FLANS OF WHEELMEN FOR THE RACING

Truck Already Noted in Annals of Nebraska Cyclists to Be the Scene of Further Triumpos and Contests of Speed.

KEARNEY, April 26 .- (Special.) -- Kearney, the Water Power City, Kearney the Midway City, Kearney the Cotton Mill City, Kearney, the Electric City, are names familiar every Nebraskan, and we now present something up-to-date new name that will appeal to every wheelman in the state and a name that we bear with all the pride in our make-up:

"Kearney, the State Meet City." Our new handle was not inherited, nor was it a mere pick-up in the road, but was acquired by the diligent and well directed efforts of the combined and harmonious labors

During the past two years we have been gradually increasing in numbers and it has been estimated that there are in use in this little city upward of 500 machines, 80 per cent of which are said to be high grade both price and quality, and the craze is so rampant at this time that we confidently expect the number to swell until the 1,000 mark shall have been passed ere the gathering of the faithful at the division meet on July 4 and 5 next.

Last year we held two tournaments in which the prizes advertised and paid amounted in dollars and cents to upwards of $3,000, which attracted the best talent in the country and gave the occupants of the grand stand a magnificent exhibition of speed and thus established the popularity of the speet and the reputation of the Kearney wheelmen

On July 4, 1894, on the Kearney Park and Cycle association quarter mile track C. R. Coulter made his debut as a speed rider and his friends here are legion and read the reports with pleasure of his great work at San Jose, Cal., where he is pressing Eddie Bald so close for first place in record break-

Here the mighty Barnett vanquished the "Irish King" Russell Condon in the mile state championship event and a greater surprise never was dished up before in this locality. Here it was the great Parnett-Mills two and five-mile events were pulled off, and, what has been "talked" more since last Septem-ber, here again they will come together and this time on equal terms. Who can pick the Here is located the historic ground upon which Pixley suffered defeat at the hands of Frederickson, the Fremont Giant, in the one-haif and two-mile state championships and the entire state is wondering what the big fellow will do among the B's this year.

Omaha was represented in class B last year by Russell Condon, and as Frederickson is now located in that city he will be one of Omaha's B men this year, as it is not at all probable that he will attempt to retain his A standing in view of his position and present with the Sterling people. has Barnett, Mockett and Griffith, and Kear-ney comes forward with Ashley and Mills of the Kearney Cycle Manufacturing company's team, making seven class B riders in the state, and this number will be increased by protesting several men who have con-fessed to riding borrowed wheels last season, thus assuring a goodly number of Nebraska riders to compete with the circuit chasers from neighboring states that will attend our meets this year.

In class A nearly every town in the state has a trio of speedy men, and there will be a great contest for the championships at Kearney next July. Among the men known to be in active training for this event are

Banks and Yule brothers, Lincoln. Hayman, McCall, Weiter and Bo hm, Grand

Jacobson, Hastings. Timmerman, Superior. Bottenfield, Nelson. Hoagland, North Platte. Miner and Cowden, Red Cloud. Nichol, Stromsburg. Smith, Lexington, Mock, Alma.

Miller, Pierce, Switz and Lambert, Kear-And as the season advances candidates will appear from all points, and it is confidently expected there will be from 100 to 250 entries making it necessary to run each and every event in trial heats. The prize list will consist of high grade wheels, diamonds and the championship medals, it being the opinion of the prize committee that silver were clocks, etc., are not acceptable to the average rider, and it is very probable that the latter will be left en-tirely off the list this time.

At the 1894 meet there was no provision made for an evening reception to League of American Wheelmen members, for the reason that the Overman Wheel company gave an exhibition in the opera house and we did not want to conflict, but this year we have the right of way and will not be found lacking in the matter of entertainment. Wheelmen of Nebraska we greet you with an preent invitation to honor us with your presence on the occasion of the fifth annual meet of the Nebraska division of the League of American Wheelmen at Kearney, the State Meet City, July 4 and 5, 1895.

In speaking tonight of the action of Nicaragua in closing Coffitte, Senator Morgan said Nicaragua's right to close the port is undoubted. Every nation has the power to designate ports of entry and to change them at will. To land goods at Corinto while it is closed would be smugging and the payment of duties to the British authorities would not alter the fact. As soon as the goods were taken into the interior the Nicaraguans would seize them and either confiscate them or compel the payment of fresh duties. "MANAGUA, April 27 .- Associated Press, New York: Nicaragua protesta before all nations against the outrage which Great Britain inflicts upon her by the military occupation of the port of Corinto in order to seize from her by force a sum of money which is not owed, in absolute disregard of international laws and of the dictates of right, justice and equity. Nicaragua, although counting upon the sympathy of all, as she is powerless to oppose the aggressor, is ready to submit the case without fear, bewailing her smallness and her weakness."
