

WOMEN IN THE SPRING

They Need Nothing So Much as Paine's Celery Compound.

In the spring women need Paine's celery compound. The average American woman, says a well known writer, wears herself out twenty years before her time.

The accomplished editor of the Oakland, Ill., Ledger, a portrait of whose wife is given above, says in his own paper, editorially: "Our leading druggist, Dr. W. G. Gregory, informs us that his sales of Paine's celery compound has been wonderful, in fact, he states that he has in six months sold more celery compound than all other medicines combined."

CHAUNCEY DEWEY'S PROPHECY

New Idea of the Political Future of the Southern States. NEW YORK, April 12.—In an interview on the occasion of his general and in South Carolina in particular, Chauncey M. Dewey says: "With Wade Hampton and M. C. Butler, and the aristocratic element they represent, and with the negro disfranchised and with Tillman securely seated in power, what method will be taken to secure justice? There is only one place, and that is the national convention. What is the natural result than that the better element should appeal to the place that promises relief? What more likely than that Wade Hampton, M. C. Butler and other leaders of this class in South Carolina should come knocking at the door of the next republican national convention? I predict it. The only way to secure relief of the dead banker state that they will produce will be disposed of upon this line of reconstruction."

MORTAR TEST WAS SUCCESSFUL

NEW YORK, April 12.—Hundreds went down to the proving grounds at Sandy Hook to witness the testing of the big mortar battery. At 1:45 p. m. the sixteen mortars were fired, four at a time in quick succession, making but four tremendous reports. When the smoke cleared away the sixteen shells could be seen clearly in the air, each four grouped together as closely as when they left the mortars. When they began to drop their speed was too great to admit of noting their descent from the battery. The charge used in the first fire was fifty pounds of prismatic powder, with a projectile weighing 800 pounds. The charge was elevated to sixty degrees and were ranged to carry 6,000 yards. Almost an hour elapsed before the mortars were discharged a second time. They were then charged to carry an 800-pound projectile 4,000 yards. Twenty-nine pounds of black Sphre-hexagonal powder was used, the elevation of the guns being the same as at first. The second firing was as successful as the first, with the exception that one of the mortars failed to discharge and only fifteen shells were sent heavenward. The projectiles had landed in a space very little, if any, larger than the size of the battery. They were imbedded six feet in the ground and the mortar being the same as at first. At that point declared that nearly all of them dropped vertically into the sand. The officers present pronounced the trials extremely satisfactory. An exhibition was given of the 10-inch rifle which is mounted on the Gordon disappearing gun carriage. After the second shot was discharged the machinery of the carriage occurred and the tests had to be discontinued. The guests were then taken to the top of the gun lift battery, where two monstrous 12-inch guns were mounted. After one of the guns had been run up to the level of the platform of the battery it was given a range of five degrees and elevated ten degrees. The 1,000 pound projectile was backed by 470 pounds of prismatic powder. This piece was only discharged once, the shot landing far out to sea, directly in a line but much beyond a white buoy which had been placed there for a mark.

Worldly Wealth of the Great Novelist, Friend of the Samoans.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Robert Louis Stevenson's estate will probably prove to be worth between $100,000 and $150,000. Most of this will be from profits from his books, but a share of it will be from the estate of his father, the famous lighthouse keeper. The Stevenson place at Samoa consists of 800 acres. Mr. Stevenson might have been worth considerably more, but he kept open house in Samoa. Every needy one was welcome and in that country it costs a great deal to maintain an establishment, especially when one does not live as the natives do, but in British or American ways. This is the statement of Charles Baxter, the executor of the estate.
