Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Duryea has become fost to the First Congregational church as pastor and the city of Omaha as a potent factor in its moral and intellectual life, and a personal supporter of all good enterprises. He was given leave of absence by the congregation last November on account of ill health, caused by overwork, and has since been in the east seeking recovery. At the morning service of the church yes-

HEARD WITH GREAT REGRET.

The communication deeply affected the congregation, though for some time it has been feared that Dr. Duryea would never resum his pastoral duties in Omaha. It was the expectation of his parishioners and of himself when he left last autumn that a few months' rest would be sufficient for restoration to health, but as months passed it was recognized that the malady was deeper fixed than at first supposed, and the opinion be-came prevalent that the doctor would never again be able to endure the constant strain accustomed to.

The same mail that brought his resignation as pastor also brought his resignation as a member of the Board of Education. The latter is in the hands of President Akin of the board and will be submitted at the next Meeting of that body. A meeting of the members of the First church will be held Wednesday evening to consider the resignation. It is understood that, under the circumstances, it will be ac ed, though the church will part with Dr. Duryea with the deepest regret.

Witnesses in state cases who are confined in jall and held by the state until their testimony is given may as well resign themselves to their lot. The state will of course give them food and lodging, but it is highly probable that from this time on they will get

Assistant County Attorney Slabaugh has been looking up some law for the county com-missioners and finds an Oregon decision hold-ing that the state is not liable for witness fees for the time witnesses are confined in jail awaiting the calling up of the case of the prisoner against whom they are exocted to testify.

OPENING OF RUSER'S NEW EULDINGS Growth of the Turnverein and What is He ing Done by Its Several Divisions-

All to Participate in an Exhibition May 20.

Many of the German clubs and societies have arrived at that transitory stage when ndoor amusements and entertainments of all kinds become partially devoid of attraction, and the trees with their verdant green invite recreation and preparation for festivals under the celestial canopy. Numerous are the plans suggested for the latter, as they are being discussed by members of committees and others having such matters in charge, but nearly all these projects remain yet in the incubating state. With almost certainty it may be said, though, that this summer, as far as diversity and numbers of outdoor entertainments are concerned, is not to be behind previous ones. Among the first to take the initiative in opening the season with gay festivities, and in this particular instance probably with pomp and ceremony, inasmuch as the occasion will demand it, is the Plattdeutsche Verein, Numerically, this organization is only second to the Turnverein, and financially only second to the Turnverein, and financially unconscious. A report of the occurrence was its exchaquer can stand almost any drain to at once made to the police station and Capfurnish amusement. The entertainment proposed for this time is a traditional Pfingstfest, by the society at its last meeting, notwith-standing a preceding small discussion as to certain beer products.

The arrangements of the details for the festival are now in the hands of committees and an entire program is soon to be put forth. Heavy Rohlff, the able president of the society, and other prominent members are taking great interest in the matter, and promise to give it their most active support.

The festival and opening of the park is to occur on June 2 GROWTH OF THE TURNVEREIN;

Notes from the Divisions. During the past winter the Omaha Turn-Harmorious workings of all the branches and the absence of discord among the people entrusted with the present management contributed to bring about such desirable results in an organization which has various divisions, such as the bears, actives, passives, cyclists, ladies' zither club, singing section, etc. In consequence of this rapid increase scme of the smaller of the thirty odd German societies, especially those organized for purely social purposes and on sectional lines, suffered a corresponding dethe close of 1888 from the Central Congregational church of Boston. He had already long enjoyed a national reputation as a preacher of rare force, as a scholar and as one always ready to become personally active in any movement designed for the betterment of society morally and intellectually. From the beginning of his residence in Omaha he was immensely popular, not only with the members of his own congregation, but with all the people in the city interested in mat-ters pertaining to morals. His information on a wide range of subjects and his manner of speaking made him a favorite as a lecturer, and the willingness with which he himself to all demands, not only in Omaha, but near by, explains why he broke down. He was especially prominent in Young Men's Christian association and Chautauqua work, in art circles, in philanthropic en-deavor, and later was officially identified with the administration of the public schools being elected a member of the Board of Education in the fall of 1893.

PONTIFICAL HIGH MASS CELEBRATED

Bishop Scannel Presides at House of the Good Shepherd Sunday Service.

Pontifical high mass, this highly impressive and rare ceremony of the Roman Catholic church, was performed yesterday in the beautiful little chapel of the House of the Good Shepherd society, which is situated about a mile and a half from South Omaha. The chapel in a hall of the "house" was decorated with a profusion of cut flowers, smilax and potted plants. The altar was a beautiful sight, the lovely flowers and numerous lights adding much to the beauty of the scene. Just before the entrance of the bishop and his attendants a long line the bishop and his attendants a long line smilax and potted plants.
