the monthly social, to be held on the evening of April 18 in the lodge hall in the Continental block.

The members of the order are looking forward to the time when a Woodmen of the World building will be erected in this city. The camp is striving to increase its membership to 2,000 or 2,500, it now being 1,000. As soon as that number is reached it is thought that as many dollars can be placed in a permanent building to be invested in fitting up the auditorium in the proposed building. If the building is built Omaha will secure the permanent headquarters of the order. The second reason that is urging the members to bring their membership to that number is to make the camp the largest local lodge in existence. There is but one larger, that being located in Detroit, which has a membership of 2,600.

Elected Grand Lodge Delegates.

At the last meeting of Union Pacific lodge No. 17, Ancient Order of United Workmen, representatives and alternates to the grand lodge of the state were elected to serve in case that a session is held this year. It will be remembered that at the beginning of the winter the lodges of the state decided to expend the money that is annually appropriated for the expenses of holding the session of the grand lodge in relieving the suffering members of the order throughout the state. A large amount of money was spent in this work, and it has not been decided yet whether a session of the grand lodge will be held this year. It is said that the sentiment in favor of and in opposition to holding the session is about evenly divided. The following were elected as representatives: George R. Brittin, M. G. Edwards, H. K. Follensbee, C. J. Johnson, Henry McCoy, Thomas Granville, W. T. Smith. The alternates are: John Palmer, F. E. Cutler, W. T. Baker, O. Hochman, F. L. Otis, J. G. Gross, F. H. Broadfield.
