Observations on His Latest Trip Through China, Japan and Corea.

SAW EVERYTHING BUT CHINESE EMPEROR

Li Hung Chang the Only Noble Who Treats Foreigners Well-No Sweeter Women in the World Than Those of Japan -Effect of the War.

Frank G. Carpenter, the newspaper correspondent whose fame has no boundary line, is at the Paxton, coming to Omaha for a lecture engagement.

"During my last visit to China and Japan I had wonderful advantages," he said in an interview yesterday. "I had letters from the vice president and the secretary of state to Count Ito, premier of Japan, and Li Hung Chang, the premier of China. My last visit was just before this war. I traveled over a great portion of China without interruption. Since the war everything has been shut off from the correspondents. The rebellion had just broken out in Corea when I left. During an interview which I had with Count Ito, in Japan, he insinuated that war might occur. Just about the time I got back to this country war was declared."

"How did you happen to go on your last trip?" Mr. Carpenter was asked.

"I knew that these countries were under going great changes. I had spent six months in China, Japan and Corea about six years ago, and was then much impressed with the possibilitles of the Japanese and Chinese. I possibilities of the Japanes and Chinese. She has been practically the governor of China for the last thirty years, and now at 60 she rules through this young man, who is but 23 years of age. He is not strong, and is said to be pale and sickly. He has three wives and an immense harem, probably as large as that of the sultan. There is said to be from 2,000 to 3,000 women in the palace.

He is the biggest man in China, as I have said, and he has long appreciated the greatness of foreign nations. The Chinese are the most conceited people on the face of the carth. They never ask the foreign ministers to come to their nomes, and they would consider it a disgrace to have our ministers or the ministers from England sit down to their dinner tables. Prince Ching told Secretary Foster last sum-mer that he had asked many of the foreign ministers to dine with him, but said: 'I only ask them to come and dine with me "some time," and that, you know, is as good as fixing no time. I tell them that I want to have them come, and that I am going to have them come, but they haven't come yet, and, just between you and me, I don't believe they ever will come.' LIKES THE JAPANESE GIRLS. While abroad Mr. Carpenter did not lose entire sight of the belies of the Orient. He was greatly disgusted with the Chinese women, and of the Japanese maiden he speaks ecstatically. "There are no sweeter women in the world than the Japanese women." he said. "There are many beauties among them, and they have a refinement and taste which I believe is superior to that of their sex among the Anglo-Saxon nations. They are always coquettish and charming. Both is the reverse. She has no taste in dress and covers her cream-colored face with paste which makes her hideous in the extreme. He went to the palace and the old lady thrust her withered arm through a screen so he could feel her pulse, and I think he examined her tongue

Will this war that is about closing affect

America? I think the ultimate effect will be very great. It will start the Chinese to using modern machinery, and I believe they will soon begin to build railroads. Their immense resources and labor and mineral wealth will into competition with us. Our laborers ask $2 a day for eight hours; the Chinese can ask $2 a-day for eight hours; the Chinese can do as much work and as good work as we can and they are glad to get 10 cents for twelve hours. When they learn that they can manu-facture for the world, there will be no ques-tion as to free trade. We will have to build a protective tariff wall about this country higher than the Washington monument, and the fight will be one for existence. Japan contains 40,000,000 people; China 400,000,000, and they have a country equal to ours in natural resources. The Japanese now ship millions of dollars' worth of goods to Europe

CARPENTER LECTURES ON CHINA.

His Trip Through the Celestial Empire-In the Chinese Capital. Mr. Carpenter lectured at the First Methedist church last evening, under the auspices of the Chautauqua circle, on "China." He lectures tonight on "Japan" and tomorrow night on "Corea." Last night he led his audience through the crowded streets of China, principally through the thoroughfares of Peking-the filthiest capital of the world, Everything there, in his language, was topsy turvy, dirty and crowded. He told of the characteristics felt that Asia would soon be a great news of the people, how they lived and acted oppo-center, and thought I could give a good series site to Americans. They read from the back

BIG GUNS FOR THE FUTURE. The lecturer spoke at length of China's gun works. He thought they would make the world tremble in the future. The cause of China's defeat was the rank rottenness of the army organization. The leaders were the paymasters and withheld a large rakeoff. Japan, on the other hand, was a mod-ern country and thoroughly organized. He spoke of the railroad in China and was the first newspaper correspondent to ride by rail to the great wall, of which he spoke very interestingly. In the matter of wages, gun workmen got 50 cents per day, miners 9 cents, laborers on railroads 9 cents, station agents 25 cents and brakemen 15 cents. The fare on the railroad was 1 cent a mile and

OLD FELLOWS BUILDED WELL. The speaker alluded to the remarkable stability of Chinese architecture, some build-ings and superstructures in that country being 2,000 years old and still apparently serviceable.

In conclusion the possibilities of China awakening to the necessity of adopting new inventions and modes of warfare, together with modern modes in commerce, industry and manufacturing, was referred to with evident apprehension of successful competition with other countries. The dangers of cheap labor in Chins, coupled with facilities for manufacturing and an acquired knowledge of up-to-date methods, meant danger to American industries and American commerce unless home production in this country were protected by tariff laws. Mr. Carpenter's remarks were listened to with close attention by a large audience. The lecture was made doubly attractive by stereoptican views, which added a tings of realism

SUPREME COURT SYLLABI.

The State of Nebraska, ex rel, Stevenson against Cobb. Error from Lancaster county. Affirmed. Opinion by Justice Post.

The provision of section 49 of the act of March 29, 1889, for the incorporation of cities of the first class, that "The road taxes collected from property in the city shall be paid to the city treasurer and expended as the council may direct," has reference merely to such taxes as are by general law collected for the use of the city as a road district, and was not intended as a law collected for the use of the city as a road district, and was not intended as a repeal of the provision of section 75 of the general road law, for the distribution of the county road fund,

2. But, assuming the legislature by the act first above mentioned to have intended a repeal of the provision of the general road law for the oistribution of the county road fund, so far as it affects cities of the first class, it is within the restriction contained in section 11, article 2, of the constitution, and therefore void.

The St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company against Hedges. Error from Clay county, Affirmed. Opinion by Justice Post. Where in an action sounding in tort it is shown that subsequent to the alleged wrongful or negligent act, a new and independent cause has intervened, sufficient to itself to stand for the cause of the injury, the former will be held too remote to be made the basis of a recovery.

2. To have such an effect, however, the intervening cause must be one not procurred by the original wrongful act or omission. Where the evidence discloses a succession of intermediate events, each dependent upon the one immediately preceding it, and all dependent upon such original act, the latter is in legal contemplation the primary cause of the resultant injury.

3. Whether the natural connection of events is maintained or interrupted by the introduction of a new and independent cause, is usually a question of fact, and not of law.

4. It is sufficient, under the provisions of section 3, article 1, chapter 72. Compiled Statutes, in an action to recover for injuries received by the plaintiff while a passenger on a railroad train in this state, to prove that such injuries resuited from the fact of the injury, and imposes upon the railroad company the burden of proving that the case is within one of the exceptions mentioned in the statute.

5. A common carrier of passengers is liable for personal injuries to passengers of $3.000 is not excessive.

Sheedy against McMurtry. Appeal from Lancaster county. Opinion by Justice Harrison.

The right of a plaintiff to dismiss an action at any time he so desires is not an absolute, unqualified right, but conditions precedent, such as payment of costs, may be imposed by the court, in its discretion.

2. An action for specific performance of a contract for sale of real estate was compromised after trial had in the district court and appeal taken to this court, a third party purchasing the interest of plaintiff in such action. The defendant in the action, for a valuable consideration, became entitled to be released and discharged from all obligations existing upon him by virtue of such contract and a dismissal of the action. After these occurrences and motion filed by defendant to dismiss the suit and a dismissal filed by the party who succeeded to the interest of plaintiff, the attorney for plaintiff filed a llen for fees and expenses in conducting the suit, also a petition asking to be allowed to intervene and prosecute the appeal unless such fees and expenses were paid. Heid: That, inasmuch as the plaintiff's rights agalinst defendant had been extinguished by settlement made before the liet. Tas filed, or any notice of it given to defendant, there was nothing to which it could attach remaining in the hands of defendant, and the defendant was entitled to have the cause dismissed. Held further: That the right to payment of such fees and expenses by the plaintiff of the party who succeeded to her rights, could not be properly litigated in this section at this time.

State, ex rel, McMullen against Affholder et al. Appeal from Burt county, Appeal dismissed. Opinion by Justice Harrison.

A mandamus proceeding under our code of civil procedure is an action at law, and can be reviewed only on error, and cannot be appealed. (State, ex rel Miller, against Lancaster County, 13. Neb. 223, followed.)

Schelly against Schwank. Error from Madison county. Affirmed. Opinion by Justice Harrison.

assigned as an error, such errors will be examined no further than to determine that of those given one was correct, or of the instructions refused, the action as to one was not erroneous.

2. An assignment in a petition in error that "There was error of law occurring at the trial excepted to" is not sufficient to obtain a review of the action of the court upon the admission of testimony.

3. Where there is sufficient evidence to sustain a verdict it will not be disturbed. Weir & Co. against Thomas et al. Appeal from Lancaster county, Reversed. Opinion by Commissioner Ryan.

In a contest for priority as between a mortgage filed for record August 21, 1850, and a claim for a mechanic's lien, in which the material was alleged to have been delivered "between August 21, 1850, and January 22, 1891." Held that the word "between" excluded the 21st, from which it resulted that the lien of the mortgages was senior and superior to that of the material man.

Korty et al against McGilli et al. Error from Doug's county. Affirmed. Opinion by Commissioner Ryan.

The mere fact that a principal in a proposed boind expressed to an agent of the proposed obliges an opinion as to the necessity of paying off an existing indebtschess to a third party, for which the proposed surettes again to become itable as such, on the proposed bond, did not constitute such payment an indispensible condition precedent to the acceptance of the proposed bond by the obligee therein named.

2. Where the principal has paid for all goods bought before the execution of a bond, guaranteeing that he would pay for all merchandise by him purchased, the fact of such purchase hefore execution of the bond is immaterial to the liability of the sureties for goods sold their principal after they had signed his bond.

2. A bond of guaranty of payment for goods to be purchased by the principal, in which it was provided that the obligee should give a credit of sixty days therefor, was not rendered inoperative as against sureties for good of the severies of the right to
